Luna remained in her seat and watched Jason disappear into the night. She suddenly felt a little cold and could not help shivering.

She closed her eyes and remained seated for a long while after that, enjoying the cool sea breeze before she slowly stood up and hailed a taxi back to her hotel.

Luna did not manage to sleep well the entire night. She dreamt a lot of things.

At first, she dreamed that Jason and Bonnie had gotten married, but Jason murdered Bonnie after that, claimed her inheritance and insurance money for himself, and spent the rest of his life carefree and happy.

After that, Joshua appeared and stared down at her while, at the same time, ordering someone to abort her baby.

In her next dream, she failed to save Nigel and watched him die before her.

After she woke up from her last nightmare, Luna could no longer fall asleep, simultaneously feeling her morning sickness acting up again.

She clung onto the rim of the toilet bowl and vomited over and over again at 3 a.m. in the morning.

After a while, Luna got exhausted from all her vomiting and rinsed her mouth. Slumping against the sofa, she stared at the dark sky outside the window but did not dare to fall asleep.

It was already difficult enough being a pregnant woman, but with other things to worry about, it felt even more challenging than ever.

Luna knew that she had to get more rest, but she could not bring herself to do so and instead stayed up till sunrise.

She took a quick nap and, at 7 a.m., finally woke up.

After freshening up, she made her way to the hospital.

Yesterday, she and Gwen had decided to invite Luke over to the hospital today so that Luna could convince him to let Gwen undergo her abortion.

Luna hoped to achieve this as quickly as possible so that she could leave Banyan City and meet up with Theo soon.

As soon as Luna arrived at the hospital and pushed open the door to Gwen's ward, she sensed that something was wrong.

The atmosphere in the room felt a little eerie.

Luke was sitting in a chair, his expression dark.

Meanwhile, Gwen was leaning against her headboard, her eyes red-rimmed. It was obvious she had been crying.

Luna could not help frowning when she took in this scene before her.

She walked over to Gwen, lowered her voice, and asked, "What happened?"

Gwen sniffled and answered in a nasally voice, "Luna This was good news.

Despite feeling excited by this news, she continued in a low voice, "Did you manage to convince him? "

Luna had thought it would take a lot of time and effort to convince Luke.

"No." Gwen let out an exhale and shook her head. "It was Joshua who persuaded him."

Luna's entire body stiffened.

She recalled that... Joshua had indeed promised her he would help her convince Luke as well, but she thought that after what happened last night, he would not be willing to do so anymore.

She did not expect that Joshua would do this the first thing after he left the beach.

Still...

Luna furrowed her brows in confusion. "Why are you crying, then?"

Luke had already agreed to the abortion, so why was Gwen still upset?

Gwen lowered her head and handed something over to Luna.

It was a small red book.

A small row of gold lettering on its cover read, [Marriage

Certificate.]

Luna was so shocked by this that she raised her voice,
"You two got married?"

Gwen closed her eyes and nodded in response. "This was...the only condition he had before he allowed me to proceed with the abortion."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 667

The atmosphere in the room was eerily quiet.

Luna took the marriage certificate from Gwen and flipped through it a few times to make sure it was real. She always guessed that Luke was interested in Gwen. Otherwise, he would not have cared so much about her, but she did not expect that he would use this as a condition before allowing Gwen to proceed with her abortion.

"I was just using it to scare her." Luke, who had remained silent all this while, suddenly stood up and snatched the marriage certificate away from Luna. "I told her that if she wanted to undergo an abortion, the only way I'd allow it is if she married me."

"I thought she would refuse to, but I was surprised. She's so desperate to get rid of this child that she's even willing to marry someone like me."

Luke carefully tucked the marriage certificate away and sauntered over to the door. "I guess this is good, too. If she dies during the procedure, at least she'll have a husband to visit her grave now and then."

Then, he opened the door. "By the way, the surgery is arranged for this afternoon."

Just as he was about to leave, Luke could not stop himself from turning around to glance at Luna. "I have to admit that you're good. Joshua spent the entire night convincing me to go ahead with the abortion. You're probably the only person who could get him to do something like this."

With that, he turned around and left the room, slamming the door behind him.

"Luna, " Gwen said feebly after Luke had left. "Did I... make a mistake?"

Her eyes were still red —rimmed from her previous crying. “Just now, I asked Luke what would happen to him if I died... He told me that even if I died, his heart would be with me forever.”

Gwen closed her eyes. “Did I make a mistake? Luke is such a good person, and I don’t want him to waste his life away...”

Luke pursed her lips and reached out to grab Gwen’s hand. “You’ll be fine. Have you ever thought of what would happen if you didn’t die and instead survived the surgery?”

Gwen blushed slightly when she heard this. “Luke said that as soon as I recovered, he’d host the most majestic wedding in Sea City...” She lowered her head and let out a bitter smile. “Luna, I’ve been married before, and I’ve been used by so many other men before Luke... How can I possibly match up to him?”

Luna gripped Gwen’s hand as tight as she could. “Please don’t say that. You deserve this. Since Luke loves you so much, please believe that you’re deserving of his love. Don’t overthink everything.”

She consoled Gwen in a gentle voice, “Get some rest. Your surgery is set for this afternoon. Don’t worry about anything; you’ll be fine.”

“Okay.” Gwen nodded earnestly, then lifted her head to gaze at Luna. “We’ll be fine—both of us. I’ll recover from this, and I’m sure Nigel will, too.”

Suddenly, Gwen seemed to recall something and said to Luna, “By the way, Luke told me just now that Joshua found out about your baby, but he... He thinks the child belongs to Theo.”

Luna interjected before she could continue, “It’s not necessarily a bad thing that he misunderstood. At least he won’t try to do anything bad to my child for now.”

Gwen paused, then nodded in agreement. “You’re right.”

Luna spent the entire morning by Gwen’s bedside. After lunch, a doctor stopped by Gwen’s ward to give her a checkup before her surgery.

“Your body is in much better shape than it was a few days ago, so this will significantly lower the risks during your surgery." The doctor stared at Gwen's report and could not help adding, "I guess women do know women best. Previously, when Mr. Jones was looking after her, her condition didn't improve at all."

Gwen smiled when she heard this. "Well, it's all thanks to my friend."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 668

The doctor nodded, then glanced at Luna. "What about your baby? Are you sure you don't want to abort it as well?"

Luna shook her head. "This baby is the most precious thing in the world to me now."

As soon as she said this, Luna suddenly felt the entire room grow silent, so silent that it felt a little spine-tingling. She glanced in the direction of the door and realized that Joshua was standing there, staring at her with a cold expression, a contemptuous smirk playing on his lips. Luna recalled what he had told her last night and immediately lowered her head in shame, unsure what to say next.

The doctor wheeled Gwen into the operation theater while Luke waited outside in a corner, clutching a bouquet of white lilies. It was strange to see a ruffian like Luke holding a bouquet of fresh, white flowers in his hand.

Nonetheless, Luna still felt her heart soften at the sight. Gwen was a lucky girl. Even though she was with a scumbag like Ben and experienced heartbreak in the past, she had Luke already.

This tough and rowdy gangster was willing to wait for her so patiently outside the operation theater, clutching a bouquet like a love-struck teenager. Anyone would agree that Gwen was indeed a lucky girl.

This was a stark contrast to Joshua. He was a gentleman who appeared cold and arrogant but did not even allow Luna Gibson to abort her children properly. Instead, he ordered for her to be murdered.

Luna recalled what had happened the last time she had gotten pregnant with Joshua's children. She could not help inching a little further away from him as soon as she thought of the traumatizing memories of her past. Even though she tried to make her movements as surreptitious as possible, Joshua still noticed it. He snorted in indignation and ignored her, closing his eyes, and pretended to take a nap instead.

It felt as though an eternity had passed before Gwen finally emerged from the operation theater.

Fortunately, the surgery was a success. The doctor wheeled Gwen out of the operation theater with a smile and declared, "The surgery was very successful."

Luke immediately proffered his flowers, unable to hide his excitement. "Congratulations on starting anew."

Gwen stared at the big bouquet of flowers and smiled, closing her eyes at the same time. "I'm not a teenager anymore. Don't be so cheesy."

Despite saying this, there was no denying the happiness in her eyes. Luna felt tears welling up in her eyes as she took in the scene before her.

All the while, she was thinking...

