

Silly Teen 30

Chapter 30

Because I dropped it, the phone in my hand fell straight out.

“Ah Chao?” Uncle Chen’s voice, which came out of the receiver of my little Nokia, was small.

“Uncle Chen, I’m hurt.”

My whole body slumped to the ground.

“Injured? Where are you now” Because the voice was so small, I didn’t even hear Uncle Chen’s later words.

“Centurion District.”

I said, crawling as far as I could in the direction of the phone. My body had little strength left, which also led to my legs going weak and my whole body falling to the ground. I still had to protect the wound on my stomach with one hand as best I could, and I didn’t dare to peel the knife out, I was afraid I would bleed even more.

Because of my movement, it was on the brick path that I left a blood red trail.

And just as I got my phone, my phone alerted me that it was low on battery and it just shut itself off. There was even more resentment in my heart. Why did my phone not run out of battery sooner or later, but at this time!

“Somebody

I squeezed the phone in my hand and called out once again. The hang-up of the phone only left me to think of something else. But for some reason, the pedestrians around me, it was as if they had all suddenly disappeared. Not a single person!

I knew that if my bleeding continued at this rate, it was only a matter of time before I went into shock.

What was I going to do?

I didn’t know.

And in the process, I don’t know exactly how much time passed, all I know is that my eyelids were getting heavy, but the wound on my stomach, was still bleeding uncontrollably.

It was just before I was about to pass out that I saw a figure, rapidly approaching me. But before I could see exactly what it was, my eyes just closed. The feeling was just like the last time I was concussed by Cog and the others.

I don’t know how long I was unconscious, I seemed to sleep for a long time, but when I woke up, there was no one beside me.

“Uncle Chen

“Snow float” but still there was no echo.

The nurse outside the ward seemed to have heard me and just came into the room to ask how I was doing. Just because of my weakness, not much was said and I had to lie down on the bed to rest.

“Ah Chao, you’re awake!” When Uncle Chen looked at me, he hurriedly jumped to my side.

“Uncle Chen, where have you just been?” I just asked at Uncle Chen. Uncle Chen wasn’t wearing a police uniform and was obviously still on leave.

“Went out for a trip.” In response to my question, Uncle Chen didn’t really have much to explain. Uncle Chen was right there with me in the ward, with a sling on my arm. Because of the weakness from the blood loss, Uncle Chen also bought a lot of special tonic products and also made a lot of stew for me to drink.

Uncle Chen asked me if I wanted to call Guo Xuefu over, but I shook my head with him. I didn’t want her to know about this matter.

Subsequently, Uncle Chen also took half a month’s leave from school for me and also looked after me in the hospital for several days. He waited for my health to improve and then let me go home to recuperate. The doctor said that in my case, it would not have been much of a problem. But it was the loss of too much blood that was almost life-threatening.

The wound on my stomach didn’t hurt my internal organs. But it had cut through the larger blood vessels in my body.

Uncle Chen asked me who had done this to me. And I gave an honest account to Uncle Chen. When Uncle Chen heard that Guan Dongxuan had done it, his face also turned gloomy. During the process, Guo Xuefu called me a few times, asking me what was going on at this end and why I had taken another half month off work.

But I didn’t explain this to her either.

During the time I was at home recovering from my injuries, Uncle Chen would rush back every day at dinner time, only to go out again in the evening and continue until late at night before he would return home.

I didn’t know exactly what Uncle Chen was doing and he wouldn’t talk to me about it.

It was on the day I returned to school that Guan Dongxuan found me first. His face was grim and he dragged me straight out.

“Jin Chao, what exactly do you want?”

Guan Dongxuan questioned me instead.

I was all baffled because of his words, “Guan Dongxuan, I was stabbed by you. I haven’t even looked for you yet. As a result, you came up and asked me that right away. I was going to ask you what the hell you wanted!”

“What happened to my father, don’t tell me you didn’t do it!” Guan Dongxuan snorted coldly.

“What’s wrong with your dad? What’s that got to do with me? I’ve been nursing my injuries at home for half a month thanks to you. I advise you to do so for a while these days. Better not look for it. Otherwise I will definitely tell the school about it and let them deal with it” I said so, suddenly realizing that even if I went to the teacher, what would be the use?

After all, Guan Dongxuan’s father is the director! The fact is that the school is not the only place where you can find a teacher.

As soon as Guan Dongxuan heard my words, he sneered, “Fine, Jin Chao, you want the school to handle it, right? Wait for me!”

With these words, Guan Dongxuan turned around and left. And I froze in place, still not sure what was going on here. The way he looked, it was obvious that something had really happened. But what exactly had happened, I didn’t know.

At the same time, what was very puzzling to me was that after half a month, why hadn’t Guan Dongxuan been approached by Cao Ge?

And what on earth was going on here?

It was in between my thoughts that Guo Xuefu also found me afterwards. She said that my teacher had asked me to come over. She also reminded me that she had seen Guan Dongxuan in the office before she came over, and asked me to keep an eye out for myself.

I nodded at her.

But just as I was turning around to leave, Guo Xuefu grabbed me: “Jin Chao, is there really nothing you want to say to me about what happened in the past half month? Teacher Lin and I said that you were hospitalised again!”

Hearing her worried tone, I was even more touched in my heart: “Xuefu, I will talk to you about this matter when I come back. I’ll go to the office now, I can’t keep the teacher waiting for long.”

Guo Xuefu affirmed.

“Then you mustn’t cheat!”

“Of course!”

I agreed back.

I walked towards the office, and I didn’t know what the hell Guan Dongxuan was up to. I stood in front of the office door, but my heart grew more and more nervous. I took a deep breath and just knocked at the door. But by the time I walked in, Duan Chang was already inside too.

Duan Chang was right beside Guan Dongxuan, and he was looking at me with an unkind look in his eyes.

He waved at me and told me to go over, “Jin Chao, you really can! Are you trying to get expelled from school?”
