

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 74

Mr. Jones also had the bottle uncorked and then poured it first for the two of them and then, for himself.

He lifted his glass first: "Ms. Lawson and Ms. Thomas are so sincere, I would not be a man if I still squirm, come on, I'll drink to you first."

With that, he drank a small cup.

After drinking, he even looked at the wine goblet and praised, "Not bad, it's good wine, really good wine."

Sophia and Chloe both looked speechless.

The dishes followed.

Also at that moment, Drake passed by just in time to see the familiar figure inside.

Sophia, Chloe, and Mr. Jones, why are they eating here?

Flynn tried to speak, and Bailey gave him a wink.

But the door quickly closed, not allowing them to continue to see what was happening inside.

Mr. Jones sat directly over here against Sophia in order to be close to them.

His hand was just about to be placed on Sophia's hand when Sophia quickly dodged it.

Mr. Jones was in no hurry, kept moving closer to her, and pretended that nothing had happened, and said.

"About our two companies to cooperate with the project, I am one hundred percent in favor, you the Skylane Group although not yet listed, but in these years of kung fu, that is also very bull, this time we can win each other, really good opportunity."

Sophia still wore a professional smile, "Yes, it is indeed an honor for us at the Skylane Group to work with a company like Minghai."

"Alas, don't say that, now you are working with the government on a big project, I am climbing high above you."

"Mr. Jones is so modest!"

It seemed that the top was not working, so Mr. Jones came down and kept his hand on Sophia's side.

Sophia's thin heel stepped
