

Rejecting Your Rejection

Chapter 11 Here We Go Again

I always love to see your pretty face my dear.

“Oh moon goddess!”

he mimics her voice with shriek

“Is that all you have to say when you’re about to die” he look at her sternly.

“You can hear my thought” she tries to hide her embarrament.

“No, but you were practically screaming out loud when that rogue was about to rip you apart,” she smile with gritted teeth at him. Jem says as his look alike who saves her came from behind him

“Today is your lucky day dear, next time I think you have to kiss your mate goodbye if this side is under attack again,” his voice in affirmative, he was not childish as Jem.

“wait! are you saying-”

“was under attack while you were busy cleaning your precious of a cafe,” he cutt her off and she glares at him

“first off this is a neutral territory and the council hasn’t mindlink out any warning, secondly this is not my PRECIOUS cafe.” She folded her arms turning to the other side like a child.

“Childish much, I see why he needs a babysitter near you” his last words were in a low whisper that Daniella who was busy feeling embarraed couldn’t even hear him.

“Oh come on Kyle stop haraing the poor girl” Jem jab his brother on the shoulder.

“Dani this is my brother Kyle and please don’t mind him” rolling her eyes she took a step towards her car.

ADVERTISEMENT

“Thank you again for saving me”

she grin at Kyle who was quick enough to snap the Rogues head before he murder her there with cold blood minutes ago. Another car pull over in front of the restaurant she turn to find Kiev “Hey Ella” Kiev stride towards me then crushing her in to a bear hug

“glad you okay.”

The boys in seeing this groan with irritation “this girl has so many names and almost know all of our werewolf race.”

"Hey that's not true I only know him and my family" she pouted in complain.

Kyle turn to walk towards the other side, Jem stay rooted beside her with his arms around himself

"oh I almost forgot Kiev, Jem. Jem this is Kiev a-" Jem interrupt her "I know him" he ignore Kiev's hand that reach out to shook his

"is the coast clear Kyle?" he call to his brother who replied with a yes.

He turn back to Kiev "stay away from us" his growl thundering that it almost blown her away if she was only a sheet of paper.

"See you around kiddo" and they both turn to go back in the woods with Jem already shifted in his wolf form while Kyle was still in his human form. She turn her attention back to Kiev

"so how's it going? I mean how was your day?" she ask and Kiev who has been staring back at her for a while scratched his hair

"it was alright, you?"

ADVERTISEMENT

"good"

They talk for a while before Kiev invited her to go with him on a dinner just as friends which she agree to. She was getting in her car with excitement when she felt a whoosh of air almost like a wind blowing from her back then her legs going up in the air. She waited to hit the ground but it never did as she was carried by two arms none other than Kyle.

"Sorry Alpha's order's" Kyle grin at a shocking Daniella in his arms and couldn't even muttered a single word. He look at Kiev "Your date can wait for another day"

"it's not a date" Daniella quickly denied without getting out of his hold

"Aww cute" Kyle half smile to her.

She was about to protest by putting up a fight after gaining some composure to get out of his hold but Kyle apologize again taking her out completely. He uses a trick, their pack use on anyone when they kidnapped or taking them out without a kill. Nobody else knew about just them the top warriors, those who are loyal to Dante.

"Stay away from her" he warns Kiev before taking off with a limp Daniella in his arms.

Daniella woke up with a pain in her back and her head pounding in pain. She sat up from a cold floor only to find out she's in a cell with four other prisoners

"awesome, I thought I'm going to get a VIP room" murmuring to herself.

Heavy footsteps was heard then a key pressing to the cell locker. Suddenly the cell door opens and there stood Dante who look somewhere else and not her. The other four cower back with fear when they saw him while Daniella stay still in her current place without making another move.

Jem came from behind without knowing Daniella began to call out names. All four prisoners were released to go or that what Daniella thought.

Dante never moved “what is she doing here?” he ask Jem who seems to realise the only prisoner left in the cell.

ADVERTISEMENT

“Umm Kyle brought her here” he mindlink Kyle instantly.

“Why did you bring her here?” he ask Kyle who now stood in the cell on his right side. Daniella felt small under their gazes

“you say to bring those who have seen us fought near the neutral territory with the Rogues. She’s one of them Alpha” Daniella watches as Dante clench his fist.

“I would like for you two to give us some time alone” Daniella slowly move backwards.

The two brothers bow their head showing respect to their Alpha before exiting the cell. Dante began to take one step by step towards her. The cell door closed Dante drop down to his haunches in front of her. His hand went up to her cheek Daniella tries to move away but he force her to look at him.

She knew he wasn’t Dante, the one before her was not Dante who has demands acceptance of his rejection, this was a whole different Dante. There was no emotion or any resolution evident in his eyes or that handsome face of his. His aura was a strong. This was the cold hearted Alpha and a beast whom people fear.

