

Read Novel Ex-Husband Wants Badly To Resume Their Marriage Chapter 19

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 19

She Is Not My Canary

The gossiping raged on across the Internet, to the extent that even Sharon's family background had been uncovered.

However, there was still little information about that legendary rich man; even his last name was unknown to the public.

Lance was working on an emergency meeting to try to settle the incident as soon as possible.

However, this incident was clearly manipulated by someone.

As soon as they withdrew the tag from the trending topics, some paid posters would use other keywords to discuss Sharon heated.

These netizens seemed to keep attacking Sharon on the Internet until she was done for.

Lumiere Jewelry could see that the attack was obviously aimed at Sharon, so they intended to settle it by canceling the contract with her.

However, Lumiere Jewelry had been wrongly labeled, and things had got tougher.

If they just canceled the contract with her, those keyboard warriors would definitely accuse them of doing it out of guilty conscience.

If that was the case, Lumiere Jewelry's reputation would be ruined.

Lance hadn't come out of his office all afternoon.

In the meeting room, Sharon looked at the evil denunciation against her on the Internet and suddenly felt like she had millions of fans.

Even though they were all anti-fans.

This incident was actually very simple.

She could even blind guess who was deliberately messing with her.

After all, only a few people knew her and were aware that she had been married.

Moreover, this poster even knew the casino that Josh frequently visited.

Strangely enough, he only spoke ill of her and let the rich man off the hook.

It was clear that he knew both her and Jameson.

The poster wanted to attack her but did not dare to expose Jameson's identity.

That was why he branded her as a homewrecker.

Jameson had never been married before, so no one would associate the incident with him.

At the same time, in the president's office of the Proctor Group.

Jameson scanned through the so-called leaked stuff on the Internet indifferently, "Has Lumiere Jewelry responded?"

"Not yet. Probably it is beyond their expectation, and they don't know what to do now."

Jameson did not say anything.

No one knew what he was thinking.

Jacob said, "Mr. Proctor, although this incident has no direct impact on us, Ms. Allyson's identity has been leaked. It is hard to guarantee that we will not be involved in this incident."

"Go on."

"We've worked together with Lumiere Jewelry before, and we keep a good tie with them. If we can help them out by silencing the gossipers before it was too late, not only can Ms. Allyson escape unscathed, but Lumiere Jewelry will owe us a favor."

Jacob said most priggishly, "In all respects, the advantages outweigh the disadvantages."

Jameson nodded yes as he closed the page on his computer, "Ask the public relations department to cope with it."

He thought that he would never do it for the sake of Sharon.

If Lumiere Jewelry hadn't cooperated with the Proctor Group, he would definitely disengage and let Sharon be.

After he left the office, Jacob took a deep breath.

It was way too difficult for him to find a high-sounding excuse to help Mr. Proctor settle this incident.

Just as he was overwhelmed by the total mess, Lance suddenly received a call from the public relations team.

He couldn't help rapturing.

The public relations team of the Proctor Group was one of the best in the country.

Since they excelled at any public relations, their coming to help might soon get Lumiere Jewelry through the crisis.

Lance was about to discuss further with them when Sharon suddenly came to his office: "Mr. Carter, I am willing to give an interview to explain this matter from beginning to end."

Tiffany got worried, "Sharon..."

Sharon patted her on the shoulder comfortingly and then looked towards Lance, "I have thought it through. I also know that this method may not be the most appropriate one, but if the incident continues to spread, it will have a greater impact on Lumiere Jewelry's reputation."

Lance finally agreed to her proposal.

Lumiere Jewelry was a well-known magazine in the country, and Sharon was just a designer instead of an entertainment star.

Faced with such an unexpected situation where someone deliberately spread rumors, no matter how good the public relations team was, it was not as good as Sharon's direct explanation.

Very quickly, Lumiere Jewelry held a conference.

After he answered the phone, Jacob knocked on the door of the president's office while trembling with fear.

Jameson did not even raise his head, "Has it been settled?"

"Mr. Proctor, Lumiere Jewelry refused our help. They said that they already had a solution." Jameson closed the document in front of him and slowly raised his head.

He didn't reveal any emotion and asked, "What is the solution they are referring to?"

"A press conference." Jameson put down his pen and sneered.

This incident was all about Sharon.

Of course, the person to clarify the incident in front of the media was her.

Was she fond of being exposed to the public? Wasn't she aware that her information had been posted on the Internet? When Jacob thought that Jameson would vent his anger, Jameson said indifferently, "I see." Just as Jacob left, Jameson's phone rang.

It was from Albert Proctor.

"What's the rumor on the Internet?"

Jameson replied calmly, "As far as you can see, it's just a rumor."

"Of course, it's a rumor!"

Albert said in a deep voice.

"But why didn't Sharon stay at home in the first place? Why did she go out and make such a big mess anyway?"

"She is not my canary. She's free to do whatever she wants."

Actually, Albert called him for some other purpose, so he didn't want to bother with it for now.

He paused for a moment and said, "I heard that the woman beside you is pregnant. Since Sharon has been married into the Proctor family for three years but has had no child yet, you'd better divorce her. After all, you should have a child now."