

She is a ceo Chapter 262

Simply, just stop here.

Leaning on the sofa, looking at the ceiling, Poppy let out a long sigh of relief.

The next day, when the police came directly to JTP, Jacob personally received them.

“Mr. Taylor, don’t be so polite. We came here to ask you something,” A policeman said after he raised his hand and refused Jacob’s coffee for him, placing the three photos on the table,

“Do you know these men?”

Jacob glanced at the photos and replied indifferently, “I know. They came to me last month and said they were from Italy. A few of them are talented and want to find a security job on my side. As you know, JTP is considered a well-known company in the city. People often come to recommend themselves, but I think they’re coming from an unknown source, so I don’t dare to hire them.”

“Do you still keep in touch?” the policeman asked again.

“I don’t know where they got my cell phone number. They always call me recently, and they speak non-standard English with a strong Italian accent. I hang up every time I say a few words. Yesterday they called me late in a hurry, but I didn’t hear what they said.” Jacob said in distress.

The two police officers looked at each other after hearing this. The officer who asked the question nodded, and they both got up and said goodbye together. Jacob asked hurriedly,

“Sirs, did something happen to these people?”

The policeman hesitated before saying, "These thugs were probably rebuffed you, so they hold a grudge and want to kidnap your wife. But at the time of the incident, there were enthusiastic masses to help, and now several suspects have been detained. Please pay more attention to your safety in the future."

"What? They wanted to kidnap Poppy?! How is Poppy now!? She went on a business trip to Sweden. Why is she still in the country?!" Jacob was so excited when he heard this. He stepped forward and asked the police.

The policeman felt it embarrassed. The reason why he didn't tell Jacob the matter frankly was because it involved Poppy's privacy. He was there last night. Poppy was with another man at the time. Saying this kind of thing will cause family conflicts, not to mention his obligation was to protect the privacy of the victim.

"Sorry, we have nothing to comment on. When your wife returns, you can ask her for details." After speaking, the two policemen left Jacob's office.

As soon as they left, Jacob's anxious expression disappeared on his face like a conjurer. He looked at the side door leading to the lounge and said,

"Come out."

The door opened and Spencer stepped out.

"Spencer, what kind of people are they? They can't even tie her up but have been arrested." With no outsiders present, Jacob showed his true colors and sat on the sofa to complain while feeling dissatisfied.

Spencer didn't answer. He just "borrowed" the three killers from friends abroad. He hadn't personally tested their abilities, so he could only be silent in the face of Jacob's complaints.

“Speak!” Seeing that Spencer didn’t say a word, Jacob was a little annoyed and rushed to speak.

“I didn’t find talented people this time, but you can rest assured these killers are very tight-lipped. I have explained it beforehand. They will say that they want to kidnap Poppy because of personal grudges. You don’t have to worry about the follow-up.” Spencer, who was sitting on the sofa, answered lightly.

“I’m not worried about them!” Jacob frowned and was dissatisfied with Spencer’s calm attitude, “I’m worried about Poppy! She knew those people were sent by me, but she escaped. What should I do in the future!”

“What are you in a hurry for?” Spencer had always been arrogant. At this time, Jacob’s tone of voice had made him unhappy. He squinted at Jacob and said,

“Poppy wants money. You have money. She is bound to find you. What are you afraid of?”

“What if she calls the police directly?!” Jacob said worriedly.

“If she calls the police, those police officers would not have come to question you, but handcuffed you.” Spencer responded impatiently.

Jacob was stunned immediately. He really didn’t think of this just now.

Poppy was extremely greedy and afraid of troubles. If she called the police, she will not be able to protect herself. Jacob was relieved all of a sudden. This matter had to be private.

After thinking about it, Jacob raised his eyes and glanced at Spencer’s face, and found that he was impatient. Only then did he realize that his tone was too heavy just now, so he forced a smile and said,

“Spencer, I was in a hurry just now. Don’t be angry. I will rely on you to help me a lot in the future.”

Spencer glanced at Jacob and nodded slightly. If it wasn't for the fact that the man was still useful, he wouldn't bother to mediate with him.

"Poppy is probably hiding now. You freeze all the assets under her name, and she will naturally come here when she is desperate. Anyway, she doesn't dare to do anything with you, so just wait patiently."

"That's all," Jacob sighed and turned to ask, "How's Arthur doing now?"

"In a turmoil." The expression on Spencer's face finally changed at the thought of Arthur's situation.

"He has a fiancée and a son now. How can he still in turmoil?" Jacob smiled evilly and sneered deliberately.

"Don't be careless. Arthur is a cautious person and non-linear thinker. Although his personal affairs are indeed disturbing, he will never be affected by it in business affairs. Have you contacted all the people I asked you to contact?" Spencer asked him while admonishing Jacob.

Jacob nodded earnestly when he heard this. He never dared to underestimate Arthur, but he didn't quite understand what Spencer asked him to do for.

"What do you want me to do with the heads of those small companies? What can they do to Arthur?" Jacob asked.

"Just do as I say. a small mistake can lead to a massive disaster. Those few people will come in handy sooner or later." Spencer said confidently.

"Okay, I'll step up." Jacob trusted Spencer more and more, and responded immediately.

Kane came to Fragnerde Hall in the afternoon while shopping for food. When Juliana saw him, she excitedly stepped forward to check, and hurriedly asked him, "Are you alright?!"

Last night, she learned the news of Kane's success through text messages. Although Juliana was happy, she was also frightened. Those men were killers with guns. She didn't know if Kane was injured.

"I'm fine." Seeing Juliana worrying about him, Kane felt warmed and replied softly.

"You can't do such a risky thing in the future!" Juliana frowned while covering her chest and said, "Our family of three finally got together. If something happens to you, what about me and the baby?"