She had never received flowers like this from the man she loved, despite being married to Joshua for so long. He had never shown her such affection before, even though she had borne him three, and soon to be four, children.

Luna could not help feeling a little jealous of Gwen.

After sending Gwen back to her ward along with Luke, Luna walked over to the hospital stairwell and dialed Theo's number.

Luna could not afford to put this off any longer. She had to leave Banyan City as soon as possible.

"Luna, something doesn't seem right," Theo's slightly hoarse voice rang out from the other end of the line.

"There are a few bodyguards here. They claim that the Lynches sent them over to protect Neil and Nellie. Are you familiar with them?" Luna paused. "What happened?"

Shortly after Neil and Nellie arrived at their summer camp, Joshua had sent a few men over to protect them. Zach and Yuri had gone over only a while after that.

“I heard them mention Alice’s name when they were on the phone just now.” Theo lowered his voice and continued, “So I eavesdropped on their conversation and heard them saying that they had discovered my plan of taking Neil and Nellie away. They also received orders from Alice to get rid of the three of us.”

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 669

Luna was so shocked by this that she almost dropped her phone. She asked, her entire body trembling, “So now you...”

“We’ve split up.” Theo’s voice sounded slightly hoarse through the phone. “Zach and Yuri have left with Nellie, and Neil and I are still here, but we’re pretending as if nothing has happened to stall them. My father will send some people over to meet up with us in a while, and we’ll all leave together.”

He sighed and continued, “You don’t have to worry about us. I was afraid that if both Neil and Nellie left together, it’d attract their attention. Otherwise, I wouldn’t have asked Neil to stay here with me.

They’re after the children, not me, so I’m sure they won’t try to harm me. I just wanted to give you a heads up.”

“Alice is already coming after us without any regard for consequences, so I was worried that you might be in danger, too.”

Luna gripped her phone tightly and tried to suppress the panic in her heart. “I’m fine. I’ve already bought my tickets, and Gwen has asked Luke’s men to escort me to the airport...”

She closed her eyes and said, “Thank you, Theo.”

In the past, when Luna was still in Banyan City, Alice had threatened her, saying that the bodyguards looking after Neil and Nellie were, in fact, her men. Luna had been worried when she first heard this, but after asking Joshua about this, he told her that he had switched the bodyguards to his own men.

After that, he had even sent Zach and Yuri, Neil’s personal bodyguards, abroad to protect the two children. Moreover, it had already been a few months without anything bad happening, so naturally, Luna started to feel more reassured about her children's safety.

However, she did not expect that... Alice's men had not retreated after all. They had been lying in wait all this time, waiting for a perfect opportunity to strike.

Luna closed her eyes. As she listened to Theo's voice over the phone, she felt a twinge of fear creep into her heart.

Why did Alice wait so long to strike? Out of all the chances she got, why did she pick this moment?

Was this just a coincidence? Or could it be...

Luna did not even dare to finish that thought.

"There's still four more hours until your flight, right?"

Theo's voice rang out, pulling Luna back to reality.

"Yes." She nodded.

"I think it's best you don't delay this anymore. Get to the airport as soon as you can. You'd be safe after you've passed the airport security clearance." Theo lowered his voice and added, "Don't worry about us."

Luna nodded again. Just as she was about to hang up, however, she let out an exhale and said, "Thank you, Theo."

"There's no need to thank me. It's all in a day's work." He chuckled and hung up the phone.

As soon as she heard the dial tone, Luna let out another sigh and disconnected the call.

When she turned around, however, she was met with a pair of deep, penetrating eyes.

It was Joshua.

Luna did not know how long he had been standing in the stairwell behind her. He was holding onto a cigarette, watching her coldly. "You're already pregnant with Theo's child. Why are you still so courteous toward him?" Luna furrowed her brows and tried to calm herself down.

"Of course. It's called manners."

Joshua scoffed and said, "I wanted to tell you this yesterday, but I forgot, so I'm telling you now. I've decided to divorce Alice."

Luna's entire body stiffened when she heard this. She paused for a moment before asking, "Why?"

"No reason. I just think we're not compatible at all."

Joshua lowered his head to look at the cigarette in his hand as though he felt like smoking it. However, considering Luna was pregnant, he decided not to and instead stared at it longingly. "What Luke said just now made me realize something."

Joshua lifted his head to gaze straight into Luna's eyes.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 670

"If Gwen can abort her baby and be with Luke, then you can do the same. You can abort Theo's baby and be with me."

Luna clenched her fists in anger and stared at Joshua.

"Mr. Lynch, I've made myself very clear. I don't like it when you talk about my child like this. Even if you think you're joking, it's not funny at all."

Joshua raised his eyebrows at her. "What if I 'm not joking?"

Luna sucked in a deep breath and said, "Joshua, aren't you being too self-centered right now? Gwen wanted to undergo her abortion because she didn't want to have Ben's baby. She decided to marry Luke because deep down in her heart, she genuinely returned his love.

"Why would I get rid of Theo's baby and be with you instead? Do you somehow think I'm in love with you?"

Joshua curled his lips into a smirk and answered impassively, "Aren't you?"

"I 'm not!" Luna let out an exhale and glanced at the time. She had only three more hours until her flight.

"Joshua Lynch, let me tell you this now: I don't like you. I never did, and I never will! Don't think so highly of yourself!"

With that, Luna strode away. However, before she could even leave, Joshua grabbed hold of her and pulled her back.

He forcefully slammed her up against the wall and said in a livid tone, an air of white-hot fury about him, “Luna, do you have any idea what you’re saying?”

After all this while, was her passion and attachment toward him just for show?

Joshua could not believe she even dared to insult him like this. He could not believe how outrageous she was acting. Luna was the one who had seduced him and slept with him so many times, but with her bearing Theo’s child, she was heartless toward him!

“Of course I know what I’m saying!” Luna clenched her teeth and glared at him. “Everything I’m saying is facts. Let go of me right now!”

However, the more she struggled, the tighter Joshua’s grip on her became, until finally, he grabbed hold of Luna’s chin and pressed his lips forcefully against hers. Joshua’s kiss was as domineering as always as if he were trying to invade and conquer her.

This sudden twist of events made Luna’s eyes widen. She struggled against him, but try as she might, she could not release herself from Joshua’s arms.

Finally, she had no choice but to bite down on his lip furiously.

Joshua narrowed his eyes at her and bit her lip in retaliation until, in the end, they could taste nothing but blood.

“That’s enough,” All of a sudden, Luke’s stern voice rang out through the stairwell. Joshua narrowed his eyes and let go of Luna.

Luna’s pregnancy had probably weakened her body, so when Joshua released her without warning, she could not stabilize herself and instead slumped against the wall wearily. She slid down the wall until she finally landed on the floor in a heap, then started retching again.

Luke glanced at her and remarked, “Look at this. You’ve made her sick.”

Joshua scoffed. “That’s because she’s pregnant. If she had listened to me and aborted the child, she wouldn’t be suffering like this at all.”

Luna’s entire body stiffened when she heard this. She immediately propped herself up and warned, “ I’m saying this one more time: I don’t like it when you make jokes like this.”

Joshua snorted in indignation and grabbed hold of her chin. “I’ve already told you; I’m not joking. What if I really want you to get rid of the child in your belly right now?”

Luna glared at Joshua and could no longer suppress her rage. “How dare you! “

“That’s enough. Stop messing with her.” Luke glanced at Joshua and added, “The reason I came over is to tell you that Alice is here. She’s standing outside Gwen’s ward, demanding to see you. She made so much racket that she woke Gwen up. Please go take care of this.”

Joshua furrowed his brows in irritation. “Alright.” With that, he let go of Luna and strode out of the stairwell.

The two people watched as Joshua’s retreating figure disappeared from view. Then, Luke shrugged and tucked his hands in his pockets, glancing at Luna simultaneously. “He’s really in love with you. Last night, when he found out you were pregnant with another man’s child, he was so upset that he came to find me and spent the whole night drinking.

“As for what he said about the abortion... He’s just saying it out of spite. Why are you taking him so seriously? He’s not that cruel and heartless.”

Luna scoffed and retorted coldly, “That’s because you don’t know him as well as I do. Many years ago, he had an affair with Luna Gibson’s sister, Aura. He was willing to kill Luna Gibson just to please Aura.”

She shot Luke a cold glance before continuing, “He’s willing to hurt his own children. What makes you think he won’t do that to me?”

