At this moment, Pan Jiao really hated this Taoist master.

Her Brother Hanwen was still lying there, his body not even cold. She really wanted to go with him, but the master still said such cold words, insulting her and Brother Hanwen!

She glared at Xie Qiao as if she were looking at an enemy.

It was only because Madam Pan knew that there were noblemen here who were not to be trifled with that she stopped her daughter from baring her fangs and brandishing her claws. She hurriedly said, "Hanwen was beaten up by someone. I don't know why, but he hurt his hand. Since then, his hand has been crippled and he can't exert any strength."

Xie Qiao was unmoved by Pan Jiao's reaction, she continued coldly, "Then, do you dislike his useless hand? Do you think that he can't take the examination for fame, that he would embarrass you, and that people would laugh at you? But because the two of you are neighbors, you can't directly break off the engagement. That was why you invited him over today. It seemed like you guys were having fun, but in fact, you wanted to cut off all ties with him?"

After hearing this, Pan Jiao broke down. "No! I did not!"

"Young lady, you have to tell me the truth. Look, he's dead, and no one will guard against you marrying someone else. Don't you feel comfortable?" Xie Qiao was disgusted by herself.

The moment she asked this question, Pan Jiao was about to pounce on her and tear her apart.

Yan Kebao's face was pale, and he could not help but tremble when he heard these words.

"Master! My daughter is really not the kind of person you say she is! Every day, she kept talking about Hanwen. Hanwen hurt his hand, and she felt very sorry for him. She even went to a doctor to learn a massage technique, thinking of taking good care of him after marriage! My daughter has been obedient since she was young. She will never change the things and people that she has set her mind on..." Madam Pan cried sadly.

"Yes, Master. I watched Ms. Jiao grow up. The two kids are really close. That cannot be..." The Fu family members said.

Xie Qiao looked at Fu Hanwen's position. "Did you hear that?" Xie Qiao's words were light and airy.

From the perspective of the Pan and Fu families, it was unknown who the master was talking to, but it suddenly sent chills down their spines.

"I believed her..." Fu Hanwen said.

"I just..."

Due to this hand, he was initially worried that he could not give Ms. Jiao a good future, and when he heard Yan Kebao's words, he felt uncomfortable. In addition, he really did not have the strength to struggle back then, so... he gave up.

Now that he had become a ghoul, he realized that it was not just his hand that was bad.

He did not even have the ability to save his own life.

If he believed in Yan Kebao, he would not have any lingering feelings. He would not have to feel sorry for Ms. Jiao, and with this, he would be able to... let go...

"I'm the one who let her down..." Fu Hanwen looked at Pan Jiao, his eyes also red, "We're separated by death, so how can I wrong for the rest of her life? Master, please tell her that this has nothing to do with her. Let her find a suitable husband in the future and live a good life..."

"So, you want to let the person who killed you get away with it and make your parents sad and unwilling?" Xie Qiao sneered.

Xie Qiao's words were obvious.

Everyone present could hear it.

"M-Master! Who are you talking to?! Is it my son? Is it?" Madam Fu rushed over and knelt down. "I beg you, Master! I beg you to save my son!"

Xie Qiao hurriedly took two steps back. "This penniless master doesn't have the ability to revive the dead. It's just that... I can see things that others can't see. If you have anything to say to him, this penniless master can pass it on."

Sn
