

Rejecting Your Rejection

Chapter 46 Foes

Friend or foe I'll won't hesitate to kill you. Just not quickly but slowly so that you could feel every pain you have inflicted on me.

Two Alpha whose pack were sworn enemy way before they were born. Those two Alphas then became best of friends. Thought to made new era in to their pack one Alpha betray another and once again they're sworn enemy.

Running at each other in full speed as their pack warriors fall behind them in their wolf forms, nothing standing in their way as they release their wrath on to each other.

When they reach one another their fist going at each other hitting one another with full force. Dante feinted his right hand and landed a blow on Allen's ribs sending him back.

Allen held his ground growling at Dante then leap up again for him hooking his jaw caught in the air Dante astutely pulled his head back, colliding with Allen's nose.

Fist with fist they fought not even shifting in their wolves form. Allen kept throwing punches at Dante who tries to avoid seeing an opportunity he threw right hook then sway back and came back with a swift straight to Allen's body catching him off balance so that he could finish him with an upper cut.

ADVERTISEMENT

Dante thought of something his father taught him when he was young apart from fighting in his human form with just fist he was taught in other fighting styles. Instead of doing an upper cut he launched a double palm heel strike penetrating through Allen's body reaching and made contact with his bladder and under side of his cheekbones.

Allen lie on the ground his hands gripping the leaves on the ground. He laugh shortly at Dante before cracking his bones he was shifting in to his wolf. Having a new strength and howling with thunder Allen's wolf sneer at Dante who was breathing hard and still in his human form.

There were bruises and blood from their fighting before yet he wasn't faze by Allen's wolf. Snarling at him Allen jumps at him his paws landing behind Dante who dodge him and turn around with quick speed and deflected his attack. Allen caught his leg with his paws about to rip him to shred when Dante shifted in to his wolf form and fought him back.

Their brutal fighting continues both shifting from time to time in their wolf and human forms with neither of them wanting to lose anytime sooner.

Daniella who has escape the cell at Allen's pack with Carla by burning it inti the ground and kills the cell guard emerged from the woods full in speed ahead. Her eyes wandering around the scene in front of her, where all she could see was blood. Her eyes then remained on two big wolves fighting she knew one was Dante and the other one was none other than his traitorous friend, correct ex friend.

She told her wolf to give her a little bit of her strength and make sure to protect their pup at all cost. As they were not to fought with anyone in their wolf form, it will be dangerous if they shifts considering their condition.

ADVERTISEMENT

Skeptically she kept her eyes on the two big wolves with no one knowing her presence. Then she caught sight of Zane known as Beta Gory crawling from behind with a silver blade in his hand looking for a way to attack Dante from behind who again shifted in his human form.

Daniella growl at their unfairness in taking on her Mate. She pushes her legs to move her wolf protecting their pup while lending half of their strength for Daniella to fight.

Their eyes wander for something to counterparts Zane's attack as they couldn't just lure straight in there without a weapon considering he was holding a dangerous one. She saw a glistening metal on the attached to a rail. She was surprised to see this but given that it's all cover in gra must have been close a long time ago. Using her werewolf strength she pull it off, thanking the moon goddess when there's a sharpened end to it.

Zane release a growl as if they will be in victory jumping from back of the tree to stab Dante in the back but it was too late. Daniella landed right in front of him taking him by surprise as she uses the metal to hold his silver blade that was to slash Dante's back up in the air.

She pushes it off then kicking him to his groin then to his chest sending him off to a tree. Dante feeling a huge relief back a little bit to stood by his Mate while holding his fighting stance.

ADVERTISEMENT

He held on to her hand as they stood side by side whispering to her "Thank you for being alive" she smile through their links "let's finish this mate" seeing their opponents retaliating they both leap before them.

She fought off Zane real good going on for an hour that's when someone snarl in her direction

"let him go or I'll kill him."

Love Xox

Nica

Chapter 47 Reject Him

I Dante Hernandez will.....

Dante losing his step fell back giving Allen who has been shifted back in to his human form an advantage to cut through his arms and legs using the silver blade. Then he move forward grabbed him and bend him on his knees.

Daniella was about to kill Zane when Allen growl at them “let him go or I’ll kill him” she swerve around looking at her mate, her hands now around Zane’s neck choking him to death.

“Let him go and that goes for the rest of you. If not your Alpha here will die” he spit out his blood then wipe it with the back of his hand.

