

She is a ceo Chapter 131

After greeting the host, Arthur began to look around the banquet hall unconsciously, to look for the familiar figure. When Juliana found that he was absent-minded, she tried her best to talk to him and get his attention, but when the person appeared at the entrance of the banquet hall, all her efforts were in vain.

Eduard played a trick on the road. Though he urged the driver to drive quickly, he asked the driver to slow down when he was about to arrive at the Ware mansion.

When Lucia asked him why the driver needed to slow down, he answered triumphantly, "The best for last."

Lucia smiled and didn't say anything. She would not argue with Eduard over it. She had to face Arthur anyway.

Therefore, more than half an hour later, linking her arm with Eduard's, Lucia slowly stepped into the banquet hall.

At first, everyone was talking about business, but almost everyone quieted down at the same time when they saw the woman in a faint purple dress at the entrance.

Looking at the curvy figure, some were shocked, and some were secretly jealous.

The ankle-high dreamy purple Armani Prive dress was designed on a deep V-neck and spaghetti straps. And layers of gauze were added to it, setting off Lucia's curvy and alluring figure.

Although the dress was beautiful, it could only collect dust without being worn. Luckily, it met Lucia.

Lucia had long wavy hair, which was casually spread on her shoulder. It matched the romantic purple dress and brought out her complexion. Her round and big eyes were shining as if moonlight was in them. With the smile on her face, alluring shoulders, and looming plump breasts under the V-neck dress, she was captivating but not frivolous.

Standing there coolly, Lucia instantly attracted everyone's attention.

Seeing the envious look on everyone's face, Eduard knew he had achieved his goal.

He turned his head and whispered in Lucia's ear, "How do you feel being in the limelight?"

Lucia replied with a smile, "I'd rather come in quietly than be noticed by everyone."

Eduard giggled and led her toward the host. Only then did people come to their senses.

The next second, they looked over to Arthur at the same time. Obviously, they were not the only ones who were stunned by Lucia.

"Arthur!" The moment Lucia appeared, Arthur's affectionate eyes were fixed on her as if he had forgotten all the quarrels between them.

Realizing this, Juliana pushed his arm to pull him out of his head.

'Yep, she's beautiful, but she is also a bitch!' Juliana cursed in her mind.

"Yes," Arthur reluctantly looked away and lowered his head to ask Juliana, "What's wrong?"

'How could you ask such a stupid question!' Juliana thought in anger.

Juliana was so angry that she wanted to stamp her feet.

She wasn't that stupid to remind Arthur that he was totally infatuated with Lucia just now. So, she could only pout in a sulk.

All Arthur was thinking about was Lucia, so he didn't notice Juliana's reaction.

He just looked in the direction of Lucia. No one knew what he was thinking.

In another hidden corner of the banquet hall, Poppy glared at Jacob, who was also amazed by Lucia, and scolded rudely, "What's to see? Just a bitch!"

"Poppy, don't say that," Jacob forced himself to look away and said to Poppy.

"I didn't say anything wrong!" Poppy said in a sulk.

"But watch your words in public." Jacob didn't want to argue with that. He just reminded Poppy not to tarnish her own image.

Poppy knew what he said made sense, so she could only suppress the jealousy and talk with friends in the same industry.

The party went on. Mr. Ware was celebrating his daughter's birthday, while the crowd got more excited.

They knew the love relationship between Lucia and Arthur, the stories of Lucia and Jacob, and Eduard's crush on Lucia. But now Lucia, Arthur, and Jacob were standing separately without any connections. Therefore, they wanted to know the reason behind it.

To figure it out, many people came over to Eduard, more precisely, to Lucia. Some talked with her in a flirtatious tone and some asked her tentatively, but Lucia dealt with all of them calmly and confidently. Even without Eduard by her side, she could handle all of them perfectly.

That was Lucia's unique charm. She was tough and independent. And no one was able to give her a hard time. Soon, those who talked with her flirtatiously or tentatively stopped babbling about nonsense but talked about business seriously with Lucia.

Arthur was absent-minded the whole night. Juliana had reminded him many times, but Arthur's gaze drifted to Lucia uncontrollably. Juliana sulked and left, only to find that Arthur didn't notice it at all.

"Feel disappointed that Lucia attracts so much attention?" Just as Juliana was hiding behind the pillar of the banquet hall in anger, a sarcastic female voice suddenly came to her ears.

Juliana glanced at the woman who spoke and responded coldly, "Why are you here? It would be terrible if Arthur saw us."

"No, he won't." Poppy smiled and looked at Arthur, "See? He's staring at Lucia. How could he notice us?"

It was obvious that Poppy was trying to sow discords, but Juliana still fell for it. "Just a bitch. Why is she so lucky?"

"She is good in bed." Poppy continued to irritate Juliana.

“Arthur is not a fool for women. With me around, Lucia can’t get close to him!” Juliana said snappishly with a frown.

“Are you so confident?” Juliana frowned and stared at Poppy unhappily.

“Yep!” Juliana said, showing an instinct for controlling Arthur, but she didn’t realize it.

“Really?” Leaning against the wall with a smile, Poppy stared at Juliana and asked, “Why? Because you’re his confidant? Even so, you can’t meddle in his relationship, can you?”

Juliana parted her lips, but couldn’t say anything. Poppy’s remarks did hit the nail on the head.

Last night, she had a quarrel with Arthur about it.
