

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 227

"Are there a lot of men at dinner? Sophia, you should stay away from such occasions from now on," said Drake in a masterful manner.

"You mean, from now on, the Riley Group will be in charge of keeping my companies alive?"

"Sophia, I did not mean that. You might be taken advantage of on such an occasion. Don't you know?"

"Now everyone knows that you are my protector. No one would be bold enough to lay a finger on me."

"Not necessarily. What if there is?"

Drake hated to see Sophia dine with other men.

"So, you think I'm not tough enough to protect myself?"

It was true that Sophia was a tough woman.

But that was not what Drake was worried about.

"Drake."

Suddenly, Sophia called his name seriously.

Drake felt the seriousness in Sophia's voice.

"If you want our relationship to work, you should respect me. Let me do what I want to do and don't stop me. Otherwise, you should not show your face to me from now on."

Drake didn't know what to say.

Sophia was no longer the pushover she used to be. Now she would do what she thought was the right thing to do.

"Got it. Call me if you need me."

Sophia nodded.
