

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 124

At that moment, a person's voice rang.

"Awake? Wake up and enjoy these snakes attacking you!"

Sophia subconsciously shouted, "Mrs. Price, is that you?"

There was no sound there, but Sophia could sense that Mrs. Price must be watching her somewhere.

The snakes seemed to notice her and came her way.

Cecelia sat outside and asked with some unease, "Mom, is this okay? Don't get her killed!"

Mrs. Price, however, said nonchalantly, "So what? Our traces have been eliminated, and there are not many poisonous snakes inside, but if she is accidentally bitten by a poisonous snake, it certainly has nothing to do with us, understand?"

Cecelia bit her lip. Although she really wanted to teach Sophia a good lesson, she never wanted to kill Sophia. Her mother wanted to do so. Was it really right?

In the video, Sophia remained very calm. If it was Cecelia, she would be scared to death.

Cecelia was wondering how Sophia was going to deal with those snakes?

The snake suddenly attacked Sophia.

However, what the mother and daughter didn't expect was that every snake that attacked Sophia was easily caught and then quickly flung away by Sophia.

Mrs. Price was no longer calm. Her body suddenly leaned forward. "No, it can't be! She is just an ordinary woman. How can she know how to deal with these snakes?"

"Mom, if she defeats these snakes. Do you think she'll find us?"

Just now she heard Sophia call "Mrs. Price". Seeing Sophia's hideous look, Cecelia suddenly quit the idea of getting back at Sophia.

"No, she won't. There are hundreds of snakes in here, and I just don't believe that she can handle them all."

Perhaps Sophia noticed this. She took out a Swiss knife for self-defense and stabbed it directly at the snake's soft spot.

She killed the snakes fast and hard.

Cecelia fidgeted. Sophia was sure to get out of there safely. Would such a horrible woman take revenge on them after she knew they had done it?
