

Priceless Baby 1441

Chapter 1441: A Farce

She asked it so straight forward. However, he did not have an answer.

He had never liked anyone, not to mention love, because he had no idea what love felt like.

Being asked why he had taken her away, he felt confused too.

He did not know how to answer!

Ouyang Feifei waited with hope. But the longer she waited, the more heartbroken and disappointed she got.

The man next to her seemed like an ice statue, not giving any response.

But his lack of response was probably the clearest answer!

Ouyang Feifei felt overwhelmingly painful and burst into tears. She wanted to leave here right away and cry over it with no one else's presence.

She opened the door, held her broken heart and walked toward where they had come from.

Seeing her getting out crying, Jun Yan came back to himself and watched her sad figure stepping further and further away.

He got out of the car too. But standing there, he did not know what to do.

Should he go after her or let her go?

Sigh...

Jun Yan sighed and lowered his head while he pounded on the car. But when he raised his head again, he saw that Ouyang Feifei had suddenly stopped and fallen onto the ground.

Did she pass out?

Jun Yan felt a grip on his heart and darted over to her without any hesitation.

"Miss Ouyang! Miss Ouyang..."

Lifting up the unconscious girl, Jun Yan felt like his heart was breaking again.

But why?

He could not sit there watching her getting engaged to a ridiculous man.

He felt it too when she felt sad.

Seeing her passing out, he became heartbroken.

Was that because he had a crush on her?

The two engagement ceremonies were ruined by what Jun Yan had done.

It went onto the headline of every Estan newspaper.

During his engagement ceremony with Lin Xiangya, Jun Yan ran and took away Ouyang Feifei from her engagement ceremony with Mo Beichen. Were they doing a re-matching or was there a mistake?

People all wondered what had happened.

And Jun Yan had made an unforgettable debut in front of the Estan people.

The newly appointed Chief Commander had just made his first achievement: running away with the daughter of the State Secretary. How ridiculous!

The most outraged one was Mo Beichen. His bride was taken away and he was punched in the face. It was most humiliating.

He would never let him walk away from it, not even he was the Chief Commander. There would be payback, sooner or later!

Lin Xiangya was also hurt. Being rejected in public was truly unbearable.

When she heard that Jun Yan left her and took Ouyang Feifei away, she felt even more enraged.

How dare you, Ouyang Feifei!?

Jun Yan took Ouyang Feifei away. So there must have been something between them.

How could Ouyang Feifei keep it a secret from her!

She should have investigated him beforehand. If she knew he had other girlfriends, she would have never put herself into such an awkward situation.

Now she could only be a joke for the people of Estan.

Their parents were also annoyed. They should have been celebrating a decent engagement ceremony. But it turned out to be a farce.

Chapter 1442: Opened His Eyes

Ouyang Qing and Re Meixin were anxious since they couldn't find their daughter. They went to Jun Yan's house and argued with his parents, which almost broke into a fight.

Jun Yan's parents were also troubled by his actions. Their son was always reliable in a lot of things, and him snatching the bride away shocked them too.

The parents from both of the families were angry and embarrassed, but all they could do was wait for Jun Yan and Ouyang Feifei to come back.

Ouyang Feifei was lying in the hospital bed, still unconscious, while Jun Yan stayed beside her.

He kept receiving calls from his family, but he did not pick them up. He did not want to.

Even his friends were looking for him. When he noticed Jing Xi was calling him, he hesitated before picking it up.

Ouyang Feifei's parents were next to Jing Xi, and they were hoping that she could find out where their daughter was.

"Hey. Where are you now?" Jing Xi asked after the call was picked up.

"...At the hospital," Jun Yan replied.

"What happened?"

"Miss Ouyang... She fainted."

"What? I'll be there right away. Feifei's parents are with me too."

After asking for the hospital address, Jing Xi took Ouyang Qing and Ren Meixin with her to the hospital.

They were both worried when they saw their daughter lying on the bed.

Ren Meixin even gave Jun Yan a disgusted look.

