Chapter 1321 Back Again. Mr. President

Country B was impoverished and they were conservative about female private affairs like this, not usually willing to bring it up in front of men. Even when it was mentioned among the women, it was discussed in private.

No man would act like Si Yi. Disregard whether he was a male or not, he had actually voiced the question in front of everyone else so openly. There was another group of men standing and enjoying the cool farther away!

“Wh-where...did this young man come from...” A woman voiced out in embarrassment as she got flustered listening to Si Yi.

Grace got up quickly. She dared not offend Yun Jian, so she told Si Yi right away, “I do, I have them. Go back first. I’ll send it to you in a while.”

Grace had only wanted Si Yi to hurry and go back to his room.

When Si Yi heard that Grace would send the item to him, he went back to the room with Yun Jian in it without hesitation.

As Si Yi’s tall figure disappeared before everyone’s eyes, it was only then Grace sighed in relief. She then told the women behind her, “That was just a misunderstanding-a misunderstanding! Hah... Don’t take it seriously!”

Grace felt that she was utterly embarrassed with Yun Jian and Si Yi staying with her now but she dared not fight back.

“Uh... I’ll go have a look. You guys go on, go on...” Grace said and turned around, slipping away from everyone else stealthily.

Yun Jian was sitting on the bed in the room with both hands pressed against the board of the bed. She turned to Si Yi when he entered and pressed her lips together. The blush was still evident on her cheeks. “Have you managed to borrow any?”

“She’ll send it here.” Si Yi went to Yun Jian and ruffled her hair, the affection in his gaze palpable.

Due to the poverty, women in Country B made their own sanitary pads and some would even reuse them.

Grace dared not act defiantly after she knew that Yun Jian knew their country’s president, so she fetched the latter a clean pad that no one had used before.

Si Yi did not seem awkward at all while Yun Jian’s face was still pink. The former held her hand, wrapping her small one within his bigger palm.

As both of them sat on two of the few wooden stools available in the courtyard, they looked leisurely like the laidback countryside old lady and old man.

If Ya Dang were to see them like this, he might even laugh at them saying that his young master and young madam were living their senior retirement life.

It was then a group of people bolted to the courtyard all of a sudden.

Yun Jian who turned to glance saw that the person leading the bunch of men was Village Chief Lumada.

“She said that she knows our president. It’s fake! I’ve sent people to ask about it. How could Mr. President have met a small fry like her?!”

“F*ck, how dare she treated us like that yesterday? Let’s get her now! The girl belongs to whoever who subdues her!”

As Village Chief Lumada took a throng of villagers here today, he growled menacingly at Yun Jian as if he wanted to vent his rage from yesterday.

Si Yi glowered right away.

It was then a helicopter flew from a distance away to a nearby field and was deafeningly loud with its spinning rotor blades. When it almost landed, the helicopter door opened and a handsome man with a terrifying scar on his neck popped his head out with a short and plump middle-aged man in his hand and threw the latter out of the helicopter.

People were curious when the man fell on the ground after he was tossed out but Village Chief Lumada’s face fell before he exclaimed, “M-Mr.—Mr... P-Pre-Mr. President!?”

Chapter 1322 Hasn’t Taught You a Lesson

The short and plump middle-aged man who was tossed out of the helicopter by the handsome man with a deep scar on his neck was Country B’s president, Peele.

Peele was the president of Country B. Village Chief Lumada had connections above him, so he had caught a glimpse of Peele far away where President Peele made a visit last time. That was why he could recognize that Peele was the president of their country.

Country B was a small but densely populated nation. It was one of the main reasons why it was poverty-stricken. Despite that, it was still a country and Peele was a big shot who people like Village Chief Lumada would never be able to meet their entire lives.

Now that they got to see Peele out of the blue, Village Chief Lumada and others were dumbfounded, especially when they had just refuted the fact that Yun Jian knew Peele.

When they suddenly saw this odd man tossing Peele off the helicopter, Village Chief Lumada and others could not help thinking when they saw it—was this man with a scar on his neck who threw Peele out of the helicopter together with Yun Jian?

