

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 592: Who Else Could it Be?

Xie Qiao was as quiet as a chick as she slowly picked up a piece of meat for herself.

“This young lady really doesn’t know how to appreciate human kindness. I helped her Father move his grave and worked on the case together. She has such godforsaken wealth, shouldn’t I get the credit? Just a moment ago, she wanted to acknowledge me as her master. In the blink of an eye, she turned her back on me. Sigh.” The world was so scary.

The young lady was very fickle-minded.

Xie Pinggang did not say anything for fear of disturbing the Crown Prince accepting a concubine.

It was quite a pity when he found out that the young lady was dragged out. “This young lady is quite rich. Why can’t you make her your concubine just to fulfill her wish?”

Zhao Xuanjing and Xie Qiao turned their heads and glared at him at the same time.

“I find her unlucky.” Zhao Xuanjing looked gloomy and unhappy.

“Eldest...” Xie Qiao almost called the wrong name again and immediately changed her words. “Master Xie, the Crown Prince is very honorable. If he took a concubine for money, whose loss would it be? Fortunately, the Crown Prince doesn’t want to argue with you. Otherwise, he would sever your head for your words!”

Xie Qiao was just joking with the last sentence to scare her pig-like eldest brother.

Now that they were outside, the Crown Prince had already restrained his temper and did not argue with Pang Hanwei too much.

If they were in the capital, how could Pang Hanwei only be slapped 20 times?

He just saw that the young lady was arrogant and ignorant and could not be bothered to punish her severely.

“I’m ashamed.” Xie Pinggang admitted his mistake calmly. Then, he asked Xie Qiao, “Master Mo, didn’t you say that this woman’s luck isn’t good? I see that her luck isn’t bad. She was initially an orphan, but in just one night, she became the head of the Bai family, sitting on a pile of wealth... Could it be that her luck has changed?”

Although Pang Hanwei’s mother had died, there was no affection between the mother and daughter.

To Pang Hanwei, was it not just a huge fortune falling from the sky and hitting her head directly?

“Fortune and misfortune go hand in hand. What you see is fortune, but what I see is different,” Xie Qiao said indifferently.

Looking at it from afar... It might not be so.

The Crown Prince’s identity was not a secret. Now, everyone in Xun County knew that the person who solved the fire murder case was the honorable Crown Prince.

This case seemed to be an ordinary murder case, but the people who were killed were three scholars.

So now, the Crown Prince was flattered by many scholars.

In the same inn, when Zhao Xuzhi heard about the Crown Prince, he got angry and felt his neck hurt even more.

He was also here to solve the case.

In the end, he did not have a good start, but the Crown Prince handled this matter easily.

Was the gap between him and the Crown Prince that big?!

“That Young Lady Pang was slapped 20 times in public. Her face was swollen and she cried badly. She was criticized...” The guard stood in front of Zhao Xuzhi’s bed and said carefully.

This guard was also very helpless.

The first young master actually asked him to investigate the Crown Prince’s whereabouts.

How would he dare?

So he just kept a distance and paid attention to the people around the Crown Prince.

“I heard that the Crown Prince is very special to Master Mo. You’ve followed him for so long, have you noticed anything?” Zhao Xuzhi asked again.

The guard was a little confused and shook his head. “No.”

The way the Crown Prince looked at Master Mo was indeed very indulgent, but the two of them did not cross the line.

Moreover, if it was not for Master Mo's talismans, their lives would have been in danger.

The guard was very conflicted.

"That Pang Hanwei holds countless wealth in her hands, but the Crown Prince didn't even glance at it. He must have someone he likes, but there are no other women by his side. If that's the case... If not Master Mo, who else could it be?" Zhao Xuzhi smiled sarcastically.
