

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 1084 Getting Married

There were many people like the Lin family who felt that Xie Qiao's body was weak.

However, they had good intentions and concerns, but it was hard to say for others.

At this time, Lin Sangzhi had told Xie Qiao many things, mostly to ask her to learn to use her own strengths and not suffer losses.

Xie Qiao would be married to the most honorable family in the world. If she did not have a good life in the future, her family would not even have the ability to call the shots for her.

That night, Xie Qiao did not sleep for long.

Before dawn, it was already bustling outside.

The grooming lady also came over and helped her dress up.

The wedding dress was heavy. It was embroidered by an embroidery lady in the palace. The patterns were complicated, but it was extremely luxurious and dignified. However, when the wedding dress was worn, it was so heavy Xie Qiao could not breathe.

The dress was fine, but what was more important was her face. She only felt that a layer of skin had been scraped off her face, and then a lot of makeup was applied on her face. A group of people swayed in front of her. She did not even have the time to look in the mirror. She only felt that she must look like a thousand-year-old female ghou at this moment. Her red lips and fair face were definitely frightening. “Eldest Sister, you’re really beautiful.” Xie Xi did not know anything and just stood by the side to accompany her.

Xie Qiao forced a smile, looking as if she had nothing left to live for.

“Young lady, are you tired?” The lady who was putting on makeup looked at her and was a little afraid. She was worried that the young lady would faint from exhaustion. “I’ve already tried my best to make things easier for you today. This phoenix coronet has been altered a few times. His Highness the Crown Prince has personally checked it. He keeps thinking that it’s too heavy and is afraid that it would hurt your neck.”

Xie Qiao understood.

Ordinary people would be exhausted to death during a wedding, not to mention the imperial family.

Xie Qiao glanced at the phoenix coronet placed by the side. It was indeed beautiful.

It looked a little lighter than an ordinary colored coronet, but the workmanship was probably even more complicated. The golden wings on the top were very thin. With a light movement, it would be as if they were about to spread their wings and fly high.

Xie Qiao took a breath and braced herself.

This was just the beginning.

After a while, many women who gave blessings came. Under the guidance of auspicious officials, they said auspicious words before the wedding.

“First brush brings peace and health, love would last forever.

“Second brush brings good luck, may youth and beauty last forever.

“Third brush brings peace and prosperity, may you bear many children and live long. There is no worry about wealth and honor.” They were picking up the bride-to-be.

There was music and drums playing outside, as well as firecrackers. Xie Qiao’s long hair was tied up, and the phoenix coronet fell down, blocking her view.

The surrounding celebrations were getting louder and noisier. Xie Qiao could not hear what the people were saying clearly.

She did not know how long she had waited, but she was led out hand in hand.

She bid farewell to her father and brother and entered the bridal sedan chair.

It was swaying, the streets were lively. Along the way, she could hear the surrounding hubbub. After being busy for a long time, Xie Qiao could only see the hem of Zhao Xuanjing’s clothes for a short while. She did not know what this person looked like today.

Her heart was beating fast.

Just as she was thinking, a ghoul floated over from the bridal sedan chair.

“The patriarch said that you’re getting married today, Master, so he asked us to send you off. As ghouls, we don’t have anything to send you off. Today, we’ll try our best to block some of them for you. Let those wandering souls stay away from you so that they won’t collide with you,” said the ghoul of the Baili family.

He only leaned against the curtain and said a few words. After he finished speaking, he floated away.

The clothes that Xie Qiao was wearing today, from inside to outside, were exquisite. She did not carry many talismans with her, and the bamboo basket was not with her. She felt a bit uneasy in her heart, and when she heard these words, she was indeed very happy.

There were still quite a number of ghouls from the Baili family who had not left yet, so this bit of help could really be of help.

Usually, the ghouls wandering on the street would not care about what the living were doing. It was very common for them to rampage.

The ghoul guards beside the Crown Prince also opened a path on both sides. It was just that the line was too long and there were not enough of them. Now that Baili Ji and the others were watching, the other ghouls also tried their best to avoid them.
