

She is a ceo Chapter 328

Juliana's heart was beating wildly, and the feeling of betrayal and deceit filled her heart. Her breathing even began to stop intermittently. By the time Arthur and the others found out, Juliana had fainted.

They immediately panicked. Arthur picked up Juliana and ran out. Kayla cried and chased out with Robert's support. And Sophie frowned closely behind.

In the evening, Juliana woke up in the hospital.

Opening her eyes, the wall in front of her made Juliana frown. As soon as she moved, Kayla immediately leaned over and asked her with concern,

"Julia, how are you feeling now?"

Juliana was at a loss, staring at Kayla for a while before she regained her senses. She sat up slowly, only to find that Arthur, Robert, and Sophie were all there.

Her mind gradually became clearer, and slowly caught her memory. Juliana remembered everything that happened before, and inadvertently, tears rolled down her cheeks. Kayla was so distressed when she saw this, she wiped her eyes with red eyes, and persuaded,

"Julia, don't cry, don't cry..."

Arthur and Sophie looked at each other with helplessness and pity. When Juliana was in a coma just now, Arthur had already found an opportunity to explain Kane's identity to Sophie, so Sophie could understand why Juliana was crying.

“Julia, where is Kane now?” Apart from Arthur, Sophie was the only sensible person present, and as an elder, she was obliged and qualified to ask Juliana this question.

With tears in her eyes, Juliana replied, “In Lepus.”

Kayla was shocked when she heard this, and turned to look at her husband. Robert had the same emotion as she did.

The child’s biological father was actually in Lepus, so before Julia and him...

“Find him. We have something to ask him.” Sophie said affirmatively.

Juliana smiled bitterly, “Even if you don’t look for him, I will look for him too.”

After she finished speaking, Juliana asked Kayla to bring her carry-on bag, and turned on the phone for the first time in two days. Just after the phone was turned on, a series of text messages and missed calls swarmed. She looked at the text messages. Kane called her almost every half hour and never stopped. At this time, she had mixed feelings.

In the presence of Arthur and the three elders, Juliana called Kane and pressed the speakerphone key.

This matter was not just private between her and Kane.

As soon as the call was connected, Kane’s anxious voice came from the phone, “Julia, is that you Julia? Where are you now? Why did you turn off the phone?”

Sophie recognized the voice of the man who had spoken to Juliana in the back garden that night.

Could it be that there was a relationship between Julia and Kane?

Sophie listened attentively, hiding her thoughts.

“I’m in Athegate. The baby has an accident. Come here. I’ll be waiting for you in Fragnerde Hall.” Hearing Kane’s voice, Juliana forced herself to calm down and said lightly.

“What? What happened to the baby? What’s wrong with him?” Kane asked anxiously, but Juliana didn’t answer.

“You just come here. I’ll wait for you.” Juliana hung up the phone after she finished speaking. She now finally knew why Kane tried so hard to stop her from killing the child, and he treated the child as his own son. It turned out that it was really his son!

What an irony!

Putting the phone down, Juliana thought to herself.

“Julia, will that person come?” Kayla also wanted to see her grandson’s biological father in person. She always felt that her daughter had a close relationship with him, and the man named Kane on the phone was also very concerned about her daughter.

“Well, he will.” Juliana answered affirmatively, not to mention for the baby, he would come.

“I’ll pick him up tomorrow,” Arthur said, knowing that Juliana wouldn’t want to face Kane alone so soon.

Juliana cast a grateful glance at Arthur. In a second, she suggested, “Tomorrow, let Lucia come here too.”

Suddenly mentioning Lucia's name, Arthur and Sophie can understand her deep meaning, while Kayla and Robert were confused. What did this have to do with Lucia?

"Okay, I'll let her come here. Let's clear up the misunderstanding once." Arthur also knew that the person behind Kane was Poppy. Since he was the baby's biological father, there must be a major conspiracy involved, and this was the crux to unravel he and Lucia's awkward situation.

"Yeah, it's time to explain clearly." As if sighing, Juliana said quietly.

At this time in Lepus, Kane was in a state of turmoil, but he didn't stop packing his luggage. The baby had an accident. He must go there!

At this time, he couldn't care about Poppy anymore. In order to stabilize Poppy, he didn't tell her that he would leave Lepus. There was no flight from Lepus to Athegate that night. Kane could only choose to take the train. By the time he arrived at Athegate, it was already early morning.

He wanted to go to visit Juliana immediately, but Kane knew it was impossible. So he could only suppress the anxiety in his heart. Being worried that his home was being monitored by Jacob's people, he found a hotel near Fragnererde Hall and stayed for a while. Later, he got up early to contact Juliana.

Juliana needed Lucia to be there, so let Arthur pick her up first. She would hold Kane down, and let him know the time when she arrived.

When Arthur arrived at Lucia's house, she was already on her way to work. Without thinking twice, Arthur turned the car around and headed for Jibillion Inc.

When Arthur appeared in the Jibillion Inc building, one can imagine what kind of sensation he caused. As a public figure, Athegate's well-deserved elite, he appeared in the ordinary crowd, which was enough to attract attention, let alone in the building of his peers in the industry. Jibillion's employees stared at him as soon as they saw him. Without waiting for him to say anything about making an appointment, he had already obtained a pass to Lucia's office.

All the way to Lucia's office, Arthur ignored the fiery stares from the employees, and knocked on the door of her office directly.

Lucia had a hangover last night. At this time, she had a headache. When Arthur knocked on the door, she was bending over the table and resting. Thinking it was Nia, Lucia responded and forced herself to be energetic,

"Come in."

Arthur opened the door when he heard the words, and saw Lucia slouching on the table at a glance.

Worrying more than anything else, Arthur walked across the office to the table and asked worriedly, "Lucia, what's the matter with you?"

The moment she heard Arthur's voice, Lucia thought she was dreaming. When she looked up to see Arthur standing in front of her table, she rubbed her eyes in disbelief.

Was this a hangover hallucination?