Right when they wondered, Peele who was tossed to the ground got up. Village Chief Lumada and others were still caught in their shock.

Snow Eagle who was in the helicopter about five meters away from the ground leaped down coolly and landed without a hitch. Snake.Lizard hopped off after him as well.

“You-you guys found your people. You sh-should let me go now...” Peele said weakly as his fats trembled on his rather podgy body, watching as Snow Eagle and Snake.Lizard walk past him.

It was just that the two of them ignored him. Snow Eagle and Snake. Lizard went to Yun Jian in front of Village Chief Lumada and others.

Snake.Lizard called directly, “Sister Jian.”

Village Chief Lumada and others had found out that Snow Eagle and Snake. Lizard were most probably Yun Jian and Si Yi’s people when Snow Eagle and Peele appeared just now. They were not too dumbstruck right now but they had still broken out in cold sweat, especially Village Chief Lumada.

He had brought his villagers over with hoes and shovels to come for Yun Jian just earlier. It was because he had listened to someone; that person said that an insignificant person like Yun Jian would never have appeared in a rural place like this if she knew President Peele, so the person said that Yun Jian must be bluffing

Therefore, Lumada rushed over with his men to try and pick a fight with Yun Jian. Yun Jian had foiled his plan yesterday and had not been nice with her words. Village Chief Lumada did not forget that.

Nevertheless, he felt like he had offended someone he should not have provoked in the first place when he saw Peele. That was why he gulped and dared not say another word.

Peele was not stupid either. When he saw the two people who abducted him greeting Yun Jian and Si Yi respectfully, he realized at once that both of them must be the bosses.

Peele straightened up with his belly sticking out. He was the president of Country B, after all, he must not show his fear. He demanded Yun Jian and Si Yi. “Who...are you? Why did you abduct me? I demand you to release me right now. This is my land. When my soldiers come, I’ll surely

Before Peele finished, Yun Jian who stood across him snorted and replied, “Peele, looks like what happened four years ago hasn’t taught you a lesson huh? Do I have to kill all your ministers again to make you listen better?”

Back when Yun Jian had just made her debut, the mission she received was to assassinate Peele’s ministers. That had terrorized Peele.

It had been a long time since Peele heard a girl sound so insolent. The tone she used... Why was it so similar to the woman in his memory who had killed countless of his ministers that he had to offer her half of his country's wealth to send her away...

Peele furrowed his brows and suddenly snapped his head up to look at Yun Jian in horror as he yelped, "You... You can't be... You can't be Slaying..."

Chapter 1323 Going Back. Be Nice to Lily

As Peele spoke, he had plopped down on the ground in fear. That was because he saw Yun Jian lifting her right pointer finger lightly to put it against her lips, doing a shushing motion that unnerved him.

Peele fell to his butt on the ground not because he thought that Yun Jian's hand gesture was unsettling but because Yun Jian... The hush motion she did just now perfectly matched the motion of the woman he had been terrified of and who had been his nightmare for years, startling him awake when he saw it in his dreams!

This also meant that the girl standing before him was really...

Yun Jian smirked lightly and told Peele wearing a smile with a hidden threat, "Shh, you didn't see anything today. Act as if nothing happened today. Otherwise, I don't mind revisiting what happened four years

The vibe Yun Jian exuded currently was unnerving. It was an eeriness that came from the bottom of the heart.

Peele could not help the shudder that ran through his podgy body before he gulped. He really did not dare utter another word then.

Country B's Mr. President actually knew Yun Jian! Judging by the current situation, he looked like he was also afraid of her!

Village Chief Lumada, Grace, and the men and women who were standing around were baffled.

"Let's go," Yun Jian looked up at Si Yi's handsome side profile and told him, uninterested to care about what would happen next.

Both of them then made their way to the helicopter.

There was a rope dangling off the helicopter. With the helicopter hovering, one would have to climb up with the rope.

As Yun Jian and Si Yi walked toward the helicopter, Yun Jian suddenly saw a girl who was looking at her as she hid farther away. It was Lily. The girl was watching her from afar with a grateful gaze.