"Jun Yan! I almost thought you were a gentleman! Why did you ruin Feifei's wedding? How is she going to get married after this?" Ren Meixin scolded.

"I'm really sorry..." Jun Yan didn't know what to do other than apologize.

Ouyang Qing did not want his wife to make a fuss in the hospital and stopped her.

"Stop... Let's go check on Feifei first."

Jing Xi took Jun Yan out from the room so that they could talk quietly.

"What happened? You better tell me everything," Jing Xi said.

Jing Xi wasn't like everyone else; she actually thought that what happened might actually be a good thing.

"I didn't expect that it would turn out like this..."

Jun Yan felt that he had done something unforgivable and had no idea how to repair the situation.

"Well, it still happened. Now, you have to think of what to do next. You abandoned the young lady from the Lin family and chose Feifei, everyone saw that. No one would believe you if you still insist that you don't like her. But that's not the truth, right? You actually love her, but you just don't understand it yourself."

Jing Xi finished what she wanted to say and looked at Jun Yan.

“But what is love? I don't know how it feels to love someone else... I just did that on impulse.”

You big dumb oaf! Jing Xi scolded in her head.

“And that's proof that you love her! If you don't, then you would never even care what would happen to her. If you don't, then why would you do something that you couldn't even believe yourself doing? You love her, but you're just too stupid to realize that.”

Jing Xi's word finally got to Jun Yan.

It was as if the fog that had been covering the truth finally left, and he could see his own feelings clearly.

He finally knew what it felt like to love someone.

Chapter 1443: Hard To Wind Up

Jun Yan could finally see through his feelings. But what followed confused him again. “Xixi, what do you think I should do next?”

It was all his fault. He had made it hard to wind up now.

If only he could have recognized his feelings sooner, he wouldn't have hurt Ouyang Feifei again and again when she said she loved him and tried her best.

Each time he recalled Ouyang Feifei asking if he loved her, he felt heartbroken.

Damn it!

How could he have said nothing back then? That must have been very hurtful.

If it was not for him being indifferent, Ouyang Feifei would not have passed out.

But there was no point regretting it now. Jun Yan had to figure things out and talk it over with Ouyang Feifei soon.

“I'm the most stupid. Thank you, Xixi. I think I know what I should do now.”

Jun Yan seemed to have made some decisions and found a solution.

“Good. Then go for it, Eldest Brother. Everything will be fine.”

“Yes.”

They returned to the ward. But Ren Meixin refused to let Jun Yan visit Ouyang Feifei again.

“Jun Yan, I was indeed grateful that you saved my daughter several times before. But now, please, can you stay away from her and stop hurting her further?”

“You know she suffers from heart disease. She needs a peaceful life. If you provoke her again I will never forgive you!”

If it was not for Jing Xi's sake, Ren Meixin might have punched him for her daughter.

But instead, she tried hard to control her anger and stated it as nicely as she could, only wishing that he could get her point.

"I'm truly sorry, auntie. I know what I did earlier today was not appropriate. But I really could not let her get engaged to Mo Beichen..."

Jun Yan wanted to explain but Ren Meixin did not want to hear a thing.

"Enough. We don't need you here. You'd better go home and take care of the mess there."

Ren Meixin refused him and asked him to leave.

Jing Xi understood their feelings and had to take Jun Yan away. They could plan it out later.

Having said goodbye to Ren Meixin and her husband, Jing Xi left the hospital with Jun Yan.

Jun Yan was very upset. Whenever he closed his eyes he could see Ouyang Feifei's tear-flooded face and her desperate look.

There was never any girl who had made him worry so much. Not even once.

He felt anxious and worried.

He could no longer pretend to be indifferent since he'd recognized his feeling for her.

The previously calm and sedate Jun Yan was nowhere to be found now. He was deeply troubled.

What could he do next?

He suddenly worried...what if Ouyang Feifei would never talk to him again?

On the following day, Jun Yan visited the Lin family to make his apology.

Then he bought a bouquet and headed for the hospital. But when he arrived he found that Ouyang Feifei was no longer there.

