

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 347 After listening to the story of Blue Enchantress, David felt sorry for this girl, At the same time, he was wondering whether this girl was lying. How long had he been in Chaos Land? He had already met two people who had great bitterness, deep hatred, and bloody feuds.

The first was Killer and the second was Blue Enchantress.

How could there be such a coincidence? Killer should be fine. After all, he was a mid-Dragon Ranker, so there was no need for him to lie to David.

However, Blue Enchantress might trying to pull a fast one. . He had some doubts about whether this girl made up this story to save herself from him. However, since he could not tell whether she was telling the truth or lying, he would just keep her for the time being. He would judge her based on her future performance and if she was lying, it would not be too late to take action then. He was not afraid that she might harbor evil intentions toward him.

In the face of absolute strength, any conspiracy and dirty tricks were futile. In reality, David did not know that in Chaos Land, many people bore blood feuds. However, the ones who could grow until they have sufficient strength and have the chance to seek revenge like those two were very rare.

"From now on, I'll call you Blue and you'll work for me from. By the way, I'll tell you a surprise, Black Water is dead," David said, looking at Blue Enchantress.

"What? Black Water is dead? Really?" Blue Enchantress asked in surprise. "He died while you were unconscious just now. He came to arrest you, but he offended me so I killed him. Originally, I didn't like you assassins, but after listening to your story, I chose to believe you and keep you with me for the time being."

"Thank you," Blue Enchantress thanked him while sobbing softly.

"You can call me Sir. If everything you said was true, then I can help you whenever you meet a n enemy whom you can't defeat." "Really? Thank you, Sir!" At this moment, an enchanting woman in her thirties walked up to the second floor. She was wearing a bodycon dress that accentuated her curvy body and she was holding two bottles of collector's edition red wine.

She was the boss of the bar, Tulip. "Blue, come here," David called out.

"Yes, Sir." Blue Enchantress walked behind David and stood in place.

Talip was stunned

Orginally, she wanted to keep Blue Enchantress with her.

After all, she was the number nine assassin in the Killer Rank. She might not have amazing combat abilities, but she did have excellent assassination methods.

Sir, my name is Tulip, and I am the boss of Rock Bar. I've kept these two bottles of red wine for many years, and I've brought them out specially for you," Tulip said in an alluring voice. "You're too courteous, Miss Tulip. I'm about to leave so I'll just drink them next time." David got up and was about to leave after he said that. However, Tulip stopped him. "Sir, please stop." "Can I help you, Miss Tulip?" David asked. "Sir, is this your first time in Chaos Land?" "That's right." "Even though I'm not anyone powerful in the Peace Area, people still respect me. If you need me for anything, just tell me. I'll definitely take good care of it for you," Tulip said to David, looking at him seductively. When David heard what Tulip said, he pondered for a while before sitting back down. He said, " Since you said that, I do have something that I need your help with."

"Let's talk as we drink then."

Chapter 348 Tulip opened a bottle of red wine and poured a glass for David and herself

David stopped being courteous too. He raised his glass and toasted with Tulip before the two of them took a sip.

"May I know what I should call you?" Tulip asked, "My surname is Liddel, but you can call me Silver Face." "I'll just call you Mr. Lidell, I wonder, what do you want me to do for you?" "Miss Tulip, you should have a channel to contact those large and medium-sized mercenary groups, right?" "I can indeed get in touch with some of them."

"I want you to help me send a message to those large and medium-sized mercenary groups." "Mr. Lidell, please tell me more."

"In one week, Red Flame Mercenaries that I founded will set off to attack Dark Cape and take down the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries. Anyone who wants to come to help Red Flames can name their price. Plus, Tyrant will definitely die so I promise there would not be any unexpected harms," David said seriously,

What?

Blue Enchantress, who was standing behind Tulip and David, was shocked and she inhaled sharply.