Seeing Yun Jian turn to her, Lily had even waved at her and said softly, "Bye-bye, big sister."

“Peele, I like this girl a lot. I’ve already taken her as my younger sister. If I come to Country B again and hear a word of discontentment from her, I believe that it’s no problem for me to blast Country B off.”

It was a walk in the park for Gu Sha Mercenaries to bomb Country B.

Peele got down on his knees to kowtow at Yun Jian in fright. “How would I dare! I’ll definitely treat her like my own daughter!”

With what Peele said, Yun Jian believed that Lily would find her happiness. Peele knew Yun Jian’s rules.

Yun Jian turned to Lily and saw the latter blink at her. She smiled slightly and grabbed the rope hanging from the helicopter, going up and into the helicopter swiftly before everyone’s eyes.

There was no way one could do that with so much ease without training for three to four years, so the crowd was stunned.

After Si Yi, Snow Eagle and Snake. Lizard went up the helicopter, Snow Eagle went to fly it to take Yun Jian and Si Yi away. As for the helicopter that crashed previously, someone would take care of it; as expected, these were not within Yun Jian and Si Yi’s range of concern.

Peele sighed in relief when he saw Yun Jian and Si Yi leave. He then cracked a smile at Lily -one that was forced-as he waved at her, so polite that it made Village Chief Lumada and Grace felt awkward.

“Little girl, I’ll be your daddy from now on, okay? Do you want to follow daddy back to the palace? I’ll be very nice to you!”

Chapter 1324 Reporting to the School for Military Training

There were only four people in the helicopter -Snow Eagle, Snake.Lizard, Yun Jian, and Si Yi.

Qing You was not here as she was still at the venue of the tea party in Country B. Her plan was to go with Duoya and Charlotte in sending Maena’s body back to Country M for burial then take the two women back to Gu Sha Mercenaries.

After all, Gu Sha Mercenaries was located in a secluded place. If Qing You did not stay back to lead the way, Duoya and Charlotte would not even know where the organization was. Moreover, Duoya and Charlotte were unlike Yun Jian who had astounding hacking skill.

If one were to hack the system and find where Gu Sha Mercenaries was, one needed to be as skilled as Yun Jian to be able to do it. The two women were not—they did not even know what hackers meant in particular.

Due to what had happened, the return to the country was delayed. It was already August 3rd when Yun Jian and Si Yi came back.

Si Yi went back to An Hun Group with Snow Eagle after sending Yun Jian back to Longmen City. The girl was about to start school and he had planned to go to Min City with her initially.

Yun Jian was going through a month of military training while Si Yi would be attending the last year of senior high school when he started school, so he did not have military training. He just wanted to see Yun Jian constantly.

With what happened now, he had to go back to An Hun Group personally for an investigation to find out who wanted him and his Xiao Jian dead.

Was it the mysterious person from Yulong Mainland? Or was it someone else?

It must not be treated recklessly since this had to do with their life and death. Moreover, Si Yi was certain that there was a traitor within An Hun Group. Before he found said traitor, he would not relent, thus he was not sure when he would be back this time either.

Before he left, he hugged Yun Jian and told her, "Xiao Jian, the next time I come back, I'll bring back our overseas marriage certificate."

It would be well within reasons for him to do anything with her by then. Of course, nothing was stopping Si Yi from slipping off to the military training venue to look for Yun Jian while he weeded out An Hun Group's traitor either.

If Ya Dang were here, he would be slapping his arm and shouting that he would eat sh*t in front of Snow Eagle and other commanders if their young master could take one month without going to Yun Jian where she had her military training.

If Ya Dang were here and Si Yi heard his thought, Si Yi would most probably slam him with some sh*t directly.

"Xiao Jian, take good care of yourself when you're in school. Balance your nutrition. Have both vegetables and meat, don't be picky. You need to eat everything."

"Girls your age are always trying to go on diets and stuff. I'll have you know that you're not fat at all. Don't go on a diet like the other girls. Make sure you're full each meal. Look at how thin you are..."

