Chapter 2765 Inside the room, Thomas could not help frowning as the stench of antiseptic struck him.

He strode over to Senior Howard's bed, sat down in the chair, and swept his cold glance across his father's pale face. "I can't believe you're still alive."

Senior Howard never thought this would be the first thing his son said to him after accidentally shooting him. He immediately flew into a rage. "You good—for nothing son! You wanted to kill me after all, didn't you?!"

Thomas scoffed. "I never wanted to kill you, but your wife and son wanted me dead."

Thankfully, Tina's plan had not worked, and he did not end up sleeping with Denise at all. Otherwise, Yannie would surely be upset and refuse to be with him any longer.

If that happened, not only would Riley lose a mother, but he would lose the only woman he ever loved... To him, this was even worse than death.

Senior Howard was so furious to hear this that he broke into fits of cough. "You bastard!"

Thomas rolled his eyes as he watched his father's face turn red from his coughing fit. Finally, he reached out to pat Senior Howard's back reluctantly. "Why are you so upset when it's not even the first time we disagreed on something?"

Senior Howard shot him a cold look out of the corner of his eye but did not reply.

Finally, after he stopped coughing, Thomas drew his hand back and said, "When Joshua called me, he told me that you're fine and didn't suffer much injuries, so why are you coughing so hard now? Did the doctors make a mistake?"

Senior Howard rolled his eyes at him. "I wouldn't be coughing like this if you hadn't come to annoy me!"

With that, he closed his eyes and let out a sigh. "Your cousin and I had a long talk just now.

"He told me that the reason you had given all the evidence of your aunt's death and your uncle's involvement in this to him was that...you wanted him to help you take back your inheritance."

He opened his eyes to stare at Thomas. "If that was truly what you wanted, you don't have to do anything more.

"I'll hand Howard Group over to you right this instant."

Thomas' entire body froze when he heard this. He met his father's gaze with disbelief. "You..."

How could this be?

Senior Howard and Tina were the ones who had killed his mother, and everything Senior Howard had done was to take what rightfully belonged to Eanne as his. How could such a selfish and greedy man voluntarily hand over his inheritance?

Even if it were because Senior Howard was too old to continue running the business, he would still rather hand it over to Dan instead of Thomas.

This was why Thomas had sought out Joshua's help to take back his inheritance and avenge his mother's death.

All of a sudden, Senior Howard claimed that he would hand over the company willingly.

"Are you surprised?" Senior Howard let out a bitter chuckle and lifted his head to stare wistfully at the wall as though his thoughts had drifted somewhere far, far away. "If this had happened a few days ago, I would've been just as surprised as you are, but now... I truly want to hand over Howard Group to you."

Senior Howard closed his eyes and said, "I know that I owe your mother too much and if I had known earlier..."

He let out a sigh and opened his eyes to stare at Thomas. "If you had told me earlier that all you wanted was the family inheritance, I would've obliged."

Thomas furrowed his brow and suddenly felt as though there was a lump in his throat.

Finally, he let out an exhale and asked in a hoarse voice, "Did...something happen to you? What did Joshua say to you?"

Chapter 2766 Senior Howard turned to the side to look at Thomas. He paused, but it was evident he had something to say.

After a while, he sighed heavily. "You'll...find out what Joshua has said to me sooner or later. Actually, if you want to inherit the family's property, you don't have to find Joshua since it's our family business... But, it's good that you get him here. At least, you let me understand something..."

He extended his hand and gently placed it on his injured abdomen.

"I'm still physically frail now. Once I feel better, we can proceed with the transfer procedure. You're right. Half of the Howard Group's wealth was earned by your mother with her sweat and blood. It shouldn't be given to outsiders."

Thomas furrowed his brow. "What's gotten into you?"

This was unlike his father's typical behavior. Every time his father saw him, his father would be infuriated and scold him for not being accomplished, wanting him to leave his sight as soon as possible. It was unlike him to admit that he was wrong and was sorry to his mother. What kind of curse had Joshua cast upon his father?

"Joshua Lynch..." Senior Howard sighed. "He can see further and more than me. Maybe I'm really getting old."

After complimenting Joshua, he looked at Thomas. "You'll need to learn more from Joshua, but you have to keep your promise."

"After I pass everything to you, you need to give him the evidence of how your aunt passed away. He's here because of his family too. He's a pitiful man... If I'm not around in the future, I'll be less worried knowing he's around to take care of you."

Thomas furrowed his brow vehemently as he impatiently listened to what his father said. He was so clueless. "Since you refused to tell me what Joshua said to you, I'll ask him later."

He then glanced at his father coldly. "Are you lying to me when you say you are giving me Howard Group?"

