

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 790

Her eyes were a little red and swollen.

Apparently, she had been crying for a long time.

“Miss Pearl...”

David opened his mouth and wanted to say something.

However, he did not expect Pearl to not give him the chance before pushing him onto the bed.

However, the moment David fell on the bed, he let out a pained sound.

“What’s the matter? What’s wrong? David, did I hurt you? Where? Show me!” Pearl quickly got up from David and asked nervously.

“It’s alright, Miss Pearl, it’s just a minor injury. I’m a doctor, so I understand my situation and I’ll be fine in two more days,” David sat up and said.

He did that on purpose.

His injury was not serious, and after treating himself last night, he was almost healed.

The reason for this was that he was worried that things would get out of control soon.

Judging from Miss Pearl’s stance, it looked like she would not give up until she got what she wanted.

Hence, he could only do this to calm Miss Pearl down.

Although he had been holding back for a long time, it would not be fair to Miss Pearl if he slept with her like this because he had a girlfriend.

“David... You... Where did you hurt yourself? Tell me!” Pearl asked anxiously “I suffered a little bit of trauma to my chest, but I’m fine,” David replied “What? A chest injury? An injury to your internal organs is a big deal. Come, David, I’ll take you to the hospital.”

Pearl stood up and tried to drag David to the hospital for an examination.

“Miss Pearl, I don’t have to go to the hospital. The doctors at the hospital are not as good as me. It’s really just a minor injury. I wouldn’t joke around with my body,” David said.

“Really?” Pearl asked in disbelief.

“Really!” David replied affirmatively.

“That’s good. If you feel unwell, be sure to tell me and I’ll take you to the hospital.”

“Alright.”

The two were silent for a while.

Pearl was the first to ask, “David, is what you said on the phone true?”

“What?” David asked.

“That you wouldn’t allow anyone to bully me, no matter who it is.”

“Of course, Miss Pearl, unless you’re willing, no one in this world can force you to do anything, not even God himself,” David replied seriously.

“Then, sleep with me now,” Pearl said, looking at David.

“Huh?” David was stunned.

“I said, I want you to sleep with me now,” Pearl repeated.

“Miss Pearl, we can’t do this. I will do anything else, but not this because it’s unfair to you,” David said with a wry smile.

“Why not? How is it unfair to me? I like you and you have me in your heart, David. I can’t fall in love with anyone else in my life except you.”

“... I have a girlfriend,” David said in a deep voice..

“I don’t care! I just want you! I just want to have you, even if it’s only for an hour, David, can you leave me with a good memory?”

Tears streamed down Pearl’s face again as she spoke.

“Miss Pearl, I can’t. It’s just that we met too late. Celia is my high school classmate. She has been waiting for me for a few years, so I can’t let her down.”

“Then why are you so nice to me?”

“Because I also have you in my heart. I want to protect you and I don’t want anything to hurt you. Unfortunately, right now, I just can’t give you what you want,” David also said in pain.

He was very conflicted right now.

He already had Celia in his heart, but now, Pearl had made her way inside it too.

Could he watch Pearl fall into another man's arms?

Obviously not.

Thus, he did not know what to do.

It was just like entering a dead end.

Pearl looked at David.

Neither of them spoke, but she could not stop the tears from flowing

David could not stand the atmosphere in the room.

Just now, he saw something different in the emotion shown through Pearl's eyes.

Thus, he thought about it and said, "Miss Pearl, give me some time. If we are still alive after the catastrophe, I will definitely give you an answer, okay?"

"Does the catastrophe really exist?" Pearl asked.

"According to the records of some ancient forces, the catastrophe does exist, but no one knows what it actually is," David replied.

"When will the catastrophe take place?"

"I have no idea." ..

"If the catastrophe doesn't come in another twenty years or fifty years, are you going to lead me on like this?"

"Then let's set it for five years."

"Okay, that's settled."

Pearl stopped crying.

She would be satisfied as long as there was hope.

What she feared most was that David would not offer her any hope and just directly give her the cold shoulder.

If so, she would lose the meaning of existence in this life.

Now, David was the reason for her to live on.

Plus, she could still wait for five more years.

Five years later, she would just be thirty years old.

Although she was no longer young, she would be in her prime.

“Yes, it’s a deal,” David also replied.

He was forced to do this.

At that moment, he saw the despair in Pearl’s eyes.

This startled him a lot.

If he did not find a reason to delay this, David was afraid that Pearl would do something stupid.

When that happened, it would be too late for him to feel remorse.

However, if he took things too far with Pearl right now, he would let down Celia.

The only way now was to drag this on for as long as he could.

He would decide when he finally could not drag it on any longer.

The catastrophe was coming, and no one could tell what would happen in the future.

Since Mason said that the catastrophe really existed, it would most likely come eventually.

The atmosphere finally eased.

Pearl returned to how she was previously. Her eyes were no longer full of despair, but instead, were replaced by hope.

David finally breathed a sigh of relief.

He initially wanted to leave on a plane tonight.

However, Pearl refused no matter what he said.

She insisted that he rested for two more days and that he only go back to the country after he recovered.

David could only agree after looking at Pearl's resolute gaze.

Even though he knew he was fine, Pearl did not.

Right now, after the two big events he and Mason created in Somerland, no one dared to come out to cause trouble anymore.

The country was peaceful.

Therefore, there would be no difference if he went back earlier or later.

Falconia.
