

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 105

"As it should be, this time it's our job and it can't all be on your shoulders."

The mayor nodded, "Ms. Lawson is amazing, you don't even know how much work we've done, ugh!"

Sophia smiles: "It's understandable, after all, we're all used to living here."

The mayor admired this woman, in that occasion, she still managed to be in danger, it was incredible.

When she arrived at the place, the village headman gave her a place and assigned her a person to give a good note of what to do.

Drake, on the other hand, sat directly next to Sophia as if no one was watching and asked with a smile, "Just were you worried about me?"

Sophia, without looking away: "No."

"Sophia , I find that the worst thing about you now is that it's completely different from before, before you had any idea, you would tell me directly, but now, you still hide it more, is it fun?"

Sophia looked directly at him, "Which one of your eyes saw me hiding?"

"I saw it with either eye!"

The seemingly absent smile made Sophia's heart tremble.

She quickly averted her gaze.

"So afraid to meet my eyes?"

"You think too much!"

"Don't you dare say you don't have me in your heart?"

Sophia looked at him again in a particularly breathless manner, "If you don't shut up or get out, I can work here alone."

This is annoying!

Drake shut the hell up.

To say that there are ideas, everyone has a lot of ideas, so everyone got in line and reported over here.