The nurses told him that her parents had already taken her away.

Jun Yan then went to the Guangming Residence. He asked for Ouyang Feifei. But they refused to let him in.

Having no other options, Jun Yan had to go to Yunjing Villa and seek Jing Xi's help.

Chapter 1444: Not Going Smoothly

Jing Xi invited Jun Yan into her house.

"Xixi, I went to the hospital, but she wasn't there anymore," Jun Yan said.

"Did you go to her house?" Jing Xi asked, not knowing that Ouyang Feifei had left the hospital that early.

“I did, but they're not welcoming toward me. I don't know what to do anymore.”

Jun Yan finally felt what it was like to bear his own consequences after being hated by Ouyang Feifei's parents.

“Let me go and take a look, then.”

“Okay.”

Jun Yan could only wait until Jing Xi came back from the Guangming Residence.

But the outcome wasn't what Jing Xi had expected, as Jing Xi could not meet with Ouyang Feifei when she went to the Guangming Residence.

Ouyang Qing and Ren Meixin told Jing Xi that they had sent their daughter to somewhere peaceful so that she could recover.

When Jing Xi told Jun Yan what she'd learned, Jun Yan did not find it surprising.

He knew that the Ouyang family would not let Ouyang Feifei meet with him again and that sending her away was just a fluke.

Jun Yan waited for the next few days until he had to go on a mission.

The mission was to escort Huangpu Xuanye back to the Northern Kingdom.

Huangpu Xuanye had recovered completely, just in time for the queen's enthronement.

Their mission was to stop the queen from taking the throne and help Huangpu Xuanye become the next king.

Even though Huangpu Xuanye knew of the importance of him going back, he still felt a little reluctant to leave as he had no idea when he would be able to see Ying Bao again.

He asked Helian Qingyu to take him to the Yunjing Manor before he left so that he could say goodbye.

Ying Bao kept pulling Huangpu Xuanye's hand when she learned that he was returning to the Northern Kingdom.

“Uncle Prince, when can you come and visit me again?”

“I will when I have the time,” Huangpu Xuanye replied.

He could not give the little girl a precise answer.

“Okay... Please don't forget about me.”

“I won't. You can come and visit me when you have the time, too, okay?”

“Okay!”

Jing Xi had initially planned to join them on the trip but had to cancel the trip. She could only pray for their success.

Huangpu Xuanye began his journey back home early the next day.

Lan Ling'er joined the team too after disguising herself. She was thrilled to be able to meet with Helian Qingyu again.

But Helian Qingyu did not show any surprise. He was still cold towards her, but Lan Ling'er did not mind it as long as they were together.

The trip to the Northern Kingdom didn't go as smoothly as they thought it would.

The whole country was locked down. The border between Estan and the Northern Kingdom was heavily guarded by the military.

The queen ordered the lockdown so that she could prevent Estan from mingling with her enthronement ceremony.

It would be impossible for them to set foot in the Northern Kingdom through reasonable means.

Unless they had pairs of wings on their backs...

It was the day of the queen's enthronement, and she would not allow anything to happen.

The servants were dressing Lan Qiwei up in the castle.

She wore an extravagant dress explicitly made for the ceremony.

Chapter 1445: Already The Queen

Yun Xuerou came to her and praised, "Sister, dressed up like this, you are already an awe-inspiring queen.

Lan Qiwei felt good. She looked at her in the mirror and said, "I should thank you, my sister, for helping me getting here. I assure you, once I am crowned I will help you seek revenge."

They smiled tacitly.

It was time to go. Lan Qiwei lifted her dress and walked toward the palace attended by the crowd.

The parliament members were having a meeting in the palace of the Northland. Every minister was present.

The bishop anchoring the meeting declared, "Today, our Queen of the Northland will be coronated. It has been unanimously decided that the Queen will succeed and become the governor. Now, I announce the start of the coronation, and let us welcome Her Majesty, the Queen!"

Shortly after, a gorgeous figure showed up at the entrance of the palace. Lan Qiwei stepped into the palace.

