

Skeletons 161

Chapter 161 Susan laughed even louder. "Oh, Mr. Wood, don't say that..." She just wanted to hoard these supplements on purpose, making Gale unable to supplement herself.

She has disliked that child for a long time and will do everything possible to make Gale lose her child!

"Aren't you supposed to be hospitalized to take care of your baby?" Gale took a deep breath and kept her emotions calm. "Why are you here?"

"The doctor said that my condition is stable, and I can be discharged from the hospital."

"Your home is in the River View Apartment." Susan raised her chin proudly. "Mr. Wood said, from today, I will live in Temperley Hall. Because I am pregnant, he wants to accompany me more. He wants to see our baby grow!" What? Let Susan live here?

What about her?

How about the days after this? Will it be over?

Susan was looking for trouble every day, coming up with all kinds of schemes to target her and the child in her womb!

Moreover, Susan was also pregnant, in case... Susan lost her baby and framed her. She would not be able to save herself!

"No, I can't be with her!" Gale refused without thinking.

Susan had low intelligence, but she was still troublesome.

If Gale was alone, she could fight Susan herself.

However, she was now pregnant with a child and could not take the risk. Moreover, if something happened to Susan, she was really afraid to take the blame! Susan pouted. "Mr. Wood, listen, she can't tolerate me anymore. Okay, it seems I'll leave right away..." Shawn raised his hand to hold her down. "Sit down." "But..she doesn't welcome me." Shawn asked, "Gale," "Do you really consider yourself my wife?" Gale answered, "I know where I stand with you. I'm just stating my beliefs. I can't live under the same roof with Susan." "Then you get out." She agreed, "Okay. I'll move."

Gale wished to leave here. The farther away from Shawn, the better!

under the same roof with Susan."

"Then you get out."

She agreed, "Okay. I'll move."

Gale wished to leave here. The farther away from Shawn, the better!

She did not expect the opportunity to come! Shawn's face sank. "Stop!"

"You told me to get out. I am carrying out your order." Gale looked at him confidently.

He almost fell into her trap!

“Would you like me to leave? I’m happy to move out so as not to disturb the privacy between you and Susan,” Gale asked. “You are trying to take this opportunity to leave.”

Gale pointed at Susan. “Okay, she goes!” “Stop doing this.” Shawn stared at her coldly. “You and her, both stay!” She mocked, “Two women fight each other every day. Aren’t you afraid of fire in your harem?”

“You can’t touch her.” Shawn had Susan’s back, but what about her?

There was no one behind her, only herself, and she could not fall.

Susan said deliberately, “Gale, as long as you don’t bully me, I won’t do anything to you... Besides, I’m not a troublesome person. I live here just to raise a baby and let my baby interact with Mr. Wood more to cultivate the relationship between father and son.

“When did I bully you?”

“Many times, but I don’t care about you.”

Gale rolled her eyes directly.

“By the way, the date of the divorce agreement between you and Mr. Wood is approaching, so you will not be Mrs. Wood soon,” Susan said again.

Chapter 162 Her villainous proud face was nauseating. Gale chose to take a step back. “Okay. Then you live in the master bedroom. I live on the first floor.” Anyway, the farther away she can be from these two, the better! Susan smiled tenderly. “The guest bedroom on the first floor? Oh, you have become a guest. Do I have to entertain you?”

“I can’t bear it.”

“Mr. Wood, then do as you wish.” Shawn looked up at her. “No. Gale, you live in the servant’s room at the back.” The whole living room was quiet as soon as these words came out. The housekeeper’s eyes widened in shock. “Mr. Wood, this...”

“What is your status? You are not a host or guest. The servant’s room is the most suitable for you. It will give you a place to stay.”

Susan was about to burst out laughing. “...Okay,” Gale responded.

The maid’s room would be better than living on the floor of the master bedroom.

At least she has her own space!

She does not have to worry about sleepwalking into Shawn’s bed, and she does not have to look at Shawn’s face every night. It would be a little bit of freedom! The housekeeper said in a hurry, “No, how can you...” “Shawn is the master here. I will follow his wishes.” After speaking, Gale smiled. “Housekeeper, take me there, please.” “This...”

Shawn’s sharp eyes swept over quickly.

The housekeeper had to do what he was ordered to do. “Madam, please come with me.”

Gale left without looking back at night.

There was no complaint or plea for mercy, which made Shawn very unhappy!

He got up and strode upstairs.

Seeing this, Susan quickly followed. She had always dreamed of being able to live in Temperley Hall, but she never thought that it had all come true.

'My dad was right. Children were a good bargaining chip!'

Even if Mr. Wood loses his love for her in the future or his novelty for her decreases, her position will always be stable with a child in hand!

