

Pregnant With Twins: My CEO's Tricky Love

Chapter 51 Her Tattoo

He never thought that the woman in the box would be Georgia.

It had been a long time since he saw this woman again.

However, she appeared here.

When he saw this woman for the first time, she was still a dancing girl here.

She was a little different from the past. She had become emaciated.

When she smiled, it was like that she wore a fake mask.

Besides, she was dancing in front of everyone now.

He didn't make a mistake. She was just a gold digger.

For money, she could do anything.

Robert said with a sneer.

"Mr. Clark, is this woman your new lover?"

Callum asked amusedly.

"Mr. Simpson, are you interested in her? I can give her to you."

Robert sneered.

"Mr. Clark, since we're friends, I can give you a piece of advice. This woman used a fake paternity test to deceive a man not long ago, saying that man is her child's father!"

"If you like her, remember to take precautions when necessary. If necessary, it is best to watch this woman take the contraceptive pill. Maybe after a few years, she will bring a child over and tell you that you're her children's father!"

What he said was so harsh and mean. The other three women in the box laughed.

Georgia could no longer keep the smile on her face. She felt that her face was slapped by others.

Robert's words and the ridicule of the three women seemed to have turned into a sharp sword, which stabbed into her heart deeply.

Callum's look became very terrible.

He had thought Georgia was an sensible beauty.

Now it seemed that she was so troublesome!

"Get out!"

Callum shouted directly at Georgia.

Georgia looked at Robert. She saw the man's eyes were full of disgust.

Georgia turned around sadly. She left the box under everyone's sarcastic eyes.

She didn't dare to tell Layla that she had failed. She could only hide in the toilet.

Georgia didn't want to cry for this kind of thing. So she kept encouraging herself to be strong.

Everything would be okay.

After more than an hour, Georgia decided to go back to the dressing room and to tell Layla what had happened today.

It was just that Georgia heard the noise inside as soon as she walked to the door.

Layla seemed to be arguing with a man.

"Layla, today is Miranda's eighteenth birthday. Can you go back to have a look at her?"

The man's tone was almost pleading.

Layla said with sarcasm.

"Andrew, that's your daughter. My daughter is already dead!"

Andrew Bradley's face turned pale.

"Layla, I lied to you back then. But I want to make up for you now.

Miranda also needs you. Why don't you give me and our daughter a chance?"

"Give you a chance?"

Layla seemed to hear a big joke. She burst out laughing.

"Andrew, who told me that my daughter was dead when she was born?

You gave our daughter to your wife to raise! You just watched me being sold by Macy to the clubhouse! Now, you ask me to give you a chance?

It's impossible!"

Andrew's face was pale, with his body trembling.

"Layla, it's all my fault. I hurt you. But Miranda is your daughter. Can't you give her a chance?"

"Why should I give her a chance? It's your daughter who said that she would never admit me, a mean woman, to be her mother. She felt ashamed. My daughter was dead long ago!"

Andrew had no choice but to leave.

Then Georgia saw Andrew. He was in his forties and looked elegant.

But his face was full of sadness.

Hearing their conversation, suddenly, Georgia was wondering if she should go in at this time.

But, while she was still hesitating, Layla had already opened the door.

"What are you doing outside? Just come in."

After Georgia went in, she felt very embarrassed.

But Layla laughed.

"You don't have to feel embarrassed. For a man who almost killed me, I didn't care about him a long time ago."

"Layla, I didn't deliberately overhear. But when I came back, you two were already talking."

Georgia still explained. Layla nodded, and then asked.

"Why did you come back so soon? Mr. Clark doesn't like you?"

Georgia shook her head.

"Mr. Clark is talking business with his partner, but the partner just hates me. So Mr. Clark kicked me out."

"Oh, well."

Layla nodded. Then she comforted Georgia.

"Don't take it to heart. There are so many people coming and going in the clubhouse. I will find an opportunity to introduce you to someone who can help you."

Georgia was grateful to Layla.

Layla smiled sadly.

"You just heard some of what I said, right? That's what happened to me."

"When I was twenty, I met Andrew and we fell in love. At that time, I didn't know that Andrew was married. I didn't know that he was the young master of the Bradley family. I didn't know that the family of his wife, Macy, is powerful. I thought innocently that I got my love. I even gave birth to a daughter before I got married with him. However, Andrew lied to me and said that my daughter died when she was born. Macy knew about me. She took my daughter away, and then sold me to the club. I have served many guests. I have made contacts with them. I've fallen. Just five years ago, I collected evidence of the crimes of the Webb family, and then destroyed the huge the Webb family. Macy was so angry and even got sick. One year after, she passed away."

Layla had such a tragic experience.

Before Georgia could figure out what to say to comfort Layla, Layla smiled faintly.

"So, Gigi, as long as we are alive, there is always hope. What supports me to live is to revenge. I worked hard for ten years, then I succeeded."

Georgia smiled at Layla.

"Layla, I know. What happened tonight will not defeat me. If this person can't help me, I can ask other people for help."

Later, Georgia removed her makeup and was about to go home. It was just that Georgia saw Robert's car parked in front of her as soon as she walked out of the club.

Georgia subconsciously wanted to run away. But Robert had got off the car directly, and then stuffed Georgia into the car.

"Robert, are you crazy?"

Georgia felt that Robert's face was so gloomy. He looked furious. She was humiliated by Robert in the box at night. Now she was forced to be trapped in the car by Robert. Georgia itched to tear the man into pieces!

Did the men in the Simpson family really think she was a pushover? Robert ignored Georgia's roar. He just drove the car directly to the villa. The car door was opened. Before Georgia could escape, Robert had already tied her limbs up.

Then Georgia was thrown on the sofa in the empty living room.

"Georgia, I still remember that I gave you five million yesterday! But you went to dance in front of other men today. You slut! Can't I satisfy you?"

Georgia was originally very angry. But looking at Robert's furious look, she suddenly found something funny.

"Robert, yes, you are right. I'm just a slut. I want more men. So what? Do you think I only serve you?"

Her words completely made Robert's face distort.

He was almost crazy. Suddenly, Georgia felt that her clothes were torn apart.

Georgia felt hurt. But within a few seconds, Robert suddenly stumbled back to the ground.

He opened his eyes wide and looked at the tattoo under Georgia's collarbone. His face looked terrible.

"This is impossible!"

Chapter 52 The Opportunity

Robert seemed to see something terrible. He ignored Georgia, but rushed out of the villa directly.

Georgia was instantly confused.

It was just a simple tattoo. Why was his reaction so intense?

The tattoo was a rising sun.

There was a name under the sun, Travis.

It represented Travis Armstrong. He was Georgia's first love.

Georgia and Travis loved each other so much. But later, Travis suddenly went abroad. Then they broke up!

It took Georgia a long time to come out of the sadness.

She didn't want to think about the past. After Robert left, Georgia dressed, and then quickly left here.

It was late at night. There was no taxi at all!

Georgia walked on the road at night for more than two hours. When Georgia arrived at the hospital, her feet were already full of blisters.

She did not dare to let Vanessa find out that she was unemployed.

After Georgia dealt with the blisters on her feet, she came to the ward lightly.

Vanessa fell asleep on the sofa in the ward.

Georgia looked at Annie for a long time before finding a place to sleep.

The next morning, Georgia was woken up by Vanessa.

"Gigi, when did you go back to the hospital yesterday?"

"About twelve o'clock, you and Annie were already asleep at that time, so I didn't wake you up."

After Georgia finished speaking, Vanessa laughed.

"Why do you always work overtime? Do you have overtime pay?"

"Of course."

Georgia forced a smile.

"Vanessa, I'm still in contact with the hospital. Please take care of Annie these few days. I'm going to work now."

"Don't worry. I will take care of Annie."

After the two finished talking, Georgia pretended to go to work.

Today, Georgia decided to go to Mr. Knight's house to have a look

Mr. Knight's phone was always unreachable. Now, even his secretary's phone couldn't be reached. After thinking about it, Georgia decided to go to Mr. Knight's house. It happened that she had been there several times.

After taking a taxi to the villa where Mr. Knight lived, Georgia took the initiative to knock on the door. But no one came to open the door.

Georgia kept ringing the doorbell. About ten minutes later, a servant walked out and took a look. After finding that it was Georgia, she finally opened the door.

"Miss Lane, why are you here?"

The servant let Georgia come in. Georgia sat in the living room. The servant went to pour a cup of tea and put it in front of Georgia.

"Claudia, where has Mr. Knight gone? Why isn't there any news from him at all?"

Although Robert said that Mr. Knight had an accident and it was him who did it, Georgia felt that Mr. Knight was so powerful that he could not be easily dealt with.

"Miss Lane, I don't know where our boss has gone. These days, there are so many people coming here. So I didn't plan to open the door when you knocked on the door just now. I was annoyed by those people."

"Was there Mr. Knight's secretary or a confidant of Mr. Knight to come to inform you?"

Claudia shook her head.

"The boss has a few personal secretaries and assistants. Generally, the company's affairs can be handled by these people. But these people have all disappeared. I can't contact them."

"I heard other people say that the company seems to have a problem now. The boss is not there, so other factions in the company are starting to fight for power. If the boss doesn't come back to preside over the overall situation, something big may happen."

"Then do you know where Mr. Knight had the accident?"

Georgia felt that she still had to confirm it. She wanted to confirm whether Robert was scaring her, or it really had something to do with him.

"I heard the boss saying that he went to Africa to discuss a business. The public security is not good there. Maybe something really happened."

Georgia said a few words with Claudia, and finally left disappointedly. Now it seemed that Robert was the first person to say that Mr. Knight had the accident. Besides, he admitted it was him who did it. Georgia felt very guilty.

Just because she asked Mr. Knight for help, then she got Mr. Knight involved in. Now, she didn't know whether Mr. Knight was alive or not. Even his company might have problems.

Georgia didn't know how to help Mr. Knight, or whether she could repay Mr. Knight in the future. She kept praying that Mr. Knight could come back safely.

After coming out of the villa of Mr. Knight, it was already 12 o'clock at noon. Georgia found a park aimlessly and sat down, thinking about the matter about Annie and Vanessa going abroad in the future. The matter she went to Callum for help yesterday was disrupted by Robert. Then Robert came to humiliate her. When Georgia thought about what Robert did to her last night, she felt so disgust.

While she was thinking like this, her mobile phone rang.

It was an unfamiliar phone number. After hesitating for a while, she still answered the phone.

"Hello, who is it?"

Georgia asked politely.

"Georgia, this is Aston. Professor Lee is back. He has already known the matter about you. He asks you to go back to the institute. He has something to tell you personally."

Islamabad Janitor Became A Millionaire Almost Overnight!

He's Using This Secret Trick To Make Millions

Georgia was very surprised. In fact, she only came to MU Research Institute for a few days. Professor Lee had been attending seminars abroad for the past few days and had not come back.

She was fired the day before yesterday. She thought that she would never be able to return to MU Research Institute in this life. Georgia never thought that the professor would call her back.

She had already had expectations, so she asked cautiously.

"Aston, what will the professor talk with me?"

"I don't know. The professor is introverted. We can't see through his ideas. But I think you may come back and continue to do research. If you want to seize this opportunity, I suggest you come to MU Research Institute right now."

Georgia hesitated for a while. Then she agreed.

"Okay, I'm coming now. Aston, please help me tell Professor Lee."

After hanging up the phone, Georgia's hands trembled.

It was Mr. Knight who introduced the job to her. Now, Mr. Knight had disappeared. Georgia didn't know who to call for help.

She thought that she had no hope anymore, but now Professor Lee asked her to go back.

Maybe she still had a chance to realize her dream in this life. Georgia immediately took a taxi to the MU Research Institute.

When she arrived at the gate of the institute, the guard stopped Georgia directly.

"Miss Lane, you have been fired. What are you doing now?"

The door guard probably knew something, with a contemptuous expression on his face.

Georgia's face turned pale

This situation reminded her of the year when she was in college, when she was accused of plagiarism by the whole school. They all felt that she damaged the reputation of the school.

At that time, no matter where she went, she could see the contempt in those people's eyes.

Only she herself knew that she was innocent. But surrounded by that kind of gaze, Georgia was still a little sad.

"Professor Lee called me back, saying that there is something to tell me. Please open the door. I want to go in to see Professor Lee."

Georgia explained politely. But the guard snorted.

"Miss Lane, you have been fired. Don't you feel ashamed to come back? The whole MU Research Institute knows that you plagiarized others' results. Are you coming back now to make the reputation of MU Research Institute worse? Do you know other institutes are laughing at us now?"

The guard looked at her with disdain.

"Miss Lane, you'd better leave now. Otherwise, I will call the police and ask the police to drive you out. It will be embarrassing."

If it hadn't been the experience of these years that made her strong, Georgia felt that she would definitely be unable to help crying when she heard such words.

She turned and left. Then she picked up the phone to call Aston.

"Aston, the guard doesn't allow me to enter. Please come out and pick me up. I can't get in."

Georgia didn't notice that her voice was trembling, but Aston did. She seemed to be crying.

It was true that he forgot to tell the guard that Georgia would return to the research institute. Recently, the story of Georgia had spread throughout MU Research Institute.

Everyone laughed at their research team. Even the people inside their research team scolded Georgia from time to time.

Aston did not comment. But he subconsciously believed in Georgia.

He had talked several times with Percy. He felt Percy sucked. So he did not believe that the experimental data and papers were made by Percy.

"Georgia, sorry. I forgot to tell the guard. You are waiting outside the door. I'm coming to pick you up right away."

After Georgia gave a hum, she waited at the bus stop next to MU Research Institute. After waiting for more than five minutes, Aston made a call.

"I have come out. Where are you?"

"Aston, I'm at the bus stop. Don't move. I'm coming over right away."

After Georgia finished speaking, she walked directly toward the door again.

"Let's go. I'll take you in. Everyone in MU Research Institute knows about you. The boss reports your matters, saying MU Research Institute must carefully check resumes in the future. If you see their eyes, don't take it to your heart. The world is just like this. When you make your own achievements, no one will look down on you again."

Aston was comforting her. Georgia thought of the disgust on his face when he saw her at the first time.

Now, everyone in MU Research Institute hated her. But this person believed in her.

Maybe life was so strange sometimes.

"Aston, thank you."

After Georgia finished speaking, Aston didn't say anything, but led Georgia to the door.

The guard naturally knew Aston. There were about a thousand people in MU Research Institute.

But Aston was the most handsome and talented.

He was good-looking. So there were many women in MU Research Institute who wanted to be his girlfriend. Even the guard once wanted to introduce his daughter to this man.

It was just that Aston was always on his own and his temper was weird. Many women gave up after trying a few times.

The guard heard that only one female colleague of Aston had been pursuing Aston persistently. He couldn't remember the name. He heard that the woman's family was quite rich.

Originally, the guard felt strange when he saw Aston coming out during work hours. But now Aston actually brought in Georgia who was criticized by the entire company. So the guard asked.

"Mr. Powell, are you bringing Georgia in the company?" _____

Chapter 53 I'm Not Convinced

Aston nodded coldly. He didn't like to explain. Besides, he didn't think he needed to explain.

The door guard couldn't figure out the situation. Looking at the man and woman in front of him inquiringly for a while, he opened the door. After Aston and Georgia walked away, the guard said to himself.

"It was rumored that this woman likes to seduce men. Was Aston deceived by her?" The guard was gossiping like this. Georgia and Aston had already gotten into the elevator.

It took about three minutes for the two people to arrive at their office.

After Georgia and Aston entered, the whole office suddenly became noisy.

A group of people were whispering. Anaya rushed to the two of them. "Aston, why did you bring this woman back? This woman plagiarized and ruined our team's reputation. Now we are laughed at by others. Why do you bring her back?"

After saying this, Anaya looked at Georgia again.

"Georgia, don't you feel ashamed to return our team? Do you know how many people laugh at us because of you? I have never seen such a shameless woman like you!"

Hearing the noise, Ernie walked over.

"Aston, I drove Georgia out last time. Are you dissatisfied with this decision?"

Other people also questioned one after another. Georgia only felt that she was surrounded by contemptuous eyes. She hardly dared to look up at the people around her, even if she did nothing wrong.

"The professor asked me to bring Georgia over. The professor wants to see Georgia now. Do you have any opinions?"

Aston said the sentence coldly. The others looked at them with suspicion, but they didn't dare to say anything. They never dared to question the professor's decision.

Finally, Aston took Georgia into the innermost office.

After Aston knocked on the door, a low middle-aged man's voice rang.

"Come in."

After Georgia entered, she saw a middle-aged man with glasses and elegant appearance sitting on a black leather chair. He seemed to be looking at the file. When he heard footsteps, he raised his head.

"Are you Georgia?"

Georgia nodded, feeling a little nervous.

When she was studying, she had always admired Professor Lee. She even wanted to talk to Professor Lee in person.

But Professor Lee was abroad at the time. Georgia's original plan was to go abroad to continue studying, but later she went to jail.

"Sit down. Let's talk."

After Professor Lee finished speaking, he stood up and let Georgia sit on the sofa in front. Not long afterwards, Professor Lee personally brought three cups of tea. He seemed to be very gentle.

"Sorry, I have been busy abroad these days, so I didn't deal with your affairs. I didn't know you were kicked out by Ernie until I came back."

Georgia nodded.

"Professor Lee, I trouble you."

"You are the person introduced by Laurence. I have also investigated your resume. I know your identity, but Ernie doesn't know. I hope you don't blame him."

Georgia immediately shook her head. It was a normal thing that Ernie was angry and drove her out after he saw her resume.

