

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 1031 Love Stumbles One's Heart

Zhou Weizong was so upset that he wanted to fight with Xie Pinggang. Little did he know that at this moment, Yu Xian was thinking about what Xie Pinggang had said just now.

Master... and Young Lady Xie had too many similarities!

Their bodies were weak, and they came from the same Taoist temple, yet they seemed to be able to understand yin and yang!

She had lived in the Xie Residence for a long time and had often chatted with Xie Pinggang about his siblings. Therefore, she knew a lot about Young Lady Xie's habits and abilities. Thinking about it carefully...

Some time ago, she heard that the master had gone to Mengjiabao. However, Young Lady Xie was not at home at that time. She said that she had gone to the Fortune Pavilion to recuperate.

However, it was not to the extent of not being able to see anyone while recuperating, right?

Master's face was fake...

Could it be... could it be... Yu Xian had a feeling that an answer was on the tip of her tongue!

However, she could not believe it!

After all, there was still the Crown Prince among them!

His Highness was close to master and was also Young Lady Xie's future husband. If the two of them were the same person, did His Highness know about it?! If he did not know, then how did master split herself into two to fool people?!

Yu Xian was both excited and a little nervous.

However, she really did not dare to say much. After all, people who knew too much would not end up well. The secrets of others must be kept confidential and must not be exposed. She could not even let that person know that she already knew, otherwise, she would be feared and hated for no reason!

She knew the rules.

However, this matter was too shocking for her. It was as if there were a hundred ants scratching her heart, and her whole body was itchy!

Yu Xian could not hold it in any longer. She looked at Xie Qiao, then at the Crown Prince, and then at Xie Pinggang, who was standing next to her in a daze. Her eyes were filled with resentment, excitement and irritation. She became a little listless, what she was feeling was very complicated.

Zhou Weizong realized that his cousin looked like she was stimulated.

He did not know why.

She was twitching and listless.

The doctor treated Xie Qiao, and it was not much different from before. As for the headache... The doctor did not dare to say that it was fake. He just said that her body was too weak to be stimulated.

That instantly made Zhao Xuanjing rest his strength. If he met Xie Qiao again, he would lose his temper.

“I shouldn’t have scolded you. It’s just that your health is lacking. You should pay more attention in the future. If you have anything that is not important in the future, just get someone to do it. Whether it’s Sang You or Jiang Jinlu, if they dare to disobey, I will call the shots for you.” Zhao Xuanjing’s voice was like the sunshine on a snowy day. It was cold and gentle.

Xie Qiao did not dare to meet his eyes. She only nodded. “I understand.”

She felt more and more guilty. Indeed, the kindness of people in the world was the most important and also the most frustrating.

“What else do you want to do? If you’re worried, I’ll personally handle it for you. You can only go back and rest now,” Zhao Xuanjing added. After thinking for a moment, he was afraid that she would ignore what he said when she returned to the Fortune Pavilion, so he added, “Go to the Royal Academy, I’ll send someone to tell teacher to keep an eye on you.”

Xie Qiao knew that she was doomed.

She did not dare to provoke Zhao Xuanjing, but teacher... even more so.

A teacher was like a father, and she did not dare to offend him.

It was fine with that old man Mo Lingzi. He was initially an arrogant person who did not care about trifles. In front of him, it was easy for her to talk back. However, Li Shiyuan was different. He was steady, old, and upright. In her teacher’s heart, she had always been obedient and sensible. She could not destroy this good impression herself.

“Alright, I’ll follow what you said.” Xie Qiao was like a kite that fell from the sky. She did not fight to fly anymore.