'Mr. Lidell is going to attack Dark Cape?' Bloodthirsty Mercenaries was the third-ranked mercenary group in the global underground world, and Tyrant was recognized as the number one figure in the Dragon Rank

Although Tulip determined that David's strength should be in the realm of a peak Dragon Ranker, there was still a gap between peak Dragon Rankers. A peak Dragon Ranker like Tyrant, who was about to take that small step, was much stronger than someone who had just entered the peak Dragon Rank

Moreover, Tyrant had been the number one in the Dragon Rank for several years, so who knew whether he had already taken that small step?

Who could guarantee that a strong man of this level would die? She did not dare to spread the news indiscriminately.

If something bad happened, she would be finished.

She originally wanted to curry favor with a peak Dragon Ranker, but he turned out to be someone who overestimated his power. 'Does he think that anyone can kill Tyrant?

'Where does he think Tyrant gets his name from?' He got his name by killing people in the mercenary world anyone who oftendum armi tortured and killed by him in the most perverted ways. Whenever people in the terrain world talked about Tyrant, they would do so fearfully

No one wanted to mess with Tyrant, And with Tyrant's character, he had offended a lot of people, but he was still serve wd well now If Tyrant was really that cany to kill, he would have died a long time ago, "Mr. Lidell, I'm sorry, I dare not spread this news for you," "Tulip said apologetically, "Oh? Why?" *Tyrant's brutality is known throughout the underground world, No one wants to provoke him. Even if I publish it for you, no one will come forward." "Do you not believe that I'll kill him?" David asked, "Mr. Lidell, with all due respect, Tyrant is officially recognized as the number one in the Dragon Rank. Even if you're a peak Dragon Ranker, he's not your opponent. Plus, I've not heard of Tyrant taking any action in the past two years. It's possible he's already taken the small step forward. You're still young and you have so much potential. You still have all the opportunities to do this in the future. Why do you have to go now?" Tulip mustered up her courage and asked.

She was good at reading people and this Mr. Lidell in front of her did not look like those people who would not take advice from others.

She believed that she could get on his good side after she said this. At the end of the day, he was still a peak Dragon Ranker, so she would gain a lot of benefits if she formed a good relationship with him.

David smiled and did not say anything. When Tulip wanted to say something, a suffocating aura came from David's body and it enveloped the entire second floor of Rock Bar.

Chapter 349

Tulip had a look of horror on her face, she opened his mouth to say something but nothing came out.

His aura was too strong so that she, a mid-Dragon Ranker, could not resist it at all,

This was obviously no longer the aura that belonged to a peak Dragon Ranker.

Could it be?

Tulip stared at David with wide eyes

Had he already taken that small step?

How was this possible?

Although David wore half of the silver mask and he had deliberately altered his voice, Tulip still thought that David should be no more than 35 years old.

At this age, he had already surpassed the peak of the Dragon Rank and taken that one step beyond. Did it mean that he would steadily enter the next realm in the future?

While Tulip was shocked, infinite surprises filled her heart.

This was a true master

As long as she seized this opportunity and relied on this powerful person, she would grow to be famous in the entire underground world in the future.

Tulip was not the only one at the scene who was surprised.

Blue Enchantress was also very excited.

The rest of her enemies were the high-level executives of the large mercenary group that invaded her homeland ten years ago. They were already very powerful masters ten years ago, and she thought she would never be able to kill them all in her lifetime.

However, the strength that Sir had shown now filled her with endless hope.

'I have to work for him properly. This is my only chance of seeking revenge.'

"Miss Tulip, do you still think I can't defeat Tyrant now?" David stopped exuding his aura and asked with a smile.

"M-Mr. Lidell, you're so funny. I was a snob just now. It seems that Mr. Lidell is an incredibly powerful person. Don't worry, just leave this to me. When the time comes, I will bring all of them to help you in attacking Dark Cape," Tulip said apologetically.

Since David had taken that step, Tyrant's advantage as the number one in the Dragon Rank would mean nothing. Therefore, she decided to bet on this with David.

Not everyone could have this chance.

Besides, once Tyrant was not around to terrorize Dark Cape, his influence would drop by 50%.

Plus, if she did not seize this opportunity now, once David broke through a new realm, she was worried that it might become difficult to meet him again.