After all, others said that she plagiarized and had academic misconduct.

"Professor Lee, I understand Ernie. I will not blame Ernie."

Professor Lee nodded with a smile.

"I have met Percy. Except for the experimental data and papers of the past, he has not made new achievements in recent years. I have reason to believe that you were wronged back then, but I can't provide evidence. Miss Lane, you have to prove that you are talented by yourself. I will let you continue to come back to work. You don't have to care about other people's comments. But you have to make achievements, otherwise, I won't be able to help you."

Georgia was very grateful.

"Professor Lee, will this harm your team's reputation?"

Georgia was a little scared. She was abandoned once but she could comfort herself that she used a fake identity at the beginning, so it was acceptable that others drove her out after her real identity was exposed.

But if she continued to do research under this situation, she would always be insulted and mocked by people around her. If Professor Lee couldn't bear the pressure and kicked her out, Georgia felt that she would not be able to bear it.

"I will not be afraid of others' comments. Miss Lane, I believe in you. If you really can't achieve results, it will prove I'm wrong. You won't affect my team. Because it's my achievements to build up the team."

Georgia was relieved now.

"Then when will I return to work?"

When Georgia asked the question, she suddenly thought of her work in the club. She suddenly felt embarrassed.

The salary of MU Research Institute was definitely not high, but Annie's treatment costs still needed a lot. She definitely couldn't give up her job in the club. So she could only find Layla to coordinate her work schedule.

"Today is Friday. You can come to work next Monday. I will make it clear to these people today. Let's go. I walk you out."

After saying this, Professor Lee stood up and led Georgia out, followed by Aston.

The three people walked to the middle of the office. Professor Lee clapped his hands. Immediately, a group of people came around.

"I know you have a lot of opinions, but I have always believed in my judgements. I decided to continue to hire Miss Lane to work in our team. If Miss Lane plagiarizes again or she can't make some achievements in one year, I will naturally dismiss her. If you guys have any ideas, you can tell me. But I will not change this decision."

After Professor Lee finished speaking, everyone was still unconvinced. But no one took the initiative to stand out to question Professor Lee. Everyone knew Professor Lee's status. He was a big shot in the world. Even if they had to hold back the anger to work in the same research institute with Georgia, it would be good for them. Because other institutes would think highly of them when those institutes knew they had worked in Professor Lee's team. No one was willing to give up this fame and fortune. So they could only suppress the anger.

Only Anaya looked at Georgia angrily. Finally, she couldn't help but say something.

"Professor, since you want to let Georgia come back, you have to give us at least one reason. This woman copied her tutor's experimental data and papers. She was expelled from the school and was blacklisted by the international community. I don't want to work with this kind of person!"

Chapter 54 Stick with My Dream

Professor Lee knew that Anaya's family was rich and powerful, but he never cared about it.

With his status in the world, most people respected him. There were very few young and ignorant people who would yell in front of him.

"Anaya, if you are not satisfied with my decision, you can get out of my research team. I don't need to report to you. If you think you are the boss, you can buy MU Research Institute first and then command me."

Hearing those words, Anaya's face was pale. She dared not say a word. She joined the team with all the hard work just to stay by Aston's side. She didn't want to let other women take Aston away.

It was impossible to let her give up!

Anaya glared at Georgia angrily. She could only suppress the anger. Then, she stepped back a few steps and stopped talking.

Seeing that Anaya were scolded by Professor Lee, no one dared to speak anymore. The matter was settled like this.

Then, a group of people returned to their office to continue working. Professor Lee originally let Georgia leave by herself. Georgia thought of what Professor Lee had just said. She looked at Professor Lee anxiously. "Professor, I have an important thing to ask you. Can we talk for a second?"

Professor Lee nodded.

This time, Aston returned to work at his desk. Georgia went to the office to talk with Professor Lee alone.

"What do you want to ask me?"

Professor Lee asked gently.

"Professor, I don't know if I should ask this, but I still want to ask. You said that it was Mr. Knight who introduced me to you just now. I have lost contact with Mr. Knight these days. I also asked Mr. Knight's secretary. At first, he said that something might have happened. But the secretary's phone couldn't be reached these days. I went to Mr. Knight's house, and the servant said that Mr. Knight seemed to have an accident in Africa. She couldn't get contacted with Mr. Knight. I just want to know if you know the current news of Mr. Knight?"

After Georgia said these words, Professor Lee sighed.

"I have known Mr. Knight for more than ten years. When he asked me to come back to do research, he said he would be responsible for the investment. He promised not to interfere with me and everything could be done according to my ideas, so I came back."

"We are friends. But I don't know about his private business. I also heard about his disappearance. However, according to what I know about him, he has experienced so many difficulties. This time, he should also be able to escape successfully. You can wait for the news. If something really happened, I will tell you right away."

Georgia was a little disappointed. It turned out that Professor Lee didn't know about Mr. Knight's news. According to Professor Lee's tone, something serious had really happened.

After talking with Professor Lee, Georgia had no choice but to leave.

Just when Georgia walked to the office outside the lobby, Aston walked over immediately. He gave Georgia a U disk.

"This is some information I recently compiled, which includes biopharmaceutical information from major universities and various well-known research institutes around the world, as well as various in-depth and meaningful research reports. You can go back and take a closer look. I hope it will be helpful to you."

When Aston said so, his expression was still cold.

Georgia laughed.

"I got it. Thank you for your help."

After Georgia left, Anaya quietly went to the corridor, and then called her cousin, Robert.

"What's the matter?"

Robert was sitting quietly on the beach at this moment. He was thinking about things, but the phone rang. It was Anaya who called.

"Robert, do you know Georgia comes back to work? It's Professor Lee who called her back. How many men did this woman sleep with? How could she still return to work? She has plagiarized. She is notorious. Is there any power behind her?"

Robert could hear that his cousin was very disgusted with Georgia. Last time he saw that Anaya seemed to be very concerned about a man in the institute.

Robert was still a little surprised that Georgia actually returned to work in the institute again.

After investigating, Robert knew Professor Lee's reputation and status. Laurence had disappeared. Even Michael couldn't find Laurence's whereabouts. There was no news of Laurence coming back.

Laurence was Georgia's only backer. Professor Lee and Laurence had been friends for many years.

If Georgia returned to MU Research Institute, there would be only one reason, which was the decision was made by Professor Lee himself.

Robert did not like to deal with such a scientist with real strength, not to mention Professor Lee had always been fair and honest and he was a really talented person.

After a long silence, Robert spoke to Anaya.

"Since Georgia has plagiarized, her real face will naturally show up. You don't need to worry about that. You also know Professor Lee. Maybe he will drive this woman out himself at that time."

After saying this, Robert directly hung up the phone.

He didn't really want to think about and talk about Georgia now. His mood had been restless after seeing the tattoo last night.

Some memories suddenly rushed over to his mind, making him suddenly wonder whether the decision he had made this time was right or wrong.

Anaya looked at the phone angrily, feeling extremely upset.

Her cousin didn't seem to plan to continue doing anything. Anaya was unsatisfied with this result!

Today, Aston personally brought in Georgia. When Georgia left, Aston gave Georgia a U disk. They talked and laughed. The atmosphere was so good.

She had been by Aston's side for so many years. But Aston had never smiled at her!

In Anaya's eyes, Aston was a little special to Georgia.

Islamabad Janitor Became A Millionaire Almost Overnight!

He's Using This Secret Trick To Make Millions

No! Anaya would never allow Georgia, a bitch, to steal Aston!

Anaya personally called Robert's mother after she got off the work.

"Why did you call me suddenly?"

Robert's mother picked up the phone and asked gently.

Since Maisie's daughter passed away, her sister's only daughter, Anaya, was her most beloved girl now.

"Auntie, didn't you say that Robert was cheated by a woman? That woman has come to work in my research institute. Originally, my cousin told everyone the history of this woman's plagiarism before, so that she was driven out. But today she is back to work again. I suspect that this woman has gained some support again. Listening to Robert's tone, he seems to treat this woman differently. Auntie, what is going on?"

Maisie's face sank suddenly. She had known for a long time that her son had been soft-hearted to Georgia.

In that case, she had to deal with the woman herself.

Picking up the phone, Maisie directly called her assistant.

At this time, Annie's ward door was pushed open.

Vanessa turned her head in surprise. Alfred walked in.

"What... what are you doing here?"

Annie was there. Vanessa stood up and asked defensively.

"Vanessa, I heard that you plan to go abroad. What are you afraid of?"

Alfred walked to Vanessa and grabbed Vanessa's wrist. Then he asked coldly.

"What are you talking about?"

Vanessa trembled and denied. She knew Alfred wanted to retaliate against her. If she chose to escape, this man would only get worse.

She could not admit that she was about to escape.

"Humph."

Alfred sneered, then pulled Vanessa out.

"Alfred, let me go!"

Vanessa didn't know where Alfred was going to take her. So she struggled desperately.

"Vanessa, you don't have any money. You take a seriously ill child abroad. Do you think you can live abroad with just a little money? Do you know that something happened to the Laurence who helped Georgia? Now you can guess how Georgia earned the medical expenses."

Vanessa was dumbfounded.

"Alfred, are you serious?"

Alfred laughed sarcastically.

"Vanessa, Georgia is now working at the clubhouse. Otherwise, where tens of thousands of medical expenses every day of your adopted daughter comes from? By the way, she was kicked out by MU Research Institute. Now her only way to earn money is to sleep with men at night!"

Vanessa couldn't help but slap Alfred directly.

"Don't slander Gigi!"

Alfred looked at Vanessa with eyes full of viciousness, and then he sneered.

"If you think I'm lying, you can go to the clubhouse with me to see how your good friend makes money!"

Vanessa gradually shaken.

In the past few days, Gigi only came back late every night. In fact, Vanessa was also suspicious.

If Gigi was forced to this point, how could she continue to pretend not to know anything?

"Okay. I'll go with you to see!"

After leaving the hospital, the two got in the car to the clubhouse.

Georgia had arrived at the clubhouse at this time and saw Layla.

"It's still early. Why did you come here at this time?"

Layla smiled and asked when she saw Georgia.

"Layla, I don't know if I seem to be capricious. I don't know if it will disappoint you. I have a job during the day, but I don't want to give up my work at night. Can you help me coordinate my work schedule? I'm fine on weekends. I will try to spare one to two days to work from Monday to Friday."

After Layla listened, she seriously looked at the woman in front of her.

"What do you do during the day? If you really need money, I don't recommend you to do some time-consuming and inefficient work."

Georgia looked down. She bit her lip for a long time before speaking.

"Layla, it may seem ridiculous. I studied biopharmaceuticals when I was in college. Now I found a job to do medical research in the laboratory. This was also my dream when I was young. I don't want to give it up.

Chapter 55 Ruthless

After Georgia finished speaking, Layla began to ponder. She suddenly remembered the past and seemed to be completely immersed in her own memories.

For a long time, Layla raised her head and spoke gently to Georgia. "When I was in college, I was deceived by Andrew. Then I gave birth to a child. I was stupid. At that time, I was a literature lover and studied literature. At that time, my dream was to find a stable job to support my family. Gigi, from you, I always see the way I was when I was young."

"I will help you coordinate the time. By the way, Mr. Graham likes you very much. He also asked me when you would come here. Are you free tonight?"

Georgia hesitated, then nodded.

"Layla, I won't go to work until next Monday. I'm free these days." Although Georgia knew that Mr. Graham's family was in the real estate business, she still wanted to try to ask if Mr. Graham could help her to contact with a hospital, so that she might be able to send Annie and Vanessa out of the country.

When Georgia was thinking about this, she applied herself a heavy make-up. Then she wore a purple dress, which looked especially noble and mysterious.

Mr. Graham liked the style. After confirming Mr. Graham's private room, Georgia walked towards the room.

There was no one else in the room. Seeing Georgia coming in, Mr. Graham smiled happily.

"Gigi, I miss you so much these past few days."

Georgia just stared at the man in front of him.

"Mr. Graham, you just know to say some sweet words to coax me. You didn't even make a phone call. I don't believe you."

After hearing that, Mr. Graham laughed.

"You have to give me your phone number. Otherwise, I can't contact you even if I miss you so much."

Layla had told Georgia that Mr. Graham wouldn't be interested in a woman for a long time.

She couldn't give him the phone number right away. Otherwise, she would be humble in the eyes of this man. He would lose interest in her.

"I heard that Mr. Graham used to have many female companions.

Maybe once I give you my phone number, Mr. Graham doesn't like to chat with me."

"Gigi, you're always so humorous. Come on, let's have some wine. I don't know if you can drink."

Georgia could drink but she couldn't drink too much. But she would always stay awake even when she was drunk.

Therefore, Georgia was not afraid of drinking. She took the initiative to stand up and poured Brian a glass of wine, and then poured herself a glass.

Then, she handed the wine to Mr. Graham.

"Mr. Graham, cheers."

After drinking a few glasses of wine and chatting for a while, Georgia asked.

"Mr. Graham, I have a relative who is a little seriously ill. Only she transfers to America for treatment will she be alive. But domestic hospitals do not agree to help send her to the hospital in America. Mr. Graham, do you know someone who can help with this aspect?"

"Gigi, if you want to ask me for help, you have to do something. I like you for so long. But I haven't even got a kiss yet."

Mr. Graham always liked cold beauties. But he also needed those cold beauties to give him sweetness from time to time.

After hearing what Mr. Graham said, Georgia knew that she just needed to kiss him.

But Georgia didn't know why she couldn't kiss him right away. She had already made a decision that she didn't care about it.

After a long silence, Georgia was about to lean in and kiss him.

"Boom!"

The door of the private room was suddenly knocked open. Vanessa was standing outside with tears streaming down her face.

Alfred stood beside Vanessa. His face was full of cold irony.

"Gigi, why don't you tell me that you work here? Why don't you tell me that you have been fired?"

Vanessa looked very sad.

"Mr. Graham, sorry. I have some personal matters to deal with."

Georgia didn't know what happened to Vanessa and Alfred. She was afraid that Vanessa and Alfred would make a fuss in the clubhouse, which would make Layla embarrassed.

After apologizing to Mr. Graham, she quickly rushed to the door. Then she held Vanessa's wrist and walked out.

Georgia took Vanessa to the dressing room. Alfred had been following behind.

"Vanessa, why are you here?"

Georgia asked as soon as she entered the dressing room.

Vanessa looked particularly sad.

"Gigi, you should tell me about your job loss. If it weren't for Alfred to tell me that you are now forced to work in the clubhouse and even willing to do everything, would you hide it from me for a lifetime? We can work together to solve the problem. Why did you sacrifice yourself?"

Georgia subconsciously looked at Alfred behind Vanessa. This man was bullying Vanessa before. Now he told Vanessa the matter. What was his purpose? Why did he bring Vanessa here?

"Alfred, what's your purpose?"

"Gigi, this matter is not important. You immediately quit your job. We will go home now! You can't do this job again. I would rather we two work hard together to make money. I don't want you to sacrifice yourself!"

After Vanessa said this, she took Georgia's hand and walked outside.

Alfred walked to the side and laughed ironically.

"Georgia, it just happened that I saw you working here one day. So what? You have done this kind of thing. But are you afraid that Vanessa knows it? Because of you, Vanessa become so vanity and worships money!"

"You!"

Georgia glared at Alfred angrily. She thought that the relationship between Alfred and Vanessa had eased. But now it seemed that Alfred just wanted to stir the trouble.

"This is my business with Vanessa. It's none of your business. Get out!"

Alfred sneered. Then he immediately turned around and left.

Georgia looked at Vanessa apologetically.

"Vanessa, sorry, I was really angry at Alfred's words just now. I don't know what happened to the two of you today. What is going on?"

Vanessa briefly explained that Alfred suddenly went to the hospital to find her this afternoon.

"I was really afraid of what happened to you, so I couldn't help but come here with Alfred. Then I saw you in the private room."

"Alfred told me at the time that Annie's treatment costs need a lot of money. But Mr. Knight had an accident. You can only make money on your own. Gigi, why didn't you tell me this matter earlier? You must be having a hard time these days."

"But even so, you can't lose yourself like this. Gigi, you can't indulge yourself like this!"

Georgia knew Vanessa's worries. She knew that Vanessa was thinking about her. But everyone had to recognize the reality clearly.

Without money, she couldn't even protect the people she wanted to protect. At the very least, she wanted Annie to live. She wanted Annie to stay in the hospital.

Georgia looked at Vanessa, and then quietly cried.

"Vanessa, I have no choice. Annie's treatment costs are more than 10,000 dollars a day. My salary is not enough at all! Although I was resigned from my job in the institute, in fact I have resumed today. I will be able to come back to work next Monday!"

"I know it's wrong for me to do this. It's betraying my soul. But nothing is important than Annie's life. Anyway, my life has long been ruined..."

"Gigi, then don't go abroad. I have asked the doctor. The cost of going abroad is several million. We don't have enough money, but we can work hard to make money for the treatment."

Vanessa said these words without confidence.

If she hadn't lost her job, it wouldn't be so difficult for them.

"Vanessa, it's still not enough. When we have to ask a professional doctor to perform the operation, millions will be not enough. Don't persuade me. I have made up my mind."

Vanessa's tears fell at once.

How could she have the face to continue persuading her? What rights did she have to persuade Gigi not to make money for Annie's surgery? Even she herself wanted to sacrifice herself, as long as Annie could continue to be alive!

Then Vanessa thought of Alfred's request.

Maybe, she should promise Alfred, even if his intention was revenge.

