

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2606

Thomas slept for the entire night. When he woke up, it was already the next afternoon.

The moment he opened his eyes, he was greeted with the sight of the unfamiliar room he was in, and his mind was instantly blank.

He reached his hand and massaged his throbbing glabella.

He could not, for the life of him, remember where he was or how he got there.

He pushed himself to sit up and realized that he was in a guest room with simple decorations.

There was a painting on the wall, and the signature at the bottom of the painting was Theo Allen.

Thomas furrowed his brow.

Theo Allen? Was that not the artist who was close to Luna and Joshua?

Where was this place? Why was Theo's painting here? At that moment, he registered that something was pressing against his legs.

He lowered his head to see Yannie, lying next to his legs and sleeping soundly.

It was her arm that was pressing against his leg.

Her hair was rather messy.

She looked weary too as if she had been caring for him the entire night without sleeping.

Thomas furrowed his brow as a peculiar feeling rose in him.

If he remembered correctly, they were both bitter when they split ways yesterday.

He thought that Yannie would ignore him for quite some time.

He never thought that she would be caring for him after he got drunk last night.

"You're up?" Sensing his gaze, Yannie yawned and slowly got up, looking at him groggily.

Thomas furrowed his brow.

"You were taking care of me last night? Where is this place?" Yannie sighed and got up to pour him some water.

She passed him the glass of water and looked at him before saying in a low voice, "This is Joshua's house, where Joshua and Luna stay in Merchant City." Thomas could barely hold his glass properly when he heard what she said.

He furrowed his brow.

"Joshua Lynch's house? Did you take me here?"

"Mr. Lynch was the one who took you here." Seeing how detested he looked upon the mention of Joshua, Yannie helplessly rubbed the middle of her eyebrows.

"You were drinking last night, weren't you? Mr. Lynch coincidentally bumped into you.

If it weren't for him, after you got drunk last night, Wendy would've taken you away, and you'd probably be waking up in her bed instead right now." Yannie's words instantly darkened Thomas' expression.

He was indeed drinking the night before.

Also, even if he did not remember much about the night before, he vaguely remembered seeing Wendy when he was drunk.

Thus, Yannie was not lying.

At the thought of him almost falling into Wendy's trap and Joshua witnessing, even taking him back home...

Thomas felt uneasy.

Although he hated Wendy and did not want to have anything to do with her, he hated owing Joshua a favor even more.

When he came to Merchant City, he thought that Joshua and Luna were abusing Riley, so with hatred in his heart, he went there to seek revenge.

However, for the past month of being in touch with them, he realized that the truth was not as Malcolm put it to be.

At least, although Joshua and Luna were a little negligent with Riley, they did not mistreat her.

Due to that, Thomas was already quite annoyed.

On top of that, Joshua helped him out when he was drunk and brought him home.

That meant Thomas owed Joshua even more. At the thought of all that, Thomas' mind was a mess. He did not want to get further involved with Joshua nor did he want to see his hypocrisy.

"You don't have to feel uncomfortable about this.", As if she could read his mind, Yannie sighed.

"Mr. Lynch didn't want me to tell you all these.

He said that you have high self-esteem, so you surely would reject any help.

Thus, he and Luna left early in the morning, leaving only us both and their three children at home.

"Mr. Lynch got me to let you leave after you woke up.

You can pretend that this incident has never happened before." Then, Yannie placed Thomas' clean clothes in front of him.

"You can put on your clothes and leave.

I'll wait for you outside." Then, without waiting for a response from him, Yannie turned and left.

Thomas was leaning on the head of the bed.

He looked at Yannie leaving and furrowed his brow tightly.

A long time later, he lowered his gaze to see the clothes placed by the side and sighed heavily.

10 minutes later, after washing up, Thomas was in the car, leaving Joshua's house.

Hugo, who came to pick him up, saw how tired and wretched he looked.

He could not help but say, "Are we just leaving like that?" "Any comments?" Thomas curtly rolled his eyes at Hugo.

"Am I going to stay and thank Joshua and Luna?" he sneered before closing his eyes and leaning back on the back seat.

“What is Wendy doing today?” Hugo, who was sitting in the passenger seat in front, was silent for a while.

“She is...probably in prison right now.” Thomas furrowed his brow and suddenly opened his eyes.

“In prison?” “Yes.

I think it was Joshua’s doing.

He reported her violating your and Yannie’s privacy.

On top of that, last night, she sneakily escaped going to the bar.

Right now, the police are watching over her tightly.” Then, Hugo could not help but sigh.

“What do you think Joshua is after? For the past month, you kept going up against him, but he still helped you to dealwith Wendy.

Last night, he even brought you home.

If I didn’t know your relationship with him, I’d think that he was your relative.

He cares about you Bm- }bjt< gives in to you so much.”