The Crimson seeing their leader kneeling on the ground with a silver blade around his throat stops. Daniella’s grip loosen and Zane’s body dropped on the floor helplessly. He scoot away from her then to Allen’s side.

“Good girl, now for the rest of you let go”

“No” shouted Dante “don’t you dare listen”

Allen tighten his hold the knife draw blood from his skin.

“Please no” cries Daniella while holding her stomach “please don’t, we’ll do it”

“No” Dante growl.

ADVERTISEMENT

Yet again Allen punches him which result in him coughing out blood. “Please no” she begs “we’ll let go” the pack members look at her as if she’s insane.

She caught on Cameron then look at Jem who instantly understood her choice “everyone let go and listen to what she says” he mindlink “but be aware to still hold up your guards” without giving out any susious that they were communicating Dani pleads with them again and this time they let go of their weapons and the Crescent wolves including some surviving Rogues.

She prays to the moon goddess for strength and this better be work.

“Good now before I kill off your Alpha I want you to do one thing for me” Allen keeps on smirking “reject him” everyone gasp with shocked.

“You still think I’ll let you mate me with that mark on your neck and thing in your stomach after my victory today. They are Dante’s not mine. So reject him while I’m being nice” he demanded.

Daniella took a step forward but he stops her “ah stay there” she begs again for the moon goddess to help her.

“Don’t think of mindlinking him, now do it” she look at Dante half kneel on the ground and almost bath in blood. The strong Dante earlier no longer kneel but the most vulnerable one who was feeling ashamed by now that he couldn’t even protect his Mate.

She beg again for him to look up at her and when he did she pleads with him through her eyes.

Her hands moving to her stomach tears dropping from her eyes then she look around to their pack and to him again.

Dante knew what she meant that she needed him to be there for her, their pup and their pack. She's pleading for him to hold on a little bit the Dante that people fears that everyone respected and loves.

ADVERTISEMENT

He knew if he dies these people's lives won't ever be the same again and he won't get to make his Daniella smile or his pup be happy. He can't died that easily, he won't be resting in peace not knowing that his people aren't safe.

Daniella starts to sob "I Daniella" she said between her sobs "Maynard Reject you Alpha Dante Hernandez of Crimson Pack."

There was no pain as Dante still needs to complete the rejection. Allen push the knife deeper to his shoulder making him groan in pain.

"Accept her rejection" when he felt Allen's guard loosen a little he prays the moon goddess to give him and his wolf one final strength and when he felt it he spoke and he took Allen by surprise when he held on to his arm tighten his hold on it and when he saw the other one coming to his way from the back he deject his move and broke it before flipping him on the ground before him.

"I Dante Hernandez" he pause" smirking a little "rejected your rejection Daniella Maynard"

Everyone else starts to fight again against their opponents Daniella was too quick to get to Zane before he could kill Dante. The blade that was in Allen's hand flew up in the air and once Dante caught it within his hands he torture Allen by stabbing his legs then his arms and stomach in quick movement.

When he felt his strength weaken and Allen almost in the brink of death he stops.

"What's the matter friend" Allen laugh while coughing up blood "couldn't finish doing it right best friend."

ADVERTISEMENT

Dante laugh a little "it's a shame I never thought you'll consider me as your friend because to me you were never a friend. With our thoughts and with our hidden desire in upheaval I don't think I was ever a friend to you but rather your sworn enemy. And I'm not letting you live another day foe. You were jus a good foe to me in the beginning."

Dante raises his hand with a silver blade in it to finish off Allen but a hand stops him Daniella took it from him even though he refuse to. Dani took him out quickly. It was so easy as Dante was tired with that she looks at Allen with coldness in her eyes

"For my mate, my pup, our pack and for all those you have killed" with that being said she swiftly kills off Allen.

.....

Two more chapters to go and then were done. I would like to thank you again for your continuous support to this book. I hope you have enjoy reading it or learn something from it If by any chance you're confused please don't be afraid to comment and I'll explain. As I've said before this is a free country.... Lol... Comments are mostly welcome in my turf

Loving you all my Dear Readers

Xox

Nica

Chapter 48 We're Not Perfect

I'm not perfect as there are mistakes and secrets in my life that makes me not perfect.

Everyone was at the cemetery today paying respect to all the fallen warriors who lost their lives in the battle except for the Alpha. Therefore, Daniella has pay her respect on behalf of Dante who was still in bed arrest by her.

