

She is a ceo Chapter 409

Otis was unhappy before Helena said anything. He said to Helena seriously, "Helena, didn't I tell you to live a regular life?"

Helena compressed her lips in grievance. Her living habits had always been bad. If no one reminded her, she would almost sleep when she wanted to, wake up when she remembered, and eat when she wanted, so she couldn't refute Theodore's words. The little kid's living habit was more regular than her.

"Take care of yourself. Don't make me worry, okay?" Otis sighed and said. His career focus was domestic. Although he would fly back to meet Helena every month, the two stayed together less often. He was actually very worried, because he can't take care of her all the time.

As soon as Otis finished speaking, Helena threw herself into his arms, and said, "Otis, how can you be so good. I'm so moved..."

Arthur didn't think so because Otis didn't do much for her.

"Okay, let's go back first and talk about it later." Otis was still a little embarrassed to show affection in public, so he reminded Helena.

"Okay," Helena's eyes lit up and she turned to Lucia and said, "Lucia, I've tried a good set of makeup recently. I'll let you try it later. If you like it, I'll buy you a car of it."

Arthur was speechless again.

However, the crowd returned to Helena's villa in Irvine by car. The reason why Helena chose this county, which was 40 minutes away from downtown Los Angeles, instead of living directly in the city center, was because there were so many people of motherland there, which was of course influenced by Esmae. So she had a special feeling for the national culture.

The villa where Helena lived was facing the sea. Standing in the living room, people can see the whole sea beach. When she opened the window, the cool sea breeze blew in, which made people feel that she lived here not like work, but like a vacation..

Along the way, Theodore was either in his mother's arms or in his father's arms. As soon as he got home, he dragged Arthur to see his room. Arthur was naturally willing to accompany his son. After the two ran upstairs, Helena spoke.

"Lucia, Arthur doesn't look like a villain." Helena's knowledge of Arthur came from her mother's dictation, but when she saw the real person, she always felt that Arthur was not the ruthless man her mother said. With the interaction of him and Teddy, he looked like a good dad.

"He isn't at all." Lucia replied in disbelief. Helena was too direct, and his brother was still standing beside her.

"Helena, how did your mother describe Arthur?" Otis was curious.

So Helena recounted the evaluation of Arthur that she heard from her mother. Lucia explained for Arthur after listening. She kept a long story short and quickly explained Arthur's difficulties. After listening, Helena suddenly realized,

"No wonder. I was thinking your taste is not so bad. It turns out Arthur has his own difficulties, but he has never given up on you. He is a good man."

"Yeah." Lucia nodded happily with a sweet smile on her face.

It was her greatest luck that Arthur never gave up on her.

“But your relationship is really complicated enough. Now there is a Spencer involved. I know him from a friend. She said Spencer is not a good person. He is known for playing dirty in the business. Mom really goes too far this time.” Helena said worriedly.

“She chose Spencer just to use his status as Arthur’s cousin to suppress our relationship. In fact, she knew Spencer is cunning, but Spencer kept promising her that he would not let me down. I was really embarrassed...” Lucia bowed her head and her voice was much lower.

“Would you like me to persuade my mom?” Helena suggested.

“Can you?” Lucia asked Helena, raising her eyes.

Helena was silent for three or four seconds, then answered helplessly, “I can’t.”

As her daughter, she knew too well how stubborn Esmee can be.

Lucia smiled bitterly. At this time, Theodore brought Arthur back. Lucia quickly hid her mood. Theodore was too smart, and she didn’t want her son to see her worries.

“Teddy, have you finished showing Dad your room?” Lucia asked Theodore, having a soft smile.

“The tour is over.” When Theodore saw Lucia, he let go of his father’s hand and ran over, answering as he ran.

“Slow down.” Lucia crouched down and put her arms around Theodore, admonishing him gently.

Arthur came over and looked at his woman and son tenderly. Helena secretly looked at his expression, and confirmed in her heart that he must love Lucia very much. When a man loved a woman, his expression can’t be hidden.

Helena really wanted to help Lucia and Arthur, but she really had no choice. Even now, she let them see Teddy secretly so that Esmae wouldn't know, or she didn't know how she would be punished by her mother.

Thinking of this, Helena looked at Otis. If her mother knew that she was dating Otis, would it be the end of the earth?

Feeling Helena's emotions, Otis took her hand, comforting, "Don't worry. I won't give up on you."

Helena was moved and threw herself into Otis's arms. How could this man attract her so much?

Helena's way of expressing her feelings was direct and frank. She was devoted to a man like Otis, who was a bit silent. This time, he had left the public and was surrounded by relatives. Otis finally hugged her back calmly.

Arthur widened his horizon. He had never seen Otis express his love for anyone so frankly. Even when he was a child, even if he loved their younger brothers, his expression was reserved and restrained. Helena was really his destiny.

"Otis, we really have the same fate..." Arthur couldn't help but sigh. They both loved Esmae's daughters, and they wouldn't give up easily.

"Go for it." Otis said with a smile but firmly.

Because it was rare to see his son once, not only Lucia, but even Arthur simply rejected the official business that had been planned to go back to the country. They planned to continue the extended vacation to accompany Theodore.

Lucia's most trusted people in the Webbex Group were naturally Nia and Daphne, but when she called to ask for work, she subconsciously chose Daphne. She didn't know that this caused Nia's great dissatisfaction.
