

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 1208: Living Incognito

The reason why the grand preceptor knew how to treat this object affected by extreme yin was entirely because of the Crown Prince.

After the Crown Prince got married, he seemed to have received Mo Chusheng's guidance and asked him about what he should do if he had touched something with a concentrated evil aura when he was young...

It was as if the answer had appeared in his mind subconsciously...

The Crown Prince was a king. He had the protection of the dragon bloodline. Even if he was affected by an evil instrument, it would not harm his life.

If he wanted to recover, he would first need to use a method to accumulate good karma. However, this method was not easy to do. After all, it was not so easy to accumulate good karma. It was hard to say how long or how much it would take. It might even take him a lifetime.

The second method... was to use the fate of others to make up for it.

To forcefully remove the evil energy.

However, he needed his closest relative to do so.

After he thought of this answer, he was somewhat puzzled. He felt that the answer was very familiar to him.

At that time, he did not understand. Now, after hearing what Great Consort Hui said, he roughly understood.

This daughter of his was only an ordinary person. Without the protection of the dragon bloodline, she would definitely be heavily affected by the evil energy. If her heavenly eye was not removed, she would become a battlefield for the lonely souls sooner or later. She was neither human nor ghoul.

He had exhausted everything to help her solve it.

As for why he had to leave...

At this moment, the grand preceptor could clearly come to a conclusion in his mind.

His own fate had already been given to her. How could there be any good fate left? If he accompanied his daughter, she would sooner or later be countered. Moreover... How could an ordinary person come into contact with a ghoul? She would definitely be implicated by him.

And now, he defied common sense and became the grand preceptor. He should have earned his respect by chasing away the barbarians back then and saved the lives of many commoners.

Thinking of this, the grand preceptor clearly stated his conclusion.

He remembered his feelings for his daughter and could still treat her calmly.

When Great Consort Hui heard everything, her eyes turned blood red.

“Do you think that I will believe you just because you pretend to be kind? At my age, how many cunning people have I seen in this world? All of them are like you, with a hypocritical face that makes me sick!”
Great Consort Hui spat.

Did he leave for her own good?

Impossible!

He was not there when she and her mother depended on each other. He was not there when she saw her mother cry blood and die. What about when she was bullied because of the heavenly eye? He was not there either!

He only showed up occasionally and disappeared in the blink of an eye.

He was the one who sent her to someone else’s home, which was why she was sent to the palace!

She had been bullied in the palace...

Even now, she still had nightmares every day and was suffering unspeakably!

“I asked you to come here because I wanted you to see how your daughter killed you step by step. Tell your rebuttal to the King of Hell. Maybe he will forgive you,” Great Consort Hui said, then she tied him up.

Since the grand preceptor was willing to come here, he was mentally prepared.

At this moment, he did not struggle and let these people do it.

“Junior Sister.” Lu Yuping looked at his long-lost master and was a little worried.

Of course, he was not worried about the grand preceptor, but he was worried that his junior sister’s emotions were too fluctuating and that she would be hurt.

Her appearance could be preserved, but her spirit was hard to recover. His junior sister still had to continue the ritual. He did not want her to tire herself out because of this.

“After we finish this ritual, you and I will find a place to live incognito,” Lu Yuping said.

Great Consort Hui glanced at him.

No, she never wanted to run away.

“In this world, those who bully me, lie to me, and look down on me should all die. After I kill them, I will leave.” Great Consort Hui was a little crazy.

Lu Yuping wanted to say that it was about time.

Back then, the young master of the Gu family had mocked her, but in the end, the entire family was destroyed. Even if they managed to break the formation in the graveyard, the Gu family would not be able to prosper for another ten to twenty years.

There was also the Empress and the Crown Prince. One of them had a weak body and the other had a crippled hand. That should be enough.