"Of course not." Senior Howard smiled. "You are my son; why can't I give it to you? Of course..."

He paused. "You must remember to be filial to me and not dump me after I give it to you. Also, you'll have to bring Riley to see me."

Thomas cocked up his head and wanted to reject this, but he saw his father's gray hair at the sideburns.

He could not bring himself to say those gruesome words. It had been years since he talked to his father so privately like this.

If he did not accidentally shoot his father, it was impossible for him to come to see his father and be so close to him. Now that he looked at his father, he noticed that the old geezer...was really getting old.

He paused and stared at Senior Howard. "You want me to take Riley to come to see you? Why don't you wait for Dan to get married and have kids to see your grandchild?"

All these years, Senior Howard had been preferring Tina and Dan. He had never put in thoughts on Thomas. Why was Senior Howard trying to be a good father to him and requesting him to bring Riley to see him all of a sudden? Was he worthy of being Riley's grandfather?

As Thomas brought up Dan's name, Senior Howard's face changed instantly.

After much consideration, he sighed. "Once I pass everything to you...I'll let Tina and Dan leave the house."

Thomas furrowed his brow vehemently.

'Has this old geezer really changed? What magic did Joshua use?' he thought.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2767

Chapter 2767 When Thomas left the ward, Joshua was nowhere to be seen. Yannie was the only one sitting quietly on the chair playing with her phone. He furrowed his brow. "Where's Joshua?" Yannie pursed her lips and said, "He said he has something to do, so he left." She then put away her phone and stood up, staring at Thomas. "How did the talk with your father go?" "It was alright." Thomas sighed. "I'll send you back first." At this time, he could not tell what Senior Howard was up to with the abrupt change in his mood and thoughts. Had the old geezer truly decided to pass the family to him and kick Tina and her son out of their residence...or was the old geezer just trying to comfort him while planning something else? He could not tell.

He could only take one step at a time.

Yannie did not say anything else, looking at Thomas zoning out in his thoughts. She turned around and walked with him toward the elevator "Stop right there!" came the shrill, demanding voice of a woman. Yannie and Thomas stopped walking and looked in the direction of the voice. At the far-away end of the hallway, Tina was walking toward them fiercely.

"Thomas Howard! Go and apologize to Dan!" Thomas twisted and dislocated Dan's hands, though it was not serious as the doctor had made necessary treatments to undo the damage. Still, Thomas could not just be forgiven easily for that!

Tina wanted Thomas to pay the price. At the very least, she wanted Thomas to apologize to Dan. Otherwise, it would be a waste after how long Dan cried!

"Apologize?" Thomas laughed mockingly. "You want me to apologize to Dan? Did a donkey kick your brain?"

What he had done was twisted and dislocated Dan's hands. Tina and Dan had taken every chance to bully him over the years. Even his mother's death was related to Tina.

What audacity did this woman have to request him to apologize to Dan? Did she apologize for playing a part in contributing to his mother's death? "Thomas Howard!" Tina gritted her teeth loudly and gave Thomas a death look." What's wrong with Dan hitting you because you hurt your father? More importantly, he accidentally struck that woman instead of you. Do you have to be so mad and dislocate his hands? "I'm only requesting you apologize to him and not have someone dislocate your hands or cause trouble for you and this woman, yet you're still unwilling to apologize to him? You've crossed the line!" She then kicked open the door of Senior Howard's ward. She stared at Thomas and said, "Don't leave if you dare. Let's go talk some sense in front of your father and let him judge!" Yannie frowned at those words. Everyone knew all Senior Howard cared about were Tina and her son Dan. If she wanted to let Senior Howard be the judge of this cast, Thomas would always be in the wrong regardless of the situation!

She furrowed her brow. "Why should we go and let Senior Howard judge? The surveillance camera is the best witness. If you look back at the surveillance, you can clearly see how your son was the one who started the fight, and I was the one who stood in front of Thomas so he was not hurt.

"Your son was the one who was wrong. You want Thomas to apologize? Fat chance!" She walked and stood in front of Thomas as though shielding him. In the past, she never thought about protecting Thomas. She had always thought Thomas was a man, strong enough to face everything. However...she just wanted to do something for him before she decided to leave once and for all. Even if it was just some meaningless protection, she was willing to do it.

"Oh, my!" Tina sneered. "Well, well, Thomas Howard. You need a woman to shield you now?"

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2768

Chapter 2768 "Go figure. The men in the Howard family are all the same; you're all dependent on women!"

Tina smirked as she stared at Thomas coldly. Her words were potent with mockery as she continued, "Howard Group is at its glory now because your father had gotten help from your mother. I thought it was different for you when you found yourself a village girl, but it's still the same. You need this woman to come to protect you now? How amusing!"