At that very moment, Hugo clearly sensed Thomas’ darkened expression.

He immediately shut up and said nothing else.

Thomas leaned at the backseat when a few moments later, he suddenly opened his eyes.

“Don’t take me home yet.

Head to Lynch Group Tower.” Huge could not help but furrow his brow at what he said.

What are you doing, going to Joshua’s Lynch Group Tower? You’re a celebrity, so don’t do anythingreckless! Even if you have a grudge against Joshua, you don’t need to-” Before he could finish his sentence, Thomas cast him another sharp glance and he immediately shut up.

“Driver, turn the car around and head to Lynch Group Tower.”

Hugo did not understand the freak that was Thomas.

If he had something he wanted to say to Joshua, why was he so anxious to leave his house, only to then head to the Lynch Group Tower? Soon, the car stopped in front of Lynch Group Tower.

Thomas opened the car door.

He wanted to enter the building when he heard Lucas, Joshua's assistant, on the phone faraway.

"Sir, it's not that I'm not willing to help you, but Mr. Lynch doesn't allow me.

Fifteen thousand is the most I can give you.

Stop making things difficult for me, please.

"You have a bad relationship with Mr. Lynch.

Lucas was standing by the entrance of the Lynch Group building, looking troubled as he talked to the other person on the phone.

He did not notice the car nearby nor Thomas, who was in the car.

"Sir, it's useless to threaten me.

You know much better than me what Mr.

Lynch's temper is like.

If an assistant like me could easily sway his decisions with a few words, he's not Joshua Lynch." Then, Lucas sighed.

"Mr. Lynch has agreed to give you fifteen thousand, and I advise you to take it.

Because of you, he has been misunderstood deeply by other people.

He has already contacted the Moore family.

You should...pray for yourself.

Then, Lucas sighed and hung up the call immediately.

He kept his phone.

When he turned around and was about to head back into the building, he noticed the car parked nearby.

He furrowed his brow and subconsciously walked over to the car as if he wanted to spot to see if there was anyone in the car.

Right at that moment, the car window suddenly rolled down, revealing Thomas' charming face.

Thomas shifted into a comfortable position before leaning back on the leather seat.

He swept Lucas a glance and said coldly, "Come in and chat?" Lucas was frightened by Thomas.

He subconsciously took a step back and furrowed his brow.

"Why are you here? Are you here to look for...Mr.Lynch?"

Thomas sported a perfect smile.

"I wanted to look for him, but right now..." He sized up Lucas.

"I'm looking for you." Looking at his hostile gaze, Lucas subconsciously took a step back.

"Mr.Howard, you and I have nothing to talk about." Lucas quickly turned to leave, but Thomas' next words stopped him.

"You and I have nothing much to say, but you sure have lots to say to Adrian Lynch." Thomas' gaze turned sharpgradually.

"Does Joshua know that you're contacting Adrian behind his back? If I were to tell Joshua right nowthat his assistant is secretly contacting Adrian Lynch and even asking Adrian to be careful...guess what the consequences would be?" Lucas' face paled instantly.

He bit his lip, turned around, Eu'lgjv< said in a low voice, "What do you want?" "I want to buy you coffee."

Thomas raised his hand and pointed at thecafe far away.

He gave a fake smile." I'm sure it must be tiring being Joshua's assistant.

I'll buy you a coffee to perk you up.

I'm sure you won't say no to that, right?" Lucas narrowed his eyes at Thomas' words.

After a long silence, he nodded in the end and walked over to the cafe.

He was afraid that Thomas might tell Joshua about the phone call a moment ago.

Joshua hated betrayals.

He hated the betrayals of the people he trusted the most.

Previously, during the incident with the doctor, Lucas had already betrayed Joshua once and was caught.

This time, if Joshua found out that he had been secretly in touch with Adrian all this while...

Lucas did not dare to imagine if he would still have the chance to work for Joshua.

Soon, they were seated at the corner of the cafe.

"Mr.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2609

Lucas looked up at Thomas seriously. "If there is anything you need my help with, tell me." Of course, he knew that Thomas had taken such a huge effort to see him.

It was not purely to chat with him.

He did not have the time to chat with him either.

Looking at Lucas' serious face, Thomas narrowed his eyes and said slowly, "I overheard some of your conversation with Adrian Lynch a moment ago." He lowered his head and stirred the cup of coffee, calmly adding, "Does Joshua have a bad relationship with Adrian?" Before seeing Lucas that day, he did not know that Joshua had such a terrible relationship with his father.

He did research it before, of course.

The outside world has always said that Joshua and Adrian did not have a good relationship.

He also found out that Joshua has publicly condemned Adrian before.

However, when he asked Malcolm about this, Malcolm said a different story.

"What we see is what Joshua wants us to see.