Yun Jian was going to leave for school, so Qin Yirou pulled her to sit on the couch as she packed the suitcase, putting clothes in it neatly, while she nagged the girl nonstop.

Yun Jian ultimately lost her ability to listen to Qin Yirou's rambles even though she had already seen her as her beloved mother.

"I know, mom." Yun Jian palmed her forehead and interrupted Qin Yirou. "Alright, alright, I'll stop. Get ready to depart then. Right, Xiao Jian, have you had enough change? Do you want me to get you some? You're taking a bus to Min City and you'll have to take a bus back as well. I'll get you more change. Hold on, I'll go get it now!"

Chapter 1325 To the New School-a New Journey

Qin Yirou nagged a lot now but she could not be blamed. Any parent whose child was leaving them to go to senior high school-in Qin Yirou's case, her daughter was leaving her to another city-would behave the same way.

To Qin Yirou, no matter how extraordinary Yun Jian was previously, she was only her daughter-she was just a regular girl.

Although Yun Jian did not want to listen to Qin Yirou nag her, she felt warm and fuzzy inside. To be able to relish in a mother's love was a luxury to her in her previous life because she had already lost her mother.

To live again and have a great mother like Qin Yirou, Yun Jian felt that her rebirth was not in vain. She was even thankful that she could be reborn due to the sandalwood box back then.

"Here, here, I got the change." Worried that Yun Jian would leave without waiting for her, Qin Yirou rushed back downstairs and thrust the change for the bus fare to Yun Jian's hand.

"Xiao Jian, hold on to it. Come home often if you have time off from the military school!" Qin Yirou said and headed out first carrying the heavy suitcase for Yun Jian.

Yun Jian had a small, cool-looking black backpack on a single shoulder without books in it. There was only a black pen, a butterfly knife, a bunch of blades, and two daggers. The butterfly knife was not the one forged by the Deicide Blade. The one made of the Deicide Blade was hidden on Yun Jian; unless she took it out on her own, no one would be able to find it on her.

Furthermore, Yun Jian usually carried two butterfly knives now-one was the one made of the Deicide Blade while another was just a regular one she bought from sellers.

Yun Jian had hidden the butterfly knife that was made from the Deicide Blade on her at all times. She would not taint it when she did not need it. As for the other regular butterfly knife that was sharpened, she threw it and changed to a new one each time it was stained.

No one would have expected that the small backpack on the shoulder of a docile girl like Yun Jian who was sweet and fresh looking with a hint of allure, whose small and delicate face would enchant any man who saw her, to not keep books but an assortment of blades.

Yun Jian who saw Qin Yirou take her heavy suitcase hurried over to grab it from her and told the woman, "Mom, I'll take it."

She did not let Qin Yirou make a second grab for her suitcase after that.

Qin Yirou personally sent Yun Jian to the bus station and watched the bus leave eventually.

Two hours of bus ride later, Yun Jian finally arrived at Min City from Longmen City. She got out of the bus and came to the gate of Min City's military school pulling her suitcase. This was not her first time to the school.

The students who had witnessed the commotion she caused the last time who were in first and second year of senior high school had gone up to second and last year of school while those in their last year had graduated.

Besides, this was the period of military training, which meant that Yun Jian would not see any familiar faces. Chu Ning and her teammates were still on summer break. Only first year freshmen had to be present in school now to join the military training that would last for a month.

The drill instructors who had fought for Yun Jian to join their class previously would not show up during this month either.

Because the higher-ups of the school regarded this military training highly, they had sent a national level senior instructor to train the new students.

With that in mind, Yun Jian stepped into the compound of Min City's military school.

Chapter 1326 Getting in Trouble at the New School

The school was still like how it was when Yun Jian came the last time. The ground was swept clean but since it had been a month of summer break, there were fallen leaves scattered. It also meant that the school was environmental-friendly with a lot of greenery.

With fallen leaves, it meant that there were trees. The air that students who lived in a school with trees breathe would be the freshest.

Yun Jian was accompanied by the summer heat but she was not afraid of being burned in the sun as she strolled from the gate to the notice board in the school.