But if she did not agree to Alfred's proposal, she would really be sued in court, and then be convicted of paying the company millions or even tens of millions. At that time, wouldn't she make Gigi more worried?

Vanessa had already made a decision. She did not persuade Gigi again.

Between self-esteem and living, self-esteem was not so important. When the two people thought so, Georgia's cell phone rang. "Miss Lane, hello, we have received the notice that we can't allow your daughter, Annie, to stay in our hospital anymore. Please go through the discharge procedures immediately."

After saying these words, the phone was hung up directly. Georgia looked at the phone in amazement. She didn't understand what was going on.

She told Vanessa about the content of the call she had just received. Vanessa didn't understand what happened either. The two rushed to the hospital immediately.

It was already more than nine o'clock in the evening. The dean was off work. The person handling hospital affairs didn't know anything. But these people were very tough. They would not allow Annie to stay in the hospital and must be forced out.

Georgia was helpless. She tentatively called other hospitals in D City. Every hospital refused. Georgia plead those hospitals and even was willing to pay more for medical expenses, but none of the hospitals agreed to allow Annie to be hospitalized.

At that moment, Georgia realized that this must be someone deliberately making trouble for her behind the scenes. Was it Robert? While thinking like this, Georgia noticed an unfamiliar phone call. She answered the call. It was Robert's mother.

"Miss Lane, this is my first warning to you. This place is not where you and your daughter should stay. I warn you, take your daughter to leave here as soon as possible. Otherwise, I don't mind going on to the second step. You can try to see how far I can push you!" __

Chapter 56 Be Driven into a Corner

After Maisie finished speaking, she hung up the phone directly. Listening to the beeping sound, Georgia's face instantly turned pale. "Gigi, what happened?"

Vanessa didn't know who Georgia was talking to. She asked worriedly. Georgia grabbed Vanessa's hand in fear, her tone trembling.

"Vanessa, what should I do now? It was Robert's mother. She informed the hospital to kick Annie out! She asked me to take Annie to leave. She didn't want to see Annie in this city. Robert's mother also warned me that if I didn't take Annie to leave, she would do the next step. What should I do now?"

Vanessa's face was also full of sadness. Annie's physical condition was very bad now. If Annie was sober, it would not be so difficult for her to discharge from the hospital.

But Annie was now in a coma. If she really had to change the hospital, she still needed the cooperation of doctors and nurses. Annie had to get infusion all the time now. They couldn't take her out of the hospital like this.

"I... I'll go to ask Alfred for help right away!"

Vanessa seemed to have thought of something. She grabbed Georgia's hand, looking so firm.

"Vanessa, Alfred hates you. If you go to him, he will only humiliate you. He won't help you."

Georgia disagreed with Vanessa. She thought Alfred wouldn't offer help.

"Gigi, you don't have to worry about it now. I have my way. You go to find people you know or you are familiar with to see if anyone of them can help us. Now we act separately. If either of us has the way out, immediately call the other."

Vanessa said. After hesitating for a moment, Georgia nodded.

In this situation, they could only act separately to ask others for help.

Mr. Knight was gone now. Georgia called Layla.

"The Simpson family is very powerful. Gigi, I'm sorry. I can't help you."

Layla felt sorry. After hearing it, Georgia felt sad, but she still thanked Layla.

"Layla, you don't have to be sorry for me. I can ask others for help."

Georgia suddenly thought of Mr. Graham.

"Layla, do you think I can ask Mr. Graham for help?"

"Robert isn't the king in the city. I only know that Mr. Graham's family does real estate. He is rich and powerful. You can have a try. Up to the present situation, you can only try your luck. But you have to know that Mr. Graham likes to play hard to get. Now, if you abandon everything to ask him for help, he won't take a high look at you."

Georgia laughed bitterly. At this time, how could she still have the mood to play games with Mr. Graham?

After getting Mr. Graham's phone number from Layla, Georgia took the initiative to call Mr. Graham.

"Mr. Graham, I'm sorry about what happened tonight. My friend came suddenly. There was really important thing at the time. So I had to leave."

After the call was connected, Georgia immediately apologized to Mr.

Graham.

Mr. Graham was still in the private room at this time. Of course he was a little unhappy. But for beauties, he was so tolerant.

"Gigi, everyone has the right to be willful. But next time, don't be like this."

Listening to Mr. Graham's tone, he didn't not seem to be too angry.

Georgia relaxed a little.

Thinking of her situation now, Georgia still asked after hesitating for a while.

"Mr. Graham, didn't I tell you at night that I had a relative who was seriously ill and was hospitalized? Now the hospital does not allow my relative to stay in. I called other hospitals but they didn't agree to let my relative be hospitalized. I don't know if Mr. Graham can do a little favor to me. Please find a hospital to let my relative transfer."

"You said that all hospitals don't allow your relative to transfer? Gigi, have you offended someone?"

Georgia answered.

"Yes, I indeed offended someone."

Brian instantly lost interest in Georgia. He asked faintly.

"Ordinary people don't have such a strength. Who have you offended?"

"The Simpson family."

After thinking about for a while, Georgia answered Mr. Graham's question.

In fact, after she said this, she had already expected that Mr. Graham would probably not be able to help.

"Gigi, I can't afford to offend someone like the Simpson family. Sorry, I can't help you."

After finishing these words, Mr. Graham hung up the phone directly.

Georgia looked at the phone in despair. Suddenly, she felt very desolate.

Robert's mother forced her to such a point. Even if she was willing to sell herself, no one could help her.

Georgia tried to call everyone she knew. But she had been in prison for six years, so she had few friends now.

When they saw it was Georgia's call, they didn't answer it at all. Even if one or two people answered her call, they were unable to help her.

In the end, Georgia called Aston and Professor Lee, trying to ask them to help.

Aston and Professor Lee were willing to help. But they could only have a try, asking Georgia to wait for their news.

Walking aimlessly in the hospital, Georgia suddenly squatted on the ground and wept silently. In the private room of the clubhouse, after Mr. Graham hung up the phone, a young man asked.

"Mr. Graham, was it a woman who you just chatted with on the phone? Was she asking you for help?"

It Must Have Been A Kind Of Hell For A Little Chrissy Metz

"Mr. Holland, it's just a woman. Don't care about her. Let's continue to talk about cooperation."

Jasper smiled.

"You know my relationship with Robert. Just now, I heard that this woman offended the Simpson family and her name is Gigi. I should have seen this woman. Is it the woman called Gigi in the club??"

"Yes, it's her."

Mr. Graham nodded.

Mr. Graham liked to appreciate cold beauties who were reserved and noble, as if they were over the clouds. Then he could slowly catch them up to get a smile from them.

However, Mr. Graham didn't like beauty looking up at him and begging him to do things. It was okay if she asked him once or twice. If she asked him for help too many times, it would make him lose interest in this woman.

Besides, this woman offended the Simpson family. He would not lose his sanity for a woman, so he directly rejected Georgia's request.

He would rather continue to talk business with Jasper.

Jasper knew the story of Georgia and Robert.

He treated Wendy as his younger sister. So he could understand Robert's anger.

To comfort Robert, Jasper and Jason even accompanied with Robert to drink all night. They thought that this woman had disappeared from their lives, but now she appeared in their sight again.

"What was this woman begging you to do?"

Jasper asked curiously.

"She said that she has a relative who needs to be transferred to other hospitals, but the Simpson family has warned all hospitals in D City. Her relative is not allowed to stay in the hospital in D City. She wants me to help her relative to transfer to other hospitals."

A relative? It should be Georgia's daughter.

Jasper knew that Georgia's daughter was still in the hospital and was still in a coma.

After discussing the business project with Mr. Graham, Jasper got in the car to go home.

He rubbed his forehead. Suddenly, he picked up his cell phone to call Robert.

"What's up?"

Robert asked. Jasper smiled.

"At night, when I was talking to a person named Brian Graham, I learned that Georgia's daughter was driven out of the hospital. It is said that all hospitals in D City do not allow her daughter to be hospitalized. Robert, I thought you had taught this woman a lesson. But you have just started."

"It's not me."

Robert answered directly.

"No, Georgia personally called Brian for help. She said it was the Simpson family. If it's not you, could it be..."

Jasper seemed to think of something all at once.

"It should be your mother."

Jasper reacted.

For Wendy's death, Robert's mother was the saddest one. She would definitely retaliate against Georgia.

"If it is really the Simpson family who did it, it will be my mother. Is there anything else?"

Jasper laughed and shook his head.

"No, I just called to ask you."

After the two people hung up the phone, Robert called his assistant.

A few minutes later, the assistant called back.

"Mr. Simpson, it's your mother who did this. All hospitals in D City have been notified that Georgia's daughter is not allowed to be hospitalized. It seems that your mother intends to drive Georgia and her daughter out of D City."

After pondering for a while, Robert asked his assistant.

"Do you have Brian Graham's phone number? If so, send it to me immediately. If not, please check it out."

About ten minutes later, his assistant sent Brian's phone number to him. Robert personally called Brian.

"Mr. Graham, this is Robert Simpson."

As soon as the phone was connected, Robert directly stated his identity.

Brian was very frightened. Thinking of Georgia's matter, Brian quickly said.

"Mr. Simpson, I didn't help the woman named Gigi in the clubhouse. Don't worry. I won't help her in the future!"

"Mr. Graham, I am not here to verify this matter. Can you do me a favor?"

Brian was relieved a little. Then he asked respectfully.

"Mr. Simpson, what can I do for you?"

"Didn't Georgia beg you to transfer her relative to other hospitals? The hospital in D City didn't accept her relative. I ask you to do Georgia a favor. You're going to tell Georgia that you can transfer her relative to a hospital in S City. I will send someone to handle it. But you can't tell Georgia that it's me who helps her. Do you understand? Don't disclose this to anyone." __

Chapter 57 Ask for Help

"Mr. Simpson, I got it. I will do it right away."

Brian didn't understand why Robert asked him to do this, nor did he understand why Georgia's relative was driven out of the hospital in D City.

But since it was Robert's order, he naturally didn't dare to refuse.

Now Brian even thought that Gigi was Robert's woman.

Brian's face suddenly turned pale when he thought of that he was actually interested in this woman recently.

Sure enough, he should be away the beauties. How dare he touch Robert's woman!

After cautiously discussing with Robert about how to deal with the stuff, Brian immediately picked up the phone and called Georgia.

"Mr. Graham?"

Seeing it was Mr. Graham's call, Georgia asked in surprised.

"Gigi, I have found a team that can transfer your relative to the other hospital. If you have no objection, I can ask them to come to the hospital to help your relative transfer... The Simpson family is too powerful. I can't contact any hospitals in D City. But I can you help your relative transfer to S City. What do you think of?"

Mr. Graham actually called again and said that he could help, which made Georgia feel very weird.

However, Georgia would definitely think about the suggest. It was about her daughter.

She didn't know how powerful the Simpson family was. Since she could no longer live in D City, she could only transfer her daughter to the hospital in the other city now.

But Georgia was still reluctant to let her daughter go to the hospital in the other city.

After hesitating for a while, Georgia finally reluctantly agreed.

"Mr. Graham, thank you. Since the hospital in D City don't let her be hospitalized, we can only go to S City. Thank you so much. Is there anything I need to do?"

Georgia naturally knew that there was no free lunch in this world.

People like Mr. Graham would not help her in vain.

She already acquiesced that she would sacrifice.

Brian anxiously denied it.

"Gigi, it's nothing. You don't need to worry about it. I will tell my men to come over immediately."

After saying these words, Brian immediately hung up the phone. His face was still pale.

He didn't dare to have some relationship with Robert's woman. If Robert still cared about this woman, wouldn't he be an enemy in Robert's eye by then?

There were so many beautiful women. Brian didn't have to just think about Georgia.

Georgia was now like a hot potato to him, which was hot but he didn't dare to completely get rid of it.

Georgia felt a little strange. This was not in line with Brian's personality. But since he was willing to help, Georgia didn't have to think about his starting point.

She rushed to the hospital immediately. After a while, a group of people walked to Annie's ward.

"Miss Lane, we are responsible for transferring your relative to the hospital in S City. If you have no objection right now, I can help you with the discharge procedures immediately, and then let the doctor send medical staff to transfer your daughter to S City."

Georgia nodded immediately.

"Thank you so much."

The man smiled. He seemed to have taken a few people to find someone. Georgia didn't know who these people were looking for. About half an hour later, the hospital staffs politely sent Annie and Georgia to the car heading to S City.

This was the exclusive ambulance of the hospital. The doctors and nurses of this hospital accompanied Annie to the hospital in S City. Everything was well prepared.

Georgia went to S City with them. She picked up her mobile phone and tried to call Vanessa again, but there was still no one to answer.

After Brian agreed to help, Georgia wanted to tell Vanessa the news.

She didn't want Vanessa to ask Alfred for help. But Vanessa's phone was always unavailable. So Georgia could only take Annie to S City first.

However, Vanessa took the initiative to call Alfred after she and Georgia acted separately.

"I want to ask you to do me a favor."

As soon as the call was connected, Vanessa immediately told Alfred her purpose.

"Vanessa, do you think that you're so important to me like the past? Do you think I will do anything for you without return? Why do you think that I will help you?"

Alfred sneered directly.

Vanessa's nails were deeply stuck in her palm. She took a deep breath and continued to say what she had prepared.

"You probably heard a little about Gigi. Annie is now being compulsorily notified that she can't be hospitalized anymore. The people in the hospital do not allow Annie to stay anymore. Gigi and I have already called all hospitals in D City. None of them is willing to accept Annie. I want to ask you to help us transfer Annie to a formal and safe hospital."

"If you want my help, naturally, you have to give something. Vanessa, if you want me to help you, just come to my apartment. I will send you the address. I only give you half an hour."

"I will be there on time. Don't worry."

Even if Vanessa knew that Alfred was definitely about to humiliate her, she still had to see him. Maybe this was the only hope.

Vanessa immediately took a taxi to Alfred's apartment. She got on the elevator to the floor where Alfred lived. Then she walked to knock on the door. Only a minute, the door was opened.

Vanessa saw that Alfred had already taken a bath. He was in only a bath towel. His hair was wet and there was some drop of water dripping.

Vanessa felt a little embarrassed, and even felt at a loss, not knowing what to say.

Alfred spoke first.

"Come in. What are you doing at the door?"

Vanessa walked in lightly. Just when she was about to ask Alfred how to help, or what she needed to do, Alfred directly threw a bath towel to Vanessa.

"Go to take a shower. I just finished it."

"What do you mean?"

Vanessa looked at the man in front of her in astonishment. In her memory, Alfred had always been the young man who would always spoil her.

Even though everything changed, she did not believe that Alfred would treat her like this.

"Vanessa, you have come to my apartment to beg me for help. Don't you know what I'm going to do? Don't play dumb with me. Go to take a shower right away. I'm just interested in your body."

Vanessa's tears flowed down instantly. The look in Alfred's eyes was full of resentment and disgust. Why would she think that this man would help her in vain?

Everything was just her ridiculous thoughts.

She slowly picked up the bath towel, then walked towards the bathroom.

Hot water rinsed on her face. Vanessa closed her eyes tightly. Tears mixed the hot water to flow down.

After a long time, Vanessa walked out of the bathroom in a bath towel.

"What should I do to let you be willing to help me?"

Vanessa stood in front of Alfred and asked. Alfred picked up Vanessa and threw her to the bed.

Chapter 58 Huge Compensation

"Only if you make me satisfy, I will consider whether to help you."

Looking at the coldness in his eyes, Vanessa raised her hands to hug him.

It was just having sex! If this could give him the pleasure of revenge, Vanessa thought she could do it.

What she did back then did hurt this man, even if she had her own reason.

But it indeed happened. No one could go back to the past.

The next morning, Alfred directly threw a business card to Vanessa

"This is the phone number of Doctor Wood. You call him and say that it's me who let you call him, and then tell him your request. He will help you. However, Doctor Wood's hospital is not in D City. Since the Simpson family does not allow Georgia and Annie to stay in D City, I suggest you transfer Annie to another city."

"Where is Doctor Wood's hospital?"

Vanessa took the business card, and then asked.

"In G City, it is a bit far from here, but this is the best choice now."

Vanessa naturally knew that she couldn't ask more. She picked up her clothes to put on and then was about to leave. Alfred directly grabbed Vanessa's wrist.

"Move here."

Vanessa's expression suddenly became cold.

"Alfred, don't go too far. I'm sorry for what happened back then, but it has been so many years. Can't you just let it go?"

"Vanessa, you owe me. Now, I am still a little interested in your body. You'd better be obedient, or I will let the legal department expedite the prosecution of you. At that time, you have to pay a few thousands of millions. How many men should your good friend sleep with in order to help you pay the huge compensation?"

Raising her hand, Vanessa couldn't help but want to slap him. This time, Alfred directly grabbed Vanessa's arm.

"Last time, you slapped me. Vanessa, do you think you can slap me again? Six years ago, you could humiliate me and abandon me. But now, do you think you still have the chance to humiliate me and abandon me? I tell you, now I just want to play you. I can humiliate you as I want. Do you understand? Otherwise, even if you transfer Annie to the hospital, as long as I call that doctor, you will face the same situation as last night. There will be no hospitals which are willing to accept your daughter! After saying this, Alfred walked away directly. Vanessa stood there with a pale face. For a long time, she was unable to speak. She felt a bitter and sad, as if she would cry as long as she opened her mouth.

After a long time, Vanessa went to find her mobile phone and prepared to go out.

She saw that Georgia had made dozens of missed calls to her. Did something happen? Vanessa immediately called Georgia.