Being the focus of attention, she walked toward the throne step by step, moving toward the supreme power.

The solemn coronation proceeded. At last the bishop announced, "Now I will coronate Her Majesty, the Queen. From now on she will take the responsibility of leading the Northland to future prosperity."

Lan Qiwei kneeled down by the throne and pressed her palms together to pray.

The bishop picked up the shining crown and was about to coronate her.

But right then someone yelled from outside the palace, "She does not deserve the crown!"

The bishop was shocked and stopped. He looked toward the entrance of the palace.

Everyone else looked too. A group of people charged in, with the leading figure being their prince – Huangpu Xuanye.

Seeing Huangpu Xuanye again, people were all shocked. The parliament went into an uproar.

"Is that His Highness, the Prince?"

"Wasn't he dead?"

"Is this my imagination?"

"His Highness, the Prince, is still alive!"

They cried out in surprise, fear and excitement.

Lan Qiwei heard Huangpu Xuanye's voice and turned back. Seeing him stepping toward her safe and sound, she found it unbelievable.

How could it be possible?

Shouldn't the assassin have killed him?

Was this a real human being or a ghost?

Lan Qiwei stood up by the throne. She pointed at Huangpu Xuanye and his men and yelled, "The prince is dead. Are you an imposter? Guards, arrest them!"

Soon enough, two teams of guards hurried in from both sides of the palace and surrounded Huangpu Xuanye and the rest of them.

Lan Qiwei stood high and seemed awe-inspiring as if she was already the Queen despite the unfinished coronation.

But the seventeen-year-old Huangpu Xuanye was not intimidated at all. He glared at Lan Qiwei and challenged, "You did not deserve my father's love. He cherished you so much. But you are already arranging your own coronation even during the national mourning. You usurper!"

"In addition, are you assuming I was killed so that you can steal the throne?"

Huangpu Xuanye then turned to the parliament. "Gentlemen, my father did pass away. But this woman is plotting against all of us to take the throne. Are you seriously watching her steal the country from all of us?"

Many parliament members had chosen to support Lan Qiwei because they thought the former king had no successor. Now that their prince was back, they would definitely choose the prince.

Hearing the parliament members calling the prince to be coronated, Lan Qiwei almost lost control of herself.

Chapter 1446: Act Innocent

Lan Qiwei always thought of Huangpu Xuanye as someone who couldn't think or talk well because he rarely spoke.

But she changed her opinions towards him when she saw him addressing the situation in front of the throne.

But the most surprised person was Lan Ling'er as she wondered why the queen looked like her mother.

She suddenly recalled that Yun Xuerou had told her that her mother was still alive in a foreign country.

Puzzling everything together, it could only mean that the queen was indeed her mother.

What Lan Ling'er could not understand was why her mother wanted to rule the country when she was already the queen.

And why she had never visited her daughter even once.

Sadness enveloped Lan Ling'er's heart when she saw her mother showing a despicable smile for power and status.

The way Lan Ling'er remembered her mother was as a kind and gentle person, not the stranger that was standing in front of her.

"Don't listen to him! He's a fake!" Lan Qiwei scolded when she realized some of the senators were changing sides. "Do you think you can cheat your way through by changing your looks? Guards! Take him!"

The guards started to move towards Huangpu Xuanye and his companions, trying to catch them alive. Jun Yan and Ye Xun began to fend off the attackers.

Since Huangpu Xuanye and Lan Ling'er did not know how to fight, only Jun Yan, Ye Xun, and seven other JS members were taking on the guards while protecting the prince.

Gunshots sounded through the hall, and it was a bloodbath as guards were killed one by one, but there was no end to them.

Huangpu Xuanye was depressed when he saw the floor being dyed with blood.

It wasn't his intention to fight; the reason he went back was so he could protect the kingdom.

He risked his life and ran up to the throne, holding his Prince Emblem up high.

“Stop!” Huangpu Xuanye shouted. “In the name of the Prince of the Northern Kingdom, I order all of you to stop!”

