

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 67

Just then, a man came in outside: "It has been investigated, the young master walked out by himself, no one took him away."

The Old Riley said as if he was sure: "Sophia must have called too, and I guess he must be at Sophia's now!"

Everyone looked at each other.

However, whether or not Drake was at Sophia's, they had to at least take a trip, if not there, they would look again, but if they were, they had to bring the person back, Drake's body was nowhere near fit to be discharged.

Sophia's home.

She was in a daze, after all, sleeping in Drake's arms, or on the living room carpet, was not really comfortable.

Even when someone knocked on the door, she thought it was a dream.

Or did the other person knock so loudly that even Drake woke up before she opened her eyes.

"Sophia , I know you're home, come out!"

Not only did Sophia hear it, but Bard heard it too.

He came out of the room and said angrily, "What do you people want, let people sleep at night? Are you guys such bullies?"

The Old Riley looked at Bard and knew it was Sophia who had bought the two houses, she was so close to Bard, how come Drake still didn't understand? A good person, is fascinated by this way.

"I'm looking for Drake."

Bard can laugh, "What do you want Drake to do here, will Drake come?"

"Let Sophia open the door to find out if he'll come."

Bard seemed to understand something: "Very well, if Drake is really here, I will break his legs."

"Don't talk so early!" the Old Riley exudes a powerful aura: "If he's here, it must be Sophia who seduced him."