"Gigi, what happened to Annie? Why did you give me so many calls?" Vanessa asked anxiously.

Georgia couldn't get through Vanessa's phone all night. She had always been afraid that Vanessa would have an accident. Now, Vanessa called back. Georgia's worries were instantly relieved.

"Vanessa, I have found the hospital to accept Annie. It's in S City. Someone came to help transfer Annie to the hospital last night. I called you but no one answered me. I can only follow those people to S City. Now Annie has settled down in Central Hospital in S City. Where are you now?"

"Are you saying that you have transferred Annie to S City?"

Vanessa was joyful and excited.

S City was only an hour's drive from D City. As for G City, it would take several hours from D City to G City.

Obviously, S City was closer to D City.

"Yes, Annie is in S City now, and I am here too. Would you like to come and take a look? It only takes more than an hour to come here if you take the train."

Vanessa naturally wanted to come. She immediately bought a ticket to S City.

After taking the ticket, Vanessa got on the train. It took about two hours. Vanessa rushed to the hospital at noon.

Looking at Annie who was lying on the hospital with a ruddy face, Vanessa completely calmed down.

"Gigi, who helped you in the end?" |

"A guest at the club. He promised to send someone to help me move here. I thought he would ask me to pay back, but he didn't call yet. Maybe he is really kind. If I really have to give something, I can only accept my fate."

Vanessa's expression suddenly became sad. Those men who would go to the clubhouse wouldn't help others in vain. How could Vanessa not understand the meaning of Georgia's words?

She experienced it in person last night. It was the man she once loved. He humiliated her on the bed. She and Alfred finally became like this.

"Gigi, it's okay. You will always be my best friend no matter what you do."

Vanessa grew up in an orphanage. Georgia had no mother. Even if Georgia had a father, her father was bad to her.

Therefore, Georgia and Vanessa were almost each other's backer.

"By the way, why didn't I get through your phone last night? Vanessa, you said you went to ask Alfred for help. Did Alfred embarrass you?"

Vanessa didn't want Georgia to worry about her. So she shook her head and made up an excuse.

"I called Alfred. Alfred sent me an address to let me go there. He said that as long as I arrived here, he would help us. Then, I got there. It was outside a villa which is on a mountainside. The connection is bad, so I didn't receive your phone calls."

"Alfred was not there. I think he just wants to play me. Later, I figured it out. But there were no taxis at all at that time. I can only leave in the morning. I called you as soon as I left there."

Alfred wanted to take revenge on Vanessa. He asked Vanessa to go to the mountainside to fool around her. Georgia thought it was also possible.

Georgia did not have any doubts. She believed what Vanessa said.

"Vanessa, don't ask Alfred for help anymore. He will only humiliate you and hurt you."

Vanessa nodded. But she was upset.

Now, she didn't need Alfred's help, but she was worried about the plagiarism lawsuit.

She understood what kind of person Alfred was. When he loved you, he would give you everything. But if he hated you, he would torture you.

Now Alfred hated her, he wouldn't show any mercy to her. He would definitely do what he said. He really filed a lawsuit to make her pay compensation.

If so, where would she go?

Vanessa didn't want to express her worries. She tried to keep smiling, so that Georgia didn't notice her weirdness.

Georgia couldn't give up her work in the club, nor could she give up her work at MU Research Institute.

In the end, Georgia decided to spare as much time as possible every month to visit Annie. She still had to make money in D City at other times.

As for Vanessa, Georgia asked Vanessa's opinion.

"Vanessa, anyway, you can't find a job in D City. You can have a try in S City. Besides, Annie is here. Maybe you can find a design job here."

Vanessa was a little shaken. Because of Alfred, she could not find a normal design job in D City.

The salary would be too low if she got a common job. Annie's medical expenses were so high. Besides, Vanessa really wanted to find a job that she was good at.

She studied fashion design. She didn't want to give up what she was good at.

"Gigi, I'll have a try. If I can find a job here, it will be naturally good. You just need to be busy with your work now. I will stay in S City for a while and see if I have a chance. I will give you a call if anything happens."

The two people temporarily made future arrangements. Georgia stayed in the hospital until Sunday night. Then, she returned to D City by train. Vanessa continued to stay in S City, trying to find a job. By the way, she could take care of Annie.

Georgia didn't know Vanessa received the court's summons the day after she left.

The court asked Vanessa to attend the company's plagiarism compensation trial.

Annie had been hospitalized in the hospital in S City with the help of Gigi.

So Vanessa ignored Alfred's threat that day, nor did she call Doctor Wood to send Annie to G City.

She hadn't contacted Alfred at all in the past few days. But she didn't expect that Alfred's revenge would come so soon. Even a court summons was sent to her.

Vanessa left the hospital. She took the initiative to find a lawyer to inquire about her situation to see if there was any way to win this lawsuit.

It was a pity. Based on the current situation, the lawyer told Vanessa that in addition to losing the case, it was very likely that she would have to pay a huge compensation.

In addition, Vanessa had no idea how much evidence Alfred had.

Although the evidence was fake in Vanessa's eyes, if the judge saw the evidence, Vanessa knew that her life would be ruined.

In the future, no matter if she went to S City or abroad, she would not be able to continue dress design. Because the entire circle would despise such people who plagiarized.

Alfred was really too cruel. After Vanessa left the law firm, she walked aimlessly on the sidewalk.

Now it was Gigi who was responsible for Annie's treatment costs.

Although Gigi did not tell her who helped them, Vanessa also guessed that it could only be the guest Gigi knew in the clubhouse.

Vanessa knew that Gigi would never tell her the difficulties she had encountered. Gigi would only suffer all the bitterness and difficulties silently.

If Vanessa really accused in court in the end, and had to pay a huge compensation, Gigi would definitely help her quietly.

She couldn't let this happen.

After thinking about it, Vanessa still picked up the phone and called Alfred.

"I have received a summons from the court. Alfred, you know that I did not plagiarize. I don't know how you found a way to slander me. You are even going to sue me and let me pay the huge compensation. I just want to ask you what I can do to calm your anger!"

Vanessa's tone sounded very helpless. The reason Alfred hated her was actually that incident.

But even if she made it clear, could Alfred not retaliate against her?

Vanessa was not sure.

She didn't have the slightest evidence. Even if she said it out, Alfred would not believe her.

"Vanessa, I said that I'm still a little interested in your body. You obediently live in the apartment I took you to and wait for me. You can naturally regain your freedom when I get tired of you someday!"

"Alfred, you are going to get married with Rachel. Why don't you just let me go? Didn't you say that Rachel has been by your side for the past few years? You let me live in your apartment now? What about Rachel?"

"That is not your business!"

Alfred yelled coldly.

"I can do whatever I want. What's your choice? What consequences will you get in the end? Vanessa, it is entirely up to you. You can choose to pay huge compensation!"

After saying this, Alfred directly hung up the phone. ____

Chapter 59 What Do You See in Her?

Looking at the phone, Vanessa stood there blankly, without saying a word for a long time.

She and Alfred had reached this point. It couldn't say that she was not wrong.

But the good memories at the beginning became the way they were now. Vanessa was sad.

After hesitating for a long time, Vanessa decided to leave S City first to see how far Alfred would go.

She definitely didn't want to pay the huge compensation. If Gigi knew it, she would definitely help her raise money. Gigi wouldn't let her admit defeat.

But Vanessa didn't want Gigi to worry about her anymore. Finally, Vanessa bought a ticket to go to D City.

Today was Monday, Georgia came to the office of MU Research Institute early in the morning.

Aston came to the office early in the morning as always. Georgia walked over and took the initiative to say hello to Aston.

"Good morning."

Seeing Georgia coming, Aston thought of what Georgia asked him for help last time. Then he showed an apologetic expression.

"Sorry, last time you asked me to help, I didn't find anyone who can offer help. They all refused after knowing your name. Georgia, have you offended any powerful persons?"

Georgia did not expect Aston to remember this incident. He was kind of nice.

"It's okay. I have found someone to help. Now I have transferred my relative to a hospital in the other city. I indeed offend someone."

Georgia didn't want to say more.

Aston didn't ask again. He just nodded.

"Since your relative has been successfully transferred to the hospital, that's fine. Now cheer up and work hard. Have you read all the information I gave you?"

Georgia nodded. She had stayed up late last night to read it. Now Georgia had a lot of ideas. She especially wanted to find someone to communicate with.

Hearing Aston's question, Georgia decided to express her point of view.

"I took a look at recent research directions. As you know, there are two main aspects of lung cancer targeted drugs. One is a drug that inhibits the tumor signal transduction system, and the other is a drug that inhibits tumor neovascularization. I still think the first one's research direction is better."

"Why do you think so?"

Aston asked seriously, with a very serious face.

"You know, we mainly want to destroy those cancerous cells. Targeted drugs are equivalent to making targeted bombs to destroy the specialized cancerous cells. The current situation is that it can only be used in the late stage of cancer. But at that time, patients' situation will be terrible. My research direction in the past few years was mainly to apply targeted drugs to patients' bodies in the early stage, but general targeted drugs can only act on a few targets."

"The paper I published at the time was to allow a targeted drug to act on more targets. The experimental papers I made, including the experimental data on mice, means that I have finished the half of the research direction. I want to continue the rest. I read the information you gave me. In the past few years, Percy has not made any progress in this area. I think I can continue this research direction."

Aston smiled for the first time.

"Your idea is the same as mine. What I have compiled for you is mainly the papers from various international research and the conclusion from scientists from various countries, but I also have my own research direction and progress in private. I will send you a file about my research data. Then we can discuss it. If we succeed in the discussion in this regard, I suggest that we can write a paper in one direction for Professor Lee to see. If the professor has no opinions, we can research on this direction together."

Georgia felt so excited. She and Aston exchanged some details. The two people found that their research directions were so strange and the same, as if they had found a confidant.

The two people communicated more and more smoothly. The smiles on Aston's face were getting more and more. The two people didn't know how long they talked. Suddenly, a few footsteps came from.

Georgia turned her head to look.

Before Georgia could react, Anaya directly slapped Georgia.

"You bitch. I knew you came to work just to hit on Aston!"

Georgia saw Simon standing behind Anaya.

Simon looked at Georgia with somewhat ironically. Georgia remembered that Simon was very enthusiastic to her when she first came here. But after hearing what Robert said, his attitude towards her changed. Now, his face was full of disgust.

"Anaya, this is the place to work. You slapped her like a shrew. Don't you want to continue to work here?"

Aston scolded Anaya with a cold face.

He knew that Anaya was entangled with him tightly. When he was at abroad, this woman pestered him. Now, he returned and entered the institute. Anaya still followed him.

Aston had refused her countless times in private, but Anaya seemed to be unable to understand his meaning, and kept pestering him. No matter where he went, this woman would follow him.

Every woman who approached Aston would be scared away by Anaya. But this was the first time Aston saw Anaya slap the woman who approached him directly, which made Aston very angry.

"Aston, this woman seduces my cousin, and even faked a paternity test and said that she gave birth to a child to my cousin. What do you see in her? Why do you look at her with admiration? You always smile at her. But you have never smiled at me!"

Anaya cried out in grief. Aston felt very disgusted.

"Anaya, I don't like you. I told you, don't waste time on me. In addition, Miss Lane and I are just colleagues. I talk to her, not because I like her. If your research ability is particularly good and you can discuss the future research progress with me, I can also smile at you."

Anaya's expression suddenly became very sad. Simon suddenly stepped forward. He looked disdainfully at Georgia and Aston.

"Aston, Georgia was also very gentle and polite to me when she first came here. Now you think you two are just colleagues. Maybe someday, she will seduce you and make you have a crush on her."

After Simon said this, he turned around and left. Georgia felt a little upset.

In fact, before Robert came to the office and said those words, she really thought that Simon was a very nice guy. She didn't expect that he suddenly became like this. Georgia didn't know who was wrong.

"Anaya, immediately apologize to Georgia. Otherwise, I will tell the professor about what you did. If the professor makes any punishment decision, don't blame me for not reminding you!" _____

Chapter 60 Put Up with It

After Aston said this, Anaya's expression became particularly terrible. She had talked back in front of the professor last time. So the professor must have a bad impression on her.

If the professor knew that she hit Georgia today, the professor would definitely expel her from the team. By then, she would be completely far away from Aston. Then Aston would get more and more closer with this woman!

But, how could Anaya be willing to apologize Georgia?

Anaya hated Georgia's guts. She'd rather die than apologize to this woman.

After glaring at Aston and Georgia angrily, Anaya suddenly covered her face and ran out while crying bitterly.

"I will tell the professor what happened today. Georgia, go to work. The professor has classes at school during the day. After he arrives in the office in the afternoon, I will tell the professor about this."

Georgia shook her head.

"Forget it. I don't care about it. If the professor really drives Anaya out because of this matter today, who knows what Anaya will do in the future?"

Georgia knew that Anaya's cousin was Robert.

This meant that Anaya was the niece of Robert's mother.

She didn't want to provoke the Simpson family anymore. She could only put up with it herself.

Aston was helpless. He could only nod.

The staffs arrived one after another. Ernie led a bunch of people for the morning meeting. Georgia's desk was the same as last time, which was still next to Sapphire's.

Sapphire felt a little embarrassed

"Sorry, when you were squeezed out by everyone before, I also stood with those people. I didn't even dare to say a word to you. In fact, I think you are quite good. But I have experienced it since I was a child. So I could only stand with those people."

Georgia smiled and shook her head.

"It's okay. It's my fault, but I don't know how to explain it. It's understandable that you continue to hate me. If you treat me as a normal colleague, I'll thank you."

Hearing Georgia said that it was okay, Sapphire felt relieved a little.

"You are so kind. Actually, I heard about you when I was in college. Georgia, since the professor believes in you, you must have extraordinary talents. If you really make achievements, your grievances will naturally be washed away. At that time, everyone will respect you." Except for Aston, this was the first time Georgia felt the kindness of other people in the office. She looked at Sapphire and then thanked her.

"Sapphire, thank you."

On this day, except Sapphire and Aston, no one talked with Georgia. But Georgia didn't care about it too much. The more important thing in this team was to make their own achievements. As long as she made some achievements, everyone would respect her.

Georgia thought she could continue to do research. But she didn't know that Anaya had already angrily called her aunt, Maisie, again.

"Auntie, didn't you tell me that you have driven Georgia out of D City? But she still came to work today. What kind of power is behind this woman? Why can't we get rid of her? She humiliated me today. Besides, she is about to steal the man I like. Auntie, what should I do?"

Anaya cried aggrievedly on the phone. Maisie felt distressed instantly.

"Anaya, don't cry, I'll call to ask about the situation immediately. Don't worry. This time, I will teach her a good lesson."

Robert's mother hung up. Emma, who had been sitting quietly next to her, spoke up.

"Mrs. Simpson, I heard you talk about Georgia on the phone. Did she do something again?"

Emma asked gently. But in fact, she was full of resentment. Why hadn't this woman disappeared?

Today, she came to Maisie's home to discuss the wedding scene design with Maisie.

But Maisie suddenly received a call and then mentioned Georgia. Emma was so nervous.

She desperately wanted to know what this woman did.

What Emma feared most was that Robert and Georgia were still entangled with each other.

Maisie looked at Emma carefully, and then spoke slowly.

"Georgia is still in D City. She works in MU Research Institute. I originally wanted to drive her out of D City. But this woman seemed to be against me deliberately. She doesn't leave here. Emma, you are already Robert's fiancée. You should defend your rights. For some women, you can chase them away. Understand? Don't leave yourself with troubles."

Emma suddenly became cold.

Of course she understood what Maisie meant. Emma also had this intention.

She originally thought that after Robert knew the results of the paternity test, he would definitely not pay attention to this woman. But now it seemed that she underestimated this woman.

"Mrs. Simpson, I got it."

After Emma left, Maisie immediately called her assistant.

"Are you sure that Georgia's daughter is no longer in the hospital in D City?"

Maisie asked loudly.

The assistant seriously replied on the phone

"Madam, I confirm that Georgia's daughter is no longer in the hospital in D City. According to the information I investigated, her daughter should move to other cities, but I did not investigate where it is."

Maisie's face sank. She told all hospitals in D City not to accept Georgia's daughter to be hospitalized. Her intention was to drive Georgia and her daughter out of D City.

Although Georgia's daughter went to a safe place, the bitch stayed. What was her intention?

Did Georgia want to continue to seduce her son? What ambition did this woman have?

Maisie's face looked terrible. She gave orders to her assistant.

"You go to investigate the shareholding structure of MU Research Institute to find out who is in power. Tell me after you get the results."

Since Georgia was not driven out, Georgia definitely worked at MU Research Institute. Maisie decided to deal with Georgia again.

After figuring out who was in power in MU Research Institute, she could kick Georgia out of MU Research Institute.

At this time, Emma had arrived at Shaos Group.

Just when she arrived on the first floor, several receptionists had already gathered around.

"Hello, Miss Emma."

The three of them bent over neatly. Emma smiled faintly. She liked the feeling of being surrounded and flattered.

"Is Mr. Simpson in the office now? I am going to see him."

"Miss Emma, Mr. Simpson is in the office now. I will take you up."

Emma was led by one receptionist into the president's exclusive elevator. After arriving at the office floor of Robert, Robert's personal assistant took the initiative to step forward.

"Miss Emma, Mr. Simpson is having a meeting now. Please wait a moment."

Emma nodded. She sat quietly on the sofa and waited, surrounded by a group of women who were envious and jealous.

"I heard that Mr. Simpson and Miss Emma will get married in spring next year. Miss Emma is really beautiful."