His voice echoed throughout the hall, and it stopped the guards.

In the end, the guards were still soldiers of the Northern Kingdom, and they were loyal to the royal family.

“I order all of you to put your weapons down unless you want to meet your maker!”

The guards began to put their weapons down and looked at their prince. The victory was secured.

“What else do you have to say?” Huangpu Xuanye asked Lan Qiwei.

Lan Qiwei never predicted that the teenager would succeed in controlling the guards. She had no one else by her side; she was utterly alone.

She knew she could not fight her way out anymore, and the only option left was to act innocent.

“Xuanye! Are you really Xuanye? We were so saddened when we heard that you were killed in Estan! I never thought I could see you again!”

If Huangpu Xuanye did not know the truth, he would've bought her story.

Chapter 1447: Bitterly Disappointing

But Huangpu Xuanye already knew the truth. Knowing that it was Lan Qiwei who had planned this, he sneered, “Don't shed crocodile's tear. When I was in Estan you sent the assassin there. You thought you could kill me and become the queen. How ambitious you are!”

“How could that be me! I had to step out because the Northland was in danger and I had to shoulder the responsibility. I had no choice!”

Lan Qiwei came to Huangpu Xuanye. She looked sincere. And the tears she shed seemed so real. She was indeed a good actress.

“After all, I am your mother! How could I hurt you? I'm so glad you came back! And I'm so glad you can succeed and become the king. Xuanye, your father had last words for you. Do you want to hear them?”

Huangpu Xuanye definitely wanted to hear his father's last words. But when he was expecting her to say something, Lan Qiwei took him as a hostage and pointed the gun at his temple.

Huangpu Xuanye was, after all, too naive for the cunning Lan Qiwei.

Before he could react, he was already under her control. “You liar!” he yelled.

Lan Qiwei's ambition was finally revealed. She burst into wild laughter. “Haha, you witless young man. How could you stand against me? With you being my hostage, none of your men will dare to hurt me!”

“Xuanye!”

When Helian Qingyu found out what she was doing, it was already too late.

She was pointing her gun at Huangpu Xuanye so they did not dare to take any action.

At that time, in order to save Huangpu Xuanye, Helian Qingyu got hold of Lan Ling-Er and yelled at Lan Qiwei, “Lan Qiwei, you'd better release Huangpu Xuanye! Otherwise, I cannot guarantee your daughter's safety!”

Hearing him speaking of her daughter, Lan Qiwei looked down and saw him holding a hostage too.

She laughed again. “Haha... I have no daughter. You can't use her against me.”

Lan Ling-Er did not struggle because Helian Qingyu was not hurting her at all. He was just faking it.

But hearing her mother saying that she had no daughter, she could not help feeling sad.

No wonder she had never come back for her throughout the years!

How bitterly disappointing!

“Even if you deny it, you still have a daughter in Estan. Lan Ling-Er, tell me, is she your mother?”

Lan Ling-Er took off the wig and mask, and called out to Lan Qiwei, “Mother!”

And she burst into tears when saying so.

“Ling-Er!”

Seeing her own daughter all of a sudden, Lan Qiwei was shocked and got distracted. She never expected that they could bring her real daughter as a hostage.

How could she not care about her only daughter?

She had said that merely to protect herself just now.

She had planned that, when she was coronated, she would bring Lan Ling-Er to the Northland. But she was put into a dilemma now.

“Mother, you are still alive! But why are you doing this to me?” Lan Ling-Er cried.

“Ling-Er, I...”

It was not good timing for an explanation. Lan Qiwei could not tell her everything right now.

But while she was being distracted, Jun Yan came behind her and got ahold of her gun.

He turned the gun and pointed it at Lan Qiwei between her eyebrows.

Chapter 1448: Rely on Her

Huangpu Xuanye regained his freedom and was being protected by Jun Yan. The outcome was decided.

Lan Qiwei could only surrender when she realized she had no other way out.

Helian Qingyu succeeded in apprehending Lan Qiwei.

Huangpu Xuanye rehosted the national assembly as the remaining royal member.