He smirk at her and Daniella could see an evil glint behind that smirk

“it’s good to see you again mate.”

.....

That’s it my dear readers, hopefully I didn’t disappoint you with this update. Once again thank you so much for the continous support

Love Xox,

Nica

“I hope you’re more than happy now, to see me like this”

Dante smile inwardly to himself, today he was going to make her accept the damn rejection. He knew what he was going to do with her, he’s going to show her his side that only his enemies knew of.

His wolf has warn him not to do anything to her yet he was too stubborn to listen. His pack is his first priority and he did not want anyone to realise his Mate is her. Therefore, he wanted her to accept it quickly as dangerous was lurking around his territory especially the territory that he wants to take over.

He smirk at her hiding his emotions and everything that would give away his seriousness in doing this.

“It’s good to see you again mate”

he leans forward to her, his hold on her chin was tight in which she pushes him off with so much force making him landed on his b since he was on his haunches. Scurrying away from him, her eyes roaming around for anything that could help her defend herself.

“Stay away from me” she warns him, “make another move and I’ll.. I’ll” she stutters.

Dante who watches in amus*t laugh at her with mockery. He stood up dusting off the dirt on his short. He wasn’t going to r her. No he would never do that or has ever done that to any girl, forcing them against their will. Same goes with his mate but all he needed to do was just to scare her and place the thought of him being the disgusting mate in her head.

Taking another step towards her Daniella move backwards until he trapped her in a corner and she has nowhere else to go. Dante saw a fear in her eyes along with that vulnerable state she’s in. Yet he didn’t seem to faze by it, he grin picking her up and slam her against the cell wall

“I’ll keep doing this until you say I accept your rejection” Daniella nodded her head no. He tighten his hold around her neck

ADVERTISEMENT

“shall we go on”

“do your best I don’t care”

he slam his other fist near her in which she flinch before throwing her on the other side. She wince in pain still she refuse to give him her answer he then close the gap between them holding her up against the wall again.

Only this time he was closer to her with their clothes keeping them apart.

He smirks at her again “interesting how about this” his breath was hot on her face, he was to rip the side of her shirt when she became hysterical and scream thrashing in his arms like a feral beast.

Dante suddenly let go of her and she began to sob on the ground murmuring more like begging him not to do this to her. Emotions swell within him seeing this other side of her that he wasn’t aware of.

He move to her but her scream increases then her body began to shook. Dante began to panic he didn't know what to do. He was only going to scare her a little but seeing her like this, definitely tells him another story.

His Mate was not the perfect one like those luna he saw and read of she was just as broken as him. He ignore her screams and gather her in his arms holding her tight to his chest whispering soothing words to her ear.

Her body and scream began to calm, her breathing slowly diminish. Then the most unthinkable thing happens which make Dante gone crazy and his wolf almost took over his body. Daniella went limp in his arms, there was no sign of her breathing.

ADVERTISEMENT

Her body just shut down immediately.

The cell door opens Jem who was alert through the mindlink thought something must have happen to his Alpha. He stood there watching him hold her body close.

He look up with tears in his eyes "I think she's...she's"

Jem rushed to his side "Dante, she needs a doctor" he growl at him but Jem understood his Alpha this must be his Mate.

"Alpha she's going to be Okay after the doctor check on her" he then mindlinks their doctor with urgency without delay.

"Dante, Betram is almost here, do you still wants others to know about her" he finally let go of her body. Dr. Betram stood in the doorway he made his way to Jem rapidly who now held Daniella in his arms.

They lay her on the ground and Dante tries to suppress his possessive side from showing. After few minutes of the doctor and Jem busying around, Daniella finally breath at last. Dante was more than grateful at the moment Jem thanks the doctor before taking her out of the cell.

Dante stay in there for a minute before releasing his growls, his wolf side and all their anger destroying the cell. He went back to their pack house taking a shower then went to a room that Jem mindlinks he has put her in.

He saw her lying there on the bed, the only thing moving in the room was the beat of her heart. He couldn't believe what he has done today lead to her in bed.

ADVERTISEMENT

Closing his eyes Dante knew that today he has totally destroyed their bond and there was nothing good he could do to return what he did to her in the cell and all those past few weeks he was torturing her.

There was no need to scare or torture her anymore as it is clear now that what he did was unforgivable. He took out his phone to dial down the number of one person whom he has been ignoring for years now. The one person who could understand and could give him the best advice in this situation.

He place it to his ear listening as it rang before it picked up. The female with a cheering voice answers. Many years has paed, the years they separated yet he could still remember her voice "Hello," she repeated again still he doesn't answer.

"Look if you are pranking me then I suggest you play with some other kid, I swear I'll whip your a" he call out her name cutting her rambling off.

They were both silence until she utter his name more surprisingly "Dante."

.....

What do you think of Dante and what's going to happen next? ♀☐ Make sure to enjoy your weekend everyone and thanks again for your support

Love Xox,

Nica