"Yes, I heard that Mr. Simpson and Miss Emma have been in love for several years. Now they are finally getting married. They are really perfect to each other."

"Miss Emma is really a blessing. Mr. Simpson doesn't have any scandal. I'm really envious..."

Emma sat not far away, so she heard all these words. She showed a faint triumphant smile.

About ten minutes later, Robert finished the meeting. He walked up to Emma.

"Why are you here?"

Robert spoke gently.

"I miss you. I want to see you."

After Emma finished speaking, she stood up and hugged Robert lightly. Robert felt a little embarrassed, and a little uncomfortable. But there were so many staffs here, so he did not push Emma away.

After Emma let go of Robert, Robert spoke.

"Let's go to my office."

Two people walked into the office hand in hand. The group of women surrounding them felt even more envious.

"Mr. Simpson is really gentle to Miss Emma."

"Yeah. Mr. Simpson has been in love with Miss Emma for so many years. Mr. Simpson only likes Miss Emma. He has no other scandals. I heard that Miss Johnson has chased Mr. Simpson for several years. But Mr. Simpson just doesn't like her."

"Is that the eldest lady from the Johnson family?"

"Yes, it's her."

.....

A group of women gossiped outside. Emma had already sat on the sofa in Robert's office.

The secretary had already brought a cup of tea and handed it to Emma. Emma took the tea and took a sip, then smiled softly.

"Robert, will I make you unhappy that I suddenly come to see you?"

Robert was full of apologies to Emma. He was set up by Jennifer six years ago. Then he had sex with Emma.

Later, in order to make Jennifer give up, Robert decided to let Emma be his fiancée.

At that time, Robert just wanted to buy the time.

This time, because of Georgia's affairs, he wronged Emma again and caused Emma to commit suicide.

So, Robert decided to marry Emma. He felt that he owed this woman. If this woman wanted marriage, Robert would try his best to satisfy her.

"You can come to see me whenever you want. Emma, you are my fiancée. We two don't need to be like guests."

Robert's such gentle answer made Emma relieved a little. It seemed that Robert didn't dislike her now.

Then, what was his feelings to Georgia now?

Emma looked at the man in front of her. Finally, she asked tentatively.

"Robert, would you mind that Georgia is my sister? After all, she has done so many wrong things. In fact, I'm always anxious about this matter. My parents are also very worried about this matter. They feel very guilty."

Chapter 61 Am I Your Prisoner or Slave

Robert didn't expect Emma would mention Georgia.

Since the matter of that night, he tried not to think about Georgia. But this woman seemed to always appear in his life and would come into his mind from the time to time.

"Emma, don't worry. She is her. You're you. I will not have any opinions to your family because of her. When I was engaged to you, I have already known that she is your sister. Relax."

Emma sensitively felt Robert treated Georgia differently from others. She clenched her hands tightly, feeling jealous. But she did not dare to show it out.

"Robert, I think too much. Sorry, you go ahead your work. I have to go home. Your mother and I have discussed the wedding design today. After you get home, you can take a look when you have time. If there are any places that you don't like, we can modify it."

Robert nodded. Then he personally walked Emma to the first floor and saw her get in the car.

As soon as Emma returned home, she immediately went to find her mother, Flora.

"Mom, are you sure that there is no Mr. Knight's whereabouts?"

Emma told Flora what she had heard from Robert's mother and how she felt when she saw Robert.

"Did Robert's mother want you to deal with Georgia?"

Flora asked suspiciously.

"She asked me to deal with Georgia by myself, but she didn't tell me what means I can use. Mom, anyway, Mr. Knight has disappeared. Now, Georgia doesn't have a backer. It's a good time for us to deal with Georgia."

Flora thought about for a moment

"We two aren't enough. I'm going to call your Dad to come back. We three can discuss it together."

Owen quickly hurried home from the company. Emma told Owen what had happened today.

Owen thought about for a long time before speaking.

"Georgia is like a disaster. But there is no one to support her. This is indeed the best time to let Chester take the move."

Owen spoke calmly.

"Dad, what are you going to do?"

Emma asked.

"Chester is now impoverished. He can do anything as long as we give him money. He now desperately wants to make a comeback. Let him deal with Georgia. We don't have to do it by ourselves."

Emma disagreed a little.

"Dad, Chester is like a mad dog. He can bite others at any time. If we really let him kill Georgia, he will only threaten us in the future. Whenever he has the opportunity, he will definitely bite us back. We don't have to kill Georgia, but we can deal with her in another way."

After Emma finished speaking, Owen asked.

"Emma, what's your idea?"

"Dad, you are a man. You know how to make a man feel disgust to a woman. If Georgia is insulted by many men, will Robert still feel sorry for her after he knows it?"

After thinking about for a while, Owen immediately agreed.

"You are right. I will arrange this matter immediately. I will let Chester handle it. After the matter is done, I will give him a sum of money to send him to Southeast Asia."

They three decided the plan to deal with Georgia. At this time, Georgia didn't know that she would be in danger.

She did not leave with most of the people after getting off work, but went to the laboratory to do experiments.

It had been several years since she didn't do the experiment. Georgia thought she would become unfamiliar with these experimental instruments.

However, when she was holding those experimental instruments, Georgia knew that some things had been carved into her bones. She was born to do research work.

Georgia wore a mask and a white lab coat. She was doing experiments seriously in the laboratory.

After almost five hours, Georgia didn't end the experiment until about ten o'clock in the evening. Then she was ready to get off the work.

At the moment when she was about to leave, she saw Aston also doing experiments in the laboratory.

"It's more than ten o'clock now. Don't you go home?"

Georgia asked Aston.

"No, I forgot to tell you that I am responsible for opening and closing the door of the laboratory. I have been waiting for you to complete the experiment, and then I can close the door."

When Aston finished speaking, Georgia realized that Aston had been waiting for her to end the experiment.

"Sorry, I'm so immersed in doing the experiment today. I'm over now. Let's go. So sorry. But you should have told me."

Aston nodded. Then he cleared his stuff up and walked out of MU Research Institute with Georgia.

"It's already over ten o'clock. I'll drive you home."

Aston spoke first. Georgia shook her head subconsciously.

"Thanks. But I can take a taxi home. My home is close from here. It only takes more than 40 minutes. Aston, it's so late. You should go home to sleep. We have to go to work early tomorrow morning. I see you coming so early every morning. You should go to bed early every night, right?"

Georgia refused directly, but Aston was also very resolute.

"No, it's so late. I will be worry if I don't drive you home."

Georgia had no choice but to get in Aston's car in the end.

After the car arrived at the gate of the community, Georgia got out of the car and then bent over to thank Aston in the car.

"Thank you so much, Aston. Take care when you go back."

Aston nodded and drove away.

However, just when Georgia walked to the door of the community, she saw that Robert had already walked up to her. Georgia's face sank.

"What are you doing here?"

Georgia asked coldly.

"Who is that man in the car?"

Robert saw Georgia smiling and saying goodbye to a man in the car from a distance. He was a little unhappy.

Could she only live on men?

"Robert, it's none of your business. Am I your prisoner or slave? You're way out of line!"

Robert was very disgusted to see Georgia's indifferent look, as if everything had nothing to do with her. He sneered coldly.

"Georgia, I bought you with five million. What do you think our relationship is? I gave you money and you sold yourself to me. Do I need to say it again?"

Georgia's hands trembled all of a sudden. She looked at the man in front of her with a cold face, and then laughed at herself.

"Yes, you are right. You bought me with money, but our business is over! I haven't heard that there are some clients who will mind a hooker's business with other men! Robert, aren't you way out line? ?" _____

"Georgia, I bought you with five million. What do you think our relationship is? I gave you money and you sold yourself to me. Do I need to say it again?"

Georgia's hands trembled all of a sudden. She looked at the man in front of her with a cold face, and then laughed at herself.

"Yes, you are right. You bought me with money, but our business is over! I haven't heard that there are some clients who will mind a hooker's business with other men! Robert, aren't you way out line? ?" _____

Chapter 62 A Demon Who Came Back to Take Revenge on Her

"Georgia!"

Robert roared violently.

Georgia laughed loudly.

"Did I poke your sore spot? Robert, did you know that you look ridiculous now? Now, you're just like a husband who comes to manage his wife's affairs! You figure it out. I am a hooker. You are my client. Don't show that anxious looks! Otherwise, I would misunderstand that you like me and you are jealous now!"

Georgia's words made Robert stunned a little.

"Georgia, are you crazy? Will I like a woman who killed my sister, cheated me and played with my feelings? If you die in front of me now, I won't have any feelings. I will just feel it's good!"

"It better be! Robert, I tell you, if you really like me, you are the most ridiculous person!"

After Georgia finished speaking, Robert's mind was full of the tattoo he saw that night.

Taking a deep breath, Robert controlled the anger. He spoke calmly.

"Georgia, leave here. Leave here forever. Don't come back."

Georgia couldn't figure it out why Robert said this. She laughed coldly.

"Robert, who do you think you are? Are you the God? You tell me what to do? I tell you that you are not qualified. Even if you believe that it's me who killed your sister, even if you believe that I made a fake paternity test to cheat you, even if these are true, I've already been punished."

"I was in jail for six years. You prevented your brother from operating on my daughter. My daughter is in coma now. Your revenge has already been successful. Why on earth are you still pestering me? And your mother! She can kill me. But why did she expel my daughter from the hospital? Only when I and my daughter die will you be satisfied?"

Georgia shouted angrily. Her tears couldn't stop at all.

Robert felt a little sorry. He was about to lose temper.

Robert looked at the woman in front of him. He thought of the summer more than ten years ago and the day he almost died.

At that time, in his dream, it was a mermaid who rescued him.

He had been looking for the mermaid for so long. For a long time, he even thought it was just a beautiful dream. But now, he knew it was true.

"Georgia, I advise you to leave now. This is my last kindness. If you continue to stay here, my mother will not let you go. I can stop targeting you now, but you think you can escape others' revenge? If you want, I can even help you and your daughter leave here."

Georgia only felt that the man was so weird today. In the past, this man wished she had a miserable life, letting her suffer time and time again. Now, he pretended to be kind and said that he would send her away, and even said to help her. Georgia only found it ridiculous.

"Robert, are you crazy? You hate my guts. Now, you said you want to help me? Who knows if you let someone kill me and my daughter on the way to somewhere? I don't believe you."

After Georgia said this coldly, she walked towards the other side.

Robert stepped forward and grabbed Georgia's wrist.

"Georgia, if you are so stubborn, you will suffer! I don't want to force you to leave. I'm talking with you now. Do you think you can continue staying here?"

Georgia threw Robert's hand away. She laughed coldly.

"Look at what you look like now, it seems you are really thinking about me. Do you know what I feel like? It's so ridiculous. Robert, get out of here!"

After saying this, Georgia walked directly towards the gate of the community.

Robert stood silently on the spot. It took a long time before he turned and left.

Back at the villa where he lived now, Robert called his assistant.

"Keep an eye on my mother. Tell me as long as she has any actions."

Robert now felt very complicated to Georgia. This woman deceived him, played with his feelings, and killed his sister in the car accident.

He should have retaliated completely against this woman, leaving her suffer.

However, he found that this woman was the mermaid who saved him back then.

Robert didn't feel grateful to Georgia now, because Georgia also did too many wrong things.

But now, he couldn't continue to use means to drive her into a corner. So he thought if he let this woman disappear in his own life and sent her away completely, maybe this would be the best decision.

But Georgia didn't believe him at all. If he forced her again, she might be desperate.

Robert knew his mother well. Georgia was still working in D City. Anaya and Georgia were now on the same research team. His mother should be very clear about the stuff.

Last time, his mother let all the hospitals not accept Georgia's daughter in order to drive the mother and daughter out.

This time, his mother would only be more merciless.
Just let Georgia know how ruthless his mother was.
Maybe at that time, Georgia would take the initiative to take her daughter away, and then he just needed to help her privately.
After Georgia returned to her apartment, she couldn't fall asleep.
She couldn't understand why Robert suddenly became like this. Was this his new tricks to torture her?
She didn't know why. She just felt a little uneasy.

Georgia thought of Vanessa and Annie in S City. She couldn't help calling Vanessa.

"Vanessa, are you asleep now? Sorry, I called you so late."

Vanessa was now in D City. She was already in Alfred's apartment.
Georgia's phone call came very suddenly. Vanessa did not expect Georgia to call her at such a late time.

"Gigi, I didn't sleep. But I'm ready to go to bed. What's the matter?"
Georgia felt anxiety, but she couldn't find any clues from Robert's words.

Georgia held back what she wanted to say.

"Nothing, I just want to ask you that everything is okay today? Is there anything to make you feel weird?"

Vanessa felt a little guilty. She didn't tell Georgia that she was in D City now.

However, she let someone go to the hospital to take care of Annie. She could know Annie's situation at any time.

Vanessa answered immediately.

"Gigi, Annie is fine now. Don't worry. You can go to see Annie during the weekend."

Georgia nodded.

"Vanessa, I got it. You go to bed early."

After Georgia hung up the phone, Alfred who sat on the sofa said coldly.

"You and Georgia are really good friends. You have learned a lot from her. You become vanity, worshiping money and like to play tricks."

Vanessa looked at Alfred angrily. She could bear the man humiliating her, but she could not bear Alfred humiliating her friend.

"Alfred, I once again warn you. Don't insult Gigi. She is my friend!"

"I even dare to insult you. Am I afraid of humiliating your friend?"

Alfred laughed ironically.

Vanessa originally wanted to bow her head in front of Alfred. She hesitated for a day. In the evening, after seeing Alfred coming back, Vanessa came to the apartment and decided to tell Alfred that she was willing to compromise.

She didn't want to be forced by Alfred to pay the huge compensation. She didn't want Georgia to find that she was forced to such an extent by Alfred.

If Georgia knew it, she would definitely work harder to make money. They already had to prepare much money to pay for Annie's treatment costs. She really didn't want to get Georgia involved into the trouble anymore.

However, if she bore these humiliations but Alfred still insulted Georgia again and again, what was the meaning of her compromise?

Vanessa thought that even if she had to sell herself, she didn't want to bow her head to Alfred at this moment.

Thinking about this, Vanessa stood up angrily and walked directly outside.

Alfred originally thought he could control this woman, but unexpectedly, this woman was not afraid of paying the huge compensation. She actually wanted to leave.

Alfred stood up angrily, then walked forward to grabbed Vanessa's wrist.

"Do you think you can come and leave here at your will? Vanessa, I'm over you. Now, you are just a slut. I can humiliate you as long as I want!"

Alfred directly tore Vanessa's clothes, and then threw Vanessa on the sofa.

Vanessa panicked.

"Alfred, you bastard! You let me go! I said I wouldn't make a deal with you. I don't want to do anything... Go away..."

Vanessa struggled frantically. Alfred only felt that more and more angry.

He didn't care about Vanessa's struggle. The only picture in his mind was that this woman held the other man's hand and left. The contemptuous look in her eyes was the most hated memory in his mind.

The more Vanessa struggled, the more Alfred felt angry.

He almost madly possessed this woman.

Vanessa had been screaming in pain. Her nails had completely scratched the man's back.

However, Alfred didn't let her go. In the end, Vanessa felt that she was like a broken doll.

She lay on the sofa in despair. Suddenly, she realized that the man who loved her had long since disappeared. The person in front of her was just a demon who came back to take revenge on her.

Compared to those men who humiliated her in her memory, the man in front of her made her feel the same disgust and the same fear.

Alfred looked at the desperate and hateful look in the eyes of the woman on the sofa. He suddenly felt very upset.

Pulling Vanessa up from the sofa, Alfred sneered coldly. _____

Chapter 63 Don't Pretend to Be Innocent!

"Vanessa, you hate me? Have you forgotten what you did back then? You humiliated me and abandoned me back then. Now I just give you back the pain you inflicted on me back then little by little. How could you pretend to be innocent?"

"Besides, we had sex a long time ago. What do you mean by looking like being insulted now? Do you think you are still a pure girl? You have been fucked by those rich people so many times. You pretend to be innocent in front of me now?"

"Hahaha... Hahaha..."

Vanessa suddenly laughed sadly. Her tears continued to flow down, but she did not answer Alfred.

Alfred suddenly felt that he was so resentment now. He smashed the porcelain vase beside him directly to the ground, kicking the table fiercely, like an angry lion.

Vanessa didn't even look at Alfred. Her eyes looked empty.

Alfred suddenly rushed to Vanessa to grab her neck.

"What do you mean by looking like being wronged now? You deserved it!"

After saying this angrily, Alfred slammed the door closed and went out. Vanessa silently squatted on the ground and cried from night to daytime.

The next morning, Vanessa left this place quietly, taking away all her past attachments, loves and hatreds.

She returned to S City quietly, and then started looking for a job.

Georgia had already gone to work for a week. The people in the institute still didn't talk to her, but Aston and Sapphire would talk with her normally.

Anaya would mock her almost every day. But she didn't care about this.

Anaya was afraid that she herself would be expelled from Professor Lee, so she didn't dare to go too far.

Georgia worked overtime in the laboratory every day. She did the experiments she wanted to do. Her research direction had gradually gotten a little progress.

On Friday, Layla called Georgia.

"Gigi, it's Friday today. You should come here once. Otherwise, I really can't keep the job for you."

Georgia suddenly became anxious.

Annie was transferred to the hospital in S City. Georgia still had to earn the high medical expenses for Annie.

"Layla, I'll be there soon. Please wait for me."

At the same time, Georgia called Vanessa.

