

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 102

This latter statement is not sure if it is true or not.

Sophia felt her heart leap into her throat.

Bard finally understood why his sister fell into the tender embrace of this man at first, damn, simply too good at flirting.

"Mr. Riley, since Sophia said she would thank you, please also let her go, and we will definitely give you a satisfactory rescue later."

Drake started to get rogue: "As long as you don't think of it now, Sophia can't get out of my way."

He had a hard time getting someone into his arms, and with a beautiful woman in his arms, how could he easily give up?

Cecelia, however, deadpanned that what was expected did not happen, but instead what she did became a boost to them?

This is why, why!

Sophia, of course, knows Drake's character and is helpless to the core, "Mr. Riley, I can do everything except what you said."

"How about being my lover?"

A playful smile tugged at the corners of his mouth.

Sophia : "....."

What the fuck, is there a difference?

"Forget it, because you are so reluctant, I still do not need your life saving grace." With that, surprisingly, Drake let go of her.

Sophia forgot to get off her horse and instead looked back at him incredulously.

God knows how much patience Drake is controlling right now, and she's looking at him like this, isn't she afraid he's going to take her on the spot?

"What, does Miss Lawson actually still want to be my lover?"