David would be a mainstay for all of the powerful forces with his level of power,

Since Mr. Lidell was so successful at such a young age, his identity and background was definitely not so simple.

"Wise move, Miss Tulip. Don't you worry, I will naturally be the one taking care of Justin the Tyrant. I will kill him and there won't be any unforeseen dangers left that might spring up on you all. If we take down Dark Cape, I will not treat anyone who participated unfairly. When that happens, you can choose to continue working for me or you can choose to leave with all the money that will be enough for you to live the rest of your life without worry."

"Thank you, Mr. Lidell. I will surely do everything I can to help you."

"So, I'll see you in one week. The wine's pretty good. Thanks for your hospitality."

After David finished talking, he finished the wine left in his glass and then left the bar along with Blue Enchantress.

Tulip sat on the second floor alone and was slightly dazed.

She recalled the aura David released just now. She was right, he was definitely someone who went beyond the peak of Dragon Rank and had taken that small step. That was the reason why he could put her under such huge pressure and made it hard for her to move her body.

Plus, Mr. Lidell even referred to Tyrant as Justin the Tyrant.

This meant that he definitely knew Tyrant.

Since he knew him, then he must have been prepared. Thus, it was worth it for her to give this matter a try.

If they won, by she was currying favors with a powerful man like Mr. Lidell, her identity would also rise when he broke through to the next realm.

Chapter 350

At that time, why should she live a flirtatious life in Chaos Land?

Even though she was powerful and was a mid-Dragon Ranker, in Chaos Land, the strength of several large scale mercenary group captains had already reached the late stages of the Dragon Rank and their first deputy captain also had the strength of a mid-Dragon Ranker. Black Water Mercenaries could only be regarded as the bottom among the large mercenary group

Once Black Water Mercenaries met them, they would have to humble themselves to please them

Two of the captains even showed great interest in her but she could only delay them as much as possible while she was facing these strong mercenaries.

Now, it was a good time to gather them so they could learn about her relationship with Mr. Lidell. With Mr. Liddell's current strength, they would not dare to do anything to her anymore.

Moreover, her current situation was also a bit tasteless. She had lived in Chaos Land for many years and had always wanted to leave. However, if she did not join a certain force, she would have nowhere to go

No one would allow her, a mid-Dragon Ranker of unknown origins, to move around freely within their jurisdiction

Even if she joined them, the other party would become suspicious of her and monitor her, so she could only stay in Chaos Land,

This was the best opportunity she had encountered in so many years and she had to seize it.

David brought Blue Enchantress to the hotel where he was staying and got a room for her as well.

When the two just walked into the corridor, Blue Enchantress whispered in his ear, "Sir, someone's watching you. I think they might want to take action against you."

"Oh? You can sense it too?" David asked curiously.

"Yes, this is my talent."

“Great. I’ll leave this to you. If they want money and my life, then you should just kill them. If they only want money, then you should teach them a lesson,” David said.

His strong mind power naturally allowed him to sense that a few people were watching him. One of them was the woman who knocked on her door when he got to the hotel.

“Yes, Sir.”

After Blue Enchantress said that, she slowly disappeared.

She was indeed a top assassin as she was incredibly good at disguising herself. Fortunately, he had strong mind power, if not, ordinary people would not be able to notice her.

David went back to his room, and after a while, he heard knocking at the door,

He opened the door and saw Blue. Next to her was a middle aged man kneeling on the ground,

When the middle-aged man saw David, he quickly kowtowed.

“Sir, we failed to recognize someone as powerful as you and we offended you. Please spare us.”

“You should be repeat offenders here, right?” David asked. “Sir, we just want money and we’d never hurt anyone. We can give all of our money to you but please spare us,” the middle-aged man said while kowtowing.

“From now on, don’t let me see you doing this kind of shady business again. Get lost!”

When David said the last word, he filled it with overwhelming authority.

The middle-aged man shook and intense terror filled his heart. He did not dare to fight back at all.

David’s word was like an imperial edict and it was tattooed on his heart.

“Yes, of course! We’ll definitely turn over a new leaf. Thank you for not killing us, Sir!”