Luke stared at Luna, his eyes wide with shock, but Luna did not seem to notice this. Instead, she wiped the blood that trickled out of the corner of her mouth and said, “I have three more hours until my flight. I better go now.”

With that, she descended the flight of stairs.

Luke frowned and watched Luna leave, limping slightly. “Aren’t you going to say goodbye to Joshua?”

Luna closed her eyes. “There’s no need.” With that, she left without a second glance.

Luke remained motionless and could not help letting out a deep sigh.

Luna went down to the floor below and managed to find an elevator.

“Joshua, how dare you lie to me and say it’s not because of Luna?”

“Where is she? You’d better ask her to come out right this instant! “

“Stop trying to lie! The reason you’re divorcing me is because of her! “

“I want to find Luna right this instant so she can talk some sense into you! “

Even though she was on the floor below Gwen’s ward, Luna could still hear Alice’s shouts. She let out an exasperated sigh and closed her eyes.

No wonder Alice was trying to get rid of Neil and Nellie. It was because Joshua had officially filed for divorce, and so Alice —thinking it was Luna’s fault— tried to get her revenge.

The elevator descended two more floors. When the doors opened, two men dressed entirely in black boarded the elevator and said in a low voice, “You’re Ms. Luna, right?”

“We’re Luke’s men. We’ve been ordered to escort you to the airport.”

Luna lifted her head to glance at the two men before her. They were speaking in a distinct local accent, and although she did not recognize them, she could tell they were Luke’s men from the way they dressed.

“Bring me to the hotel first. “ Her belongings were still at the hotel.

The two men did not say a single word throughout the car ride from the hospital to Luna’s hotel. One of them was focused on driving, while the other gazed out the window in silence.

The car soon arrived at the hotel. Luna quickly packed her suitcase, checked out of her hotel room, then returned to the car, with the two men escorting her throughout.

When they got into the car, one of the men handed Luna an unopened bottle of mineral water. “Here. In case you get thirsty on the way.”

“Thank you.” Luna nodded in appreciation. She did start to feel thirsty.

She did not expect Luke’s men to be exactly like him: thoughtful and kind beneath a hard exterior.

She twisted the bottle cap open and drank the water without thinking twice.

The streets were considerably emptier at night than during the day, so it did not take long for them to arrive at the airport.

Luna got out of the car after a half hour’s car ride. She walked into the airport and made her way past the security clearance. The two men kept their eyes on her all this while and, after making sure she had successfully passed security clearance, finally turned around and left.

Luna sat down in the airport waiting lounge and felt a little worried about Theo, so she picked up her phone and dialed his number. However, no matter how many times she tried, she could not get through to him at all.

Luna had no choice but to call Nigel for help instead. She knew that Nigel had kept in touch with Luke, Neil, and Nellie all this while, so he could probably help.

To her surprise, she could not get through to Nigel either.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 672

Luna was starting to feel anxious.

She exhaled and tried to dial both Theo and Nigel again, but none of them picked up their phones.

Finally, Luna had no choice but to call Malcolm instead.

"Hello?" Malcolm's voice rang out through the phone, sounding a little weary.

Luna frowned. "Malcolm, Nigel..."

"Nigel's getting emergency surgery, " Malcolm's voice sounded exhausted. "Luna, I can't do this anymore. Nigel...can't do this anymore."

Luna's eyes widened when she heard this. "What... What do you mean?"

Malcolm let out a sigh. Every syllable he uttered after that felt like they were pounding against Luna's chest, "Nigel's condition has been worsening for the past two months. He told me not to let you know, and he also ordered the doctor to lie to you, saying he was getting better... Didn't you notice he was contacting you less and less now?"

Luna almost dropped her phone.

Malcolm was right. Nigel did contact her less frequently than before, but he told her that he had learned a new type of hacking technology and was spending a lot of time trying to perfect it.

Besides, Nigel had always been a quiet child, so naturally, Luna did not overthink his progressive lack of communication, but...

"He wasn't learning some new hacking technology. He didn't contact you as often because he's so sick that he can't even talk normally anymore.

This morning, he even vomited blood, and the doctors sent him into the operating theater immediately. It's been almost eight hours now...

"The doctor said if he doesn't undergo bone marrow transplant soon...

He won't even have a year to live." Malcolm closed his eyes and continued, "Nigel made me promise not to tell you any of this, but I don't think I can do that anymore. Luna... Why don't you give up on your plan and come back instead, to be by Nigel's side? It's been almost six months since you left, and if you haven't gotten pregnant by now... "

"I have." Luna clenched her teeth and said in a choked voice, "Malcolm, I'm at the airport right now. I'll be back very soon. Take good care of Nigel for me—I'll be home soon. Neil and Nellie are on their way, too. We'll be fine..."

She clutched her phone tightly and could no longer keep her tears at bay.

"Malcolm, I'm pregnant. Nigel can be saved..."

Malcolm remained silent. Finally, after a pause, he, too, said in a choked voice, "That's great. When Nigel comes out of surgery later, I'll tell him the good news."

Luna bit down on her lip and nodded. "Alright. We'll be fine. Please don't give up just yet, and please tell Nigel not to give up either. I..."

However, before she could finish her sentence, Luna felt a twinge of pain shoot up from her stomach. The pain was so excruciating that she could not help bending over in agony.

Luna gripped her phone tightly but could not say a single word.

Malcolm seemed to sense that something was wrong. "Luna...? Luna?"

Luna bit down on her lip and opened her mouth to say something, but nothing came out. She was in so much pain that tears brimmed in her eyes.

Suddenly, she felt something warm trickle out from beneath her.

She knew what that was.

Despair and hopelessness engulfed Luna's entire being, and she could not even hold onto her phone anymore. Her phone fell onto the ground with a thud.

Luna saw a man make his way over to her, then bend down to pick up her phone.

The man ignored Malcolm's worried cries coming from the other end of the line and hung up the call. Then, he reached out his hand toward her.

"Ms.

Luna."

Luna looked up and, despite having tears in her eyes, made out the man's face.

Jason gave her a sinister smile and said, "Mr. Lynch asked me to check on you and see if the miscarriage was successful. From the looks of things, it was."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 673

Luna stared at Jason's face in shock. "Are you saying.. that Joshua sent you here...?" she uttered through clenched teeth.

“Of course.” Jason knelt and stared back at her impassively. “If not for Mr. Lynch, how did Luke’s men manage to spike your drink with abortion pills? If not for Mr. Lynch, would I even be standing here in front of you?” Luna clung onto the hem of her shirt tightly, partly out of weakness due to blood loss and partly out of despair. “How dare he... Did he know...” “Mr. Lynch knows the baby belongs to him, so he asked us to get rid of the baby. He said that if you want to leave Sea City, it’s fine, but not with his child.”

Jason’s words were like a sharp knife, stabbing into Luna’s heart and splitting it right apart.

‘Joshua. Did you know that by causing my miscarriage, you’d lose two children...?’

Nigel...

Tears streamed down Luna’s face uncontrollably, and she closed her eyes feebly. “Joshua Lynch... I won’t forgive you for this...”

The color drained from Luna’s face, and she slumped onto the floor, unconscious.

Jason narrowed his eyes and chuckled. Then, he took out the hospital discharge form from his pocket, dipped Luna’s finger into a pool of blood on the floor, and pressed it onto the paper. After making sure he had gotten a clean imprint of Luna’s fingerprint, he turned around and left the scene.

It was a long time until one of the airport’s cleaners stumbled upon an unconscious Luna. “Help!

Someone has passed out—“

On the top floor of the hospital.

Alice stood at the edge of the rooftop, clutching a fruit knife against her neck. She took a few steps back, her wary gaze remaining fixed on the man before her.

“Joshua, I’m giving you two choices right now. Either you give me the divorce agreement papers right now, or I kill myself right here! “

Joshua was standing at the entrance of the stairwell and furrowed his brows when he heard this. “What use will the divorce papers do you?” His penetrating stare aimed straight at her as he said the next sentence, “You’re not Luna Gibson.”

Alice immediately froze when she heard this. Then, after a moment, she curled her lips into a smirk. “ You knew?”

Joshua sneered at her. “How long did you think you could hide it from me?”

Alice's personality was entirely different from the Luna Gibson he knew six years ago. Joshua had always thought that being away from him had changed her, which was why Luna Gibson was acting so differently than before.

However, time and time again, she continued to do things that were beyond his imagination, without any regard for boundaries at all.

