/ Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover

In the video call, Sabrina's face was filled with rage. She was running out of a small villa with murderous intent. At first glance, Sasha knew that she was up to something terrible.

Sasha's face turned pale.

"Where did you hear that from? I haven't received his notice of the press conference."

"Nonsense! He uploaded a video on the Hayes Corporation website. There was no press conference at all. Damn! It's all over the internet now!" Sabrina screamed toward her phone while getting into the car.

Sasha felt the chills running down her spine.

She quickly opened up the official website of the Hayes Corporation.

Indeed, the video appeared in the most eye-catching position of the webpage.

"Dear friends, as well as partners of Hayes Corporation. I'm recording this video today to tell you one thing. This year, thanks to everyone, I have successfully completed the task assigned to me by my family as the president of Hayes Corporation. I am thrilled, and I have learned a lot. I will never forget this experience.

"However, Hayes Corporation is inseparable from its owner. Only he can take the company toward a more glorious future. Therefore, I will return the company to the hands of its owner, Sebastian. He was away for a year due to his health, but he is finally back now. I hope that the future Hayes Corporation will continue to prosper under his leadership."

Solomon still looked polite in front of the camera with gold glasses. He was wearing a black suit and tie, and his handsome face looked gentle.

However, from the moment he spoke, he was no longer the lawyer that he used to be.

He was a leader!

Sasha trembled with fury. She was angry because he lied to her.

"Is the speedboat repaired? Could you send me back first? I will arrange someone to pick my husband up." She hurriedly asked the two men.

At that moment, she believed Solomon's matters were more imperative and that Sebastian would think the same when he woke up.

But the two of them suddenly stood up and looked at their phones, and their mood changed immediately.

The president of the Hayes Corporation resigned?

Then... the people left on Norden Isle?

"Ugh-"

Just when they had a sudden change of mood on the speedboat, and panic flashed across their eyes, suddenly, another speedboat came zipping between the waves from the direction of Norden Isle.

"Sasha, come here-"

"Huh?"

Sasha was surprised by the loud voice and turned toward the source of the sound and her pupils contracted at once. Unexpectedly-

"Sebby?!"

She was shocked!

The two of them also saw it and their faces turned pale. They were about to start the engines.

However, Sebastian's speedboat made it to Sasha at impeccable timing. He had already jumped off from his speedboat by the moment he was approaching closer.

"Sebby!" Sasha screamed in fright when she saw him jump.

Fortunately, the current Sebastian was no longer what he used to be. After being sent to the military base by Jonathan for three months of ruthless training, he became a qualified special forces member.

Sebastian landed on Sasha's speedboat.

His eyes were almost terrifying, like a devil from hell. As he saw the two men preparing to start the engine, he quickly stood up on his feet.

The very next moment, he dived at them with both feet first.

“Argh-”

The man who had his head down trying to turn the key to the speedboat shrieked as he got kicked off the boat.

When the other man saw it, his legs started to tremble.

He dropped his metal bar and stepped back in horror. “No- Mr. Hayes. We have nothing to do with this. It’s Mr. Giovanni- He told us to do this, Mr. Hayes-”

Crack!

Sebastian swung the metal bar in his hand onto his head.

Sasha was utterly speechless.

When the man with the fractured skull got kicked off by Sebastian into the river, and she smelled the mixture of the bloody odor and the humidity of the river water in the air, her knees suddenly got weak.

As soon as Sebastian saw it, he tossed away his metal bar and dashed over to hold her. “Darling!”

Her face was pale from the shock, and even her eyes were filled with terror. When he held her in his arms, she couldn’t regain her senses for a few seconds.

“Sorry, darling. That must have frightened you. It’s all my fault, my fault-” Sebastian hugged her tightly.

At that moment, his heart was shredded into pieces from guilt, and he wanted to slap himself twice in the face. What have I done?

Fortunately, because of the excessive perilous encounters that she experienced with him, Sasha gradually recovered after Sebastian comforted her for a while.

Sasha calmed down in his arms. “What- What are you doing?” While still trembling, she asked in a tone that had traces of fear.

Sebastian didn't want to hide it any longer. "I've been investigating. I learned that Giovanni from customs had been signing access passes for rare-earth metals over the past few years. Thus, today, I was trying to get him to confess."

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 1012

/ Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover
"Confess?"

