

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 563: Peace for the Dead, Good Fortune for the Living

Now that all the members of the Pang family had died, it was useless to dwell on who was innocent and who deserved to die.

“Since you’re Young Lady Pang, then... After we get rid of the evil spirits, we will reveal the grave and dig out the bones of the living martyrs for another burial. Do you agree with that?” Xie Qiao asked.

Young Lady Pang was stunned for a moment. “Another burial? C-Can’t we just get rid of the evil spirits?”

Xie Qiao looked at her faintly, her gaze calm and unhurried. She said, “If you want someone else to be buried with your father, just move that wife and thirteen concubines over. The women in this grave are not related to you, so you should have let them go a long time ago.”

A living person being buried with others was usually to show off the power of the owner of the grave.

If the feng shui was good, and one’s identity and fortune could be suppressed, then perhaps they would be able to... bring good fortune to their descendants.

However, this kind of thing was, after all, harmful to one’s karma. If one lacked karma here, one would not know where to return the favor.

“The Pang family buried living people for personal use and flouted the law. They should have dealt a heavy blow. Seeing that the mastermind was dead, you should be punished to atone on behalf of your parents to personally move the graves of the victims,” Zhao Xuanjing said coldly, not knowing how to take pity on the young lady.

Young Lady Pang's face turned pale.

"Who are you...?" The old man was a bit nervous when he heard that.

"I'm an official of the criminal division," Zhao Xuanjing said shamelessly.

The master and servant did not dare to resist.

The criminal division was in charge of serious crimes in the world. It was much more powerful than the ordinary administrative office.

Zhao Xuanjing did not want to target Young Lady Pang. After all, she was young and should not have known anything at that time. However, this person's attitude was not right. Since she knew that living people were buried with her father, she should have said that she would move the people out immediately. However, she was still hesitating.

She was also a vicious person.

Young Lady Pang looked quite aggrieved. "I'm just a little scared..."

All these years, those Taoist masters had said that there was something very scary in this grave. She thought that it was fine to get rid of the evil spirits, but this grave... she could not move it.

However, she had to now.

"This grave must be moved. The dark energy and humidity here are too heavy. The underground coffin must have been destroyed long ago. It's better to move the bones in it into a small mound than this place." Xie Qiao saw that this girl was young, so she did not mind saying a few more words.

Young Lady Pang nodded, feeling wronged.

She did not have much money. If she could move the grave anywhere at all, that would be fine.

Since the descendant of the grave owner had agreed, Xie Qiao began to prepare.

After checking the location, Xie Qiao took out a few stones.

The colors of the stones were not quite the same. They were minerals from different places. There was bluestone from the northeast, red stone from the southeast, white stone, black stone, and yellow stone from the southwest, northwest, and central regions.

These five stones were the five elements of the earth. They could kill the demons and bring peace to the dead and good fortune to the living.

After that was done, Xie Qiao asked the men who were full of Yang energy to stand in the Yin position.

She looked at the grave and held a talisman. She murmured an incantation.

“Five stars in eight positions, blessed by the gods. The longevity stars are on the left, and the white stars are on the right. They are ready, the guardian stars will guard them to avoid any trouble! Hear my command!”

The old white flag beside the grave was suddenly blown into pieces by the wind.

Above the grave, a small tornado appeared, as if it was going to blow Xie Qiao away.

Young Lady Pang's expression was terrible.

Those Taoist masters who had come before could also chant spells.

After chanting, the wind and rocks around them would indeed blow, but it would not be long before these Taoist masters would vomit blood or fall, and they would always suffer terrible consequences!

This female Taoist master would probably be the same as those before, right?!