Yesterday, after discovering that she spiked his food, Joshua could not help but suspect that this woman before him was not Luna Gibson at all. The Luna Gibson he knew would cherish and protect him with her own life. How could a person like this be willing to hurt him just to get her hands on their divorce papers?

Therefore, last night, Joshua ordered Lily to collect some of Neil, Nellie, and Alice's hairs and nail clippings from Blue Bay Villa and sent them for a DNA matching test.

He received the DNA report the moment he walked out of the stairwell where he had kissed Luna.

Neil and Nellie had no blood relation to this woman, who called herself Alice, at all.

This woman was either someone who happened to look identical to Luna Gibson or...someone who deliberately changed her appearance to assume Luna Gibson's identity.

"Well, it's no use now, even if you found out, " Alice interjected him coldly. "Luna Gibson is someone else now, and now, legally, I'm Luna Gibson! "

She glared at Joshua and ordered, "Give me the divorce papers right now! "

Alice was fully aware that as soon as Joshua found out she was an imposter, nothing could be salvaged anymore. Nothing would be the same anymore.

However, she did not mind that as long as she was able to stall Joshua. That was her true intention.

The longer he stayed here arguing with her, the better.

Soon... He would receive news of his children's passing—all three of them!

Since she could not win Joshua's affection, Alice decided Luna could not, either.

She wanted to use Neil and Nellie's lives, as well as the baby in Luna's womb, to drive a wedge between Luna and Joshua, one that would last the rest of their lives.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 674

If all three of their children were dead, Luna and Joshua could not possibly get back together ever again.

As soon as she thought of this, Alice lifted her head to stare at the night sky above her and could not help letting out an evil cackle.

Six years.

She spent six years trying to turn herself into Luna Gibson, but in the process, both her father and Liam were in jail, while Richard and Yvonne were just barely getting by.

She had gone all-in and even caused the Walters to go broke as a result, yet in the end, she still did not manage to win over Joshua.

Alice was tired of trying. Even though she and Joshua were not meant to be, she would still use her last ounce of strength to break up Luna and Joshua!

As soon as she thought of this, she raised her head to gaze at him.

“Joshua, tell me, what’s so special about Luna Gibson? I loved you for so many years, yet I became the person you hated the most in the end. Tell me, why are you so dull-witted?”

Joshua’s entire body stiffened when he heard this. He paused for a long while, then finally narrowed his eyes at Alice and spat out her real name slowly, “Hailey Walter.”

He clenched his teeth. “It’s you. I should’ve known.”

“I didn’t think you’d remember me.” Alice laughed so hard that tears started to form in her eyes. “Joshua, you know better than anyone how much I love you, right? I love you more than any other woman in the world.”

She flung the knife away and clawed at her face. “I turned myself into this just for you. I can’t even remember what my real face used to look like anymore. I did so much for you. What else do you want from me?”

Alice stood at the edge of the balcony, tears streaming down her face, though it was unclear whether it was from sorrow or all her laughing. “

Joshua, I love you so much, but it doesn’t matter anymore. You and Luna’s two children will be dead soon, and Luna’s baby is dying, too. You’ll lose everything you’ve ever known.”

She stared at Joshua with a deranged expression. “You’re going to lose everything you have with her very soon.”

Joshua’s brows furrowed when he heard this, and he immediately glared at her. “What are you talking about?”

“You still have no idea?” Alice cackled again and said, “The baby in Luna’s womb doesn't belong to Theo. It's yours! Theo has never even touched her! "

Joshua stared at her incredulously. "What do you mean?"

"Oh my god. You still have no idea, do you? " Alice crowed. "Luna is Luna Gibson, your wife. She's the woman whose face and identity I stole. She loved you so much that she returned to your side after six years, along with your two children, so how could she possibly have slept with another man?

"Her and Theo's so -called scandal was all part of my plan. You investigated what happened and discovered that the person who had sent Theo to Luna's room that day was my subordinate, one of the Walters' men. Did you forget that?"

Alice let out a sigh and slumped onto the ground, still laughing sinisterly.

"Although I've always wanted to sleep with you, somehow, even if you were drunk, you still refused to touch me at all. All you wanted was Luna.

"But every time you slept with her, you'd always treat me very kindly afterward... And so I came up with a new plan. I'd let you sleep with her and send her off afterward, taking her place instead." The night breeze picked up Alice's fits of laughter and made it sound eerie and disturbing.

"Luna was the woman you've been sleeping with all this while, and vice versa.

"Now that she's gotten pregnant with your child, she's leaving you... And then... " Alice lifted her head and took out a small pill from her pocket. "I asked someone to grind this pill up and put it into her drink, so now... " Suddenly, she got up and leaped into the air in excitement. "Boom! Your baby is gone now! "

She cocked her head at Joshua and continued, "Do you know? I planted a bomb in Neil and Nellie's car, and then, boom— "

Alice's face twisted in a grotesque grin. "Your two children will die, just like that!"

With that, she broke out in fits of laughter that echoed through the night.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 675

Alice continued to cackle, even when Joshua stared at her incredulously. He glared at her as he picked up his phone, ordering with an unstable voice, "Lucas, locate Luna immediately, and contact those abroad to check on Neil and Nellie! Quick! "

Suddenly, Alice's phone rang.

"It's too late." Alice's lips twisted smirk as she brandished her phone at Joshua. "This phone call means my plan has already succeeded. " With that, she picked up the call.

Joshua could not hear what the other person was saying, but he could see Alice's smile growing wider and wider.

Hanging up on the call and tossing her phone to the floor, she picked up the knife again and held it against her neck. "Joshua Lynch, I loved you so much that I even willingly turned myself into this monster for you, but you never appreciated my efforts. You never loved me back.

"Even if the outcome wasn't what I expected, but... it's good enough for me! Since I killed your children, you probably won't let me get out of here alive either."

With that, she let out an exhale and swung the blade toward her neck. However, to her surprise, Joshua turned around coldly, not even giving her a second glance.

Alice's hand started to tremble at the sight. She watched Joshua leave, feeling as though someone had stabbed her right at her heart.

Joshua walked away from her while talking into his phone at the same time, asking for Luna and the children's whereabouts.

He did not even bother turning around to check if she was alright.

Alice could hear the voice of one of Luke's bodyguards ring out in the distance, "What about the lady who's attempting suicide on the rooftop — "

"Let her die."

These three syllables penetrated right through Alice's body and engulfed her entire being in despair.

Nothing in the world hurt more than witnessing the cruelty the person one loved most harbored toward them.

She gave up everything she ever had for this man, yet he never loved her back.

Never!

Alice pierced the knife into her skin, staining the blade bright red.

The next moment, she slumped onto the ground in her own pool of blood.

Meanwhile, one of Luke's men had taken Dennis out of his prison cell just a short while ago and escorted him onto the rooftop. They arrived just in time to watch Alice collapsing onto the floor.

"Hailey— " Dennis shrieked, eyes widening as the blood seemingly drained from his face.

Luke frowned, then ordered his men to let go of Dennis. Immediately,

Dennis rushed over to Alice's side and held onto her.

Luke waved his hands dismissively. "Get a doctor. Maybe we can still save her somehow." Then, he glanced at the subordinate standing next to him and asked, "Where's Joshua?"

Joshua had ordered him to bail Dennis out of jail and escort him to the hospital, but with them already here, where did Joshua go?

His subordinate answered in a low voice, "Ms. Walter said... she killed all three of Mr. Lynch's children, so he's now trying to track them down."

Luke sucked in a deep breath. When he finally opened his mouth to speak again, his voice quavered slightly, "What are you waiting for? Go help him!"

The last place where Luna's phone signal appeared was the airport. Joshua came out of the hospital and found his car. Immediately, he kicked the driver out of the vehicle and got into the driver's seat himself, speeding toward the airport without a second thought.

It was all his fault!

He should have known.

He should have known Luna was Luna Gibson all along!

Joshua had had his suspicions about her in the past, but she always managed to find a perfectly logical explanation for her behavior.

Before Alice appeared in their lives, Joshua had already seen Luna's handwriting and guessed she was related to Luna Gibson somehow, but as soon as Alice arrived, all his suspicions flew out the window.

Alice's face was identical to Luna Gibson's, so he could no longer think that Luna was his wife anymore. That was how Alice had managed to fool him for so long.