After that night, Vanessa completely gave up negotiating with Alfred.

She returned directly to S City and finally found a job.

Even if the salary was low, it was better than having no money.

Vanessa was ready to go to jail. She would rather go to jail than to pay Alfred the huge compensation.

"Gigi, what's up?"

Vanessa asked softly on the phone.

"Vanessa, I'm going to the club to work tonight. Tomorrow night, I should be still here. I will work twice this weekend. If so, Layla won't blame me. I will come to S City in the middle of the night tomorrow night. You don't have to wait for me during the day tomorrow."

"Okay."

After Georgia hung up the phone, Vanessa felt a little sad.

She and Georgia both had no money now. If it were her, maybe she would choose this way too.

After Georgia arrived in the club by taxi, she went to her dressing room to make-up as usual. However, just when Georgia sat down, she suddenly felt her nose and mouth covered. The next second, Georgia fainted underground.

Layla was a little angry about that Georgia did not come to work.

She looked at the text message sent by Georgia, saying that her daughter had a sudden illness and had to rush back to S City.

Layla could only tell her superiors about this to let them forgive Georgia this time.

Regardless, family members were the most important. Layla decided to help Georgia.

But Layla did not know that the text message was forged, nor did she know that Georgia had been kidnapped and left the club.

From Friday night to Saturday morning, almost no one noticed that Georgia had disappeared.

Saturday was not the day when Georgia went to work. No one in MU Research Institute would call Georgia. Layla in the club thought that Georgia had taken a leave of absence. So no one found that Georgia disappeared.

When Georgia woke up, she found that she was in an old warehouse. Looking outside, it was already daytime. Georgia didn't know where she was and how long she had been in a coma, let alone who brought her here.

She currently had too many enemies. Georgia couldn't even guess who did it.

Her hands and feet were tied up. A piece of tape was on her mouth. She could neither help herself nor ask for help. Georgia looked around the warehouse.

The warehouse was empty. She didn't see anyone. The warehouse was closed. Only a door seemed to be visible in front, but the door was tightly closed.

Georgia felt that she was very hungry. She was arrested at night. Now, it was daytime. Georgia guessed that she might have been in a coma for a day and had been hungry for a day.

She kept comforting herself to calm down. Georgia kept observing the environment around her, trying to see if she could escape.

Georgia herself observed for more than half an hour, but she still couldn't find any way to escape.

After sitting in silence for another half an hour, Georgia heard the door being opened.

Looking over, Georgia watched a man in a black jacket walk in. The man approached from a distance. Georgia's face suddenly turned pale.

The person was Chester, the man who almost ruined her six years ago and harmed her time and time again after she was released from prison.

Chester also used her to make her mistakenly think that Annie was Robert's child. Then Robert taught her a lesson.

Georgia became vigilant. After Chester approached, Georgia bit her lip and looked at the man in front of her.

Chester looked at the woman in front of him. He sneered.

"Georgia, long time no see."

Georgia couldn't speak. She could only stare at the man in front of her.

Chester sneered. He stepped forward and took off the tape on Georgia's mouth.

"Chester, what do you want to do?"

Georgia yelled loudly.

Chester clapped his hands. Suddenly, a group of men walked in from outside.

Georgia saw that there were six men in total. Their clothes were dirty and their hair and beard were very sloppy. They looked like beggars.

Georgia suddenly felt a kind of fear rising from the depths of her heart.

Even her voice became trembling.

"Chester, what do you mean?"

"Your good sister, and good father ask me to teach you a lesson.

Georgia, why did you offend Emma? Why did you let Mr. Knight make me lose everything? For money, I can only deal with you." _____

Chapter 64 Kidnapped

"Chester, it was you who kidnapped me at first. Otherwise, why would Mr. Knight deal with you? Later, you deliberately misled me that the man who had sex with me that night was Robert. Now you say that I harmed you. I feel you are really insane!"

Chester was slightly surprised, and then he laughed.

"Why did I lie to you about that thing? The man who was in your room that night was Robert. If your child is not his, it can only show that you have sex with the other man. It's none of my business."

Chester satirized coldly, but Georgia felt that her whole body was chilling.

She couldn't think of why Chester was still cheating on her, but the paternity test report was the fact.

Georgia couldn't understand what went wrong. Chester already looked at the man behind him coldly.

"Georgia, I found these men specially for you. These are the beggars I found in some of the dirtiest garbage dumps in D City. I don't know if these beggars had sex with other women before, but men have their instincts for women. If you have sex with them, even if Robert is interested in you, will he feel sick after he knows it?"

Chester gave a cold laugh. Georgia felt already cold all over.

"I have set up the camera. When you have a good time with these men, I will record it and give the video to your good sister. Georgia, don't worry. I will keep you alive."

After Chester finished speaking, he suddenly stepped forward and gave Georgia a medicine.

Georgia struggled in horror, but the medicine still went into her stomach.

Chester took a few steps back. He smiled triumphantly.

"This is the strongest aphrodisiac on the market right now. No one can resist it after taking it. Georgia, just accept your fate. You can't beat your sister... Anyway, after I finish this, your father and sister will give me money to get me out of here. You will never see me again!"

After saying this, Chester looked at a bunch of beggars in front of him.

"Leave her to you guys. Have a good time. As long as she is alive, you can do whatever you want. After it's over, I will give each of you 10,000 dollars."

After saying this, Chester walked out.

At the moment the door was closed, Georgia looked at the empty warehouse and looked at the six men walking towards her. Georgia started to tremble all over.

However, fear only increased the excitement of the men. The six men walked directly to Georgia's side.

The sound of clothes shattering mixed with Georgia screams in horror. The men had already untied the ropes on her body. But Georgia couldn't escape at all.

She watched she herself being surrounded by them. These filthy men stared at her as if she was the food in their mouths.

Georgia's struggles looked like ridiculous resistance, as if it was arousing their interest. Several men laughed mockingly. Even if they were beggars, at this moment, they enjoyed playing with the woman. Georgia felt desperate. She almost wanted to hit the wall to die.

The medicinal effects in the body seemed to have started to work.

Georgia found that her body was getting softer.

She didn't have the strength to struggle anymore.

Could she really have to be humiliated by these men today?

Huge despair swept through Georgia. She almost collapsed!

"Help!"

"Help!"

Georgia shouted in despair.

"Bang! Bang! Bang!"

There seemed to be men's painful shouts in her ears. Georgia felt these hands on her body disappear.

She opened her eyes. Then she found that it was a man with a face full of beard. She could not see his face clearly. But he directly punched several other men to the ground.

Several other men shouted angrily.

"Idiot, are you crazy? What are you doing?"

"He is really stupid. I guess he hasn't touched a woman yet. Go away, Idiot. You don't want to enjoy it. We want to enjoy it!"

Several men talked and surrounded Idiot, preparing to drive Idiot away. However, Idiot once again knocked several men to the ground.

Georgia watched five men were beaten to the ground by this man named Idiot. They vomited blood, looking extremely embarrassed!

She didn't even know if these men passed out or already died.

After a while, only Idiot and Georgia were left in the warehouse. After Idiot kicked the last man severely, he slowly walked in front of Georgia with a hint of confusion in his voice.

"Gigi... Gigi..."

Georgia was dumbfounded. She couldn't stop crying.

The man in front of her was covered with dirt. The clothes he was wearing seemed to be taken out of a garbage dump. He was smelly. His face was full of beard, and was covered by his hair. Georgia couldn't see his face.

However, the familiar voice made Georgia's heart ache violently.

The rope on her had already been untied. Georgia's hand was slowly placed on the man's face.

Georgia cried bitterly while she moved Idiot's beard and hair away.

"Travis, why did you become like this? What happened to you? What happened to you... You have disappeared for more than ten years. Why did you become like this...?"

Georgia cried very badly. Travis just held the woman in front of him blankly, and then kept shouting.

"Gigi... Gigi..."

Georgia cried fiercely. In an emotionally crying, she found that the medicine in her body worked again!

No, she couldn't give in.

Georgia raised her arm up, and then directly took a bite into her arm. It was bleeding out.

The severe pain made Georgia sober. Georgia felt that she was finally sober a little.

Her face was pale. Her forehead was covered with cold sweat.

"Gigi... Gigi..."

Travis looked at Georgia in a panic. He picked up Georgia's arm, his eyes full of panic.

At this moment, Georgia finally found that it seemed that Travis could only say one word, Gigi. He looked like a fool.

Who caused Travis to become like this? Georgia was full of distress and anger.

Travis was such a gentleman. How could he become a beggar and a fool?

Who was so vicious to hurt him like this?

Georgia hadn't seen Travis for more than ten years. She didn't know what happened to Travis before he became a beggar and was called Idiot.

Something must have happened in the meantime. The more Georgia thought about it, the more she cried.

But Georgia knew that the most important thing for her right now was to escape.

Georgia held Travis' hand, and then asked seriously.

"When you came in, were there anyone else out there? Except for the man named Chester."

Travis shook his head.

"No, no one..."

Georgia understood what Travis meant. In other words, as long as they defeated Chester, she could escape with Travis.

The wound on her arm made her sober. Georgia grasped Travis' hand and explained her plan over and over again.

"Travis, the man outside is a bad guy. We have to leave here. We have to leave here together... But the man outside will definitely not allow me to leave. Can you knock the man outside down like you knock these people down? You have to knock him out, then we can leave..."

"Gigi... will Gigi... leave me?"

Travis asked in fear. His eyes looked like so innocent. Georgia only felt sad

"Travis, I will leave with you. No matter what happens to you, we will leave here together!"

Travis smiled at Georgia.

"Travis wants to be with Gigi. Travis wants to be with Gigi..."

Finally, Travis followed Georgia to the door. Georgia picked up a wooden stick in the warehouse.

She taught Travis for a long time. Travis began to knock on the door constantly. Chester thought it was almost over. He threw the cigarette to the ground and turned around to open the door.

Taking advantage of this opportunity, Travis punched Chester directly in the face. Georgia directly used the wooden stick to keep hitting Chester.

The two beat up Chester until he vomited blood. When Chester completely fell to the ground unable to speak, Georgia held Travis's hand.

"Travis, we have to leave here immediately..."

Travis watched his hand being held. Then he showed a childlike smile on his face.

"Travis is going to go with Gigi... Travis is going to be with Gigi!"

Georgia grabbed Travis's hand and prepared to run outside.

However, just when they walked a few steps, a gunshot banged.

Georgia watched Travis was shot in his leg.

Chester lay on the ground with a gun and looked at them from a distance, his eyes full of resentment.

Georgia knew that she couldn't stop now, so she grabbed Travis's hand and started crying.

"Travis, we have to leave here. We have to leave here. I will treat the wound on your leg later, okay?"

Travis nodded. He couldn't fully understand what Georgia meant, but he just knew instinctively that he wanted to leave here with the woman in front of him.

Georgia kept walking with Travis while crying. Travis hurt his leg and couldn't walk fast at all.

After the two people walked a long way, Georgia realized that this place was actually on a big mountain. If they walked to the city at the speed, Travis' leg would be completely broken.

Georgia studied biopharmaceuticals. She was not a nurse.

Moreover, the bullet had entered the body. Georgia had no medical tools to help deal with the wound. She could only help Travis to bandage it temporarily.

The look in Chester's eyes made Georgia uneasy. She was always afraid that something would happen on the way to escape.

On this uninhabited mountain, Georgia could hardly see a family, let alone a car.

After walking for a long time, it was already dark. Travis grabbed Georgia's hand and started crying.

"Gigi, Travis can't walk anymore... Travis' feet hurt..."

After Travis finished speaking, Georgia stopped. Then she watched Travis fainting directly in front of her. _____

Chapter 65 Enjoy the Feeling to Humiliate Her

Georgia's face was pale. She was almost overwhelmed by fear and despair.

Kneeling down, Georgia moved the hair from Travis' face. She saw Travis' pale face and lips.

Georgia panicked.

Georgia never dared to walk anymore. She slowly supported Travis and walked behind a forest to hide.

At this moment, the sky was completely dark. They could no longer walk. Georgia could only rest in the woods with Travis.

Georgia thought if she could find a car and escape here tomorrow.

However, Vanessa was already so anxious in S City now.

Last night, Georgia had told her that she would come over at night.

Vanessa had already waited until five o'clock in the morning. But she still hadn't received any news from Georgia.

She made countless phone calls. Georgia did not answer the phone at all.

Vanessa took the train to D City in a panic.

At eight o'clock in the morning, Vanessa arrived at the apartment where she and Georgia lived, but she didn't see Georgia at all.

Vanessa didn't have any phone number of Georgia's colleagues. She could only call the customer service of MU Research Institute, but it was weekend. So no one answered the phone at all.

Then Vanessa went to MU Research Institute. No one went to work on weekends.

Feeling desperate, Vanessa came to the clubhouse. Through various inquiries, Vanessa finally contacted Layla.

"You mean Georgia is missing?"

Layla asked in surprise on the phone.

"Yes, Georgia said that she would arrive S City in the middle of the night.

I waited Gigi until this morning. But she didn't come. So I hurried to D City. Gigi was not at home at all. I can only contact you to ask about the situation."

Layla instantly thought of Georgia's text message on Friday. Could it be fake that Georgia said that she had something to deal with?

Layla asked.

"On Friday, Gigi told me that she would come to the clubhouse to work, but when I arrived at the clubhouse, I only received a text message from her. She said that her daughter was sick and she had to go back to S City and let me help ask for leave. Then I helped her ask for leave. Didn't this happen?"

Vanessa only felt panic. If there was that text message, it meant that someone really dealt with Gigi. It meant that something bad happened to Gigi.

"Layla, there is no such thing at all. Gigi's daughter has always been in good condition. I have been taking care of her in the hospital in S City. This incident has never happened. When Gigi called me at the time, she said she would go to work. Then she would come to S City the next night."

After Vanessa said this, the two looked at each other seriously.

Georgia seemed to have something wrong. She might have arrived at the club at that time.

"I'll go to the clubhouse immediately to check the monitoring."

When Layla said this, Vanessa's body was still trembling.

"Layla, thank you. I'll call the police right away!"

The two acted separately. However, when the police went to the clubhouse to take the surveillance video, Layla said regretfully to the police and Vanessa.

"The surveillance video is gone. All the video in the clubhouse on Friday was gone. I suspect that Gigi should come here that day."

The police could only temporarily register and investigate, but there were no more clues.

Time passed by, but Vanessa felt so panic. If Gigi couldn't wait for the police to save her and was in danger, what should she do?

But, who else could Vanessa call for help?

Islamabad Janitor Became A Millionaire Almost Overnight!

As Soon As You Hear About Love You Start Screaming At Out Loud?

Vanessa walked forth and back. Layla already called Andrew.

"Layla, you finally call me."

Andrew's voice was very gentle.

Under normal circumstances, Layla would definitely not give the call to this man.

However, Georgia was in danger now. Layla didn't want to see that something bad happened to Georgia.

"I have a friend named Georgia. She goes missing. I want you to help me find out where she went."

Andrew immediately said.

"I can help, but you must promise me that you will come back to see our daughter. This weekend or next weekend. It's up to you."

After thinking about for a while, Layla finally agreed.

"Next weekend, but you have to tell her that I don't want to hear her say some weird words to me every time I see her. I don't owe her, understand?"

Andrew was only surprised.

"Okay, our daughter is just a little girl. In fact, she already regrets what she said."

Layla didn't say anything more. She directly hung up the phone.

"I'm sorry. I can only ask this person for help. Although I know many people, those people will not help me find a woman they don't know."

Vanessa already felt very grateful.

"Thank you so much. You already helped me and Gigi a lot. Layla, thank you. I'm going to ask others for help. If you have news, please tell me immediately."

Layla had already asked someone for help, though Vanessa didn't know who that person was. Vanessa was reaching for in her mind who could help her.

In the end, Vanessa finally thought of Alfred helplessly.

She originally planned to never see this man. But even if Alfred would humiliate her, Vanessa still had to ask Alfred for help to find Gigi's whereabouts.

Vanessa took the initiative to come to Alfred's apartment, and then called Alfred.

This time, she was willing to put aside all her self-esteem, as long as the man was willing to help.

"Vanessa?"

It sounded like he was a little drunk.

Vanessa was a little at a loss, but she still said what she had prepared.

"I want to ask you for help. Gigi is missing. I don't know where she went. I can't find anyone else to help me. I have already called the police. I don't know what power you have, but I think you should be able to help me."

Alfred laughed loudly on the phone.

Then his voice became very cold.

"Vanessa, who do you think you are? Why should I help you? You are just a bitch. You are just the woman who abandoned me. I help you... Am I crazy?"

Vanessa knew that this man enjoyed the feeling of humiliating her. Instead of hanging up the phone, Vanessa calmly continued.

"Alfred, if you can really help me, I will agree to whatever you ask me to do in the future."

"Humph, you're willing to do everything? Now, you come here right away, come to me. I want to see what you can do!"

Chapter 66 Let's Register for Marriage Now

After Alfred told her the address of the bar he was in now, Vanessa had no time to hesitate and immediately went there by taxi.

It was already afternoon. After entering the bar, Vanessa found that the music was inside deafening.

She went to the private box Alfred was in. Inside, Alfred was holding two women in his arms.

A middle-aged man sat opposite him.

It seemed that they were talking. After coming into the private box, Vanessa stood in front of Alfred and spoke.

"I'm already here. Just tell me. What's your terms for tracking down Gigi for me?"

"Mr. Chow, who is she?"

One of the women who was in Alfred's arms asked, smiling and looking at Vanessa with disdainful eyes.

