Chapter 31 Please Don't

If I ask you not to would you please not do it cause in doing it you're hurting me.

"Dante" she run to catch up on him "Dante" she calls him but he quicken his steps.

"Dante" still he doesn't hear her and instead of going to his car he runs towards the woods. She knew that he was turning to his wolf before his name fall from her lips he was shifting and gone in the woods. Despite that she still runs after him, chasing him by following his scent. Hani her wolf wanted Daniella to shift but she was stubborn as she was focused on finding him.

She tried to mindlink him but he has completely cut her off. It was getting dark her legs were sore from their previous activity and running. She came to rest down a shade "Dante" she has lost him, don't know where he went.

Daniella was growing in frustration Dante can be a one hell of a stubborn mate. She growls kicking the leaves on the ground, picking them up and threw it one by one. She was unsure if she was still in his territory or has gone off to another.

She hug her knees to her chest rocking back and forth. In a second she heard growling they were near to her.

"Rogue"

A wolf growl at her then came the others who haven't shifted yet. She instantly stood up backing up against a tree realising she's now on another Alpha's territory. They wouldn't know that she's Dante's mate. She may be marked but she hasn't been announced as the luna.

"I'm not a rogue" she retort back at a gray wolf. "Don't you dare use that tone on me" the wolf along with the others growl back at her.

She took her fighting stance as gray wolf in front of her took another step

"Seize her" he ordered.

The others ready their positions to capture her, more than ready to jump at her all at once. They made their ways to her but they were taken aback when large another wolf jump right in front of her, shielding her from them.

She breathe in his scent knowing very well thar it was no other than her mate 'Dante.'

"Make a move to my mate and you will all pay the price" he growl at them. Pounding his paws on the ground and ready to attack. The others began to circle around then Dantes's wolf growl loudly, making them cower a little bit back.

"Shift" his wolf growl at the wolves, as if they know him now "Alpha Dante," the wolf now shift back on to his human form. He changed handing Dante another pair of shorts.

"No one makes a move on mine, she is mine" he went and shifted behind a tree before coming back with only a short and he was shirtless. The gray wolf was none other than the beta of the Crescent pack. He quickly dismissed his warriors

"Beta Gory" he nod to him "sorry for the trouble but I think my mate was a little lost." Gory look between the two of them, his eyes linger more on Daniella "look at my mate that way and I won't hesitate to strangle you beta."

"I didn't know she's your mate and... We're deeply sorry," his eyes never leaving her even though Dante threatens him a while ago.

"Actually I think she's way better than the b**** who left her Alpha for a succ**b"

Dante didn't hesitate to jump to attack the beta but Daniella was quick to hold him back "please don't" letting him calm in her arm. Once he was she walk up to the beta and slapped him hard making him cringe.

"First I'm not a b****, I'm our packs luna, second I never left my mate and last it was I who left the succ**" it was true, she never left him for another, she was hurt and she needed space.

"I'm sorry" the beta bow his head in shame and with respect. Dante grabbed her shoulder holding her back.

"I'll discuss this with Alpha Allen, tell him I'll visit soon and now you can excuse us. We are leaving."

Beta Gory then left them alone, she felt his arms embrace her but she shook it him off "don't Dante."

Chapter 32 She's Not Needed

You don't expect me to welcome some b**** with open arms. Especially when she was the one who hurt you, brother.

Once they reach the pack house Dante saw his sister stretching out in the living room with another female. The same sister who left them years ago, the one he called for advice. He never told her about his situation but someone else might.

When their parents died Zoe their older sister was like their mother, but being an Alpha was never her interest she wanted to travel the world. Therefore once he reaches the mature age she left him the pack.

"Oh how's my dashing brother" she walks up to him then gave him a big hug. Holding him tightly then move to sit back on the couch. "Oh moon goddess, it's been a such long time" she smiles ahead with glee.

"Oh I have good news for you and also like for you to meet someone" she claps her hands in excitement.

"Why are you here Zoe? Did something happen?" he asks her.

Dante was happy to see his sister back as they were very close to one another when he was young. She knows all about the ins and out even the rejection which disappointed her but somehow she never left his brother's side.

She may have not have been here in person but few phone call exchanges and gifts was enough to fill the void. Zoe always supports him and Cora in everything they do.

Nervously she grins at him "I want you to know that I'm getting married soon"

"Wow!! That's great, I mean finally you're settling down. My big bad sister is getting married" he hugs her again.

"So where is he?"

"Umm Shawn is busy on his business trip but he'll drop by soon and oh gosh I almost forgot. I would like you to meet Mia" she gesture for the g***** the other side.

Dante reach out his hand for Mia who shyly smiles at him. Dante thought this is now or never. He breathe in, he has to tell his sister about Daniella and him already mating.

"Zoe"

"What the hell is she doing here?" Zoe stood up storming to where Daniella is standing but Dante held back her arm.

"We're mated," she nod her head in disapproval

"no get her out... I mean get the f*** out of this pack and on our land... Get Out" she shouted at Daniella. "I don't give a f*** if she's your mate."

Daniella starts to sob now repeating "I'm sorry"

"Sorry...f*** you Dani just get out of our lives," she tries to reach for her but was blocked by Dante.