Huangpu Xuanye sat on the throne with his father's Emperor Badge in his hand.

"I will be taking on the role of the new Northern Kingdom's emperor," Huangpu Xuanye announced.

"Are there any objections?"

The crowd remained silent until one of the senators congratulated him.

"All hail, the new emperor!"

Everyone followed the senator and congratulated Huangpu Xuanye.

At the age of only 17, Huangpu Xuanye officially took over the throne.

That was his fate and his father's wish, and he did not disappoint Huangpu Heng's expectations.

The first thing Huangpu Xuanye did as the emperor was to round up people who sided with Lan Qiwei. They were all thrown into jail.

Lan Qiwei was being locked in the Imperial Prison, and Lan Ling'er was there to visit her.

"Come here. Let me take a good look at you," Lan Qiwei said while extending her arm outside the bar.

"Mom, how did you become like this?" Lan Ling'er asked, unable to hide her sadness. "You kept your distance from me for what? So that you could obtain power? Is power more important than your own flesh and blood?"

"No! You're wrong! I wanted to bring you over after I'd taken over the country... I never stopped thinking about you every day."

"You're all talk! Do you know that dad is dead now? That Lstan has fallen? Dad deserved it because he has been doing evil's bidding for his whole life, but why do you have to follow him? You were already the queen of the Northern Kingdom...was that not enough for you? Are you happy now?"

Lan Ling'er hated her parents, as they weren't like other people who committed themselves to the benefit of society. Instead, they did unforgivable things.

Lan Qiwei could only answer her daughter's question with tears.

"I know I was wrong... It's all your aunt's fault... She was the one who talked me into it..."

"Where is she now?"

"I don't know. She was here until everything went bad. Right! Could you please tell her to come and save me when you meet her?"

"You still trust her? Do you know that she's a fugitive now? If I were you, I would've talked her into handing herself in, not working with her instead."

Lan Ling'er took a deep breath, wondering why all of her relatives were criminals.

But it was all too late. Lan Qiwei had already tasted her defeat, and there was only one way out for her.

"Ling'er, I know I was wrong... But you have to get me out of here! You're the only one I can rely on now!"

Chapter 1449: What A Big Joke!

"I'm not doing anything ridiculous. You'll be sent to court tomorrow. Behave yourself! It's all your fault and you have to take the consequences. I'm leaving now!"

Lan Ling-Er would not help her mother to do any further evil. She wished she could be a normal person, a respectful person.

Seeing her daughter being so ruthless, Lan Qiwei scolded, "Indeed, you ungrateful girl! Don't you want to know who your real father is? You are not Mo Xie's daughter! Ling-Er!"

Lan Ling-Er had already reached the door. But she stopped and asked in surprise, "I'm not Mo Xie's daughter? Then who is my father?"

"Help me get out of here. Then I'll tell you the truth!"

Lan Qiwei thought the excuse she made could help her gain Lan Ling-Er's help.

However, Lan Ling-Er said, "Mother, I cannot do that. If I helped you I would become a wanted criminal, just as you are. If you really cared for me you would have never done this. I don't care who my real father is. Tell me or not, I don't want to know. My father is dead."

Lan Qiwei was choking with rage, "How could you..."

What could she do with her own daughter? Seeing her leaving, she had to call her to stop. "Wait, Ling-Er, let me tell you now..."

Coming out of the jail, Lan Ling-Er felt extremely upset, because she found what her mother had told her at last to be unbearable.

Helian Qingyu came to her and asked, "Lan Ling-Er, are you done with her?"

"Yes." Lan Ling-Er nodded.

"Let's get out. Did she tell you where Lady White Tea is?"

Helian Qingyu took her outside. He had asked her to help find out about Lady White Tea and wondered if she had gotten any clues.

Speaking of Lady White Tea, Lan Ling-Er told him, "My mother said she was here in the Northland previously. But she had no idea where she was now."

Then Helian Qingyu stared into Lan Ling-Er's eyes and said, "Lan Ling-Er, I had no idea you were my cousin."

