

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 73

But because of this, he became more and more curious about Sophia's identity. Who is she and why is she so rich? If it's just from Travis, it doesn't feel right, and he has a vague feeling that Sophia must have some kind of background.

Paul over there, afraid to come out of breath, afraid that the president of an unhappy, throw him to Africa to dig.

It was a long time before Drake spoke, "Keep watching, and let me know first if you have any news."

That's it?

That's it?

Paul was afraid that he would backtrack and hurriedly answered, "Yes, President, I will do a good job."

"Hmm."

Drake hung up the phone.

Sophia's curtains were so thick that she couldn't see inside at all. He didn't know if she was standing there or if she was already asleep, but it was so late that she should be asleep.

.....

When Sophia got up in the morning and got ready for work, she subconsciously looked over there and thought Drake had left long ago, but she didn't expect his car to still be there.

So, he didn't leave all night?

He slept in the car?

Bard wrinkled his brow, "He's a real pain in the ass."

Drake certainly did not sleep well over here, naturally woke up long ago, and even he did not know why he did not leave yet, at the moment of seeing Sophia, four eyes, he did not even get out of the car.

Bard pulls Sophia: "Go, ignore him!"

Sophia was stunned for a moment, but followed Bard away.

Drake watched until their figures disappeared in front of him.

In the car, Bard told solemnly, "Sophia, I will not allow you to be the least bit soft on him."
