

Part Seven

Third Person POV

Later that day, Serena decided that she should call her friends on a group FaceTime to tell them the news. But, she decided to tell Karina first, to make sure she was ok with her and her brother dating.

Karina answered on the second ring, "Hey, girl!"

"Hi... U-um, I have some news to share with you Karina." Serena admitted.

"Ok sure, what is it?"

"Your brother and L.. we um, well we like each other." She said sheepishly.

Karina squealed so loud Serena had to cover her ears.

"Omg! Rena you have to tell me everything that happened. When did this happen? I'm so happy for you, you guys are like perfect for each other!"

Serena was surprised at how excited Karina was, she thought that Karina would feel protective over her brother dating someone, but they have been best friends for a long time.

Karina was genuinely happy for them both. Roman was quiet and observant, while Serena was bubbly and lit up a room when she spoke. A perfect match, she thought.

Serena then explained to Karina when Roman came over her house and she had never heard Karina so excited in her life.

After their conversation, they decided to group facetime with Jade and Aisha, so Serena could tell them, too.

They both took the news well. Aisha asked questions about Roman to make sure he was treating her right. Jade just squealed in delight for her best friend.

They always knew that Serena wanted to fall in love, they just never knew it was with the guy who always prevented it from happening.

The girls chatted for a while after that and made plans to hang out on Friday, but then they said they're goodbyes.

Serena decided to call Roman and tell him that she wanted to be his.

"Hi, daddy!" She smiled.

"Hi, babygirl. What's up?"

"I- I have something to tell you,"

"Go ahead, baby." He encouraged her.

"I want to be yours, and I want you to be mines."

Roman smiled at her confession and he wished he could squeeze her through the phone.

"You are already mine as much as I am yours." d

That made Serena smile, she was so glad.

"Daddy can you come over tonight, I gotta tell you something else."

"Maybe late tonight, baby. But after you tell me, you're going to go straight to bed, alright?"

She nodded.

"Words, babygirl."

"Yes, daddy."

"Good girl, always such a good girl."

Serena smiled widely at his praise.

"I like it when you call that, daddy." She confessed.

"What a good girl?"

"Yes."

"Well that's because you are, printessa. Bratty girls get punished though, baby. You don't want to get punished right?" d°

She clenched her things.

She didn't know what it meant to be punished but sounded scary and exciting.

"No, daddy."

"Alright, baby. I'm going to hold that against you, if you're being a brat, I won't be as nice." d

She nodded, kind of understanding.

Then, her little sister Farrah opened her door and crawled into her sister's lap.

"Hi, baby."

"Hi, Renie."

Serena understood that Renie just wanted to snuggle. Then she remembered she's still on FaceTime with Roman.

"Oh who's that princess?"

"I'm Farrah, Renie's sister." Farrah exclaimed.

Roman chuckled at her cuteness, he noticed the two look just alike.

The sight of Serena's tenderness towards her little sister made his heart flutter with excitement at the thought about kids with his babygirl. But that would come later in the future. d

The three of them chatted until it was bedtime for Farrah. Farrah knocked easily, exhausted from all the talking she did.

Even though she was four, Farrah noticed her sister was a lot happier around Roman. She was happy for her sister, she thought her sister deserved happiness and more. d

=====

Serena read a book while she waited for Roman. She eventually fell asleep.

But then woke up when she heard her phone vibrating, she realized it was her daddy. d

"Hello."

"Princess, I'm outside."

She immediately jumped out of bed and quietly ran downstairs to greet her daddy.

Roman welcomed her hug with open arms and lots of kisses.

He noticed that his babygirl was in another one of those dresses that made her look so sexy. He loved it. He loved that he was the only one to see her like that.

He took off his shoes, she grabbed his index and middle fingers and led him upstairs to her room.

"So what did you want to tell me, baby?" Roman asked as he sat down and led Serena onto his lap.

"Mama invited you to dinner on Wednesday!" She grinned, excited.

"Oh really? Well let her know that I'll be there."

"YAY!" She bounced on his lap in excitement.

He grunted, "Don't do that, printessa." d

She immediately stopped, "Am I hurting you? I'm sorry, daddy. I didn't mean to."

"No, you're not hurting me. You're ok."

She was confused as to why he told her to stop, but went on to the next subject.

"Daddy what did you do today?"

"Well, I went to work, which is at my father's company, Khalil Corporations. Worked for 8 hours, went to the gym and now I'm here with my little girl." He kissed her neck as she giggled.

"Wow, what do you do there?"

"We build hotels, homes, banks, all kinds of places."

"That's so cool, daddy. I want to be a teacher, I want to teach little children because they're so adorable and small." She enthused.

He encouraged her to continue to fulfill her dream, and he would do anything in his power to make it come true, anything.

They continued to talk and giggle but after a while, Serena started getting sleepy.

"You're staying until I wake up right daddy?"

"Yes, sweetheart."

"Alright, goodnight daddy."

"Goodnight, moya lyubov'
[my love] d

They slept in each other's arms until the morning.

=====

Serena woke up to kisses all over her neck and face.

She giggled, knowing who it was.

"Daddy!" She squealed d

"Ah now you're awake."

Just then, Farrah barged into Serena's room and shut the door.

"Renie!"

She jumped on the bed and smuggled her sister.

"Yes, sweetie?"

"I'm hungry, and mama went to the salon earlier."

"Okay, Fare just let me get up ok?"

"Ok, Renie!"

=====

Serena and Rowan decided to take Farrah out to eat breakfast.

While they were waiting on their food, the family in the booth behind them said that they have a beautiful family.

They both laughed and thanked them, even though Farrah wasn't even related to Rowan.

Serena couldn't help but think about what it would be like to have children with Roman.

So she asked, "Do you want to have kids?"

"Yeah, sweetheart. Lots of em'!" He winked at her. d°

Serena blushed in response as she thought about how babies were made.

=====

Tbh, this is not my favorite chapter but it's only the seventh chapter.

But what do yall think?

Continue reading next part