

THE PRINCESS CONSORT HAS A LETHAL DESTINY

Chapter 955: The Master Doesn't Want Money

Xie Qiao had always been very steady. She glanced at him from top to bottom.

"Your calamity is very difficult to resolve," Xie Qiao said faintly. "I'm sure you know in your heart. Do you know how many sins you've committed in the past years?"

The old fraud's heart trembled, "Master, I... didn't harm anyone. It's just that those people came to me hoping that I would help them find the reason for their misfortune. If I didn't tell them the truth, they wouldn't have given me the silver..."

"It's all their decision. It's none of my business..."

Xie Qiao's gaze deepened.

That was right. This old man only said some simple words to those people who had nowhere else to go.

For instance, that young girl's family. The pillar of their family was about to die. If someone said that it was the young girl who was bad luck, should the people in this family believe it?

If they believed it, the young girl would not have a good ending. If they did not believe it

With the pillar of the family dead, the family would inevitably have doubts. How good could the young girl's life be?

There were many people in the same situation as the young girl.

He did not personally kill people, but there were people who died because of him.

Now, someone came looking for him.

However, the young girl only wanted money, so she would not do unnecessary things.

“You have a good appearance, but your mouth reveals your wealth. Your beard is still black, and you can still pretend. However, when you become a white-bearded old man in the future, you won’t be able to hold on to your wealth. In your later years, not only will you have no money, even your health won’t be too good.

“Your eyes are often uncomfortable, right?” Xie Qiao asked.

“Yes... It’s just that it’s a little itchy, and I can’t help but want to rub them...” the old man hurriedly replied.

“This is it. When you get old, I’m afraid that your eyes will be completely blind. This is all because you’ve caused the death of someone, and that’s why you’ve provoked something dirty,” Xie Qiao continued to bluff.

“[-Then what should I do?” The old fraud was also stunned.

This master’s predictions were very accurate.

No one knew that he had a son. Those who knew had either died of old age or forgotten about it.

Also, his eyes were indeed uncomfortable, but there was nothing wrong with looking for a doctor to look at them. He thought that it was only because he was old that he had some minor illnesses and calamities.

“It’s simple. I’m just afraid that you won’t be able to bear it.” Xie Qiao smiled.

‘When she said that, the old fraud’s heart skipped a beat.

Here it came.

He used to talk to others like this in the past. After all, it was a calamity relief. Of course, he needed to pay money.

The old fraud felt his heart ache a little. He did not have much money and had earned quite a lot over the years. However, he often lost money and accidents happened. It was not easy for him to save up only 80 taels of silver. In order to avoid any accidents, he put it in the bank.

“H-How much would I need to... avoid calamity...” he braced himself and asked.

He never thought that one day, as a fraud, he would say this to others.

“L don’t lack your few taels of silver. If you want to solve the calamity, you need to return this silver to the rightful owner. You have to return it back the way you earned it. You also have to give some compensation. Only then can you offset some of your sins. Go back and think about it yourself. Do you want your life or money? If you want your life, I don’t need to say much about the rest, right?” Xie Qiao said.

The old fraud was a little shocked and a little absent-minded.

'The master did not want money.

However... She was even more ruthless than asking for money!

His silver was earned by deceiving people like this. Could it be that he could not keep any of it and had to give it all away?!

He had cheated so many people, where could he find them?!

He had a worried look on his face. Xie Qiao then said, "Your current calamity mainly comes from the ghouls around you. Pacifying her will suppress half of her evil energy. This little spirit... Because of your words, she was betrayed by her family and died tragically. The resentment lingered around her for a long time. As time goes by, you will become more and more unlucky."