David closed the door and Blue Enchantress also opened the door next to his before entering the room.

Only the middle-aged man was left kneeling in front of David’s door, wiping away the sweat on his forehead.

He almost died so, of course, he was shaken to his core.

He knelt there for ten more minutes. After he made sure everything was fine, he got up and left quickly.

Chapter 351

A week passed quickly

During this week. David and Blue Enchantress would walk the streets of the Peace Area every day.

They entrapped people and also seduced those who did not have proper jobs to take the bait.

However, he and Blue Enchantress would also often teach lessons to people who wanted to rob them because of their wealthy appearance

Two Oangs even wanted to sexually assault Blue Enchantress and rob them of their money. However, they were swiftly killed by the latter

In the past week, two people who despised evil appeared in the Peace Area, and they scared people who operated in this field so much that they did not dare to go out

Therefore, in the last two days, no one had taken the bait at all.

Today was the day when everyone gathered.

David was sitting on the main seat of the hall in the temporary gathering place of Red Flame Mercenaries, with Blue Enchantress and Paul standing behind him. At this moment, the hall was full of people, unlike a week ago when there were only a dozen people present.

They were all captains of mercenary groups of various sizes in Chaos Land. Most of them came for the high commission and not many of them truly wanted to join Red Flame.

Only Killer's small team, Black Water Mercenaries, and some scattered mercenaries really wanted to join

However, the group was also much stronger than a week ago. There were now three masters in the late stage of Dragon Rank, and they were all captains of large mercenary groups in Chaos Land.

Two of them were recruited by Tulip while one was persuaded by Killer. Additionally, there were also many other mid-and beginner-stage Dragon Rankers

With so many large and small forces gathered together, their group started to look like they mean business

Coupled with the fact that David was a super master above peak level, no one dared to ignore the existence of his force.

"I'm Silver Face, the captain of Red Flame Mercenaries and the initiator of this mission. If you have any questions, you can ask me," David said.

"Captain Silver Face, can you really kill Tyrant?" Asked Lion King, one of the captains at the late stage of Dragon Rank

This was also the concern of everyone present.

They liked money, but they also needed to be alive to spend the money

If Tyrant did not die during their attack on Dark Cape this time, everyone would have to suffer in the future.

"Naturally, I wouldn't joke about this with you guys." David said,

"How would you prove it? Talk is cheap, we will not..."

Before Lion King could finish speaking, David emanated an aura that terrified everyone present. It enveloped the entire hall and then disappeared in an instant,

"Do you believe me now?" David asked insipidly.

“I don't believe you. I didn't expect Captain Silver Face to have taken that step. I feel so ashamed of being inferior to you. I, Lion King, will definitely support you, Captain Silver Face,” Lion King said respectfully.

The stronger they were, the better they understood David's strength. With Lion King's strength, which was in the late stage of the Dragon Rank, he had absolutely no room for resistance in the face of the aura David just let out.

This was not something a peak Dragon Ranker could do. Lion King knew he would not be able to defeat Tyrant, but he would still have the courage to face him.

However, he did not dare to endure the aura David had just emanated.

“Any other questions?” David continued to ask.

“Captain Silver Face, I want to ask how we should divide the benefits after we take down Dark Cape. After all, we came for the benefits so it's better if we make it clear now. Plus, you aside, we're the strongest among all the mercenaries and we brought so many people along. We can't get the same treatment as the others, right?” Another master at the late stage of the Dragon Rank asked.

The other masters also looked at David, waiting for his answer.

This was related to their interests.

Chapter 352 Dark Cape was blessed by the heavens, and if they could jointly occupy and manage the land, their life in the future would be much more comfortable.

Even if they could not, they would try to get more benefits from Silver Face.

“After we take down Dark Cape, I will reward you in proportion to how much you've contributed and give you enough money to satisfy you. In this place, just because you're strong, it doesn't mean you'll contribute more. It depends on your role in this mission. However, Red Flame Mercenaries will be the only ones occupying Dark Cape, and if I think you've made a large contribution, I will issue you a Silver Secret Order. Those who have the Silver Secret Order will get a promise from me. You should all be aware of the weight of this promise,” David said in a low voice.

