

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 229

Sophia did not speak, but looked straight at him.

"You haven't thought of seeing me as your boyfriend, have you?"

"No."

Sophia was straightforward.

Drake stood there, looking at her in disbelief. His eyes were filled with disappointment.

"You have never thought of seeing me as your boyfriend?"

"No. Boyfriend? It seems decades ago to me."

Drake suddenly felt himself a joke. He had thought that the relationship between them had changed, but it seemed he was wrong.

"It seems that I have been misunderstanding your meaning the whole time. So, what am I to you? Are we just friends with benefits? Underground lovers? Or... hookup buddies?"

Sophia saw all the sad emotions in Drake's eyes. Somehow, she felt great seeing him like this.

Seeing that she remained silent, Drake said with self-mockery, "Forget it. Maybe I mean nothing to you. Alright now, I shouldn't have asked. Let's just go to bed."

When he was about to turn around, Sophia suddenly said, ""Aren't we going to get married?"

Drake was stunned.

After a long time, he slowly turned his head and looked at her with widened eyes, "What did you say just now?"

Sophia said with a smile, "I mean, aren't we going to get married? You have said to the public that you would marry me as long as I said yes? What? You want to go back on your word now? You don't want to get..."

Before she finished, Drake came straight over and held her in his arms.

"Sophia, I... I didn't know you would want to marry me. You have rejected me too many times before. I had thought this might never happen again."

Even if he was a powerful man, he couldn't help feeling helpless when facing things about Sophia.

He was afraid that the woman he liked would be the most familiar stranger to him.