"Yes. There are many people involved in the smelting plant of the Jadesons, and all of them are government officials. I dare not act rashly to alert them, and I only came here today to inquire about it. But I did not expect him to be bold enough to strike the moment I arrived." As Sebastian spoke, the murderous intent within him started to boil.

Sasha's jaw dropped.

The story was too sudden and shocking for her.

So even after leaving Jadeborough, was helping the Jadesons with their most treacherous task the only thing he could do? He had to protect them and even weed out the threats surrounding them?

Sasha's eye reddened.

The Jadesons had hurt him so much, but he still chose to protect them blindly.

"Darling- Don't cry, okay? Don't worry. I didn't mean physical harm to me when I said strike. But he wanted to imprison me and force me to tell him the purpose of inquiring him."

Sebastian looked at Sasha as she began to cry in his arms.

He was at a loss and didn't know what to do. He could only explain and fumbled to wipe the tears from the corner of her eyes.

Sasha looked at him while sobbing.

After a moment, she finally asked. "Did you say it? If he knows that you came for the smelting plant of the Jadesons, will he really kill you?"

Sebastian could not give her an answer.

Then, she finally heard the words coming out from the crevasse of his teeth. "No. He's not that courageous. Not many people in this world dared to think about killing me."

Sasha was startled. But she regained her senses almost immediately.

Well, he is so strong. He wouldn't go for a suicide mission. He must have had everything planned out when he was investigating. After all, he did single-handedly turn the entire city upside down when he was in Jadeborough.

Even the White House had fallen into a state of powerlessness. What's to say of a mere customs director of a tiny remote city. Driving a speedboat out of Norden Isle unscathed proves it.

Sasha finally calmed down completely.

"Oh, by the way. I forgot to tell you one thing. That bastard Solomon actually posted a resignation video on the Hayes Corporation website. He announced that he is leaving Hayes Corporation and is giving the company back to you."

'What did you say?'

Sebastian squinted his beautiful eyes.

That was the first time he had a big reaction about work.

Is he about to get angry?

Sasha's heart started to pound.

She didn't know that just half an hour ago when Sebastian was still in the hotel on the delta behind him, Giovanni had someone keep an eye on him.

Even Giovanni himself kept asking him about his motives to inquire about the rare-earth metals.

However, someone came in and said something to Giovanni's ear, and he suddenly went out.

Not only did the guards disappear, but even Giovanni himself also began to be at ease.

At that time, he didn't know what happened. He was still confused.

But now that he heard about this unexpected turn of events, Sebastian suddenly had a revelation.

Sh*t!

In the Norden Isle hotel.

Giovanni let out a long sigh of relief after watching the entire video.

“So the reason Sebastian came to me to ask about rare-earth metals was because of the Hayes Corporation?”

“I think so. He left the Hayes Corporation for more than a year. To reclaim his throne, he needs some foundation to impress the shareholders to accept him. Furthermore, rare-earth metal is the only market in which the Hayes Corporation was not involved.” Giovanni’s assistant agreed to his speculation.

Giovanni’s felt even better after hearing his assistant’s deduction.

“If that’s the case, then there is nothing to worry about. As long as he is not inquiring for the Jadesons, there wouldn’t be a problem.”

“Precisely. But having said that, Mr. Giovanni, I don’t think he was here for that.” The assistant suddenly spoke secretively.

How is he so sure about that?

Giovanni was particularly fond of gossips, and he became interested upon hearing it.

“Tell me more.”

“Yes, Mr. Giovanni. You might not have known that his cousin’s parents committed suicide because of him. That incident happened before Sebastian returned, and they happened to be in charge of the Jadesons’ properties.

Unexpectedly, the assistant was very well-informed. He even knew about this.

Giovanni became even more high-spirited after hearing that. “Such a thing happened? So he can’t take over their business. Isn’t this making the conflicts in his family even worse?”

“That’s right. That is why Sebastian couldn’t have come on behalf of the Jadesons. So please don’t worry about it, Mr. Giovanni.”

“Very well. We’ll invite him for dinner after he returns to Hayes Corporation. After all, I did try to harm his wife.”

Suddenly, the assistant had a bad premonition.

Sasha and Sebastian went back home together.

That night, due to Solomon’s unexpected resignation and the Hayes Corporation’s turbulence, Sebastian was forced to rush to the corporation and summon all of the corporation’s old shareholders and top management to an emergency meeting.

As for Solomon, Sebastian gave his people the order to find him.

“Find him even if you have to turn Avenport upside down!”

After the meeting, he was emitting such a murderous aura that the people in the conference room started to tremble.