Walking into the master bedroom, Susan looked around and was very satisfied. "It's so spacious, and the bed is so big. I like this cloakroom. I can basically put my clothes..."

She did not notice Shawn's deep gloomy face. He stood by the window, and the evening wind slowly blew in. "Do you like this room?" he asked.

"Yes, Mr. Wood. I feel so happy when I think that I can live with you every day in the future, and it's you who I'll see when I open my eyes and close my eyes!" Susan replied happily.

"Then you stay here. I'll go next door.."

Susan was stunned. "Ah?"

"There are many rooms on the second floor. You can choose a room you like." "Mr. Wood, we... do we not live together?"

Shawn replied, "It's better to keep a distance until the relationship is officially confirmed. It's not good for your reputation."

Susan hurriedly shook her head. "I don't care, Mr. Wood. As long as..."

"I care. I want to be considerate to you."

"But..."

Shawn interrupted her, "That's it."

"Well, then I'll stay in the guest room. Mr. Wood, I want to live next door to you. I don't want to be too far," Susan said reluctantly. "Okay."

Chapter 163 He responded nonchalantly and looked out the window irritably. The servant's rooms were lit.

The servant's rooms are in a house behind the main house, hidden by the tall walls of the villa, and could not be seen at all.

The housekeeper said, "Ma'am, this is one of the better rooms. Are you satisfied?"

"It's good, thank you, housekeeper."

"It's so simple and small. Will you be fine?" Gale laughed. "I'm really happy with it."

She wanted to leave Shawn and sleep alone.

She has to control her breathing when sleeping with him in the same room.

How comfortable she was now.

She finally had peace of mind. She could wake up in the morning and roll around without anyone bothering her, watching her, or controlling her.

"You are too easy to be satisfied." The housekeeper said, "Ms. Susan..."

"She is Shawn's favorite now. You should not go against her because of me, lest she targets you."

The housekeeper left, and Gale was so happy that she wanted to dance in circles. Although Susan lived in Temperley Hall, it was worth it in exchange for the freedom to sleep alone.

Anyway... this Mrs. Wood position never belonged to her. She was about to get divorced. After leaving, she and Shawn will no longer be emotionally involved. Her heart suddenly throbbed with pain. Gale shrugged it off and went to wash up. She had the best sleep in years! A night without dreams, a wonderful night! She stretched a lot in the morning, "Get up!" Unexpectedly, as soon as she went out, she saw Susan. Susan folded her arms and smiled tenderly. "It seems that you slept well last night." "Yes, it was very good."

"Sleeping in a place like a pigsty." Gale replied, "You finally climbed into the bed in the master bedroom after exhausting all the tactics in the book. I hope you're not too tired." "That's better than sleeping in a pigsty!"

"Seeing that you are in high spirits, Shawn didn't touch you last night?" Gale asked, "Or...you didn't sleep together at all?"

Susan jumped in a hurry. "We sleep in separate rooms for safety!"

"What safety of your child?"

"Yes!"

"Shawn is not interested in you, don't make excuses, and don't deceive yourself," Gale shrugged. "When I lived with him, he was..."

Gale deliberately did not go on, but it did not take a genius to know what she implied. Sure enough, Susan's face was crooked with anger. "You vixen, what kind of coquettish tricks do you have to make men fascinated by you!" "Want to know?" Gale hooked her fingers with a smile. "Come on. I'll teach you a trick. It's guaranteed to work!" Susan was instantly moved when she heard this. Was there really a way? "Can you really teach me?"

"Of course, come here."

Susan hurriedly put her ear close to her, eager to learn a trick to get hold of Shawn.

As a result...

“Bah!”

Gale played her!

Susan jumped. “You... You dare to trick me!”

Chapter 164 “If a man really likes you, you don’t need to do anything. He will want you and will do whatever he can. It seems that Shawn doesn’t like you as much as you imagined...”

Well, Shawn almost killed her several times.

Can he still really control himself in the face of his beloved woman, Susan?

He was too selfish. Those who are ruthless to themselves will only be more ruthless to others.

Gale was about to leave, but Susan did not want to let her go. “Don’t talk nonsense here. Mr. Wood is very good to me!”

“Oh, congratulations to you then.” “Gale, what are you doing?” Susan stretched out her hand to pull her, but Gale avoided it. “I still have to go to work. I don’t have a life as good as you, where I can rely on a man. Don’t waste my time.” As she was about to leave, she looked up and saw Shawn standing not far away. He looked at this scene indifferently.

When Susan saw him, she immediately complained, “Mr. Wood, you come to save me, Gale, she just... scolds me!”

However, Gale was too lazy to explain.

Shawn wanted to stand up for Susan, and he would scold her...

