

Policewoman 12

The Policewoman Chapter 12

Waking up at sunrise, Tang Huimin suddenly remembered the interrogation of the suspect Wang Jianqiang last night and hurriedly got up.

She rushed into the bathroom, washed and defecated, returned to the dressing table in her bedroom, simply cleaned up and dressed up, put on her police uniform, ate something briefly, then left home and drove to the Municipal Public Security Bureau.

When she parked the car in the garage of the Municipal Public Security Bureau and walked into the Public Security Building, she found that she was already an hour late. So, he walked into his office, sat down in his office position and called Zhou Peng to bring over the interrogation records of Wang Jianqiang from last night to sort them out.

At that moment, the landline on the desk rang.

Tang Huimin picked up the landline microphone and put it to her ear, asking, "This is the Criminal Investigation Brigade. What can I do for you?"

"Xiao Tang, this is Lao Yan, come to my office, and by the way, bring over the interrogation data of that criminal you caught last night, I'll give you credit up there!" The thick baritone voice of Deputy Director Yan Zhengkuan came over the microphone.

"OK, I'll go to your office with Zhou Peng right away."

"Alright, I have a meeting later, you guys be quick." After Yan Zhengkuan finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

Tang Huimin had just put down the phone when Zhou Peng knocked on the door, stood across from her desk, handed her a stack of interrogation materials and said.

"Team Tang, I've prepared the interrogation materials for the two suspects last night, please read them!"

Tang Huimin took the interrogation materials, flipped through them and found nothing wrong with them, then stood up and said.

"Let's go, we'll go report to Deputy Director Yan now."

The two of them walked together into Yan Zhengkuan's spacious deputy director's office.

"You two have worked hard!" Yan Zhengkuan greeted them with a smile and arranged for them to sit down on the leather sofa in the office, sitting opposite them.

Tang Huimin handed Yan Zhengkuan the interrogation materials Zhou Peng had handed to him.

Yan Zhengkuan skimmed through it and said, "This murder case, which is of a bad nature and has extremely bad influence, has finally been solved. In the process of solving this case, the two of you have made a great contribution, I have already reported this matter to the higher-ups and asked for instructions, and they have agreed to give you commendations"

“Thank you!” Tang Huimin was so eager to avenge her husband that she didn’t care about a few grades of merit, but out of courtesy, she still gave a thank you to Yan Zhengkuan.

“Do you know who the man was who was killed by Wang Jianqiang?” Yan Zhengkuan asked in a fanciful manner.

“I don’t know!” Tang Huimin shook her head.

“He is the godson of Zhao Wenlong, the chairman of the Long Python Group of Companies. No wonder the city leaders attach so much importance to this case and ordered us to solve it as soon as possible,” Yan Zhengkuan said with no small amount of satisfaction, “This murder case has finally been concluded, and we can finally give the city leaders an explanation, so we can finally breathe a sigh of relief

“So, Director Yan can again take credit in front of the city leaders and get promoted and get rich?” Tang Huimin said with a smile.

“Xiao Zhou, that’s not right, I should criticize you,” Yan Zhengkuan said with a serious face, “After you guys solved this case, the first thing I thought of was to apply for second-class merit for you guys, I didn’t think of myself at all, however, there is one thing that I did promise for you guys. ”

“What is it?” Tang Huimin asked in amazement.

“Chairman Zhao, in order to express his gratitude to our public security officers, has set up two tables of wine at the Yanjing Hotel this evening to feast for me and the members of your criminal investigation brigade, and I promised to bring you to it on time.” Yan Zhengkuan replied.

“Chief Yan, the members of the Black Dragon Gang led by Black Dragon have not yet been caught, and this murderer of my husband has not yet been apprehended, so I’m afraid it’s a bit inappropriate for us to go to someone else’s dinner party, right?” Tang Hui Min was a little hesitant.

“I think, the case of your husband’s murder should be put aside for a while, since the case has already been solved, it is only a matter of time before the case is solved, not caring about the work of a meal,” Yan Zhengkuan replied, “Since Zhao Dong has the intention to invite us all, you should not let everyone spoil the fun, besides, Zhao Dong has a very close relationship with the city leaders, and is our Yanjing close, and is a dignified figure in our Yanjing city, there’s nothing wrong with being able to go to his dinner party and get to know him

“Since Director Yan has already decided, I have no opinion,” Tang Huimin looked at her subordinate sitting beside her and asked, “Zhou Peng, what do you think?”

“I don’t have an opinion either!” Zhou Peng said without hesitation.

“Since everyone has no opinion, then this matter is settled,” Yan Zhengkuan said with a wave of his hand, “Zhao Dong called over and told us that at seven o’clock in the evening, we will be entertained in 888 elegant room in the restaurant of Yanjing Hotel, you guys go down and give notice to the cadres involved in solving the case, I hope everyone will attend on time! ”

.....

A classroom in the Yanjing University teaching building was filled with students who were listening to the lecture.

Ring, ring, ring!

An ear-piercing bell rang for class.

A professor with a head full of white hair walked into the professor and stood on the podium, flipping open his textbook and writing his lecture on the blackboard with chalk, explaining to the students on the stage.

Lin Kai sat at his desk, worrying about the relationship between their mother and son as the scene of him and his brother-in-law making out in the bedroom last night came to mind, as well as the incident of Yang Xiaobo knowing about their relationship.

“Will my cousin make things difficult for my brother-in-law after I leave?” Lin Kai secretly pondered, “What should I do if my cousin stops my brother-in-law and I from continuing to develop?”

During the whole class, Lin Kai spent the entire time thinking about what happened between him and Tang Huimin’s mother and son, so much so that he had no idea what the professor was talking about on the podium.

After class, he felt he was about to collapse, so he went back to the dormitory to sleep.

Of course, he couldn’t sleep anyway, but he just lay on the top bunk of the high and low bed in the dormitory and thought about how he would get along with Tang Huimin’s mother and son in the future.

At this point, he wanted to call Tang Huimin and ask her about the situation, but he did not do so for fear of disturbing her work.

So, he hoped that his sister-in-law would call him and tell him the outcome of the conversation between mother and son.