Another woman who was held in Alfred's arms critically gave Vanessa a glance.

Alfred gave the woman who asked the question a kiss, and then sneered coldly.

"She wants to sell her body to me, but now I have no interest in her. However, I would like to embarrass her, so..."

Alfred looked at Vanessa while pointing to the middle-aged man opposite him.

"Vanessa, this is Mr. Wood, my business associate. Today, we're talking business here, but I haven't found someone for Mr. Wood yet. As long as you can please Mr. Wood, I'll help you."

Vanessa felt as if she were frozen, looking at Alfred with her eyes wide open. But Alfred just smiled coldly.

"Why? You dare not do that? In my view, you love her deeply and would be willing to sacrifice anything. It appears that you still attach importance to your body. However, considering that you're willing to sell your body to other rich men and that Mr. Wood is also quite rich, why are you reluctant to sleep with him? Could it be that you don't really love Georgia?"

Alfred taunted her with these extremely malicious words. Vanessa Zhao took a deep breath, suddenly came close to the middle-aged man and kissed him on his cheek.

"Alfred, you're right. I'm originally a vain and materialistic woman. There isn't anything that I can't do."

After saying this, Vanessa smiled at Mr. Wood.

"Mr. Wood, what do you think of me? If you like me, I'll have a drink with you tonight. How about that?"

Mr. Wood knew nothing about what had happened between Vanessa and Alfred. However, he wouldn't refuse a beauty who offered to drink with him.

He smiled at Vanessa.

"How is it possible that I would refuse a beauty? Just kissing me is not enough. If you give me a few more kisses, I will spend this night with you."

Mr. Wood flirted with Vanessa. Without hesitation, Vanessa directly kissed Mr. Wood a few more times on the cheek.

Alfred became furious, putting on a ferocious expression.

He suddenly grabbed Vanessa's hand, pulled her and went out of the bar. After they were out of the bar, Alfred shouted fiercely.

"Vanessa, why are you so abject? Do you like flirting with other men in my presence? In the past, you appeared arm in arm with other men, humiliating me. Why, do you still miss that kind of feeling?"

However, Vanessa found it ridiculous and saddening.

"Alfred, you asked me to do that! It was you who asked me to please Mr. Wood; it was you that asked me to do that; it was you who asked me to come here! Isn't it ridiculous for you to say that I like seducing people?"

Alfred was in turmoil. He did want to humiliate Vanessa and make her feel extremely miserable.

However, when Vanessa really flirted with Mr. Wood, he was so angry that he nearly went crazy.

He wanted to teach her a good lesson, but he felt afraid when he remembered that she looked at him blankly and disgustedly after being tortured by him in bed all night.

However, he should never forgive her. He would never forget the harm she had done to him in the past.

Thinking of this, Alfred sneered coldly.

"Vanessa, let me tell you something. Even if you sleep with Mr. Wood tonight, I won't help you. Why should I help you? What kind of person are you? You're a bitch. So is your friend. I won't help people like you! Let me tell you. It would be better if Georgia is dead now. The sooner she dies, the better!"

Vanessa found herself particularly ridiculous. She should believe that Alfred would help her after humiliating her.

It turned out to be her own wishful thinking. After smiling bitterly, Vanessa also looked coldly at Alfred.

"Well, since you're not willing to help, I'll turn to other men. I can certainly find a powerful man who would help me. Alfred, I'm originally a woman who is vain, materialistic and willing to sell my body!"

Hearing this, Alfred was nearly crazy.

He grabbed Vanessa's hand angrily and shouted wildly.

"Vanessa! Don't try to annoy me! I'll do something to the detriment of you!"

"Haven't you humiliated me? Alfred, you not only ask other men to humiliate me, but also humiliate me yourself. What are you going to do next? Sue me and advance a great claim for damages! Then, put me in jail if I fail to pay? Let me tell you. Just do it! I'm not afraid!"

After saying these words coldly, Vanessa threw Alfred's hand away directly and then went to another road without looking back.

Alfred stood there angrily, being almost burning with anger.

Now, he was like a raging lion. If anyone came close to him now, he would lose control of himself and fight with that person.

No! How could he let her go?

She had said that she was going to sleep with other men!

How could he let her go? She belonged to him!

As long as she was alive, she belonged to him!

Even though she was dead, she should still belong to him!

Alfred finally gathered his wits, rushed to Vanessa and then grabbed her hand.

"Vanessa, I'm willing to help you on one condition."

Vanessa had left him for several minutes. It never occurred to her that Alfred would run over and grab her hand.

"Let go of me. I don't believe that you will help me. I'm going to turn to other people."

Vanessa didn't believe what Alfred said at all. She was sure that Alfred wanted to fool her again!

Alfred took out his cell phone, made a phone call to his secretary and then put him on speaker.

"SMS, ask someone to find out the whereabouts of a woman named Georgia Lane. The sooner, the better. It appears that she is kidnapped. There should be a record in the police station..."

Alfred spoke for quite a while, after which a man answered respectfully on the phone.

"Yes, Mr. Chow. I'll find someone to do it right away!"

Alfred hung up the phone and looked at Vanessa.

"I've asked someone to find her. If you agree to my request, I will find more people to find her."

Looking at Alfred with suspicion, Vanessa was swayed.

"Why do you want me to do?"

Alfred smiled.

"I want you to marry me. Now, we go to register for marriage!" _____

Chapter 67 He Shouldn't Care about Her!

Seeing that Vanessa was stunned, Alfred went on.

"Staff of the registry office is still working at this time. We can still register for marriage now."

Vanessa was so shocked that she stood there without saying a word for a long time.

After she understood what Alfred said, she questioned Alfred loudly.

"Alfred, are you crazy?"

"Vanessa, I have a clear mind and I'm not crazy. If you want to keep Georgia alive, I can not only ask my men to find her for you, but I can also ask many other men to find her."

After saying that, Alfred took Vanessa's hand and went to the parking lot while pulling Vanessa.

Vanessa Zhao couldn't help throwing his hand away.

"Alfred, you're going to marry Rachel soon. Now, you ask me to marry you. You're crazy. You must be crazy!"

Vanessa didn't want to talk to Alfred anymore. She just wanted to flee right away.

Now, she must figure out a way to find someone to search for Gigi.

However, Alfred took her hand tightly.

"That's not true. I'm not going to marry Rachel. I just ask Rachel to tell you that because I want you to hear that."

Vanessa was somewhat shocked and was speechless.

"Even if you're not going to marry her, why do you marry me, Alfred?"

"I'm a terrible person. Let go of me. I don't want to marry you."

If Alfred didn't come back to humiliate and retaliate against her and if Georgia wasn't missing, Vanessa really wanted not to have contact with Alfred again.

She had never forgotten those terrible memories.

She believed that she would think of what happened in the past if she was with Alfred.

As a matter of fact, she didn't deserve it anymore.

"Vanessa, can't you see my intention? Let's forget what happened in the past and start over. As long as you're devoted to me, I'll forgive you for what you had done in the past. What do you say?"

Vanessa had sore eyes and couldn't help weeping.

"Alfred, forget it. Six years have passed. Both you and I have changed. Leave me alone. I want to start fresh and you should begin anew, too."

Hearing this, Alfred immediately became furious.

Taking Vanessa's hand tightly, he shouted sharply.

"Vanessa, let me tell you. If you don't agree, I'll make things worse for your good friend, making her unable to come back in the future!"

Vanessa glared at Alfred who was furious in shock, and could do nothing but questioned him.

"Alfred, why should you do that? There are too many things happening between us. Do you really believe that we can get along well with each other for the rest of our lives even if we're really married? Can you really forgive me for what have happened in the past?"

Besides, Vanessa knew one thing well.

She had experienced a humiliating event, which Alfred didn't know at all.

That was like a time bomb, making Vanessa dare not to be with Alfred.

"Vanessa, let me tell you. I'm the young master and heir of the Chow family in G City now! In the past six years, I fought for power and became the universally recognized heir to the Chow family. If I really do something, Georgia would only end up being miserable! Have you really forgotten the fact that last time you couldn't find a job? You can try if I'm powerful enough to do something to Georgia."

Vanessa took a deep breath, but was still painful.

Looking at Alfred while shedding tears, Vanessa spoke in a choked voice.

"But, Alfred, you'll regret if you really marry me. You will really regret it."

"It's none of your business. Just tell me if you will marry me or not."

Alfred grabbed her hand with anxious eyes.

"As long as you really search for Gigi for me, I'm willing to marry you."

Vanessa made the final decision.

Alfred had had an empty and angry heart. Feeling as if there was warmth pouring out from the bottom of his heart, he felt much better. Now, he was just excited.

"Well, let's get married now."

Alfred drove to the apartment Vanessa lived in with her. After she got relevant credentials, Alfred drove to registry office.

Meanwhile, one of Alfred's secretaries was already waiting.

After Alfred took his relevant credentials from the secretary, they directly went in to register for marriage without waiting in line.

Vanessa saw that the name on his credentials was Eduard Chow, instead of Alfred.

Feeling puzzled, Vanessa asked doubtfully.

"Why is it that the name on your credentials is Eduard Chow?"

Having registered marriage with Vanessa, Alfred was in a good mood now. He felt as if he had finally established a stable relationship with her.

"I was given this name by my grandfather after I was born. After I lived with them again, they asked me to use this name. But I like to introduce myself as Alfred when I'm not home."

Vanessa nodded and asked with a sullen expression.

"Since I have registered marriage with you, you should send more people to find the whereabouts of Gigi for me now."

Alfred was somewhat unhappy, but he still picked up his mobile phone.

"Wait here, and I'll make phone calls to others people and ask them to search for Georgia."

Vanessa nodded. Alfred went to a place that was not far away from Vanessa, called powerful people he knew and asked them to help in finding Georgia.

Finally, he made a phone call to Robert and asked directly on the phone.

"Georgia is missing. Did you take her away?"

"Georgia is missing?"

Robert asked in a louder voice.

He subconsciously wondered if it was his mother who took Georgia away.

At this moment, Robert couldn't help feeling worried.

"Yes. Georgia disappeared on Friday night. And it's already Sunday today. Her friends have reported her missing, but she is still not found. Previously, I thought that it had something to do with your family."

"I'll look into it."

Robert immediately hung up the phone, picked up his mobile phone and made a phone call to his secretary.

"I've told you to watch my mother closely. Did she do anything suspicious recently?"

"No, Mr. Simpson. At least I didn't find that she had done anything suspicious."

After hanging up the phone, Robert's face darkened.

Could it be that his mother began to be wary of him?

Then, he picked up his mobile phone and asked his men to find the whereabouts of Georgia.

However, after finding that his men couldn't find Georgia, Robert was suddenly in a panic.

He was afraid.

What if Georgia died and disappeared in his life?

Robert found that he was afraid of such a result.

No. He shouldn't like Georgia.

He shouldn't care about Georgia!

He told himself not to care about Georgia again and again in his mind.

However, he sent more and more people to find Georgia.

After waiting for a long time, he was so desperate and afraid that he nearly went crazy.

At eight p.m., Robert's mobile phone suddenly rang.

He answered the phone with trembling hands. He didn't find that he spoke in a very nervous voice.

"What's the matter?"

He asked.

"Mr. Simpson, I find out where Georgia is now. She is seeing a doctor in Central Hospital now..."

Robert crazily rushed out and drove his car directly to the hospital Georgia was in.

When he arrived at the hospital ward, he found that Georgia was embracing a man. It appeared that they had a very intimate relationship.

And Georgia smiled very happily.

She looked just like a happy small woman.

At that moment, Robert was suddenly very jealous.

Georgia didn't know that Robert was at the door of the ward.

Last night, she and Travis slept on the mountain until it was almost dawn the next morning.

Georgia woke up Travis by shaking, and then they continued to walk towards along the road.

They finally got a free ride after walking for about two or three hours.

At that time, they both were tired and hungry.

They had hardly sat on the car when they fell asleep. About five or six hours later, Georgia and Travis were finally in the city.

Then, Georgia came to the hospital by car with Travis.

She called Vanessa and explained what had happened. Having no money with her, Georgia could only ask Vanessa to send some money to her.

Travis received a simple bullet removal operation.

After the operation, Georgia helped him clean up his body, let him change into hospital pajamas and then came to the ward with him.

Considering that she had no tools to cut his hair and shave him and that Vanessa wasn't here, Georgia could only talk to him in the ward.

Georgia wanted to know what had happened to him these years.

However, Travis's intelligence was impaired. He couldn't understand what Georgia said before she explained it several times.

In the end, Georgia just knew something through simple conversation.

Travis had always been a beggar, sleeping in places like somewhere under a bridge or in an open-air square. At the beginning, he was often bullied by others.

Later, he fought back.

Although he was called Idiot, he knew that he should be called Travis.

However, Georgia didn't refuse when he hugged Georgia and said that he was in great pain.

"It hurts...But Travis feel better when I'm with Gigi..."

Seeing he act like this, Georgia couldn't help smiling.

This was the scene Robert saw.

"Well, tell me, why do you still remember me? Why didn't you forget me? Do you still remember your grandmother?"

Travis was brought up by his grandmother. Except his grandmother, he had no other relatives.

Travis used to tell Georgia that he didn't know who his father was and that his mother gave birth to him when she wasn't married.

When Travis was five years old, his mother died in a car accident.

"Grandma...Grandma is gone...Gigi...You're Gigi..."

It seemed that Travis didn't know what had happened. Feeling somewhat sad, Georgia held Travis in her arms and wept.

If she got it right, Travis had lived on the streets and been a beggar for almost ten years.

Standing outside the ward, Robert was so jealous that he clenched his hands into fists.

Vanessa arrived at the door of the ward and saw Robert. Then, she questioned angrily.

"Robert, why are you here?" _____

Chapter 68 She Had to Give in to Him

Robert didn't notice that Vanessa was here, too.

He was somewhat embarrassed.

However, thinking that Robert must come here to take revenge on Gigi, Vanessa glowered at him.

Noticing their conversation, Georgia took Travis's hand and explained.

"Travis, there are some guests outside. I'll have a look. You just lie in bed."

Travis took her hand and didn't let her leave.

Georgia smiled helplessly.

"I'm not leaving. I'll stand at the door, and you can watch me."

It seemed that Travis was particularly reluctant to leave Georgia. He pointed to his cheek.

"Gigi...Kiss...Kiss..."

Georgia immediately felt said.

She thought of the days she spent with him when they were young.

At that time, they were both 17 years old. They were not only desk mates, but also lovers. After class, they rode bicycles home together.

Every time he sent Georgia home in the afternoon, Travis would point to his cheek and asked Georgia to kiss him on the cheek.

At that time, they were simple students and it was very sweet when she kissed him on the cheek.

It appeared that Travis still remembered these things.

After the college entrance exam, Georgia lost contact with Travis.

She always believed that their relationship had ended when Travis left without telling him.

It never occurred to her that Travis would suffer such pain and torture. Although she spent six years in prison, she thought that Travis was more miserable than she was. This thought instantly melted her heart. She bent over, lowered her head and kissed Travis gently on the cheek. She didn't do it out of love. She did it because of memory and pity. Travis didn't know that Georgia had thought so much. He was just very happy and therefore smiling brightly.

He let go of Georgia's hand and kept murmuring.

"Gigi...Gigi..."

After giving him a smile, Georgia turned around and went to the door. She opened the door, seeing that Vanessa and Robert were standing outside.

Georgia felt somewhat puzzled: why is Robert here?

"Who is that man?"

Robert suddenly asked coldly.

Before, that man hugged her. Then, after they said a few words, she kissed that man!

Robert couldn't see what that man looked like, because he could only see that man's back and that he was dressed in hospital pajamas. He seemed to be a tall and thin young man.

Before Georgia said anything, Vanessa taunted him.

"Robert, Who are you? The identity of that man has nothing to do with you. Gigi has been cornered by you. What else do you want to do now? Gigi makes friends with him. Does that has anything to do with you? Are you even going to torture Gigi's friends?"

"Come on, I'm here. You can do something to the detriment of me!"

Georgia hurriedly took Vanessa's hand and hinted that she should stop talking.

SJ was too powerful. If Robert really took crazy revenge on her, it would be too terrible.

"Vanessa, stop. I'll talk to him."

Georgia spoke to Robert.

"Mr. Simpson, why are you here?"

Hearing what she said, Robert found that Georgia talked in an indifferent tone, as if they were the strangers having no the slightest connection with each other.

He was particularly angry and jealous when he found that.

Islamabad Janitor Became A Millionaire Almost Overnight!

You Won't Believe The Price Of Kylie Jenner's Looks

Even he didn't know the reason why he had such feelings.

Could it be that he really cared about her?

It...It was impossible. Robert told himself again in his heart that he just wanted to torture and retaliate against her.

He laughed at Georgia.

"I heard that something was wrong with you, so I wanted to know if that you are dead or not. Unexpectedly, you make it through and even come to the hospital with a man. You are really lucky."

He spoke like this, but couldn't help looking at the man who was sitting in the ward.

That man finally turned around. Robert still couldn't see his face clearly because of his extremely long hair and extremely dense beard.

Robert was very curious, but he didn't want to ask Georgia.

"I'm sorry that I'm against your wish and is still alive, and that I was saved by that man...why, are you very disappointed that I'm not dead after you kidnapped me?"

Chester said that it was Emma and Owen who ordered that she should be kidnapped. Previously, Georgia doubted that. After all, she offended a lot of people recently.

It never occurred to her that Chester didn't cheat her!

After all, Chester had done that before!

However, Robert came here when she just came to the hospital.