Her words were downright insulting.

Thomas furrowed his brow. As he was about to retort, Yannie interjected, with her arms wide open in defending Thomas, "Hey, are you listening to yourself? You insulting Thomas like that also means you're insulting your husband and your son. Aren't your husband and son from the same family as Thomas? Are you saying your son, Dan Howard, is also a man who relies on women too?"

Yannie's face and tone were cold when she said that.

Tina never expected such sharp remarks from Yannie. She was stunned and did not know how to counter

"Come in here, all of you," rang the frail yet firm voice of an elder interrupting the fight between Tina and Yannie.

man,

"Your father heard everything!" Tina snorted as she gave Thomas a deadly stare. "Go in there if you have the nerve and let your father be the judge!"

She knew Senior Howard adored her for most of his life and had been on her side too. Thomas was just some rebellious son who got kicked out of the house and had never spoken to his father for several years.

If Senior Howard was the judge, she was the clear winner. Knowing this, she would want Senior Howard to force Thomas to apologize to her son.

She thus turned and entered the ward haughtily.

Thomas narrowed his eyes when he saw how prideful Tina was and followed her into the ward.

In fact, he was curious. Senior Howard had just promised he would give Thomas everything and kicked Dan and Tina out of the house, so he wanted to know whose side the old geezer would be on as he had a fight with Tina.

Yannie furrowed her brow when she saw Thomas was about to enter the ward. She pulled Thomas' sleeve and said with worry, "Thomas, why don't we just leave?"

She knew Senior Howard would not be on Thomas' side. If Senior Howard and Tina used something to threaten Thomas, Thomas would have no choice but to apologize to Dan!

"It's alright." Thomas curled up his lips and smiled lightly. He grabbed Yannie's hand in return. "Let's go in."

With Yannie's hand in his, he walked into the ward together with Yannie.

"There, there. You actually dare to come in here." Tina snorted when she saw them walking into the ward. She looked back and changed her expression immediately like she was acting. Instead of the fierce look she had before, she tried to make herself look pitiful. "Honey, you need to help me and Dan. Dan was angry at Thomas for hurting you and couldn't help but slap Thomas just now, but he struck the wrong person. This woman here, Yannie, rushed out of nowhere and took the slap for Thomas! Maybe Thomas was trying to act manly in front of this woman because, as Dan's brother, mercilessly twisted and dislocated Dan's hands!

"You know Dan has always been my precious son. I took care of him and doted on him since he was born. When has he ever suffered such pain before? He was next door and cried terribly because of the pain. I only wanted Thomas to apologize to Dan, but he's so stubborn. He even said Dan deserved it... You have to help me and Dan!"

While she was talking, she used the corner of her eyes to peek at Thomas and Yannie pleasingly as though sure things would go her way. Yannie bit her lip and grabbed Thomas' hand quietly. "But—" "Don't say anything for now," interjected Thomas softly before Yannie could finish. He cocked up his head and looked at Senior Howard coldly. "Tell me what's your take on this," Thomas said.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2769

Chapter 2769 Senior Howard furrowed his brow and looked at Thomas and Tina. Lastly, he closed his eyes and said with a plain tone, "Why did Dan hit Thomas?" The question caught Tina off-guard; she never thought Senior Howard would ask that question. After a while, she pursed her lips and said, "Didn't I just say it? He was angry because Thomas shot you." She then added, "Don't you know how much Dan cares about you? Not like someone else here. Dan would've fought the person who hurt you with his life if the transgressor wasn't his brother." Senior Howard sneered, "Is that so? You say Dan cares about me. How does he do that? Using my cars to gamble and losing them to someone else? Or spending my money behind my back?"

"Do you think I don't know any of that stuff you two did behind my back?"

Tina's eyes blew wide open in shock. She looked at him with a stupefied look. "You..."

After a while, she bit her lip and lowered her voice. "There are outsiders here. Why are you talking about these? I'm telling you that Thomas twisted and dislocated Dan's hands. We can talk about everything else later." "Outsiders?" As soon as Tina finished talking, Thomas curled up his lips into a smile. "Aunt Tina, who are you calling outsiders? Is it me or my fiancée? How come I didn't understand what you just said?" He placed his arm on Yannie's shoulder and looked at Senior Howard challengingly. "Tell me who is the outsider?" Tina's face flushed pale. "I'm referring to..." "There's no outsider here." Senior Howard did not even bother looking at Tina as he coldly declared, "Since Yannie is Riley's mother, then she's my daughter-in-law. She's not an outsider."