This was how the Hayeses should appear in the corporation.

The president of the Hayes Corporation was supposed to be capricious and have a violent temper. Everyone in the corporation would tremble as long as he was there, and no one would dare to challenge him and do something that would harm the corporation.

But, in reality, they would feel more at ease in this kind of environment.

This was because they believed that only he could lead them to usher in a new century.

The corporation’s top management went right away to carry out his order.

Several old shareholders remained and attempted to invite the enraged Sebastian out to dinner.

“Mr. Hayes, you’ve finally returned. Should we get together for dinner someday?”

"That's right, Mr. Hayes. We haven't talked in over a year. All of us have so much to say to you. Why don't we make a trip to Restaurant Palate? That was Mr. Hayes Sr.'s favorite restaurant back in the day."

"Yes, let's got to Restaurant Palate."

These old shareholders were so excited that they intended to reserve a table in Restaurant Palate's best private room right away.

Sebastian stared at them with a cold expression on his face.

"Is this how you guys treat Solomon as well? Let me tell you that if he can't be found, the first people that I'm going to fire are all of you old shareholders!"

Bang! Sebastian threw the documents on the table, kicked away the chair, and stormed out of the room.

The old shareholders stood there, looking at each other with puzzled looks on their faces.

They could not figure out why Sebastian was upset about their invitation to dinner.

Apart from that, they also did not understand why they had anything to do with Solomon's resignation. Of course, there was also the statement about firing them, which they thought was excessive because they only wanted to invite him to dinner.

In fact, they felt very wronged..

At the Frontier Bay, Sasha had not gone out since she was brought back from the dock.

She was grounded.

Although the incident at the dock was eventually resolved without any harm being done, Sebastian was still terrified by it. So, to ensure she did not become involved in any more accidents, he ordered his people to keep a close eye on her in the house.

At the very least, she would not be able to leave the house as she pleased for the next three days.

"Karl, hasn't Mr. Hayes returned yet?" Wendy, the housemaid, caught up to Karl and asked him at the villa's entrance on the bottom floor.

Karl looked upstairs with a cold expression.

After confirming that Sasha was not eavesdropping on them, he wiped the sweat from his forehead and said, "No, he hasn't. The situation in the corporation today is tumultuous, and Mr. Hayes is presiding over the overall situation."

"There shouldn't be any problem, right?" Wendy asked.

"Of course not. Mr. Hayes is present. There's nothing to be concerned about," Karl quickly consoled Wendy.

Only then did Wendy feel relieved.

After she let him in, she poured him a glass of water and asked, "Then why was Madam grounded by Mr. Hayes?" He won't allow her to leave. Is it because Madam is concerned about Mr. Solomon and fought with Mr. Hayes about this matter?

Unexpectedly, Wendy was unaware of the afternoon incident involving Sasha and them.

She was concerned about Sasha, who was being kept grounded in the house.

"No, Mr. Hayes simply does not want Madam to be concerned about the incident. It's chaos outside, and he only wants her to be safe by staying at home," Karl explained briefly.

When he mentioned the word 'chaos,' he cast a light glance at his own hands.

When examined closely, there were still traces of blood inside the crevices of his fingernails, and the foul stench of blood could still be smelled from it.

The people who messed with Sasha would never have a good ending.

Wendy was finally relieved.

At the same time, Sasha, who was sitting in the hanging garden on the second floor, was painting with his daughter. She was relieved as well after listening in to the conversations downstairs.

So, Sebastian sent someone to look for Solomon? That's good to hear.

Sasha thought that after Solomon threw such a big mess at him, Sebastian would be enraged and kicked him out of the corporation, based on his temper.

However, he did not appear to be acting like himself right then.

Sasha suddenly remembered the person who was looking into the Jadesons and quickly took out her phone.

Sasha texted: Luke, it's me, Mrs. Hayes. What's going on over there?

Luke replied: Huh? We're in a good situation here, Madam. After Mr. Hayes returned, everything calmed down, and the clients who cooperated with us no longer bothered us.

Sasha could feel Luke's happiness through the screen from his WhatsApp message.

She heaved a sigh of relief.

Then, she continued to text: Is there any new information about Solomon? I've heard that Mr. Hayes has already dispatched someone to find him. Has he been found?

Luke replied: So far, there hasn't been much news. Well, Mr. George seems to have vanished from the face of the earth. We've already turned over Avenport to search for him, but no one has found him yet.