Georgia was suspicious of Robert and even couldn't help mocking him.

Robert was stunned and then sneered.

"Do you think it necessary for me to kidnap you when I want to deal with you? Georgia, you're too naive. I can let you and your man be driven out of the hospital by just making a phone call. Why? Do you want to try it?"

Robert spoke in such a cold voice that Georgia was scared instantly.

It didn't matter if she was driven out of the hospital, but she couldn't let Travis be driven out of hospital.

A bullet had just been removed from the foot of Travis. She couldn't be impulsive. Georgia was forced to give in to him.

"Mr. Simpson, I'm sorry that I offended you just now."

Hearing her apology, Robert wasn't happy. She had never given in to him before.

In the past, Georgia cheated him, played with him and finally gave in to him for the sake of her daughter.

Now, she gave in to him for a man. Robert was nearly overwhelmed by his crazy jealousy.

He suddenly felt that he was very depressed as if he were going to explode with his emotion.

However, he shouldn't be angry or jealous.

Robert told himself that he should leave her.

He should stay away from her and not be affected by her emotionally.

"Georgia, take care of yourself. If you're kidnapped again, you might not be lucky enough to survive!"

After saying that, Robert turned and left directly coldly.

Looking at him with doubt, Vanessa asked Georgia.

"What is he doing? He just said that it wasn't him who sent someone to kidnap you. Gigi, you didn't explained it clearly on the phone. What on earth happened?"

Georgia explained what had happened briefly.

"If Chester didn't lie to me this time, then, it was Emma and Owen who kidnapped me!"

"Fuck! It's normal for Emma to do that. After all, she is originally a vicious person. But Owen is your father! How could he be so vicious?"

Vanessa couldn't help cursing.

Georgia just smiled bitterly.

"He sent me to prison six years ago. Vanessa, forget it. Don't talk about them anymore."

Georgia would be sad when talking about these things. Vanessa knew that, so she tried hard to move to another topic.

"Gigi, is that man inside really Travis?"

Chapter 69 You must Attend My Wedding Ceremony

Vanessa felt that it was amazing. After disappearing for almost ten years, Travis should be back now in such a state.

She felt very sad when Georgia just simply explained the current situation of Travis.

In the past, Travis was the most handsome gentle boy in their school and was famous. Why would he become a fool and even a beggar?

Vanessa couldn't accept it. Anyone who heard it would find it incredible.

Vanessa was a friend of Georgia, and she could also be said to be a friend of Travis. They were always classmates before they went to college.

At that time, they had a good relationship with each other.

Now, seeing that Travis come back ten years later in such a situation, Vanessa was very sad.

"Vanessa, he is Travis. I won't mistake anyone for him. Follow me in and see him."

After Vanessa nodded, Georgia went in the ward with Vanessa.

"Travis, this is Vanessa. Do you still remember her? In the past, you called her Vanessa. We had a good relationship with each other."

After they came close to Travis, Georgia introduced Vanessa to him. Travis raised his head, looked at Vanessa in a daze for several seconds and finally shook his head.

Georgia was somewhat disappointed. Then, she took Travis's hand and then introduced Vanessa to him with a smile.

"Travis, it doesn't matter that you don't remember her. I'll introduce her to you again. She is my friend and her name is Vanessa Cooke. You can call her Vanessa in the future."

This time, Travis smiled at Vanessa and spoke with a somewhat stiff voice.

"Vanessa...Vanessa...Hello..."

However, Vanessa wanted very much to weep. When Georgia told her this on the phone, she still couldn't believe it.

Now, she really saw Travis. He looked old. His hair and beard were so long that his face was covered.

It was only then that she really realized what suffering he had experienced in the past ten years.

Besides, according to Gigi, when Gigi saw him, Travis was very dirty and was dressed in rags.

After trying hard to adjust her mood, Vanessa smiled at Travis.

"Hi, Travis, I'm Vanessa Cooke."

Travis didn't say anything. It appeared that he didn't have much interest in Vanessa. He was taking Georgia's hand. It seemed that he was very reluctant to leave her.

Finally, under the request of Georgia, Vanessa went to buy scissors and razors after paying the fees.

Travis was meek, so Georgia cut his hair and shaved him smoothly.

After that, his hair was extremely short and needed to be dealt with by barber.

Georgia decided that she would take Travis to the barber's after he could walk.

At more than ten o'clock in the evening, Georgia finally put Travis to bed. After that, she was going to leave the ward and talk.

However, before they could reach the door, someone suddenly knocked the door open.

Rachel rushed to Vanessa and slapped her directly in the face.

"Vanessa! You're a bitch! You and Alfred are together behind my back!"

After shouting these words angrily, she tried to slap Vanessa again.

Georgia finally realized what had happened and grabbed Rachel's arm.

"Rachel, are you crazy? Why do you run riot here?"

Rachel's eyes were red and wore a ferocious expression.

Looking at Georgia, she shouted angrily and loudly.

"Why do I run riot here? Ask her what she had done. Just a few days after I left, she should seduce Alfred behind my back. Today, Alfred even married her. So, what about me? What about me?"

"I grew up with Alfred. Then, she suddenly stole Alfred. Finally, she abandoned him, after which I accompanied him for six years. When he went through the hard times during these six years, I was always accompanying him and finally became his fiancée. Now, she stole him and registered for marriage with him. Vanessa, why are you so shameless?"

When she shouted the last few words, her face was covered with tears.

Georgia was surprised. Then she shouted angrily again.

"Rachel, what nonsense are you talking?"

When she just finished speaking, Vanessa took her wrist.

"Gigi, I'll explain it to you later. Let go of her. It's my fault..."

"You really married Alfred?"

Georgia asked in surprise. Vanessa nodded helplessly.

"Yes, I registered for marriage with Alfred today. It's my fault. If she wants to hit me, just let her do it."

It seemed that Vanessa gave herself up as hopeless. Georgia felt lost.

But how could she allow Rachel to beat Vanessa in her presence?

Georgia still grabbed the hands of Rachel and was going to ask her to get out of here.

Suddenly, Georgia saw someone rushed over and punched Rachel with such a great force that she fell to the ground.

Georgia turned around and saw Travis was about to punch Rachel again with a ferocious expression.

Vanessa and Georgia were scared. Rachel was in so much pain that she screamed.

"Travis...Travis...Stop...Stop!"

Hearing her cry, Travis finally stopped his move. He turned around and looked at Georgia with aggrieved eyes.

"Gigi...She is bullying you...She is bullying you..."

Georgia understood what he meant.

It took her great effort to put Travis to sleep. However, Rachel suddenly rushed in, waking up Travis.

And she was in a conflict with Rachel. Travis must have thought that she was being bullied, so he rushed over and hit Rachel. Georgia tried hard to explain.

"Travis, I can deal with her, so I don't need your help...If I have to deal with someone I can't, I'll turn to you..."

After hearing it, Travis no longer looked aggrieved.

"Gigi...I...I understand it. Will...Will you desert me?"

Travis asked in fear as if he had done something wrong.

Georgia shook her head quickly.

"No, you haven't done anything wrong. You're great! Your foot is injured now, so go to the bed and lie down hurriedly. I'll deal with her on my own. Ok?"

Seeing that Travis lay on the bed obediently, Georgia was relieved. She turned around and looked at Rachel. Rachel still lay on the ground, her nose and mouth were bleeding. Seeing this, Georgia didn't know what to say.

However, she finally spoke.

"Rachel, I don't care about what you're thinking, but I warn you not to bully Vanessa!"

"Besides, I don't know what had happened between Vanessa and Alfred. But I can tell you one thing. Vanessa didn't steal Alfred. The fact was that Alfred didn't want you. That's the reason why Alfred married Vanessa. If you feel aggrieved, you can go to argue with Alfred. You shouldn't come here to bully a woman!"

After she said these words, Vanessa took her hand.

"Gigi...stop. It's very complicated and it could be said to my fault. Just let her go."

When they talked, Rachel got up and then sneered coldly.

"Who are you two? I'm bullied by you two. Then, you found another man to hit me. Georgia, what are you so proud of? Let me tell you. I'll go through medical exams now. Later, I'll hire a lawyer and sue you. I'll send you to jail!"

After saying these words, Rachel turned around and left. Georgia found it difficult to deal with this issue.

She felt that Rachel would do as she said this time. However, she had something more important to ask at this moment.

Coming close to the bed of Travis, Georgia smiled at him.

"Travis, sleep. I want to talk to Vanessa...Don't worry. I won't leave."

Probably feeling that he had done something wrong, Travis closed his eyes obediently. Georgia was relieved.

She came close to Vanessa and then took her hand.

"Let's go outside and talk."

Vanessa nodded. Then, they went to somewhere quiet and empty on the first floor of the hospital.

"Vanessa, what on earth happened between you and Alfred?"

Georgia asked after taking a deep breath.

Vanessa didn't want Georgia to worry about her and she didn't want to tell Georgia the fact. Therefore, Vanessa told her the excuse she prepared.

"Gigi, these days, Alfred came to find me several times. He told me that he wasn't really going to marry Rachel that he deliberately did it to annoy me...In a moment of weakness, I had more and more contact with him. Later, he proposed to me...Gigi, I still love him, so I want to have a try. Therefore, I married him today."

Georgia naturally didn't believe what she said.

However, Vanessa had experienced too much sufferings. Georgia didn't have the courage to ask too much about it, but she had to ask something because of her worries.

"Then, does Alfred treat you well now? Vanessa, don't wrong yourself. It's inappropriate for me to say too much about what have happened between you and Alfred. But remember that I'll always back you up."

Vanessa managed to smile. She seemed to be really happy.

"Gigi, I and Alfred have a lot of difficulties to overcome, but I'm sure that we can succeed. I want to have a try because I don't want to leave any regret in my life."

Georgia always knew that she couldn't interfere with the relationship between Vanessa and Alfred even though she had such a close relationship with Vanessa.

Finally, Georgia nodded helplessly.

"If this is the case, live a happy life with Alfred. If you aren't happy, tell me...If you're in need of my help, also tell me."

Vanessa nodded. She seemed to smile brightly.

After their conversation, Vanessa's mobile phone rang.

It was Alfred who called her.

Vanessa talked with Alfred on the phone for a while. Seeing that Vanessa was smiling, Georgia was a little relieved.

After hanging up the phone, Vanessa came close to Georgia.

"Gigi, Alfred called me just now. He told me that he had parked his car in the parking lot of the hospital and that he would pick me up now."

Georgia nodded.

"Then I'll go to the parking lot with you."

Vanessa agreed. When they arrived at the parking lot, Alfred was waiting somewhere not far away from them.

After they came close to Alfred, Alfred smiled at Vanessa and then held Vanessa into his arms.

After that, Alfred looked at Georgia.

"Miss Lane, I would go home safely with Vanessa. Don't worry."

The present Alfred looked similar to the one in her memory. At that time, Vanessa was in love with Alfred; they were intimate with each other like they did now; and Alfred treated her politely like he did now. Georgia gradually believed that it was possible for them to be together again. She nodded.

"Since you are together again, live well. It's a fate for you to love each other. Seeing that you can be together again, I hope that you will live a happy life all your life."

After saying that, Georgia wanted to weep.

Vanessa nodded and Alfred even gave her a promise.

"Don't worry. I'll still hold a wedding ceremony on the 15th of this month. Please attend our wedding ceremony."

Vanessa and Georgia all looked at Alfred in surprise. Alfred smiled at Vanessa.

"I had made it public that I would hold a wedding ceremony on the 15th of this month. And we had registered for marriage. Could it be that you don't want to be a bride?"

Vanessa was suddenly moved. However, not knowing the reason, she was extremely panicky and afraid and felt that there was something wrong with this wedding.

However, it seemed that Alfred was looking forward to it. Seeing this, Vanessa finally nodded.

Then, she looked at Georgia.

"Gigi, you must attend my wedding."

Georgia was surprised that they should hold a wedding ceremony so soon. She nodded.

After seeing them off, Georgia went back to the hall of the hospital on the first floor and was about to come back to Travis's ward by lift. However, she fell down after she took only a few steps.

Chapter 70 You Are Pregnant

When Georgia woke up, she found that she was lying in a sickbed. Feeling that there was a pain in her brain, Georgia rubbed her temple. Then, a nurse went in.

"You're awake. The doctor asks you to go to her office."

Georgia nodded in doubt and then followed the nurse to the office of the doctor.

She still remembered that she fell in a faint on the first floor. Could it be that there was something wrong with her?

When Georgia followed the nurse in, she found that she was in the gynecology department. After she sat down, she found a woman in her 40s who wore glasses sitting opposite her.

The doctor's dark hair was tied in a ponytail and she wore a somewhat sullen expression. According to the name tag on her chest, her name was Alyssia Barker. Georgia greeted her.

"Hi, Doctor Barker."

After the doctor asked her to sit down, the nurse left the room and closed the door.

"Do I have any health problem, Doctor Barker?"

Georgia asked gently. Looking at her, Doctor Barker handed a report to Georgia.

"You fell in a faint in the hospital. When we had a blood test for you, we found that you were pregnant for a short time. When is your last period?"

Hearing her simple statement, Georgia was stunned.

She felt dizzy and felt as if the world had fallen into darkness. There was a lot of sweat in her palms. Her lips were even trembling.

"Doctor Barker, did I mishear you? You say that I'm pregnant. How is it possible?"

Georgia remembered well that she had had contraceptive after she slept with Robert last time. How was it possible that she was pregnant? Georgia couldn't believe it.

Doctor Barker frowned and put on a sullen expression.

"Why, you don't want the baby?"

Georgia was trembling all over and managed to spoke in a gentle voice.

"Doctor Barker, well, why would I be pregnant after I had taken emergency contraception? I believe what you said, but I just don't understand why."

Hearing what she said, Doctor Barker's face darkened more.

"If you don't want to have a baby, you young people should take good precaution. Why do you take emergency contraception after that? Don't you know that it's harmful to your health? Besides, emergency contraception has a high failure rate. Now, it's obvious that the pill you took failed. It's very common."

Hearing her severe criticism, Georgia instantly wept. Her lips were trembling and she couldn't say a word for a long time.

It could be said to be late at night. Doctor Barker also looked over her emergently at midnight.

Seeing her vulnerable expression and considering that she might have spoken in a severe tone just now, Doctor Barker comforted her in a soft voice.

"You can give birth to a child at your age. Why, you and your husband don't want this child?"

Georgia shook her head, not knowing how to explain.

Finally, she took the hand of the doctor and asked again.

"Doctor Barker, am I really pregnant?"

Doctor Barker nodded with certainty.

"Of course. Don't you believe our diagnosis?"

Georgia became completely desperate. Remembering that she had taken the emergency contraception, she asked worriedly.

"Doctor, I had taken emergency contraception. Will the baby be influenced by it?"

"I'm not sure. According to WHO, the side effect of emergency contraception is slight. However, as you know, it depends. For example, many people who take contraceptives don't suffer from side effect. However, someone would feel sick and feel like vomiting after taking it. Now, you're pregnant for too short a time. It's even impossible for you to receive B-Ultrasound exam. You can only check it after you're pregnant for a longer time. Of course, if you don't want this baby at that time, you can make an appointment for abortion surgery in advance."

Georgia was pale and couldn't say a word.

Doctor Barker thought that she was cheated by a bad man, so she comforted her again.

"You can decide whether to give birth to this baby or not. However, if you want this baby, you must pay attention to your health. I have read your health report, you're severely malnourished. You're too thin, so you need more nutrition."

Georgia smiled bitterly.

She was still suffering from anorexia. Every day, she could only force herself to eat a little food.

At many times, she ate all her food with a smile and then vomited secretly.

"Doctor Barker, I get it. Thank you."

Leaving the office with a heavy heart, Georgia dared not go back to Travis's ward.

After she went to a stair, she crouched down and cried in despair.

She didn't know how long she cried, but she found that it was almost dawn and that there were more and more people in the hospital.

With people coming and going in the hospital, it was still noisy. No one knew how she felt at this moment.

When she gave birth to Annie, she was so excited. She didn't know who was Annie's father, but she knew that Annie was all she had.

Now, she had another child. Besides, she knew who the father of the child was.

Robert was the father of her child. Now, they hated each other so much.

Robert wished her to die soon. How could she have a baby with him?

Georgia thought that the God was playing a trick on her. She had already taken the emergency contraception. Why would it fail?

How should she deal with the current situation?

Now, she had to work and take care of Annie at the same time.

Besides, she had to bear the attack of Robert, and even Emma and the Lane family.

In her opinion, it was possible that she couldn't keep the baby.

She considered in despair for a long time. Finding that it was already more than seven o'clock in the morning, Georgia immediately gathered her wits.

She couldn't be absent from work. She must go to work.

After adjusting her mood, Georgia went back to the ward. She must tell Travis that she would go to work.

Otherwise, Travis would be in a panic when he found that she wasn't there.

However, when Georgia came back to the ward, she found that Travis wasn't in bed. She searched for him in toilet and somewhere else, but failed to find him.

Could it be that Travis had already left?

Considering that Travis was a fool now, Georgia was very afraid that Travis would be cheated by someone or even be lost.

She searched for Travis here and there, but failed to find him. Then, she returned to the ward again and wanted to see that if Travis was back or not.

Georgia didn't see Travis in the ward, but she saw a policeman and a policewoman who were dressed in police uniforms.

When she was in a panic, they came close to her.

"Are you Miss Lane? Before, your friend, Vanessa, reported you missing. Last night, you came back. Can you answer some questions? We need to know what had happened." _____
