

Right Person 522

Chapter 522 A Kiss

Then, Pierre curled up his lips. Don't blame me on this, Norman. Instead, blame Nicole for being so lucky. If that's the case, I will have to kill you to save myself!

As 'Colton's' wedding was approaching, Anna was getting better. Although she was still wearing a cast on her leg, she was in good shape by the care of the servants. To avoid unnecessary trouble, Nicole bid her goodbye to Anna and prepared to take Hayden back home.

When Colton knew about this, he didn't stop her but insisted on taking her back home. "I'll send you back home. Otherwise, I will miss you." He had always been cheeky with the way he spoke.

As Nicole heard his flirtatious words, she didn't say anything and nodded. When they finished dinner at the Gardner Residence and were ready to head home, it was already nighttime. It was a moonless night, as if God had draped a blanket over the world. It was rare that it wasn't raining at night, as it had been raining these days. Still, it was cold outside.

Nicole thought that Colton was going to drive them home, but when she carried Hayden into the car, Colton found a driver and sat in the back with them. Then, it was as if Hayden had read his mind when he sat next to the driver's seat, leaving the two adults at the back.

the car, they arrived at Nicole's place in 20 carried his things and said, "Mommy, I'll go and put my things. Why don't you talk to Daddy?" With that being said, he darted into the house while the driver knew better people in the high-end residential area at night. The road lights were dim, and there was a hazy sensation as felt awkward while being in this semi-dark environment. Lastly, Nicole broke the awkwardness between them. She raised her head and looked at him, saying, "Thank you back there about the a thank you isn't enough, Nicky? Maybe... you could try to be more sincere?"

that moment, Nicole's breath hitched as Colton was talking beside her ears. Since her ears were to do?" Nicole looked directly at him to Colton raised her chin and slowly closed in on her. "I wonder want to kiss me, just do it! There's no need to say such cheesy