

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 1175: The Wheel of Fortune Turns

One year, she suddenly became a little different.

Occasionally, she would see some strange ghouls that flashed by, scaring her to the core. She would often make a scene, and her relatives would treat her as a lunatic, saying that she was a monster and refused to get close to her. When her father returned, they would say that she had her third eye opened.

For three years, her father had gone to great lengths to seal her third eye.

However, for three years, she did not dare to see anyone.

Without the third eye, her father said that their fate was over. He even left her a letter and sent her to a good friend's house to spend the day. She did not understand why, but she could only follow his arrangements. However, she did not spend much time there, she helped the daughter of that family enter the palace and become a palace maid...

Time and fortune went by, but she was never willing to have anything to do with it.

The late Emperor's harem was relatively quiet, and she had never thought of climbing up the ladder. However, she had accidentally bumped into one and became a great consort. Her body was weak, and it was difficult for her to give birth. She had almost lost her life because of that unfilial son.

When she was on the verge of death, many thoughts flashed through her mind.

All of them were the cold stares of others.

She recalled that when she was outside the palace, as an orphan, she had bumped into that young master of the Gu family who was both talented and beautiful. At such a young age, he was already flirtatious. He was just like her father, with a proud face and an unworldly outlook.

She recalled that Imperial Tutor Li's family was in the limelight. At the palace banquet, they were dazzling. At that time, she was a little palace maid, but because of the young lady of the Li family, she had to lie on the ground and clean it up... It was the other members of the Li family who asked her to step down as they pitied her young age, but that kind of sympathetic gaze was still piercing to her.

She initially had a father and mother.

However, she was an orphan with no one to rely on.

When she gave birth to a child that almost took her life, only then would people come to congratulate her or even... guard against her.

When the late emperor passed away, everyone said that her life was tough and that she had obtained the favor of the emperor. Before she could exchange for the honor and favor of her child, she had already become a great consort. What did the Li and Gu family members who entered the palace said to her?

They said that the empress was a benevolent person and told her not to worry. As long as she lived obediently in the palace, she would protect her for the rest of her life...

Ha...

Thinking of these things, Great Consort Hui could not help but laugh.

The wheel of fortune had been turned. If she did not want to change it, she would destroy it!

“Hide? Then hide...” Great Consort Hui did not care, she touched her face, which had not changed much, and smiled. “Even if I lose, it won’t matter. I have to do what I did not do before I die.”

“Junior Sister?” The Taoist master frowned.

“Peng Tianming? He changed a good name and became the grand preceptor.” Great Consort Hui stood up and said with her thin figure, “Let my father go with the two senior brothers, okay?”

The Taoist master trembled.

After his master took in three disciples and sealed his junior sister’s third eye, he left them a lot of books, and then his master disappeared.

Later, they found their master’s daughter. At that time, she was already a great consort, so they stayed by her side to take care of her.

There were many things that they could not touch.

Twenty years ago, at the Dao meeting, two of his junior brothers died after being found out that they used human lives to make spells.

He was worried that he would get burned, so he and his junior sister set up a trap. They took Prince Rong to the fief and hid for a long time.

“He is now the grand preceptor. I’m afraid it won’t be easy to kill him,” the Taoist said after thinking for a while.

“I’m his biological daughter. It’d be convenient to sacrifice myself,” Great Consort Hui’s voice was cold and clear.
