

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 288

"Alright. The first object to be auctioned tonight is a porcelain vase from 700 AD. How exquisite the vase is, everyone. It even displayed people's daily life at that period. Okay, the starting price for this vase is 200,000. Please offer a price at least 10,000 higher each time. The auction starts right now."

Though Sophia thought it was a beautiful vase, it did not interest her so much as to buy it.

But she raised her bidder card when she saw Olivia raise hers.

"300,000."

Hearing Sophia's voice, Olivia turned around.

Roman saw Sophia, too. He couldn't help thinking, 'Does Sophia like it? How about I buy it and give it to her?'

He made a bid as well, "350,000."

A mother knows her son more than anyone.

Olivia patted him on his hand, "The vase is beautiful, but it's not worth so much. Stop offering a price rashly."

Roman was a bit uncomfortable. He murmured, "Mom, if Sophia likes it, would she be moved when I buy it and send it to her?"

"I don't think she likes it. I'm afraid she's only competing with me on purpose."

When hearing Sophia say "400,000", Roman raised his bidder card again without a second thought, "500,000."

"Roman."

Olivia was a bit vexed. What was going on? There were some good stuffs tonight. If their budget ran out now, how could they compete for the rest?

"Mom, I just wanted to impress Sophia."

"Not now."

As they were talking to each other, the hostess said, "Calling once, calling twice."