Cora came running inside of the house catching up her breath "what's going on here? Zoe?" she was surprised to see their older sister but seeing her glare at Daniella Cora frown.

"Are you seriously doing this Zoe" Cora was disappointed in her sister "can't you be happy for them" she beg her.

"How could you side with her.. The b**** ... How could you Cora. How can you be friends with someone who parade her boyfriend and fling in front of your brother."

Dante didn't want this to be brought up

"he rejected her" Cora tries to reason with their sister.

"That was years ago and Dante did apologise for it, he even begs her. And what did she do? she didn't f***ing give him a chance. She left him, humiliated him beyond something he did when he's just eighteen years." Zoe starts to sob up

"You don't know how hard it is to hear him saying he can't live anymore" this made Cora speechless while Daniella was still sobbing.

"He... He was on the verge of dying and you know when I went to her" Zoe pointed at Daniella "she looks happy. I beg her and you know what she did, she said no. So why should I welcome her here? You're not needed here s***."

Daniella fell on her knees her hands in front of her begging for forgiveness.

"Please I'm sorry, Dante I'm sorry," she cries out to everyone, begging for their forgiveness. Dante who saw his Mate got down on his knees in front of her his hands cupping her face and wiping her tears away.

"You don't need my forgiveness I should be the one to ask you that," his tears fell from his eyes. "I should be since I turn you in to that person.. I love you.. You know that" he pulls her in his arms before carrying her bridal style to his room.

"She's not needed" Zoe shouted

"Shut it Zoe" others were surprised to find Jem's older brother Kyle standing at the door.

"It's not like you're any difference from her. At least she owns up to it and chose him instead but what about you?" that shuts her up.

She glares at him "No one needs your opinion. I still f***ing hate you" and she storms out of the house with Kyle following behind her.

Everyone else was in surprise trying to piece the info of Zoe and Kyle together.

Chapter 33 Shouldn't

'Us' is in the past, we could never go there.

Kyle keep on following Zoe she stops and turn around shouting at him

"f*** off Kyle"

"What Zoe, that's it you made speeches to her yet you don't follow what you believe in"

Zoe caught him off guard when she got to him in speed punching him in the face knocking him down on the ground. Kyle held up her hands and she struggled against his hold as he was still stronger than then he flips her over. Zoe didn't give up as she kept on hitting him until she grew tired under his hold, then she began to sob.

Kyle got off of her then settled to sit beside her watching the sun almost set as she she still sobs there.

He listens as she cries, it's hurts him to hear her like this but he knew that them was no longer there for him and her. The boat where they should both be on has long gone, it is too late now. They started off wrong and everything they went through was all wrong.

Once he heard her sob quieten he began to speak "you shouldn't hate her, you out of all people should know that" Zoe never speaks. She slowly sat up next to him looking overhead with no glance to Kyle.

"You hate what she does to your brother yet you're doing the same thing to others without thinking much of it."

"You rejected me" she hiccups

"just like Dante rejected her," he replies.

"You cheated on me," she continues to blame him

"and I apologise everyday begging for your forgiveness for it."

She pull her knees up hugging them together with her arms rocking back and forth like a child

"you never let me explain Zoe"

Kyle struggle to find words as his emotions has get the best of him. He really did love her and he still do even though he has Clara now but deep down him there's always a place for Zoe.

"You keep on pushing me away, and never gave me the chance to explain. So why do you hate her when clearly she has given him a chance in loving him," he saw in the corner of his eyes Zoe wiping away her tears.

"I'm not blaming you for anything as clearly us not working out was totally my fault. I am only hoping for you to be happy for them, see from other people's view. You should know how it feels like to be rejected so why not understand her."

Zoe wipes away her fallen tears, she tries to clear her throat. "I'm sorry Kyle" she began to sob again he patted her on the back "I'm sorry for everything" she cries.

After all those years of running away and giving him a cold shoulder she has finally apologize to him. It's surprising to him and he knew that she meant it when she apologise because the Zoe he knew was the one who never apologize to anyone even if she has done wrong.

He found himself struggling to hold his tears but he couldn't so he stood up to go "just think about it Zoe."

He walk away from her knowing they shouldn't be together they have both moved on with other people. They already made their choices and there's no more K and Z anymore. Their past was nothing but memories he wishes to forget cause whenever he thinks of it still pains him.

"Kyle"

He heard her crying calling out for him and it took a lot of his audacity to keep on walking. He was afraid that if he turn then he wouldn't let her go.

"Kyle"

He clenched his fist while his eyes closed he took another two steps.

"Kyle" he felt her arms around his waist holding him back, her head on his shoulder.

"Please don't walk away from me" she sobs "I still love you" instantly he turns around facing her.

Gathering her face in his hands, his tears now pouring, he look her in the eyes "And I still f***ing love you more" with that his lips smashed on hers pulling her against his his body not thinking of letting her go anytime sooner.

Yet when they pull away his eyes widen realising what he has done

"we can't do this, I'm sorry but that was before. I love Clara now as us is in the past" he says and walk away from her not even to turn back for her.

Zoe watches him walking out of her life for the third time and she couldn't even bare to look at him doing the same thing he did before.

Kyle always does it to her that's why she left years ago leaving the vulnerable Dante to take over the pack.

Hmmm what do you think of Zoe and Kyle. Let me know
