

She is a ceo Chapter 484

Everyone in the Davis family hadn't given anything for Theodore, but wanted him to be there as a family member when he grew up, expecting him and Lucia to accept it at ease...

"I teach Teddy to be understanding and behave well, not so that he can one day openly accept the sudden appearance of his father, but so that he can be relieved of the fact that he does not have a father. Sophie, my original intention will not be changed!"

Lucia expressed her position in a stern voice, not giving Sophie any more room for persuasion.

"I understand," Seeming to accept Lucia's words, Sophie nodded gently and sighed, "It's always us, Davis family who fail you. Lucia, I just hope you can take care of yourself and don't get too close to Spencer. He's really not someone worth trusting with your heart."

"Thank you for reminding me." Lucia was noncommittal, lowered her eyes and restrained her emotions, answering in a low voice.

"Then take a good rest," Sophie looked deeply at Lucia and said, "I'll go back to ... If there is any news, please let us know in time."

Lucia clenched her teeth and nodded.

The sound of footsteps sounded regularly and disappeared completely soon after. Lucia then raised her head, looked in the direction Sophie left and leaned against the wall as if deflated.

Hopefully Arthur will really be able to persuade all of his family leaving, or else Lucia really didn't know how long she can hold on to the lie.

Lucia was sleepless that night, and knew Arthur was the same too. The two were less than two hundred meters apart, spending the long night with different attitudes and the same state of mind.

The next day, Eduard only informed Arthur and then took Daphne back home. In the face of Daphne's questioning, Eduard chose to be perfunctory and just wouldn't tell her what had happened. Daphne had doubts in her mind and didn't dare to ask Lucia, so she was very unhappy on the way.

Sophie, on the other hand, took Arthur's place and explained to her husband and other sons what had happened. It was sure that no one would believe Lucia was such a person.

Bailey, who was a bit more direct, even offered to talk to Lucia, but was stopped by Sophie, who sternly lectured her three sons.

"I know you care about Teddy and believe in Lucia, but after all, it is our family that has wronged her and the child. What are you going to do now? To persuade Lucia to let go of the past? How can you say that?"

Her three sons were told by Sophie to lower their heads, but they were anxious for Arthur. Now Theodore was still sick, so how could they leave without worrying?

Sensing the children's thoughts, Sophie sighed and said, "All right, Teddy has Lucia to take care of. There is absolutely no accident. I have contacted a doctor I know in the hospital. He will secretly help us keep an eye on Teddy's situation. We won't add more troubles to Lucia."

Until now, Sophie still thought the best of Lucia. Whether she really used her feelings to get back at her son or not, Sophie will not change her opinion of her.

"What about Arthur ..." Otis said worriedly. Once for Lucia's disappearance, he had seen his brother's decrepit appearance. Now Lucia clearly told that it was all revenge. What will Arthur become?

Otis dared not imagine.

“None of you should mention this to him. Let him take a moment to himself. Even affection can’t make up for the hurt he suffered in love. Let him take a break.” Sophie said with a frown.

The three brothers looked at one another, and finally can only nod and listen to their mother.

Edwin was angry but also can only complain. He always felt that all this was connected to Spencer, but he can not find the evidence now. After waiting for Sophie to pacify several sons, he got up and walked towards the door. Sophie was worried and looked at him, but finally did not stop him.

Edwin went out the door and went straight to Erik’s room, knocking on the door.

“Who is there?” While impatiently nagging, Erik opened the door. He had just woken up at that moment, still wore his bathrobe and looked like a hangdog person.

Edwin frowned at Erik and said, “We’re going back. What are you and Spencer up to?”

“Spencer and I are staying, of course. What? You guys don’t care about Theodore anymore?” Erik asked, pretending to be unaware. In fact he had received the good news from his son last night.

At this moment, Erik was proud about that.

Edwin’s eyes were dark. Staring at Erik, he said, “Erik, we are brothers. There are some things I will not say, but there is a god watching us. I hope you will take care of yourself.”

Erik smiled lightly and looked back at Edwin without fear and said, “People have their own destiny. Edwin, let’s go our own way. We’ll see.”

Erik was clearly hinting that he would never give up, and Edwin was not surprised by his obsession, but just had anger in his heart.

After the tacit agreement, the Edwin family left Chicago in a very quiet and low-key away. No one took the initiative to mention to Arthur, what happened to Theodore, what happened to Lucia and so on. They were only at his side and wrapped all his sadness and worries with a vein of affection between family members. But the youngest Douglas was still the most intolerant. From time to time, he got close to Arthur's side, and was afraid that he would be too depressed.

On the private plane, no one said a word, only the sound the plane's engine roaring. Arthur's heart hurt so badly in that moment. He looked out the window and watched the horizon getting farther and farther away from him, and knew that he, Lucia and Theodore were getting farther and farther apart.

Was he really willing to do this?

Arthur kept asking himself.

And around him, his parents and brothers carefully observed Arthur's state. A few people occasionally had eye contact and felt helpless.

The plane picked up speed and slid into the air, taking Arthur and his family to leave Chicago.

The ward had never been so quiet. Lucia, lying on the side of Theodore's bed, was holding his little hand tightly, and sobbing in her heart. Teddy was the only one who left to her ...

When Lucia was sad, someone tapped her on the shoulder and Lucia looked back to see Esmae who looked loving.

Esmæ was the first one who was notified the Edwin family left, so she came to the hospital to be with Lucia.

Gently rubbing the top of Lucia's hair with her palm, Esmæ sat down on the edge of the bed and looked over at Theodore, who was not awake.

Looking at Esmæ, Lucia couldn't contain her emotions and suddenly asked, "Esmæ, did you know Spencer can match Teddy's blood?"