Joshua clutched the steering wheel so tightly that his knuckles turned white. It was all his fault.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 676

It turned out the child in Luna's womb was his all along.

She had not slept with Theo at all!

Joshua could not believe that Alice had managed to trick him into believing the father of Luna's baby was Theo.

Joshua would never forgive himself if he ended up losing his unborn child!

It was already late at night, so the streets were empty, apart from Joshua's car. He whizzed through the open roads, heading straight toward the airport, with Luke following closely behind.

Luke was worried about Joshua, so he immediately followed as soon as he saw him leaving the hospital.

"This man has gone crazy!" Luke flung his cigarette away and stepped on the gas pedal, trying to catch up with Joshua.

However, no matter how fast his car went, he could not keep up with Joshua at all.

Suddenly, Joshua's phone rang.

It was Lucas.

Joshua slowed his car down slightly and picked up the phone. "How's Neil and Nellie?"

Lucas lowered his voice, "I managed to get in touch with Zach and Yuri. It... doesn't seem good."

Joshua immediately furrowed his brows. "What do you mean, 'it doesn't seem good'? Are Neil and Nellie safe?"

"Nellie... is safe and sound." Joshua could tell that Lucas was mincing his words as though there was something he wanted to say yet, at the same time, did not dare to.

Finally, Lucas let out an exhale and said, "Theo was there with them. Initially, he wanted to bring Neil and Nellie away, but he discovered that their bodyguards were Alice's men, so they decided to split up instead. Zach and Yuri took Nellie along with them and pretended to leave the country, but in reality, they had been hiding in a house across from Neil and Nellie's summer camp all this while.

"Alice's men found Theo and Neil, but... They couldn't escape and instead got trapped inside the summer house. They..."

Lucas paused for a moment, then continued in a choked voice, "They poured gasoline all over the house and set it on fire. The fire caused a gigantic explosion... The firefighters couldn't even get in at all. Theo and Neil... don't have much of a fighting chance.

"Just now, Zach and Yuri told me that the firefighters have sealed off the scene entirely. Since none of them could get into the house, they're forbidding anyone else to enter either. Nellie... watched everything unfold with her own eyes, and she was so traumatized that she passed out. Zach and Yuri are sending her to the hospital right now..."

Lucas finished his sentence and waited but did not hear any response from the other end of the line. "Sir?"

The next moment, a deafening crash rang out through the phone. The next thing Lucas could hear was Luke's worried voice calling out, "Joshua!

Joshua! “

Fortunately, because there were not many vehicles on the street at this hour, Joshua’s car only collided with the road divider, even though he lost control of the steering wheel.

He regained consciousness after a short while.

Joshua opened his bloodshot eyes and muttered in a hoarse voice,

“Neil... Luna...”

“They’ve found Luna.” Luke closed his eyes and sighed. “She passed out at the airport, and one of the cleaning staff found her. She’s already in the hospital.”

Joshua opened his mouth slightly. “What about the baby...”

“She miscarried.”

The glimmer of hope in Joshua’s eyes dimmed when he heard this. “Then, Neil...”

“The firefighters managed to put out the fire. They couldn’t find Theo or Neil’s bodies, but they discovered some human remains at the scene. Unfortunately, the DNA from the remains was so badly damaged that the scientists can’t even confirm if the remains belong to them.

“But they’ve confirmed that the blood at the crime scene belongs to Theo and Neil. The police suspect that when the fire started, Theo and Neil didn’t want to stay put and burn to death, so they opened the window to escape. However, someone planted explosives outside the window, and as soon as they opened it, the bomb went off— “

Joshua leaned against his headboard, his usually towering silhouette looking small and frail. He closed his eyes, and tears trickled out of the corner of his eyes. “Then, what about Nellie?”

“Nellie’s traumatized by everything that has happened, and she’s receiving counseling right now.” Luke let out an exhale. “But, Joshua, now’s not the time to be sad. You...”

He tried to keep his voice steady as he delivered the most shocking news, “You have another son, but he’s been diagnosed with leukemia. His condition worsened today, and the doctors managed to save him, although just barely.

“You can’t give up.”

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 677

Luna was unconscious for a long time.

During this period, her condition did not stabilize at all. Instead, she ran a high fever recurrently and dreamed all sorts of nightmares.

There was a huge fire in her dream, and she could see Neil and Theo trapped in it. They were shouting at her for help, but she could not go in to save them at all. No matter how hard she tried, she could not get closer to them at all. It was as though there was a layer of transparent glass separating her from them.

Luna could only watch helplessly as the fire and explosion blew Neil and Theo apart.

Finally, she sat down in front of the burning house, crying and crying. The dream played out the same way many times after that. However, each time, the people trapped in the fire were different. Sometimes it was Nellie, and sometimes Nigel...

Luna was stuck in her nightmares and could not wake up from them. By the time she finally regained consciousness, a month had passed. When she opened her eyes and found herself staring up at the hospital's white ceiling, Luna no longer recognized the world she was in.

Why did she have to wake up?

Her baby was gone, and she could not save Nigel either.

Luna would rather die herself than go through the pain of watching Nigel die before her.

Gwen sat by her bedside, her eyes red and swollen from all her crying. "Luna." Gwen could not stop the tears from rolling down her face when she saw Luna wake up. She reached out to hold Luna's hand. "You're finally awake. I thought... I thought you had gone to heaven with Neil..." Luna's entire body stiffened when she heard this. She struggled to prop herself up before frowning at Gwen. "What are you talking about? What do you mean, 'go to heaven with Neil'? Did you make a mistake? Neil is my second son. The baby that Joshua got rid of doesn't even have a name yet."

Luna still recalled all the dreams she had while she was still unconscious. She glared at Gwen and snapped, "Don't you dare curse my son! I know you're my friend, but that doesn't mean you can spout nonsense like this!"

Gwen must have been mistaken!

Neil was the healthiest, happiest child of the three. He was Nigel and Nellie's happy pill. How could he possibly have...

Gwen lowered her head and wiped her tears away. "

Luna..." she sobbed in a choked voice. "Everyone said we shouldn't tell you the truth, but I don't want to keep it from you anymore."

She lifted her head to gaze at Luna, her eyes as red and swollen as ripe peaches. "Luna, Neil is...gone."

Luna felt as though someone had hit her right in the back of her head. There was a buzzing in her ear, and she could no longer hear what Gwen was saying.

The only thing in her mind right now was the three syllables Gwen had uttered.

Neil was gone. Neil...was gone. Impossible!

How could such a healthy, cheerful, and intelligent child be gone?

“You’re lying to me! You’re lying to me! “ Luna covered her ears and howled, “That’s impossible ! Impossible! “

She ripped the IV line out of her hand and crawled out of her bed, not caring that blood was trickling down from her hand and staining her gown bright red.

She leaped off her bed and stormed out of the room like a crazy woman, shrieking, “Neil is still at summer camp abroad! I ‘m going to find him! I ‘m going to find him and prove you wrong ! Gwennie, you haven’t seen my Neil before, have you? He’s such a handsome little boy! “

“Luna...” Gwen tore out of the room after Luna, trying to catch up with her.

However, to her surprise, she could not keep up with Luna at all. How could a well-rested woman like her be unable to keep up with someone who had been unconscious for a month?

Luna made her way to the elevators.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 678

Luna pressed the elevator buttons furiously, gritting her teeth at the same time. “Come on, elevator, come on. I want to see Neil, my Neil...” She continued to mutter Neil’s name over and over again as if besieged by a spell.

Finally, the elevator arrived.

As soon as the doors slid open, Joshua caught sight of a deranged-looking Luna standing outside the elevator.

She stormed into the elevator and grabbed Joshua’s arm. “Where’s Neil? Where did he go? You must know where he is, right? You must know he isn’t dead. You hid him! Where did you hide him?

“Joshua Lynch! “ she yelled like a lunatic and could not stop her tears from falling anymore. “Neil...”

Joshua’s expression darkened. After a moment, he let out a sigh and pulled her into his arms.

His embrace felt warm and protective, with a hint of his distinctive scent lingering about.

Luna froze at the sudden turn of events, then immediately furrowed her brows. She struggled against his grip, screaming, "Let go of me! What are you doing, hugging me like that? I want to find Neil! Let me go, so I can go find Neil! "

Joshua closed his eyes and clung to her even tighter. No matter how hard she struggled, he refused to let go of her at all.

After a long while, he let out another sigh and said in a low voice, "Go get yourself ready. I'll bring you to see Neil."