With a squint, Yun Jian hiked her black bag up on her shoulder slightly and was going to turn to leave when a girl suddenly rushed up from behind her.

As the girl charged forward, she stubbornly threw herself toward Yun Jian even when the latter was not in balance since she was turning around. It was like the girl did not care what happened to others as long as she was not hurt.

Perhaps, she was unhappy seeing Yun Jian stand here and wanted to shove her away so she could go in front of the notice board, thus she ran into Yun Jian with her shoulder.

If it had been regular people, they would have already collided against the girl now. As for Yun Jian, she did not even turn away; she merely took a small step to the side with narrowed eyes and shifted away from the girl's direction of momentum that she was running into her in.

The girl who failed to stop herself ran straight into a guy who was 100 kilograms in weight and reeked with sweat. The stench from the guy nearly made the girl who tried to ram into Yun Jian throw up her breakfast.

Since the others who were there were teenagers, they whistled and cheered when they saw a girl throwing herself at a guy.

The girl shoved the smelly guy away and promptly pointed at Yun Jian, snapping at her, "Why did you avoid me just now?! I wouldn't have ran into him if you didn't step away!"

And she would not have embarrassed herself!

Was Yun Jian supposed to just let the girl run into her if she did not step away? Yun Jian scoffed and ignored the girl, putting a hand on her bag and making her way to the classroom of Freshman Class (2).

She did not regard the girl no matter how she shrieked and yelled behind her.

Once Yun Jian got into the classroom, she took a seat casually. The classmates around her were all new faces; she did not know them nor did they know her. Even the teacher on the rostrum and the students were unfamiliar.

After Yun Jian put her bag away and sat down, the girl who sat next to her greeted her, "Hello. I'm Lin Yuan. What's your name?"

"Yun Jian," Yun Jian replied coolly seeing that someone was talking to her.

Her character had been relatively aloof but the girl named Lin Yuan did not mind.

Instead, she asked Yun Jian with a smile, "Yun Jian, you have a nice name. Can we be friends?"

It was usually a habit for girls to make friends first when they were unfamiliar with the environment.

"Mn." Yun Jian nodded lightly.

Lin Yuan was interesting. As she spoke, she liked cracking jokes. Soon enough, the girls sitting around Yun Jian were giggling from Lin Yuan's jokes-even Yun Jian could not help the tug on the corner of her lips.

About ten minutes into their chat, Yun Jian spotted someone entering the class. It was the girl who had barked at Yun Jian at the notice board earlier.

Yun Jian casted her eyes down. What a coincidence... While she thought of that, Lin Yuan tugged her hand to ask her, "Yun Jian, can you go to the washroom with me?"

By the time both of them came back from the washroom, Yun Jian saw her black backpack thrown on the floor with the various blades it carried revealed to her classmates.

The girl who had scolded Yun Jian at the notice board earlier had one foot on Yun Jian's backpack and cackled when she saw Yun Jian returning. She mocked, "Tsk, tsk, this girl doesn't even have a book in her bag. It's all knives."

"We're in the military school but what are you trying to say by keeping knives in your bag? That you're good? Or you want others to think that you're different from us?"

“Hah, do you think you’re a secret agent? Or an assassin? Look at how many knives you have in your bag, pft, it’s a joke! Look at yourself in the mirror first! You’re so thin and frail that I suspect you got into the military school through the backdoor!”

Chapter 1327 The Start of Her Military School Life

The girl was impudent.

Their homeroom teacher who had been sitting at the rostrum had gone out currently. It must be because the teacher had left that the girl dared act so brazenly.

Moreover, she had not forgotten that it was due to Yun Jian’s stepping away at the notice board that she ran into a fat and stinky guy! She was a clean freak!

What was worse was that many students had witnessed the earlier scene and all of them hooted in cheers!

This was what the girl could not accept the most, so when she saw that Yun Jian was her classmate, she wanted revenge.

The students in class did not know each other, practically strangers to one another, so they were confused when they saw that the girl was picking on Yun Jian. However, it was undeniable that they were all stunned when the girl opened Yun Jian’s small backpack and they saw the variety of knives kept inside.