Three days after the attack the pack appreciatively accepted her as their luna. They were more than proud to ordinate her and welcomed her officially as their leader alongside their Alpha.

Daniella after paying her respect went back to the pack house while others just stay behind for little more time with their loved ones.

Dante woke up and find his Mate beside him on the bed. Groaning he got up resting his head against the headboard. He watches her sleeps her stomach grown a little he smile thanking the moon goddess for letting him to live another many years to come beside his Mate.

She shuffles around then slowly her eye lids open. He saw those beautiful eyes he always get lost in to. She smile then crawl on top of him. Dante was feeling better already, thanks to his werewolf side. Her stomach stuck between them, he smile touching it then he lifted his eyes up to hers.

He pull her closer kissing her on the lips how he missed it in those lonely nights when she was kidnap. Pulling away he embrace her his hands smoothing her back. She scoot a little bit down laying on top of him her head on his chest.

"Why did you do it?" Daniella knew what Dante meant, he wanted to know why she kill Allen

"he was your friend and not mine" she pause then went on to explain "I know you were lying to him, you only wanted him to get hurt as you knew deep down inside it was you who was never a friend to him but to you he was."

ADVERTISEMENT

A tear slips from his eyes “I hate that now you have to carry the burden, another nightmare adding to yours I’m sorry for being weak” she nuzzle her head in to his chest.

“You’re not weak, you were just being human just like me sometimes” he kisses her forehead.

“We’re just Daniella and Dante, not perfect but made by the moon goddess for each other” she looks at him in the eyes “human for each other, love and hate one another, reject each other in the end we made this little guy in here with one another” she rub her stomach and Dante laugh a little.

“It was hell of a way to create him” he smile cheekily at her. “hmm wanna repeat that way” she saily winking at him.

He close their distance murmuring against her lips “never stop riding there my dear Dani” he then kisses her on the lips flipping her on her back making her giggle.

At the cemetery Zoe was staring back at a grave headstone of her parents. She survived the attack but physically she’s destroyed. Kyle has been trying to care for her but she refuse to let him. She still thought Kyle is going out with Clara even though he made it clear to her that they are not anymore. It’s over between him and Clara.

Zoe finds it hard to trust anyone especially him and even though she saw them together just as friends. She sometimes wishes she had never survived the attack as seeing them still hurts her. Memories of her with him was hard to erase from her mind

She even wish she was like other girls who can move on easily unfortunately she was one of those types who wouldn’t. The ones that were fallen in deep and fall out hard of love with their mate.

ADVERTISEMENT

“they’ll be so proud of you if they were here” Cameron crouch down leveling with her wheel chair. “You’re going to be Okay Zoe, you will” he squeeze her hand then gave her a hug before moving away with Carla on his side.

She look around there was no sign of Cora so she moves her wheel chair forward. A figure in front of her made her stops, she looks up finding Kyle staring at her. She tries to move away but he blocked it “your’e not gonna be better if you stay in that chair” Kyle swoop her off the wheel chair, she struggled to break free from his hold but he still held her close.

“You can’t do anything to me from now on, come on you need to change in order to do your daily exercises” he took her to the pack house.

The front doors opens, they saw Daniella and Dante came down with their hands entwined together looking at them “it’s not what you think” Zoe groan.

Dani was about to retort when they heard moans getting louder. They all turn to the living room there on the couch a half naked she wolf who's bottom was covered with a blanket and she is riding a male wolf on the couch.

Her back was on them, head thrown a little bit back as both were lost in their sual j that they couldn't even hear, scented or hear the slamming of the door by Kyle or the footsteps of Dani and Dante when they came from upstairs.

Zoe's jaw was drop in awe Daniella tries to blink, the boys were too shocked to move. The female was screaming Jems name in ectasy and when he pushes her backwards to take control.

ADVERTISEMENT

"s" he curses and hurriedly try to cover her naked body. Caught in the act Jem quickly moves in front of the female both Dante and Kyle put their hands on the girls eyes. Daniella grip on Dantes's arms holding him back.

Zoe pushes Kyle's hands away shouting at the young couple

"Cora since when did you f Jem?"

.....

Oh dear I guess drama never ends... Epilogue coming right up sooner please you need to read it if you're interested in the last book. All three books have different kind of rejection so the next one might not be as cliché as this one... I mean don't know haven't decided yet.

Love Xox

Nica