Luna lifted her head to gaze at him, a glimmer of anticipation and excitement in her eyes. She removed herself from his embrace and asked, "So that means Neil isn't dead, right?"

She added in a choked voice, "Gwen was lying to me, wasn't she?"

Joshua paused for a moment when he met her fragile yet somehow determined gaze, then finally said, "You'll know when you see him."

"Okay! " Luna nodded obediently like a child who had gotten herself into trouble. "I'll go get ready right now. Please tell Neil to wait for me. Tell him to wait for me! "

With that, she wiped her tears and ran out of the elevator.

Gwen, who had been standing outside all this while, first shot Joshua a quizzical look, then glanced at Luna. "Luna..."

"He's bringing me to see Neil! " Luna sniffed and grabbed hold of Gwen's arm with her bony hand. "Come on, help me get ready and do my makeup! Neil wouldn't want to see me like this. I look horrible! "

Gwen wiped her tears away and nodded. "Alright! "

Luna had been unconscious for a month, and the only nutritional support she got was through her IV line, causing her to lose a ton of weight. She was so skinny at this point that even a gust of wind could sweep her off her feet.

Gwen had to use half a bottle of foundation to cover up Luna's dark circles and the weariness on her face. She also helped Luna draw her eyebrows, put on eyeliner and lipstick.

An hour later, when Luna reappeared in front of Joshua, she was wearing a beautiful white dress. There was a glimmer of anticipation in her eyes. "Come on, let's go visit Neil. He must've missed me so much! "

Neil must have been waiting for her all this while. He must still be alive. Everything that happened in her dream... was just a dream!

Joshua sighed, then approached Luna and picked her up in his arms.

Luna furrowed her brows and struggled against his grip, but Gwen stopped her. "You're weak now, so you can't walk very far. Let him carry you. It's not like he's a stranger."

Luna paused, then nodded obediently. "Okay." Gwen was right. She was indeed too weak.

It was nice having Joshua carry her, too.

Maybe this would let her see Neil sooner.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 679

Joshua carried Luna into the car.

Luna sat in the back seat in silence throughout the car ride, gazing at the scenery outside the window.

The car pulled further and further away from the city center, heading toward the outskirts.

Luna could not help frowning as she watched the trees go past. "Why would Neil be at such a faraway place?"

Gwen gave her a meaningful look, then closed her eyes, unwilling to be the one to burst Luna's bubble.

Joshua reached out to hold her hand but paused. His hand hung mid-air for a moment, then finally drew it back.

He let out a sigh and said, "So that he can be at peace, with no one disturbing him."

Luna nodded, thinking that Joshua's explanation did not seem right yet made sense at the same time. "Hmm, I guess you're right! Neil definitely needs some alone time by himself. This child is far too talkative... Even though he's only six, he acts like a grown-up. Sometimes, I even think he might be older than me.

"He'd always tell me not to stay up too late and forbid me from pulling an all-nighter, like a nagging grown-up. He'd always tell Nellie not to disturb me and ask us all to sleep in and get plenty of rest, but he'd always wake up early to make us breakfast.

"He constantly nags us to take care of our bodies... Nellie always teased him and told him he was acting like an old man. He's only six, but he's so talkative all the time. It's like he's afraid if he doesn't talk, he won't have a chance to do so in the future..."

As soon as she realized what she had said, Luna pursed her lips and did not say anything more.

Everyone grew silent.

The atmosphere in the car was so quiet that you could hear a pin drop.

Lucas, who was driving the car, stifled his tears and focused on the road ahead.

Throughout the entire car ride, Luna was bubbling with anticipation and excitement. She was looking forward to seeing Neil again. She believed that everything was like Joshua had described—that the reason Neil was so far away from the city center was that he needed some alone time. When the car finally pulled up next to a cemetery, Luna could no longer keep herself together anymore.

As soon as she stepped out of the car, her legs gave out beneath her, and she slumped onto the ground.

She could not accept this.

Lucas took out a wheelchair from the trunk and assembled it. Then, Joshua and Gwen helped Luna into the wheelchair.

Luna closed her eyes, her entire body trembling. “ Why? Why? Joshua Lynch, I entrusted Neil in your care. You told me you’d take good care of Neil and Nellie. You promised me you’d fulfill your responsibility as a father! Why... Why did my Neil...”

At this point, Luna was so choked up by tears that she could not say another word.

Sorrow and despair engulfed her entire being like an invisible net. She had no way of escaping.

Tears streamed down her face, and Luna clung to the hem of her shirt desperately. She was so overcome by grief that she had trouble breathing.

It was her fault.

She should not have put her hope on Joshua. She should not have thought Joshua would be able to save Nigel.

It was her fault for being stupid.

She should have listened to Nigel and stayed with him. She should not have brought Neil and Nellie along with her when she returned to Banyan City.

With her baby gone and Nigel could not be saved, even Neil was...

Luna sniffed and sobbed but could not say a single word.

Gwen walked slowly into the cemetery, pushing Luna’s wheelchair before her.

Joshua walked next to them and said in a low voice, “ It’s all my fault.”

If only he had discovered Alice’s true identity earlier.

If only he had trusted Luna and believed she and Theo were never together, things would not have turned out like this.

“What use is it for you to admit your mistake now?” Luna could not stop her tears from falling.

At the same time, it started drizzling, as though even the skies were weeping for her loss, weeping for Neil.

The cemetery was a large one, but they soon made their way to the end of it.

At the end of the cemetery was a small, fenced-in yard standing all by itself. The yard was covered with all kinds of plants, flourishing and blooming beautifully, as though symbolizing Neil's short but prosperous life.

At the center of the yard was a big tombstone. Joshua pushed the gate open while Gwen wheeled Luna into the yard.

This was where Neil laid.

In the black-and-white photo on the tombstone, Neil was grinning at the camera, as if the next moment, he was going to pop out and nag Luna about not taking care of herself.

"Neil..." Luna stood up from her wheelchair, stumbling. It was as though every cell in her body was trembling and shaking in grief.

Despite that, Luna still made her way toward Neil's tombstone and wrapped her arms around it. "Mommy is sorry..."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 680

"Mommy is sorry! It's all my fault. I shouldn't have brought you back to Banyan City with me..." Luna's weeps echoed through the cemetery.

Staring at Luna's scrawny build, Gwen helplessly sniffed and turned around to wipe away her tears.

To present such bad news to Luna as soon as she woke up from her coma was too cruel.

However... Gwen knew that if they did not tell her, it would complicate things in the future, since...

After all, Nigel and Nellie were not doing too well either.

The rain started to grow heavier, so Joshua opened his umbrella and held it above Luna's head, continuing to watch her weep in silence.

Luna cried from afternoon till evening until she eventually got tired, her voice hoarse in the aftermath. She finally slumped onto the ground, totally and utterly exhausted.

Despite that, however, she still clung to Neil's tombstone in desperation, as though holding onto it would prevent Neil from actually leaving this world.

"Luna." Joshua sighed and threw his umbrella aside. He squatted and pulled Luna into his arms.

She was so skinny that he could feel her bones pressing against his body.

“Listen to me,” said Joshua in a slightly hoarse but gentle voice. “Neil was a hero. He used the last of his strength to protect his sister. Listen.”

Joshua let out an exhale and took out a necklace from his shirt pocket. Luna lifted her head and fixated her gaze on the necklace.

She recognized it. This necklace belonged to Neil.

When they returned to Banyan City, Nigel had prepared three necklaces for each of them so that they could communicate with each other. The necklaces even had a voice recording function.

However, all three necklaces looked distinct from each other, so Luna could recognize that the one Joshua was holding was Neil’s.

“The police found this a distance away from the explosion site. Although it’s a little damaged, it didn’t get burned. What I’m guessing is that Neil used the last of his strength to toss it out of the fire.” Joshua let out another sigh, then pressed the small button on the necklace.

After a small click, Neil’s voice rang out of the necklace, “Mommy, Nigel, Nellie. By the time you hear this recording, Uncle Theo and I are probably gone now. If by the time you hear this, you’ve already received news of my death, please don’t be too sad—this is what Uncle Theo and I wanted.”

Neil let out an exhale and continued with a hint of a smile in his voice as if he had already braced himself for the worst, “Zach and Yuri took Nellie with them and pretended to escape, but in reality, they hid themselves. We know that whoever’s coming after us won’t be fooled by the empty car, so if Uncle Theo and I left as well, they’d shift their target and search the nearby houses to find Nellie.”