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 1014

/ Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover

Sasha did not know how to react to that message.

At that moment, she felt worried again.

After she returned home, she gradually realized what was going on.

She reckoned that Solomon's resignation video, which was posted on the Hayes Corporation's official website in the morning, was made of his own volition. That was because he had already promised to meet her for dinner at the Palace Hotel.

Yet, in the afternoon, he abruptly released his resignation video. Consequently, Sebastian was deliberately obstructed by the director of customs at Norden Isle.

What does that mean?

Sasha began to feel guilty and became more concerned.

She then searched for another person in her WhatsApp and texted her.

Sasha: Sab, is there any news?

Sabrina: What news? He's dead.

Whenever I text this woman, she always replies to me with harsh words. Sasha frowned.

After pondering for a while, she decided to change the question.

Sasha: Then, where are you now? Are you still in Avenport?

Sabrina: No, I'm not!

Sasha: So, where are you, then? Are you in Jetroina?

Sasha had this sudden thought because Solomon had previously told her that if he left Hayes Corporation, it would imply that he wanted to return to Jetroina.

She had a good hunch this time. Sabrina replied to her in WhatsApp not long after she sent the message.

Sabrina: Yes, I am. How did you know that I'm in Jetroina?

Sasha felt a little relieved, even if it was only a few words.

She was aware of Sabrina's feelings for Sebastian. This woman, who claimed that she hated and felt disgusted by her illegitimate brother, Sebastian, was in reality, treating him like family.

If Sabrina had gone to Jetroina, then the issue with Solomon would no longer be a concern.

Sasha: I'm just speculating. Oh, by the way, you'd better find Solomon fast. The corporation is forcing Sebastian to go over to them. Once he has stabilized the overall situation, it will be unfavorable for Solomon to return to the corporation.

Sabrina: All right. I know what to do.

Sabrina impatiently sent another message on her phone.

After that, she did not text again.

Sasha set her phone down and continued drawing with her daughter.

She believed that Solomon would come back to the corporation.

However, she was unaware that Sabrina, who was in Jetroina at that time, had no idea where Solomon was.

“Where the hell has this useless man gone to?”

When Sabrina could not find him in the Jetroinian bar, her temper flared and she kicked a chair on the spot to vent her anger.

Isaac, who was accompanying her, trembled when he saw this.

“Ms. Hayes, Please... don’t worry about it first. We can look for him elsewhere. I believe he previously had a business relationship with Sinch Enterprise. We can go there to inquire about his whereabouts,” Issac said.

Sinch Enterprise? Sabrina’s face darkened even more when she heard the name.

That was the name she never wanted to hear again in this life because it reminded her of the cruel woman and the members of the Hayes family who died gruesomely at her hands.

Sabrina was so agitated that she gritted her teeth.

But, eventually, she loosened her fists, walked out of the Jetroinian bar, and went straight to Terrandya.

After fifteen minutes, they arrived at the entrance of Sinch Enterprise.

“Why don’t I go and ask in your place, Ms. Hayes? You can just sit in the car and wait.”

Isaac was an observant person. He noticed the sullen look and the hatred in her eyes, so when they arrived at Sinch Enterprise, he took the initiative to ask the question.

Sabrina glanced at him and said, "Fine, thank you." This was the first time she thanked him.

Isaac felt appreciated when she thanked him, and he got off the car in a joyous mood.

There was no longer any tie between Sinch Enterprise and Solomon after Yancy's death and Solomon's acquisition of control of the Hayeses' corporation. It was eventually reclaimed by the Yamada family.

However, Sabrina believed that since the mother and son pair had stayed in this place for a long time, there would be some information about Solomon's whereabouts in it.

"Do you mean Mr. Tsurka's adopted son?"

"Yes." Isaac stood at the company's front desk and politely communicated with them in fluent Jetroinian.

Unfortunately, his heart sank when the Jetroina employee told him they knew nothing about it.

"I'm not sure. Mr. Akiyama hasn't returned to the company in a long time. All we know is that he owns a Jetroinian bar in Terrandya and has an investment in Yaleview."

"Yaleview?" When Isaac first heard the word, he felt baffled by it.

Isn't Yaleview in Zarain? Why did he go there to invest?

Isaac brought the news back to Sabrina.

As he expected, Sabrina also felt confused when she heard about the place.

"Why would he go there? Is Yaleview better than Terrandya?"

"Maybe he has another investment there. Should we go check it out since we already know he has a place like this?" Isaac was more rational about it.