When David said this, everyone's eyes lit up.

A promise from Captain Silver Face?

With his current realm, it was a very hefty reward. If they kept this secret order until the day he broke through to the next realm, the value would increase exponentially.

If this was left to the end, it would be a foundation for power!

This would guarantee their safety for a few decades at least.

No one could resist such a temptation.

A promise from a master that was about to break through to the legendary realm.

Everyone on the scene had been in Chaos Land for many years, so who among them did not have enemies?

At this time, if Red Flame Mercenaries took down Dark Cape and Captain Silver Face killed Tyrant, his fame would skyrocket and anyone who held the Silver Secret Order would also be respected.

“Don’t worry, Captain Silver Face. Since you have said so, we will do everything in our power to help you seize Dark Cape.”

“Yes, we will definitely help you take control of Dark Cape,” everyone said in unison.

“Alright, now that nobody has any problems, you should lead your own teams and break them up into small groups. We will meet on the west side of Dark Cape in three days. Once there, I will challenge Tyrant, the number one Dragon Rank, and everyone will witness how I kill Tyrant in person.”

Everyone left with their teams in tow. Right now, they needed to rush to Dark Cape.

Their current location was nearly 1000 kilometers away from Dark Cape. Although three days were more than enough, they still wanted to get there as soon as possible, so as not to miss the battle of the century.

This battle was destined to go down in history.

There were only about 3000 people who belonged to 10 Red Flame Mercenaries, a figure they only reached after David recruited more than 1000 people from Black Water Mercenaries.

However, what surprised David was that the owner of Rock Bar, Tulip, a mid-Dragon Ranker, had also stayed.

David then split the team of 3000 people into a few small teams. He let Killer and the other strongest members each lead a team before taking off.

Meanwhile, David brought Blue Enchantress and left on their own.

Dark Cape.

On the land that borders Somerland and Falconia, the only place not disturbed by magnetic fields.

The geographical location of this place was unique, and the two empires are forced to pass through this area if they want to trade. Even planes would need to fly above it.

Neither of the two empires allowed each other to occupy this territory, so the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries seized the chance to do so.

Before Bloodthirsty Mercenaries occupied this place, it was controlled by multiple factions.

However, after it was seized by the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries, this place fell exclusively under their control.

Anyone passing through this place, whether it was a car, a ship, or a plane, would need to pay, resulting in the checkpoint fee the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries collected every year being an astronomical amount.

Therefore, despite having tens of thousands of members, after occupying this place, Bloodthirsty Mercenaries had not needed to perform a single mission. This place was too profitable, such that they did not have to worry about money at all.

Chapter 353

There was a huge castle in the center of Dark Cape.

The core of the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries lived here, including Justin the Tyrant.

The low-level members of the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries were sent to every corner of Dark Cape, guarding this piece of land that they personally believed belonged to them. They would have rotate positions once a day.

The Bloodthirsty Mercenaries had been occupying Dark Cape for many years and they had slowly abandoned the structure of a mercenary group and began to develop into a sect.

There were three guardians, six elders, and eight secret societies.

Currently, in the great halls of the castle, the core of Bloodthirsty Mercenaries were all gathered.

Sitting in the main seat was a thin middle-aged man with a pale face, a green shirt, and a folding fan in his hand. He looked like a scholar from ancient times.

It was hard to associate this person's image with the legendary Tyrant.

However, the truth was that this thin and weak-looking middle-aged man was Justin the Tyrant, the captain of Bloodthirsty Mercenaries.

His strength reached the peak of the Dragon Rank and he had been number one in the Dragon Rank for five years. All those who challenged him had been brutally killed in various ways. His brutal reputation resonated throughout the underground world, making countless people tremble at the mere mention of his name.

"Parker, report the situation," Justin the Tyrant said.

"Yes, Captain," one of the middle-aged men in his forties stood up and replied.