“Uncle Theo and I are willing to wait for them to come after us so that they won’t hurt Nellie. If we manage to escape, then hopefully, they’ll chase us, and we can lead them away from Nellie. If we don’t manage to get out of here... then it’s not our fault either. It’s not that Uncle Theo and I were too weak to fight them back; it’s simply because there were too many of them.”

Finally, Neil let out a sigh and said, “Mommy, I know that you’ll be devastated, but if I really died, there’s no turning back time either. I can’t come back to life anymore, so can you promise me you’ll take good care of yourself?”

“Don’t stay up too late for work all the time, and always remember to take your meals on time. If there’s some way to save Nigel, please try your best, but if there’s not, please know that you’ve already done enough.”

“In the future... you have to take good care of Nellie. Nigel and I have spoiled her, so Mommy, you have to be more patient with her and look after her well...

“I don’t want you to forget me.”

Neil’s voice started to choke as he said, “But if it’s too hard, then please forget about me. I’ll be okay with that.”

The recording ended after that.

Luna sobbed so fiercely throughout the entire recording that she passed out right in Joshua’s arms.

Joshua sighed, then picked her up, walked slowly out of the cemetery, and got into the car.

The heavens still wept.

After Joshua’s car pulled away, a woman holding a transparent umbrella strode into the cemetery.

She stared at the intricate, beautiful little yard and curled her lips into a smirk.

All of a sudden, her phone rang.

“Miss, what are we supposed to do with the man and the little boy?”

The woman curled her red lips into a sneer and replied, “I’ll take care of them.”

When Luna woke up once again, it was already the next morning.

Gwen, who had been watching over her the entire night, was forcefully taken away by Luke.

At that moment, it was Anne who sat at her bedside.

Anne sighed helplessly as she saw Luna stirred from slumber, standing up to gently tuck her in.

“Gwen and Joshua are too reckless. You’ve been unconscious for almost a month, yet they passed on such a miserable piece of news to you the moment you wake up, and even took you to the cemetery under the rain. I truly wonder if they have any brains at all! “

Anne calmly sighed before casting Luna a considerate gaze. “How are you right now? Are you feeling better? I know—you’ve lost a son. You won’t be able to recover from the grief so soon, but...”

Anne took a deep breath.

“Luna, although you’ve lost two children, you have another two waiting for you. You need to buck up, get well, and live for them. If you can’t get well, how do you expect Nigel and Nellie...to do the same?”

Luna lowered her head and drank some water. Her tears fell into her cup.

“I know. I’ll try to get better soon and help them both.”

Luna understood very well that the triplets shared a close, intertwined bond.

Nigel was terminally ill, Nellie never was physically healthy, and Neil died protecting Nellie.

If she did not feel better and recover quickly in the shortest time possible, Nigel and Nellie’s situation would only worsen.

Luna closed her eyes. The recording that Joshua played for her in the cemetery the day before rang in her ears. Neil wanted her to help Nigel as best as she could as well as take good care of Nellie.

This was his dying wish. How could Luna disappoint Neil because of her problems?

At that thought, Luna picked up the cup of water and downed the warm water in one go.

Luna took a deep breath and placed the empty cup in Anne’s hand. “Take me to see Nellie.”

Anne paused for a while. “Actually...you can also see Nigel.” Luna raised her brows in confusion.

Anne sighed and said, “Joshua knew everything after you passed out. He went abroad and was even willing to take ten percent of the Lynch Group shares as an exchange to get Malcolm let him see Nigel.

“Malcolm didn’t agree to it, though. Joshua spent a week waiting outside Malcolm’s house, and only then did he manage to convince Malcolm to let him see Nigel.”

Then, Anne sighed and continued, “Nigel followed Joshua back to Banyan City after that. He’s currently in this hospital in the intensive care unit...”

Luna was stunned for a while.

In the end, she shut her eyes. A sense of helplessness washed over her.

“He still found out about it in the end...”

Seeing how disappointed Luna was, Anne hesitated for a while before comforting her immediately.

“Luna, this outcome is good too, don’t you think? The plan to get pregnant with another child to cure Nigel won’t work anymore. Now that Joshua knows about Nigel’s situation, he’d use all his powers to help find Nigel a matching bone marrow. Joshua has more powers than Malcolm. He’d also use all his might to find...”

“This is our last hope. No matter how big the world is, we’ll surely find a match, right? We’ve searched for ourselves for so many years. Even if you had more time, you still wouldn’t be able to find it. With Joshua’s help, perhaps a miracle might happen?”

Luna bit her lip.

Although she knew that Anne was just saying that to comfort her, Anne’s words made some sense, too.

Joshua had enough influence and power to do many things that Malcolm could not.

Luna sighed. She leaned by the headboard, closed her eyes, and pondered for a while before opening her eyes once again.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 682

“Then, take me to see Nigel.”

Compared to Nellie, Nigel was more understanding. He was easier to comfort.

Anne nodded and gently helped Luna get down from the bed.

They had just reached the entrance when they heard a commotion coming from outside.

From a distance, Luna heard an angry middle-aged woman’s voice.

“Isn’t she awake already? I heard that she went to the cemetery to see her son yesterday. What about my son? Has she gone to see my son? The two of us are already so old. We only have one son! He is a talented artist. The things that he could create are priceless! He lost his life all because of that woman...”

Luna vaguely heard the noises coming from outside, and her brows scrunched a little.

This voice was rather familiar. "Here we go again."

Anne had already opened the door, but when she heard that voice, she could not help but sigh and close the door once more.

She helped Luna back to her bed. "This will go on for quite some time. We'll wait for a while before going."

Luna, however, did not lie down, cocking her head and listening to the commotion outside. "Who is she?"

"Theo's parents."

Anne sighed and gently held Luna's hands. "That day, when Hailey's men were hunting Neil and Nellie, Theo was also there. They split up halfway.

Theo and Neil were together, while Zach and Yuri left with Nellie.

"Hailey's men locked Theo and Neil in the room. Like Neil, the explosion left no remains of Theo."

Luna was stunned. She remembered.

That night the incident happened, Theo had called her. He said that he was going with Neil and splitting up with Nellie. He also told her not to worry.

In Neil's recording the day before, he also mentioned Theo.

However, Luna was so immersed in her grief of losing Neil that she completely forgot about Theo.

Luna closed her eyes and tried to listen to the noises outside seriously.

Celeste started wailing, "Our Theo lost his life because of her! Now that she's woken up, she wouldn't even see him? My son died because of her. She didn't even apologize to us when she woke up. I have to come to see her myself..."

Luna narrowed her eyes. In the end, she forced herself up and stood up with difficulty.

Anne immediately went to help her. "What are you doing?"

"I'm going to see her." Being a mother herself, she had lost a son, but so did Celeste. She should go and see her.

Anne furrowed her brows and immediately pulled Luna back.

“Luna, are you nuts? Don’t you know how scary Celeste is? The last time John didn’t let her see you, she scratched his face badly! She’s a crazy old hag! “

Luna pursed her lips. Her voice was calm. “A woman who has lost her son turning into a crazy old hag... it’s only normal.”

Luna took a deep breath, pried Anne’s hand off her, and strode out.

In the corridors, Celeste was still struggling with two bodyguards.

“Get her to see me!” “Mrs. Allen.”

Luna, who was in a patient’s uniform, stood by the entrance and looked at Celeste.

“I’m here.”

“You b*tch! You finally dare come see me?”

Celeste rushed toward Luna in a fit of rage the moment she saw her.

However, before she could rush over, Celeste was blocked by the bodyguard keeping watch by the entrance, much to Celeste’s fury.

“Let me go! If I don’t slap this b*tch today, I won’t be able to relieve myself of any hatred in my heart!”

“Let her go.”

Standing by the entrance, the emaciated Luna smiled bitterly. “If hitting me could let Mrs. Allen feel less sorrow, let her do it.”

“Luna...” Anne furrowed her brows and held onto Luna.

“Your body can’t take it...”

“I owe it to them.”

Seeing out the bodyguards had no intention of letting Celeste go, Luna sighed. She immediately carried herself and slowly approached Celeste.

“I understand how painful it is to lose a son.”

Neil was only six years old. Besides Neil, she still had her other two children.

However, Neil’s death was a huge blow to her, let alone for Celeste, who only had Theo as her son, who she had for more than 20 years.

