

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 305

Sophia wanted to speak, but Travis stopped her, "Rest assured. I've discussed this with your other brothers earlier. We have the same opinion. Sophia, don't worry. You can do whatever you want."

Abbott said in jealousy, "Now I understand. After my daughter grows up, she doesn't want to return to Pinkerton. Sophia, did you say those words to hint that you'd stay in Sealand?"

Emma couldn't help smiling. "Abbott, isn't it good for Sophia to stay here? You may not trust others' sons, but please trust my son. Also, I'll take care of Sophia more than Drake."

Drake rubbed his nose. He was separated from Emma since childhood. Finally, Emma returned, but she cared more about his future wife.

Abbott sighed, "Forget about it. My daughter has made up her mind. What else can I do?"

Even if he wanted to separate the two, Drake and Sophia had reconciled. He didn't think he could stop them.

"Sorry, Dad," Sophia said.

"No need to apologize. If I knew Ms. Glass would take you away one day, I wouldn't have hired her and kept her staying."

His words amused others.

That was the fate, some couples were destined to be together.

After ending the call, Emma said, "Travis, you've just arrived. Don't rush back home. Stay here overnight."

"OK," Travis agreed.

He didn't have the time to take care of Sophia usually, so he didn't mind staying with her longer this time.

When it was bedtime, Travis found Sophia and Drake staying in the same room. Therefore, he wanted to remind them.

He knocked on the door and entered. To avoid Emma noticing it, he closed the door.

Sophia wasn't surprised to see him. After all, they grew up together, so they knew each other well.

"Travis, are you here to remind me Drake and I haven't married, so we can't stay in the same room?"