Lan Ling-Er: "..."

Of course she knew it. Ever since she heard that Yun Xuerou was Lady White Tea, she realized that she and Helian Qingyu were cousins.

But she just could not stop loving him.

Helian Qingyu continued, "Don't you know cousins cannot marry each other? Now I know we are cousins. So we can never get married. I hope you can understand."

Lan Ling-Er burst into tears. She was really heartbroken.

There were many things that she could not change, and being Helian Qingyu's cousin was one of them.

That being said, she would never be able to marry Helian Qingyu.

Helian Qingyu handed her some tissue and comforted her. "Ling-Er, stop crying. Although I cannot marry you, I do wish the best for you and you will definitely find your Mr. Right. I'll treat you as my own sister from now on."

Lan Ling-Er lowered her head and shed more tears. But she had to face it.

A boyfriend turning into a cousin...what a big joke!

Helian Qingyu knew that she understood. It was best this way. Now that his relationship with Lan Ling-Er had come to an end, he would no longer worry about being haunted by her.

Chapter 1450: Couldn't Be Reckless

After taking care of Lan Qiwei, Huangpu Xuanye went to visit his father's grave along with his companions.

Helian Qingyu looked at Huangpu Heng's grave. He was glad that he was able to fulfill the previous emperor's final wish. He'd managed to help Huangpu Xuanye onto the throne.

They left the burial ground, and Helian Qingyu was ready to go.

"Xuanye, we have to go back to Estan now. You'll have to face the remaining problems on your own. Can you do it?"

"I'm fine! Thank you for everything!" Huangpu Xuanye nodded.

"Come to Estan when you have the time. We'll always welcome you with open arms."

“I will!”

Huangpu Xuanye sent them off at the airport. He wanted to leave with Helian Qingyu, but he understood that with his new status, he couldn't afford to be reckless.

There were a lot of things waiting for him to sort out in the Northern Kingdom. He would have to wait for quite some time before he could meet with Ying Bao again.

The plane landed safely in Estan a few hours later.

The three of them separated after arriving in Lin City. Jun Yan went back to the military base while Ye Xun went back to JS.

Helian Qingyu took Lan Ling'er back to her apartment.

“From today onwards, you're a permanent resident of Estan,” Helian Qingyu told Lan Ling'er. “You can continue on your path as an actress and can contact Jing Xi or me whenever you need anything. We'll do our best to help you.”

Helian Qingyu felt a little apologetic for using Lan Ling'er. Even though Lan Ling'er might be a little bossy, she was a good person.

She could still live like an average person as long as she did not walk down the same path her father had.

“Thank you. Can I call you big bro like Jing Xi always call you?” Lan Ling'er asked, accepting the fact that she and Helian Qingyu were blood-related.

But she didn't think the outcome was terrible. She could finally let go of Helian Qingyu and was granted permission to live in Estan forever so that she could start a new life.

“Of course you can,” Helian Qingyu smiled.

“Thank you, big bro!”

Lan Ling'er had wholly changed. She wasn't as arrogant as she used to be.

After everything that had happened in the past few weeks, she finally learned a lot of things.

She vowed to not live like her parents, a people who were being hated by everyone else.

She wanted to be someone who could benefit society, and it wasn't too late to walk down that path.

Even though her mother had told her who her real father was, she did not plan to find him anytime soon. She would instead leave it up to fate.

The news of the Prince inheriting the throne of the Northern Kingdom spread throughout the world.

When Jing Xi saw the news, she was happy for Huangpu Xuanye.

It wasn't until she heard about the fight with Lan Qiwei from Ye Xun that she learned how hard it had been for Huangpu Xuanye to retake the throne.

But everything was progressing smoothly, and the world was enjoying its peace.

Other than looking for Lady White Tea, there wasn't anything else that was worrying Jing Xi. She could finally wait quietly for the babies to be born.

When Jing Xi was tidying up things in the babies' room, she found equipment that had a foreign language written on it.

“Hubby, what is this for?”