Moreover, if Luna did not suggest Theo look for Neil and Nellie back then, Theo would not have been blasted into pieces together with Neil. Even their remains could not be found.

Luna placed herself in Celeste's shoes. If she was Celeste, she would not be calm as well. She might commit deeds crueler than Celeste's.

Step by step, Luna slowly approached Celeste.

Thud!

Luna knelt in front of Celeste.

"I'm sorry."

Seeing how Luna obediently repented, Celeste was stunned at that instant. After that, she glared at Luna with reddened eyes.

"Do you think that my son's life could be made up for with just a mere apology?"

Then, Celeste strode over and raised her hand with all her might.

Slap!

A loud, crisp sound rang throughout the entire corridor.

Luna was slapped so hard that her head swung to the left. Her entire body was fumbling.

Anne reacted quickly and helped Luna up. She anxiously furrowed her brows. "Why didn't you dodge it?"

Blood came from the corner of Luna's mouth. She smiled as blood oozed out through her mouth.

"I owe it to her."

Luna raised her eyes and looked at Celeste. "Do you want to do it again?"

Looking at Luna's reaction, a hint of apprehension flashed across Celeste's eyes.

Did this woman go...mad?

Seeing how Luna was spitting out blood and how she could barely kneel properly, Celeste felt a little pity for her.

However, at the thought of Theo, a fit of rage overwhelmed her and appeared in her eyes once again.

“Who are you pretending to be pitiful for? My son was the one who died! My only son! Even if I want to beat you up a million times over, you deserve it!”

Luna nodded. “Yes.”

Even if Celeste beat her up a million times over, Theo and Neil would never be able to come back.

It was all her fault.

If she never had gotten Theo to look for Neil and Nellie, he would never have died.

If she had never decided to send Neil and Nellie to summer camp, Neil would not have died, too.

It was all her fault.

Looking at Luna’s face, Celeste gritted her teeth. She raised her hand once again and was about to slap Luna when her hand was caught by a large man’s hand.

“Mrs. Allen. That is enough.”

Joshua furrowed his brows and looked at Luna who was kneeling on the ground, with Anne supporting her. “She had Theo help look after her children because she treated Theo as a friend.

“Theo also treats her as his friend. That’s why he was willing to go abroad to look after her children. Luna didn’t expect such an accident to happen as well.”

Joshua sighed. “She has lost two children due to this incident. Her sorrow is no less than yours. As victims, stop making things difficult for each other.”

Celeste shut her eyes. Tears fell from her face.

It was not as if she did not understand what Joshua said. When Theo went abroad to look after the two kids, he even called her.

“Mom, Luna is finally going to finish the things she wanted to do. She won’t have anything to do with Joshua anymore after this! I’m here, looking after her two kids. When she finishes her things on her hand, I’ll meet up with her. Don’t worry. I’ll try my best to get such an exceptional jewelry designer to marry me! Once we’re together, I don’t need to run around anymore. We’ll inherit the family business together. What do you say?”

Theo's voice rang in Celeste's ears, and she could not help but cry.

Sniffling, she lowered her head and looked at Luna who was on her knees. She opened her mouth and wanted to say something, but no words came out.

At that moment, the door of the elevator opened.

Nathan hurriedly rushed out of the elevator, anxiously running toward them and grabbing Celeste's hand.

"Why are you here causing trouble again? It's not like she did it on purpose!"

Then, Nathan looked at Joshua apologetically. "Mr. Lynch, I'm sorry. I didn't watch over her properly. I brought her here to the hospital today initially to check up on her mental health. I never would've thought that she'd come here again..."

Nathan lowered his head and looked at Luna, who was bleeding. "Ms. Luna, are you alright?"

Luna lowered her head and shook her head. "I'm fine."

"I'm sorry." Nathan sighed. Then, he pulled Celeste away with force.

By the elevator, Celeste took a deep breath and turned to look at Luna. Her eyes were filled with bone-chilling coldness.

"Theo liked you the most when he was alive. You know that, right?"

Luna lowered her head and gently nodded.

If she could turn back time, she was willing for Theo to never have met her.

Celeste sighed a long sigh. "What Mr. Lynch said just now was right. You also lost two children, and I can't push all the blame on you, but Theo is still my only son. I hope that he didn't die so lonely."

Then, Celeste raised her eyes and looked at Luna coldly.

"I want you to be with him."

Celeste's words silenced the entire corridor.

Anne looked at Celeste in shock with widened eyes, her gaze darting to Luna before it went to Joshua.

Joshua remained in the same spot. He furrowed his brows hard, but he said not a single word.

In a pin -drop dead silence, Nathan sighed. He raised his hands and pinched Celeste. “What nonsense are you talking about? No matter how much we miss him, Theo is already dead! Ms. Luna...”

“A posthumous marriage.”

Celeste scrutinized Luna, who was all skin and bones and on her knees. Although her voice was trembling, she still enunciated,

“I want you to make preparations. After a few days, we’ll have a simple ceremony. I want you to marry Theo. I don’t need you to marry into the Allens, and I also don’t need you to take care of the two of us. I only want you to marry Theo: one is to fulfill Theo’s dying wish, and also as a reminder to you that you’re a married woman. You can’t marry another man in this lifetime.”

Then, she narrowed her eyes slightly and looked at Luna coldly.

“Are you willing to do it?”

“This is moral coercion! “

Anne angrily looked at Celeste. “It’s true that your son likes Luna, but Luna has made it clear to him that she wouldn’t marry him. She wouldn’t be together with him either. They could only be friends.

“Theo likes Luna and even sacrificed his life for Luna’s children in the end, and while everyone feels sad about this, you can’t use this as a condition to get Luna to marry a dead person, living the life of a widower her entire life, right?”

Celeste sneered as she ignored Anne’s words. Celeste lowered her head and looked at Luna mockingly. “ I’m asking you, Luna: are you willing to do it or not?”

Luna, who was kneeling on the ground, closed her eyes depressingly.

“I’m sorry.”

Celeste’s eyes were instantly filled with anger at Luna’s response.

“Our Theo sacrificed his life for you! I’m only asking you to marry him, to not have any other men for the rest of your life! Would it kill you to not have any men?”

Celeste angrily turned to look at Joshua. “You still can’t let go of your Mr. Lynch, right?”

The more she talked, the angrier she got. “As expected. You still wish to be with Joshua! When Theo was still alive, he said that you told him you’d never be with Joshua. Look what happened! “

Luna paused for a while.

She lifted her head and looked at Celeste seriously.

“Mrs. Allen. If what you’re worried about is whether I’d marry Joshua or not, I can assure you that I won’t marry him.”

The entire corridor was in pin-drop silence upon Luna’s words.

Joshua, who remained silent the whole time as he stood behind Luna, looked at Luna with darkened eyes.

Anne pursed her lips and subconsciously looked at Joshua, then looked at Luna.

An awkward silence hung in the air.

In the end, Nathan pursed his lips. He lowered his head and looked at Luna.

“Ms. Luna, don’t mind my wife. She speaks without thinking. You...”

Luna lifted her head. With a serious gaze, she said, “If I could, I don’t intend to marry for the rest of my life. I want to spend the rest of my life taking care of my children. However, my life hasn’t belonged to me for a very long time. I’ve long agreed to the proposal of another person before Theo. I’ve also told Theo of my marriage, but Theo feels that as long as I wasn’t married, he still had a chance. So...”

Luna took a deep breath. “You don’t have to worry that I’ll marry Joshua. I won’t make the same mistake twice on the same person. Don’t worry.”

Celeste and Nathan looked at each other subconsciously upon Luna’s words.

They never expected that Luna would say such things.

They also never expected that their son would be willing to sacrifice his life for her, even when he knew that Luna had a marriage proposal on hand.

After a long while, Nathan sighed a little. He bent down and gently tapped Luna on the shoulders.

“If that’s the case, I still have another request.” Luna lifted her head. “Tell me.”

“Since you already have a marriage planned, we can’t morally coerce you like what your friend said, but I still hope that when you pay a tribute to your son, you could do it for Theo, too. Also...”

Nathan sighed and continued, “I hope that you won’t be getting married in the next three years. At least, not a grand ceremony...”

Luna nodded her head heavily, lowly replying, “Okay. I promise you.”

Although Theo’s death was not her intention, he still died because of her. Luna knew that Malcolm would understand this.
