

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 1099: How Many Things Have You Done?

As soon as Xie Qiao finished speaking, a look of surprise flashed across Meng Jifang's face.

However, he quickly calmed down. "That's true, but there's nothing strange about it. Outside of the capital, there are many mountains and forests. It's hard not to pass through them. It's normal to get lost when you're in there."

A few days after the new year, a group of people moved into a shabby City God Temple to seek shelter from the wind and snow.

A person was hungry, cold, and tired. When he saw the statue in the City God Temple, he kowtowed to it sincerely. Not long after, the wind and snow stopped. He picked up his bag and left, he stepped on a round pearl.

The pearl was completely white and was big. It looked quite good. It was hidden in the snow and could not be easily detected. Yet, it was stepped on by him!

In such a desolate place with no lake or sea around it, did the pearl fall from the sky?

The man took the pearl and sold it for 700 to 800 taels of silver. With this money, he solved the problem he had at that time, and his family business flourished!

He felt that his fortune was all thanks to the guidance of the gods. So, he made a big fuss about it. In a short time, the City God Temple became a sacred place for people to offer incense.

Recently, many people liked to go to the City God Temple to pray.

When he heard about it, he felt that it was strange, so he went to see it too.

After he went, he asked someone to look around. There was nothing special, only that there was something wrong with the soil under the tree. He thought about the day when Xie Qiao entered the city. There was a lot of soil and snow all over her body, there seemed to be hoes and other things in the carriage, as well as things like pearls and bracelets. There was no lack of them. When he thought about it, he thought the pearl at the City God Temple was most likely dropped by Xie Qiao.

He thought that it was somewhere fun, but he did not expect that it was just being embellished by others.

He felt bored, so he rode his horse around.

At that time, he was in a bad mood, so he rode a little further. He was confused in the forest and actually lost his way. In the end, he finally found a dilapidated village to settle down in.

The village was filled with strange rocks and many big pits. For some reason, there were many trees around and the place was surrounded. The village had been dilapidated for a long time, so it was no different from the wild mountains and forests. The sky was too dark. At least there was a shabby house to shelter from the wind, so he stayed there for the night.

However, after that night, he felt that something was wrong with him.

Xie Qiao listened to his stubbornness, she only snorted and laughed. "Your bad luck is in the north, where the grass, trees, metal, and stone are located. The time should be around Wu Yin and Chou Shi. On that day, you collided with the north where the snake demon was, and you collided with Ren Shen. It is definitely not compatible with your character. On that day, you should avoid breaking the ground, burying, praying for blessings, and traveling... Young Master Meng, how many things have you done?"

Xie Qiao lifted her head slightly and looked at him with a smile.

Meng Jifang's face stiffened.

Wu Yin? Thinking about it, that was indeed the day he spent the night outside...

Apart from that, he was the only one in that shabby village that day. He was really scared and could not sleep, so he counted the number of cows he raised. However, it was useless. He thought about how other people prayed to the gods, so he gritted his teeth, he secretly prayed to the gods and prayed for peace.

Also...

There were rats in that place, and they were big.

When he found a shabby house to stay in, he saw a rat and was shocked. Fortunately, he had a saber with him, so he sliced the rat. However, it was bloody and uncomfortable, so he casually dug a small hole outside the house and buried the rat under the moonlight...

Was that considered breaking the ground and burying?

He looked very uncomfortable.

He did not expect this stinking Taoist master to be so capable...

“You’ve been talking for a long time, but you’ve only told me where I went. You haven’t told me what’s wrong with me yet...” He stubbornly refused to admit it.
