

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 297

Sophia was speechless.

The clients were surprised, "What? Miss Lawson doesn't want to marry you yet, Mr. Riley? She must be the only woman to say no to your proposal!"

"Ha-ha, I think, Mr. Riley needs to work harder!"

Sophia had wanted to say something, but seeing that their responses eased the awkwardness, she didn't say anything more.

During lunch, they were still talking about work, but Drake didn't ignore her and talked to her from time to time.

Maybe because Sophia was a businesswoman, those clients would join in the conversation with her.

They had a pleasant meal.

After lunch, the four clients left, and Sophia was about to go back to work when Drake grabbed her hand, "Have I allowed you to leave?"

Sophia checked the time on her watch, "I need to start work soon."

"We haven't had time to be alone, and yet you want to leave so soon?"

Sophia looked at him resignedly, "I shouldn't have come at all."

"How dare you not come!"

Sophia felt that he was really childish now and had a headache.

"I have work to do as well, but I want to spend time with you more."

"You can spend time with me at night."

"But I gotta sleep at night and I can't watch you all the time."

Sophia smiled and said resignedly, "So... you miss me that much?"

"Don't you miss me?"

Why was he so clingy? Sophia recalled what he had said when they were in university -- "Though we're not in the same department, I want to see you anytime. You should go meet me right after classes are over."

Even after all these years and all those things, he didn't change at all.