On the other hand, Sabrina was becoming impatient, and her rage was spreading quickly. But, at this point, she had no reason not to go.

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 1015

/ Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover

In the end, both of them hurriedly went to Yaleview in Zarain.

At the time, Terrandya was an hour ahead of their hometown in terms of time difference. So, in Terrandya, it was already midnight.

They finally boarded the plane to Thymion after another two hours. Zarain was a small country. Because there was no direct flight to Yaleview, they had to change planes in Thymion.

When Sabrina boarded the plane, she felt despair about this trip.

She was tired and uneasy at the time. It was unclear whether it was because she had been flying for six or seven hours from home, but her overall mental state was very poor at the moment.

“Why don’t you take a break, Ms. Hayes? I’ll wake you up when we get to Thymion.”

Isaac was very considerate. His heart ached when he saw her uneasy state. He told her to rest well while assuming responsibility for her care.

With that, Sabrina fell asleep on the plane with no worries.

However, even if she could sleep without worrying, the sleep she got during this trip was actually few and far between.

It was because her stomach was constantly aching.

Is it because I ate something wrong? Or could it be that my period is on its way?

She was struggling to endure the pain, and after suffering through the pain for nearly ten hours, they finally arrived at their destination, Yaleview.

“Ms. Hayes, We finally reached. Are you all right? Should we go to the hospital first?”

“No need, I’ll just eat some hot food when I get down the plane,” Sabrina declined.

She then took her purse and exited the plane with a pale face while holding on to her stomach.

When she got off the plane, she found a restaurant in the airport and ordered some high-calorie local food and drinks. After that, her condition turned for the better.

Isaac was relieved to see that she was fine.

“So, where should we go first? According to Sinch Enterprise employees, Mr. George has some investments in electronics. Should we start looking for electronics first?”

“Electronics?” Sabrina was slurping some hot noodles when she suddenly stopped eating upon hearing Isaac’s words.

That’s right! Why didn’t I think of this?

I remembered that the crazy man used to own an electronics company in Avenport. Prime Cloud Corporation is the name of this company. The ridiculous thing is that he even opened it directly across from Hayes Corporation.

Recalling this, Sabrina stood up immediately, preparing to leave.

“You’re right. We need to go to the downtown area right now and find that ‘Prime Cloud’ thing. I’m certain that if we follow this company name, we will be able to find that useless man.”

“All right, let’s go!” Isaac found it amusing when he saw how impatient she looked.

Nonetheless, in the end, he did not laugh because he was afraid she would scold him again if he did. With that, they walked out of the airport and took a cab downtown.

It was a suitable method to locate Solomon through the electronics company he had previously managed.

However, they had no idea that when they arrived in this city’s downtown area, there were electronics companies everywhere they looked, which was bewildering.

Holy sh*t, how can we find it?

Sabrina was starting to get mad again.

Fortunately, a janitor happened to walk by at the time, and Isaac immediately stopped him and asked in fluent Zarain, "Excuse me, may I know where the largest electronic company is usually located?"

"Electronics companies? They're all nearby the hospital."

"Oh, all right. Thank you!" Isaac thanked the janitor.

When Isaac turned around, the first thing he saw was a woman glaring at him.

"W-What's the matter?"

"Why do you know so many different languages? Isaac, what the heck is your job? Are you a smuggler? I'm telling you right now that if you're a smuggler and you're lying to me to get away from the cops, I'll f*cking end your life." Sabrina's expression changed instantly, and she emitted a murderous aura. Anyone who saw her right then would shiver in terror.

That was indeed the case. The only reason Isaac was able to follow her here to Zarain was that Sabrina had been hiding him from the police in Avenport and had brought him along to Jetroina.

If he was really a smuggler, Sabrina would definitely skin him alive.

Isaac had never seen her so terrifying. He was trembling with fear at that moment.

"No, of course not... Ms. Hayes. Listen to me, I can speak so many languages because... because I am gifted in this area. I majored in language when I was in college."

"Multilingual?"

"Yes... I have a master's degree in it." He carefully took out his phone before showing her a copy of his master's degree certificate.

Sabrina was speechless.

The rage she felt just moments ago was stuck in her chest because she was stunned by the certificate and could not say anything else.

Masters? Is there any good to have a master's degree? I mean, take me for example, even if I did finish last in my school exams every year, I was still able to manage Hayes Corporation until it becomes a world-renowned corporation.