After that, he looked at Tina coldly, “You said Dan wanted to hit Thomas because he was angry Thomas hurt me. With that same logic, Thomas dislocating his hands for hitting Yannie is justified.”

Tina was baffled by the sudden turn of events.

She bit her lip. “How is it that he deserves it? He did it because of you...”

“Did he do it because of me, or was it just to find a reason to hit Thomas because I was injured? You know it yourself!” Senior Howard snorted and closed his eyes. I’m tired. This ends here.”

He waved his hand. “You may all leave.”

Thomas’ eyes narrowed at this. Before this, he was dubious of Senior Howard’s motives when he told him he was passing everything in the family to him. He thought the old geezer was putting up a show for him to see.

Currently, he was not certain anymore as he stared at Tina’s pale face. ‘The old geezer...isn’t acting?’ he thought.

“What’s wrong with you?” Tina was infuriated to see Senior Howard not giving a fuck about her woes. “How is this ending just like this? Dan and I are both worried and care about you, putting you first in this situation. That’s why he wanted to hit Thomas! If you just let it go like this, do you know how upset Dan will be?”

“Aunt Tina.” Thomas smiled as he hugged Yannie. “If you are truly worried, caring for my father and putting him first, how can you come here to make a fuss about this mess when he just woke up and is still not at his best? Do you truly care about his body or about you and your son’s dignity more?”

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 2770

Chapter 2770 Tina had a terrible look on her face after what Thomas said, and her eyebrows were pressed in a firm line.

“What are you talking about? He’s my husband, and Dan’s my son. In my heart, my husband and my son are equally important!”

After that, she glanced from the corner of her eyes at the man on the bed while trying to grovel, “Furthermore, Dan’s your father’s son. If you treat Dan badly, that means you don’t care about your father!”

“Scram!” Senior Howard shut his eyes, not giving Tina the responses she wanted. He stretched his hand out to massage his glabella. “The doctor said I need to rest. If all of you care for me, stop disturbing me.”

All of a sudden, he remembered something and said, “Get Mr. Zink here.”

Mr. Zink was Senior Howard’s personal lawyer.

Tina, baffled at how he was summoning his lawyer, furrowed her brow and looked at him. “Why do you want Mr. Zink here?” Senior Howard rolled his eyes at Tina. “To get him to sue Thomas for causing intentional injury. Are you happy?” Suddenly, Tina felt spirited. “Really?” She gloated while peeking at Thomas. She said coldly, “That’s right. Since he doesn’t care about his father and brother, there’s no need to care about his feelings anymore. Sue him for intentional injury; that’s the best for everyone. I hope when we are in the court in the future, Mr. Howard here doesn’t try to use the excuse of being a family to plead for mercy!” With that, she snorted and left the ward as if she was on the runway. As she left, she took out her phone to make a call. “Mr. Zink..”

Yannie was scared to death as she heard the conversation between Tina and Senior Howard. She was afraid Senior Howard would really sue Thomas. She quickly let go of Thomas’ arm and approached Senior Howard. “Uncle, I know there is a misunderstanding between you and Thomas, but...” “What are you trying to tell him?” Thomas rolled his eyes when Yannie tried to please Senior Howard. He extended his hand to grab Yannie’s collar from the back and pulled her back into his arms. “Just sue me if that’s what you want. Do you think I’m scared of you?”

He grabbed Yannie’s clothes and forced her to leave the ward with him.

“Why did you stop me from talking with your father?”

She got pulled into the elevator. She looked at the closed elevator door and looked back at the man behind her angrily. “I know you’re not scared, but it’s better to have one less issue to deal with. We haven’t helped Luna solve Gwen’s problem yet, and you’ve yet to accomplish your mission. You shouldn’t waste your time fighting with your father.

“Also, I think your father still cares about you. Maybe after talking to him, he won’t sue you for this. Even if you quit the entertainment industry now, who knows if you’ll return one day? It’s not good to let other people find out that your own father sues you to court!”

Thomas curled up his lips when he saw how Yannie panicked. After a while, he smiled even when Yannie was still panicking.

“What are you laughing at?” Yannie was still angry. It infuriated her further to look at his look. “Can you not underestimate everything? You’re always like this, not giving a damn about anything, yet you're so sensitive and weak... You can't always be like this!" The way Yannie pouted her lips looked awfully adorable.

Thomas curled up his lips and extended his hand out to pinch Yannie's cute cheek. "It's alright. I have you, don't I? Everything I simplified, you'll treat them seriously. With you around, I don't have to change."

This irked Yannie. "Yes, I'm with you now, but what if I leave you in the future?" Thomas smiled. He reached out his hand and pulled Yannie into his arms. With a soft, deep voice, he asked, "So, are you going to leave me?"