Immediately afterward, he continued, "When we inspected the edge of the waters of Dark Cape this time, we found a luxury cruise ship with more than 1000 people on it, of which 700 were guests and more than 300 were the staff. These 700 people are all from the upper-class circles of more than ten countries, including the two empires."

"Everyone, what should we do with these people?" Tyrant asked.

“Captain, why don’t we let the people from the two empires go? And we’ll ask the families of the rest to prepare a large ransom in exchange for them.”

“I think we should treat them equally. We can’t be biased to the two empires. What can they do to us? Ask each of them to prepare a ransom of 10 million dollars. We’ll release the hostages once we receive the money, otherwise, we’ll throw them into the sea to feed the fishes.”

“Agreed, we can’t let other people look down on Bloodthirsty Mercenaries. The two empires must also pay to get back their people, but I have to choose two girls to warm my bed first, I haven’t tried beauties from the upper-class before.”

“Yeah, I agree. I want to choose a few too!”

“I agree too!”

The high-level executives in the room spoke up.

However, some people expressed different views.

“I think it’s better not to offend the two empires. If the two empires join forces to drive us away, we’ll be finished.”

“Derek, why are you so timid? How could the two empires ever join forces? You are overthinking things. They obviously want to kill each other. How else would we get the chance to occupy Dark Cape?” “It’s a possibility.” “The possibility you mentioned will never happen!”

“I agree with Derek. We should avoid offending the two empires as much as possible.”

Everyone in the hall was giving their opinions. It was a little noisy and they were now split into two sides.

One of the sides said that they could not let Bloodthirsty Mercenaries appear weak and they completely disregard the two empires.

On the contrary, the other team felt that they should not offend the two empires and they should instead keep a amiable relationship with them.

Tyrant tapped the table with his folding fan.

The hall fell into silence. Anything Tyrant said in Dark Cape would be the imperial edict and no one would dare to go against him.

Chapter 354

Tyrant thought for a while and said, “Ask for all the identities of these people and ask for ransoms according to their family’s situation, let’s just say half of their family’s property. As for the citizens of the two major empires, just take some money from them as a token. You can have your pick from among the ones who refuse to pay, and you can throw the rest into the pond to feed the piranhas.”

Captain Tyrant had made the final decision and no one raised any objections.

Feeding the hostages to the piranhas was far crueler than throwing them into the sea.

Dark Cape had a huge pond where Tyrant kept many piranhas. Most of those who opposed him were thrown in there to be fish food.

This showed how brutal Justin was.

“Rory, continue the report,” Tyrant said again.

“Yes, Captain.”

A gentle-looking man in his thirties stood up and spoke.

“According to the information received, a month ago, Chaos Land established a mercenary group called Red Flame. Using a large amount of money as incentive, they attracted a lot of mercenary groups in Chaos Land and are going to attack Dark Cape.”

“Rory, you don’t need to tell me this, right? So many people wanted to attack Dark Cape but how many dare to come in the end?”

“Yeah! This is just a way for them to get famous. How dare those irrelevant rats say they want to attack Dark Cape? It seems they have forgotten the fear Bloodthirsty Mercenaries brought to Chaos Land after so many years of us not acting.”

“It’s not the same this time,” Rory, the trusted adviser, said.

“Oh? What’s so different?”

“Red Flame Mercenaries are on their way to Dark Cape and they’ve joined forces with three large mercenary groups in the Chaos Land. The captains are masters in the late stage of the Dragon Rank. The combined number of people from these three groups comes up to more than 10 thousand. In addition to Red Flame and those scattered small and medium-sized mercenary groups, there are more than 20 thousand people on their way to attack Dark Cape. Plus, Red Flame Mercenaries even spent a lot of money purchasing a lot of the most advanced weapons to prepare for this,” Rory said with a serious look on his face.

After Rory said that, the high-level executives in the room were all shocked.

An allied army of more than 20 thousand people was on its way to attack Dark Cape with the most advanced weapons in the world?

This was no joke.

It would definitely cause them a lot of trouble since this battle would not be easy. Still, they never thought they would lose because Tyrant was their captain. “Rory, who is the captain of the Red Flame Mercenaries? How did he convince the three mercenary groups to come and court death?” Someone asked.