Before Yun Jian could say anything about the girl stepping on her backpack, Lin Yuan who stood beside her held her back and stormed forward angrily. Lin Yuan looked at the girl in rage and gritted through her teeth, “What’s the meaning of this?”

Not only did Lin Yuan like cracking jokes, she was filled with justice. No matter why the girl was looking for Yun Jian, it was apparent right now that she was picking a fault with Yun Jian.

Yun Jian looked down, choosing to stay silent as she stood on the side. Despite that, Lin Yuan taking her side and speaking up for her made her raise her brow.

“Who do you think you are? This has nothing to do with you. If you know what’s best for you, scram off!”

The girl was irked when she saw that there was no change in Yun Jian’s expression and yelled back when Lin Yuan spoke up for the latter instead.

“Are you crazy? Why are you scolding someone right as you speak? Besides, you’re nothing to do with me?”

The girl did not manage to react in time when Lin Yuan pushed her, so she stumbled back and stabilized herself rather embarrassingly before she pointed at Lin Yuan and yelled, “How dare you push me? Do you know who I am? I’ll have you know that my father is...”

It was evident that the girl was all bluster as she did not even dare fight back when Lin Yuan pushed her.

The force Lin Yuan had when she pushed the girl did not look like what a regular girl should possess too. The boys around them blinked in surprise and even Yun Jian arched a brow slightly.

Lin Shuya had a little skill but she was intimidated by Lin Yuan’s strength when the latter shoved her just now. Once she heard that their teacher was coming, she hurried back to her seat as well but before she left, she turned to glare at Yun Jian as if to say that they were not done.

Lin Yuan picked up Yun Jian’s bag for her and kept the scattered knives on the floor back into it before pulling Yun Jian to the washroom.

“Yun Jian, I’ll wash the outside of the bag for you. It’s quite dirty from being stepped on just now,” Lin Yuan said warmly.

“Mn.” Yun Jian did not refuse it.

She did not counter or show her intimidation just now and that made the students in class think that she was really a meek girl.

Look, she was bullied and she did not dare fight back. Her friend had to speak up for her in the end!

No one knew that it was not that Yun Jian did not dare fight back. She just did not want to become the center of attention right when she came to a new environment... Her military school life had just begun!

Chapter 1328 Where Did You Get the White Stone?

Qin Yirou had painstakingly chosen and bought the small black backpack for Yun Jian previously, so it was impossible for Yun Jian to throw it away.

At the door of the girl’s washroom, Lin Yuan was carefully and seriously washing Yun Jian’s bag for her.

“Thank you,” Yun Jian thanked Lin Yuan politely seeing that the latter was washing her bag for her so seriously when it was not her responsibility to begin with.

“No need to be so courteous! Haha, we’re good friends from now on!” Lin Yuan turned to flash Yun Jian a bright grin and wiped away the last stain on the black backpack.

Both of them then went back to class together.

By the time they sat at their seats in the classroom, their homeroom teacher was already standing in front. He cleared his throat seeing that all the students were present and introduced himself, “Hi, everyone. My last name is Chu, haha, and I believe that you can all distinguish my gender.”

“You can call me Mr. Chu. Having just gotten into senior high school, I think it’s the first time for most of you here to be in a military school setting. Our senior high is different from other regular schools. Our school emphasizes on physical fitness!”

“And we usually have more boys in class. I’ve counted the girls. We have more girls in our class than the other classes, a total of six of you all! Of course, this means that the boys in our class ought to be their shining knights! Don’t let our girls get bullied!”

Mr. Chu was a male teacher and was humorous in his way of talking.

Standing at the rostrum, he paced back and forth as he spoke and managed to make the whole class laugh in a while. Even Yun Jian squinted on her seat. As expected, the military school suited her best.

Regular schools, be it junior high schools, senior high schools or universities, focused on academics. PE classes were pathetically few and rare in a week. Military schools were the opposite-physical training was the most important here.

