

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 262

When Sophia was asleep, Drake's phone rang. It was Paul

"Well, I see. Send her in. Jail fits her better."

"Yes, sir."

When Drake turned around to return to the bedroom, he was surprised to see Sophia standing there. He said, "I thought you've been asleep."

"Yes, but I woke up after you left the room."

Drake walked over quickly and held her in his arms. "Don't be afraid. It's all over. I'll protect you."

"Have you found who did it to me?"

"Yes, it was Abby. I have told Paul to send her to prison. The hospital is too good for her to recuperate."

"Well, I see."

The next day, Sophia went straight to the prison. When Abby saw her, her eyes were filled with hatred.

"Sophia, I hate myself for my incompetence. I failed to bring you down. If I was given another chance, I would kill you. Even if I couldn't get Drake, I wouldn't let you have him!"

Sophia curled her lips. "If you were given another chance, you think you would succeed? You are bound to lose. You should have realized it sooner, you could have enjoyed a longer life if you did."

"A longer life?" Abby seemed to take it as a joke. "From the moment Drake set me up with Roman in the same bed, it's over."

"The man I love sent me to another man's bed. Never had I ever imagined it!"

"If you didn't covet him, he wouldn't have done that to you. It's your own fault!"

"But!" Abby looked at her. "No matter how hard I try, all he sees is you!"

"That's why you should have been smarter and given up in the first place. You wouldn't have got here today if you did."

Abby smiled gently, as if in self-mockery, "Yes, if I had, I wouldn't have been here."

There was nothing Sophia wanted to say to her now. She stood up and left.