“I don’t know his identity for the time being, I only know that he wears a silver mask and calls himself

Silver Face. He appeared in the Chaos Land more than a week ago. It is suspected that he has reached the peak of the Dragon Rank, if not, I can't explain why the three masters at the late stage of Dragon Rank would agree to come."

After Rory finished speaking, he looked at everyone with a solemn expression.

If everyone was just surprised just now, now, they were shocked, at the peak of the Dragon Rank was leading three great masters in the late stage of the Dragon Rank. It seemed that there would also be a few beginners and mid-Dragon Rankers. Plus, there were 20 thousand allied troops and countless advanced weapons.

A super master

Even if this power was not comparable to Bloodthirsty Mercenaries, it was not far behind.

If the captain was kept at bay by the other side's peak Dragon Ranker, then it was really hard to determine the outcome of this battle.

After all, they had lived in Dark Cape for nearly ten years and their savageness had long been diminished by this comfortable and peaceful life.

In the past few years, the few women that had been abducted here via various means had already born several children. Hence, in their hearts, these men were no longer willing to fight to the death anymore.

Chapter 355

"Captain, I think we need to pay special attention to this incident and bring the guardian and elder back. It will definitely be a tough battle this time and we can't take it lightly." Parker said,

"Yes, they're coming at us so aggressively. We should call the guardian and the elder as soon as possible so we can plan everything accordingly and not give the enemy a chance."

The high-level executives of the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries who were present started discussing among themselves

Tyrant sat on his seat steadily and he did not say anything. He was letting everyone discuss

More than a week ago, he received a call from his nephew who was hoping that Tyrant would send two masters to Capital City to help with the Chasez family's development.

At the end of the day, they were his family so he could not refuse. Besides, if his father Joseph had not sent him abroad overnight, he might still be squatting in the prison in Somerland.

Thus, more than a week ago, he sent a guardian and an elder to Capital City in Somerland to temporarily join the Chasez family and act as the family's bodyguards to help with their development.

Therefore, he could not just call them to come back.

Moreover, did he need to call the guardian and elder back for this minor thing?

If even these people could not fight back, could an extra guardian and elder turn the situation around?

They could only blame themselves for living too comfortably over the past few years and completely losing their motivation to fight.

He could not let this happen.

It seemed that after this incident, the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries would need to change as if this continued, sooner or later, everyone would become a tiger without teeth.

After waiting for everyone to finish talking, Tyrant said, "You're so scared by this trivial matter. I think you have been living too comfortably in the past few years. After this incident, I will completely transform the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries. You guys had lost the motivation you had back then and coincidentally, we have lost our status in Chaos Land. When the time comes, I'll ask half of our men to stay in Dark Cape and half of the men to go into the Chaos Land to reinstate our glory." 1

Gosh!

Everyone looked at Tyrant in confusion, not knowing whether he was serious or not.

However, if it was true, there would be a question of who would go and who would stay.

"Captain, we will discuss the transformation of the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries later. We should still focus on the allied army of the Red Flame Mercenaries and prepare in advance," Rory said on the side.

If anyone in Bloodthirsty Mercenaries dared to question what Tyrant said, it would be Rory.

This was not because of how strong Rory was, but because many of his ideas had made Dark Cape prosper after they seized Dark Corner.

Even though Tyrant was cruel, he was not stupid. If not, how would he have achieved so much? Hence, he was very accommodating to Rory.

"Rory, do you think the others will still dare to continue their attack on Dark Cape if I kill the captain of Red Flame Mercenaries?". Tyrant asked.

Rory was stunned.

Judging from the current situation of the scattered allied army of Red Flame Mercenaries, as long as Silver Face, a peak Dragon Ranker, was dead, no one else would dare to attack Dark Cape.

However, he envisioned that if the captain was hindered by Silver Face, a tough fight would follow.

The current Bloodthirsty Mercenaries were no longer the Bloodthirsty Mercenaries of old. If they really tried to fight, they might not be able to beat those mercenaries who had been doing missions in the Chaos Land all year round.