After going through basic notes of attention, Mr. Chu continued to say, “Gather back in class at 12:30pm after you have your lunch in the cafeteria later. We’ll get ready to depart for the military training. Remember to bring along your luggage! The venue of our military training isn’t in school and the dorms will be arranged after the month-long training ends!”

Mr. Chu dismissed the class after he went through all the items.

There was only a big cafeteria in the military school but the variety of dishes was abundant and sumptuous. Lin Yuan exclaimed a loud “whoa” when she and Yun Jian got to the cafeteria. It was just that before she could pull Yun Jian along to line up at the cafeteria counter, Lin Shuya and her clique of girls blocked their way.

If one looked properly, the girls behind Lin Shuya were the other few in class aside from Yun Jian and Lin Yuan. Had she won the other girls in their class over to her side so fast?

Lin Shuya pointed a finger at Yun Jian and berated her loudly, “I’m telling you, what you’ve done earlier has infuriated me! If you know what’s good for you, get on your knees and apologize to me. I can still forgive you. Otherwise... hah! I’ll teach you a lesson right now!”

Lin Shuya picking a fight made freshmen from other classes who passed by stop and stare. After all, it was uncommon to see someone purposely picking a fight; now that they got to watch a show once school had just reopened, they had to stop and watch.

With her arms propped on her hips, Lin Shuya looked at Yun Jian arrogantly. The other students directed their gazes to Yun Jian as well.

In spite of it, all they saw was Yun Jian suddenly narrowing her eyes before she walked off briskly to somewhere else in the cafeteria.

Lin Yuan who wanted to speak up for Yun Jian again called out when she saw the latter walking off to a spot in the cafeteria, “Hey, Yun Jian, where are you going?” Yun Jian ignored her as she marched right to a corner of the cafeteria where a girl about 16 or 17 years old was. She grabbed the white stone that was slung around the girl’s neck with a red thread directly.

Yun Jian turned to look at the girl, the piercing gaze reflected off her eyes ran a shudder through the girl wearing the white stone. Yun Jian was glowering as she looked at the girl, questioning her in a sudden raise of voice, "Where did you get this?!"

Chapter 1329 The Story Behind the Stone

Yun Jian did not regard Lin Shuya but went to a girl from another class whom she did not know at all and picked up the stone the girl wore on her neck to question her about it.

Lin Shuya thought that Yun Jian was purposely embarrassing her in public, assumed that she had intentionally ignored her, or that she wanted to attract attention in the cafeteria.

Teenage girls loved showing how they were different from other girls to attract attention from boys and Lin Shuya thought that this was Yun Jian's goal, so she stood rooted and scoffed at Yun Jian in front of everyone in the cafeteria, "Hah, trying to look cool? Stop putting up an act. I purposely dropped your bag in class, what about it? Are you acting like you're so cool again now?"

What Lin Shuya said redirected the students' gazes to Yun Jian but the latter was unfazed. Her deep and beautiful eyes were trained on the girl who was eating at the cafeteria table.

The girl had chills from being stared at by Yun Jian as she quickly caught the red thread that Yun Jian had grabbed in her hand. Said red thread was threaded through the white stone and was tied around the girl's neck.

The girl wanted to pull the thread back but the thread remained unmoved despite her tugging it twice. Yun Jian had no intention of giving the white stone back to the girl at all.

On the contrary, she ignored Lin Shuya who was insulting her from the back and kept her eyes on the white stone before she repeated herself in a raised voice, "Where did you get this stone?!"

It was less a question and more an interrogation.

Yun Jian had never shown such an emotion to outsiders before but she had slightly lost her composure seeing this white stone today.

The reason was simple. This was an ordinary stone but the front of it had two vague letters etched on it that one could not even distinguish what letters they were if they did not look carefully-MY. The back of the white stone had two equally worn off letters as well -SG.

Needless to say, SG stood for Slaying God, Yun Jian herself. As for MY, Yun Jian did not know what it meant in Chinese but she knew that these two letters represented the little girl she had gotten to know in An Hun Group when she was younger—the girl who had hugged her every night comforting her not to be scared and telling her that they would be okay and go home in that brutal assassin organization.

