

Chapter 56

At almost nine o'clock, Guo Xiaoming, who was already drunk, said he had to go to the toilet, but he didn't come back for quite some time after he had gone. We didn't notice it at first, but then someone said about Guo Xiaoming, saying that he had been out for so long, so he hadn't been caught and had his kidney cut, right?

And this almost like a joke was the word that made us pay attention.

Cao Ge and I, who were not completely drunk, hurriedly got up and went to the side to look for it. It was a roadside stall, and there was no decent toilet. Either we had to go to the bushes on the side of the road or there was a hotel not far away where we could borrow a toilet.

Cao Ge and I, they headed towards that little hotel, but we didn't see Guo Xiaoming along the way.

"Shit, this Guo Xiaoming kid, he wouldn't have been caught by the little -sisters standing in the street, would he?" Cao Ge cursed in a very breathless manner.

"He doesn't have any money on him, so the little – sister wouldn't want him." Cao Ge's little brother, too, said with a chuckle.

"Then where can this kid run to?"

Cao then asked rhetorically.

We searched up and down the hotel and asked the front desk staff, who also said that Guo Xiaoming had just left. After we left the hotel, we scattered and searched for Guo Xiaoming's whereabouts.

After searching for a while, I suddenly seemed to hear Guo Xiaoming's voice.

It sounded like it was coming from the alleyway beside me!

I walked down the alleyway, and the bright street light overhead illuminated my vision. As I walked, I was even more aware of my surroundings. And it was between my walking in that I was seeing a group of figures. Among them, I didn't see Guo Xiaoming, but among them, I saw a girl wearing the 'Xuan Gao' school uniform.

She had a single ponytail and her head was lowered, right in between those people, obviously looking very scared.

"Ah Chao, that Guo Xiaoming kid fell into the ditch and has been found by us. You can come back now."

Cao Ge then called me and said to me.

"Wait Cao, I have a bit of a situation on my end." I then said to Cao Ge.

"What's going on at your end?"

Cao Ge then asked in a puzzled voice.

I told Cao Ge what had happened to me, but he sighed in disbelief, "Hey, it happens every day. Chao, we're all drunk now too, so leave it alone."

But I said insistently, "Cao, just do me a favour and hurry up and bring someone over."

"Are you sure you really want to do this?"

Cao Ge asked me very seriously.

"Hmm." I nodded in affirmation.

"Alright then, wait for me where you are for a while now, I'll bring the men over right away." Only then did Cao Ge agree. When I answered the phone just now, I walked to the side to answer it. By the time I walked back again, the gang of people who looked like gangsters had already started to make a move on the girl from 'Xuan Gao'.

The girl had obviously just returned from a tutorial and had her school bag on her shoulder. She resisted for a while, resisting the men's actions. But she alone could not break away from the five or six people around her.

I watched the scene and, without daring to think much about it, went straight ahead!

"You guys, let her go!" I was halfway there. And this scene reminded me even more of that time when I met Guo Xue-fu in the alleyway.

"Kid, what's wrong with you, right?"

"This is not your business to manage. Get the hell out of my way!" They just got very grumpy and said.

"Get lost, do you hear me?"

It was between their words that the girl looked up and looked at me with a look full of complexity.

Maybe she wanted me to save her, but she was worried that I would drag her into this.

I felt her eyes, but I ignored their words and stood there. I didn't feel any sense of defensiveness because Cao Ge and the others would be here soon. There were only four or five of them, and if we waited for Cao Ge to come over, we would be able to crush them with our numbers.

"Still not rolling? Do you deserve a beating?"

They said and came towards me. They left one man behind to hold the girl back.

"My men are on their way and will be here soon. Weigh yourselves." It was the first time I had said something so pretentious – and a feeling of superiority came over me.

"Yoo-hoo, you even called someone?"

"It's just a bunch of high school kids, isn't it?" They laughed at my words.

"Kid, I'm giving you one last chance to get out of here right now."

But I listened to their words, but I was still standing in place. Cao Ge and the others weren't far from here, plus they had a booster, so it would only take a minute or two at most to get there.

"Chao!" It was between my thoughts that Cao Ge's voice came in from outside the alley.

"I'm here!" I then responded at Cao Ge.

"And you really called someone?" They listened, obviously frozen for a moment.

Because of the commotion outside, they were following my line of sight and looked over in the direction of the alleyway entrance. Cao Ge and the others stopped the car and came over in my direction at a fast pace. And as soon as they battled towards me, all of a sudden, they made my aura much stronger.

They looked at Cao Ge's appearance and were frozen raw for a moment.

"Brother Cao?" Their expressions were even tinged with surprise.

"Who are you?" Cao Ge was not recognisable.

"I, Little Spot, am Brother Achang's little brother." One of them just hurriedly gave an explanation.

"Oh, Ah Chang, I know this. But this little speck of yours, I really don't remember anything about it." Cao Ge's tone was rather condescending.

And his words were quite embarrassing to the man who claimed to be 'Little Spot'.

"Alright, alright, if there's nothing else, let's disperse!" Cao Ge said in a very impatient voice.

"Then, Brother Cao, we'll leave first."

Little Spot then said hurriedly.

"Hmm." Cao Ge nodded, even if it was a promise.

Also because of what had happened, that girl's head was lowered even more, and her fear was completely written on her face. It was after Little Spot and the others had left that Cao Ge was shooting me a look and telling me to take care of it myself. What followed was a chuckle from him, and he led his men away.

"Thank you so much for what just happened." She still kept her head down, not daring to look at me head-on at all.

I did look at her with some amusement, "It's okay, it's getting late, hurry up and go back. Take care on the way too, don't meet those kind of people again later."

She was obviously surprised to hear my words. But she still nodded her head.

I turned around and tried to walk away.

But then she called out to me, "By the way, can I know your name?"

"My name is Red Scarf, haha!"