He always told the public that he didn't have a good relationship with his father, but it's not important to listen to what they say.

We have to see what they did.

"Look, you have conflicts with your father, which is why you never live together, but Joshua and Adrian had always been under the same roof.

A year ago, Joshua even gave Adrian a few million dollars to live out his old age.

How could that be a 'bad relationship'?"

Back then, Thomas thought it made sense.

After all, he did not get along well with his father.

Any father-son relationship which turned sour should be the same way.

Joshua, on the other hand, said that he did not have a good relationship with Adrian, but he still stayed under the same roof with Adrian while giving him money.

Thus, Thomas lumped Joshua on the same team as Adrian.

However, the words that Lucas spoke were different from what he thought.

"Their relationship can't be defined as bad." Lucas furrowed his brow, picked up his cup of coffee, and took a sip.

"Their relationship is terrible.

Mr. Lynch's mother died in labor.

Ever since then, his father disliked him. An%}hxl> thought that"

="""> his birth was the cause of his mother's death. Lynch grew up with the hatred of his father.

Later on..." Lucas sighed and told Thomas everything he knew in a low voice, including about Michael Lynch and Granny Lynch.

"Mr. Lynch is quite pitiful.

He was brought up by Granny Lynch, and ever since she passed away, the closest people to him are his wife and his children.

For the past year, Luna had a misunderstanding with Mr.Lynch for some reason...”
Then, Lucas looked up at Thomas.

“Mr.Howard, I only know this much.” At that moment, Lucas’ phone rang.

It was from Joshua.

“I have to get to work.” After hanging up the call, Lucas looked at Thomas seriously.

“I hope whatever I said will change your views on Mr.Lynch.

He really isn’t what you think to be.” Then, Lucas left.

Thomas sat in the chair, looking at Lucas leaving.

His gaze gradually darkened.

“What is Lucifer doing recently?” said Thomas into the phone as he walked out of the cafe. Lucifer Howard was the new name he gave Malcolm when they made a deal.

After all, back then, Malcolm had been kicked out of Merchant City by the Quinn family, and he could not possibly stay in Merchant City with his original identity.

Thus, Thomas gave him a name and a fake identity.

Lucifer thus followed him and his management company team to Merchant City.

That was why Thomas’ subordinates had never heard of Malcolm Quinn.

They only knew that he was Lucifer Howard.

“He hasn’t returned in a long time.” The driver sitting at the driver’s seat drove while furrowing his brow.

“Didn’t you instruct us not to care about him anymore? He was initially living with us, but a month or so ago, he accepted a call, and he suddenly became rich.

He treated us to a meal and said that he was going to do great things, so he left our team.”

Then, the driver could not help but lament, “Later on, I heard that he was working for a rich man, but he screwed up.

Not only did they ask for his money back, but they also even beat him up.

I think he has broken a leg or a hand.

It's terrible." Then, the driver looked at Thomas from the rearview mirror.

"Why did you suddenly bring him up? Should we get people to look for him?" "Yes."

"He hasn't returned in a long time." The driver sitting at the driver's seat drove while frowning his brow.

"Didn't you instruct us not to care about him anymore? He was initially living with us, but a month or so ago, he accepted a call, and he suddenly became rich.

Thomas fiddled with his phone.

His gaze darkened.

"Look for him." He did have some things he needed to settle with Malcolm.

In the evening, Luna received Thomas' phone call.

"Are you free?" "No." When talking to Thomas, Luna was irritated as usual.

"Just spit it out." If she could, she did not want to deal with this man, even if he had a good reason.

There were many things that, if he just checked properly, he would be able to find out the truth.

Luna did not believe that Thomas' men were not capable of that.

Thomas did not investigate properly at all and was not willing to understand.

He only pinned crimes on her and Joshua just by his perception of Joshua.

He thought that they were all bad people.

Was he a good person, then? If he was truly kindhearted, why had he never tried to compensate Yannie after what happened more than a year ago? He only came to Merchant City after hearing from Malcolm that he had a child.

If Malcolm really took the responsibility for Yannie, would Yannie end up like their current situation? At that thought, Luna was furious.

If he was not her company's spokesperson and they still had a contract worth millions, she would not want to talk to him at all.

"Even after you know that I'm Riley's father, are you still going to treat me with this attitude?"

Thomas sighed and said seriously, "I want to properly talk to you." "About what?" Luna asked while furrowing her eyebrows.

She switched off her computer in her office while packing up.

"I plan on taking Riley and Yannie back to Saigen City." Thomas' tone was low and calm.

"Well leave tomorrow." Luna suddenly paused what she was doing.

"Who allowed it?" Riley was still her and Joshua's adopted daughter.

Without her permission, how dare Thomas just take Riley and Yannie like that?
"Joshua," Thomas calmly replied.