The girl did not end up going home. Her limbs were cut off and her heart was dug out alive by the other girls in the organization because of Yun Jian; her body was thrown to feed the dogs ultimately too. The person who should have been dead was Yun Jian.

Yun Jian did not know what the girl's name was but she knew that the girl was MY and she was SG. Perhaps the white stone was nothing to others but this stone was the one that Yun Jian and the little girl had carved the letters on using sharp rocks back when they were in the assassin organization.

The little girl said that they would find their way home one day with the stone. She died ultimately and the stone disappeared but Yun Jian had never forgotten her promise with the girl.

It was not that Yun Jian had not looked for the white stone but she was unable to find it no matter what. It was thus a surprise to see the stone here! That was why she lost her cool.

Chapter 1330 How Old Friends Meet

“You... Why is your reaction the same as the girl I met just now when she saw this stone?” the girl wearing the white stone asked suddenly while Yun Jian stared at said white stone without looking away even for a bit.

It was already a surprise for Yun Jian to see this white stone here today as not everyone in this world had the chance to be reborn.

Yun Jian was an accident while little Yun Zhu was a miracle. Despite that, not everyone got to have such mystical encounter. Men only lived once; there was no second time after missing it.

When Yun Jian heard what the girl who currently had the white stone said, she snapped her head up to her and grabbed her wrist with a cold expression, questioning, “What did you say?” “Ow-ouch, ouch, ouch... You—let go first, it hurts...” The girl was almost tearing up from the pain of Yun Jian gripping her wrist since the latter did not control her strength.

The other girls who sat beside the girl called out to Yun Jian as well. “Hey, what are you doing? Can’t you see that our friend is tearing up from how much pain she’s in? Let go of her first!”

Yun Jian released her grip at that and saw that the girl breathed in relief. It seemed that she was really hurt from Yun Jian’s grasp.

“Sorry,” Yun Jian offered softly but asked instantly before the girl could say anything, “Where’s the girl who you said that reacted exactly like I did just now?!”

The girl’s passing remark made Yun Jian’s eye twitch. She had only wanted to ask the girl where the stone came from but what the latter continued to say startled her. Yun Jian had a feeling...

“She’s at our school’s shooting range. We were touring around the school just now and saw her shooting there alone...”

“Oh, right, her marksmanship is amazing...” Yun Jian could no longer hear what the girl said after that as she twirled and ran for the cafeteria door. She paused when she came to Lin Yuan and asked her, “Do you know where the shooting range is?”

“I do but why are you going there, Yun Jian? I

Lin Yuan then led Yun Jian to the shooting range running, leaving Lin Shuya and others standing dumbly on the spot.

It was Lin Shuya who ultimately scoffed and broke the silence.

What Lin Shuya said somehow stirred the curiosity of the crowd as they wondered what Yun Jian was going to do. Hence, they chased after Yun Jian boisterously in the direction she had left in. Those who were going were not only classmates in her Freshman Class (2).

The school only had freshmen right now since sophomores and seniors were still on their summer break. Most of the freshmen who were eating at the cafeteria had gone to watch the commotion with Lin Shuya.

The sole purpose Lin Shuya had prompted all the freshmen to go to the shooting range with Yun Jian was to watch her embarrass herself in public. She could not help thinking that it was Yun Jian’s fault to embarrass herself this time and it had nothing to do with her.

When Lin Shuya brought the crowd and came to the spacious shooting range in a clamor, they saw Yun Jian walking to the girl standing alone in the shooting range and shooting.

The girl’s back gave Yun Jian a sense of familiarity, so she was already cracking a wide smile. The back of the girl overlapped with the silhouette of the little girl who had been protecting her in the organization.

Thinking of that, Yun Jian suddenly pulled out two daggers from both sides of her hips right before everyone’s eyes. She gripped a dagger in each hand and charged toward the girl from her back.

The students who stood farther away widened their eyes in shock and some had even shouted, “Sh*t, is this girl crazy? Is she trying to kill someone? I thought she’s found a long lost good friend judging by her emotional reaction just now! Why is she holding knives...”