"But if you're hindered by Silver Face, Captain, we won't necessarily win," Rory said.

"You don't believe in me?"

“I just need to take all the possibilities into account to be fully prepared,” Rory said seriously.

“Then I should tell you that there is actually a gap between peak Dragon Rankers. There is another transitional realm above the peak. If you take that step, even a peak Dragon Ranker would be nothing.”

“Captain, d—did you break through that step?” Rory asked in shock, his eyes widening.

The other Bloodthirsty Mercenaries high-level executives also looked at Tyrant excitedly, waiting for his answer.

If the captain really took that step, they would not need to worry about the allied army this time and Bloodthirsty Mercenaries’ reputation would surely catch up with the second-ranked Mandala Mercenaries in the global underground world.

Chapter 504 Capital City in Somerland.

The Lovewoods.

Today was a huge day for the Lovewoods.

It was because the daughter of the Lovewoods, Lorraine, who had been missing for ten years had come back

This was the influential figure who caused a stir in Capital City ten years ago.

Everyone knew that back then, the two heirs of the elite aristocratic families in Capital City, Stan from the Warner family and Clinton from the Zimmerman family, turned against each other because of Lorraine.

Furthermore, people who had seen Lorraine before would only describe her with two words.

“A peerless talent!”

The woman who appeared in Capital City like a comet ten years ago overshadowed all the young women in Capital City.

After disappearing for ten years, she had finally appeared again.

This time, Lorraine did not hide her tracks when she came back. All of the presentable families in Capital City knew Lorraine was back.

Thus, everyone thought she had come back to complete the ten-year appointment.

The storm was rising in Somerland again.

Everyone was excited to see what would happen between Stan from the Warner family and Clinton from the Zimmerman family.

The person who won would rise to the top to become the number one among the young people in Somerland would from then on be an irresistible force. Meanwhile, the person who lost would just be regarded as a stepping stone.

This was not just a clash between the two young men, it was also a clash between two of the biggest elite aristocratic families in Somerland.

The Lovewoods could only be regarded as first-rate family in Capital City.

They had been suppressed countless times over these two years.

Not only was the heir of the Lovewoods being imprisoned, but even Old Master Lovewood had been severely injured.

If it was not for the Warner family and the Zimmerman family, they would have been in dire straits a long time ago.

According to rumors, Lorraine was taken in by a hidden sect when she was young...

Hidden sects and families represented mystery and power in the eyes of the public

Therefore, Capital City would not be too peaceful this time Lorraine had returned.

Inside the living room of the Lovewood Manor, a middle-aged woman was crying while holding Lorraine.

She was Lorraine's mother, Eve Simms.

Grant, Fred, the seventh elder, and ninth elder from the Krums, were also here.

They spent a few days traveling from Krum Mountain to Capital City.

"My darling Lori, you're finally back. I missed you so much!" The middle-aged woman said as she wept.

"Mom, don't cry. I'm here, aren't I?" Lorraine replied, her eyes red.

Even though she had been taken to Krum Mountain when she was young and she only got to come back once every ten years, resulting in her not seeing her family often, this did not affect how much she missed her family.

She still remembered that she had been the most spoiled child at home.

When she spotted her parents whom she had not seen in a long time, she could not hold herself back

"Come, let me take a good look at you."

Eve pulled Lorraine to sit down at one side before looking at her daughter closely.

"You didn't change at all. You're still as pretty as you were ten years ago," Eve smiled and said.

"Mom, it's been ten years and you already have gray hair," Lorraine said, distressed when she looked at her mother's graying hair.

"I am already in my fifties, so of course, I'll have gray hair. If you don't come back soon, the next time you'll see me is when I'm underground."

“Mom, don’t say that. You will be able to live till you’re a hundred.”

“Alright, stop making a fool out of yourselves,” Elliot Lovewood said.

“Dad,” Lorraine called out to Elliot.

“Hey, it’s good that you’re back. It’s good that you’re back,” Elliot said with a grin.