Shawn continued, “Don’t pay attention to her. I have helped you make an appointment for the top and most authoritative pregnancy examination in Sea City, and I will take you there.” Hearing this news, Susan’s face changed and turned pale. She quickly covered it up and said hesitantly, “Ah... Mr. Wood, I just had a checkup, and I just got out of the hospital. Everything is fine... You don’t need to do a pregnancy check right away, right?” “This time, it’s the top doctor, and it will be more authoritative.” Susan said quickly, “Then, then ... I’ll go alone. You are busy with work, so don’t accompany me.” Shawn replied, “I will arrange the time.” “However, a complete set of examinations will take at least the whole morning...” “I know.”

Susan panicked even more but did not dare to show it. She only nodded her head.”

Okay...Okay.” She temporarily agreed. Well, she could not reject it. It will make Mr. Wood suspicious!

She wanted to discuss with her father what to do!

After Shawn and Gale went to the company, Susan immediately went to the mental hospital and found the dean.

“Dad, Mr. Wood said he arranged a check-up and will take me there... How can I deal with this!” she asked anxiously.

The dean was also taken aback. "What? When will he take you there?"

"Mr. Wood didn't say the time, but the day will definitely come!" Susan pulled on his sleeve and kept shaking. She was scared to death.

If Shawn found out that she was not pregnant...

Everything she had now will be gone! "Calm down, calm down first..." The dean kept walking back and forth, trying hard to think of ways to deal with it.

Susan was also anxious. The fake pregnancy was to promote the relationship quickly and suppress Gale. However, she did not expect that Mr. Wood would ask for an examination...

He would know that it was a fake pregnancy!

"We can never let Mr. Wood find out," Susan cried. She got up and said, "Where am I going to get a baby? Dad, please help!" "I'm thinking, don't worry! Mr. Wood did not suspect anything wrong, did he?" "No!"

The dean racked his brains and stared at Susan's belly, and he came up with a solution...

"I got it!" Susan's eyes lit up. "Dad, it's up to you to save me!"

Chapter 165 "Susan, this child... Since he doesn't exist at all, let him not exist!"

Susan didn't understand, "Huh?"

"Abortion, find a way to have an abortion. "The dean said, "Let the child be gone."

"Dad, without the child, Mr. Wood would not be so kind to me!"

The dean smiled, "This nonexistent child has value, then when he goes, it should also be valuable. Susan, it is definitely not for you to have a miscarriage casually, you have to pull a trick!"

Susan's eyes lit up, "You mean Gale?"

"Yes!" The dean nodded. "What would happen if your child died in her hands?"

Kill two birds with one stone!

It not only solved the fake pregnancy but also condemned Gale!

The crime of killing the baby of the Wood family would be enough for Gale to suffer forever!

"Dad, you're still smart!" Susan nodded excitedly. "It's a brilliant idea!"

"Shh, it's not easy to do this, there can't be a single mistake, or we'll be the unlucky ones at that time."

"There's still time! Besides, I live in Temperley Hall now, and I can see Gale every day!"

The father and daughter got together and started to plan the whole thing. It must be watertight with no accidents. Mr. Wood must be distressed, and Gale must be blamed!

From start to finish, Gale was a thorn in their side, a thorn in their flesh!

"I understand." Susan's eyes lit up after hearing the whole plan. "Dad, in order to avoid prolonging my pain, I will seize the opportunity and implement it as soon as possible." The dean took out a bag of blood. "Susan, whether you can enjoy happiness for half a lifetime depends on this."

"Only success is allowed, not failure!"

"After this, Mr. Wood will feel guilty and pity for you. You can also seize every opportunity to try to conceive a child."

Susan looked at the blood in her hand and nodded vigorously.

In Wood Group, Gale sat in front of the computer and was drafting a design.

The latest series she designed was very popular. It was sold out as soon as it was put on the shelves, and every time it was restocked, it was sold out in seconds.

So, she set about designing a collection of themed jewelry.

"Gale, go deliver documents." Duphine suddenly came over. "Don't linger. Hurry up."

"Me?"

Duphine nodded impatiently. "Yeah, can't you understand basic instructions!"

Gale looked up from the computer. "You have to speak human words so that I can understand it."

"I told you to send the documents, right?"

Duphine relied on her management position to bully her.

Gale could not bear it anymore.

"First of all, I'm a designer, not an errand girl. Second, you have a secretary. Lastly, even if you want me to help you, ask with a kinder tone. Maybe I'll think about it."

Duphine said arrogantly, "I'm your boss. You have to do whatever you want!"

She forcibly threw the document on Gale and turned to leave.

"Wait." Gale stopped her, got up, and threw the document back directly.

Duphine did not catch it. The document fell on the ground, and the paper inside was scattered all over the place. She stamped her feet in exasperation. "How dare you do that to me!"

Chapter 166 "You can't blame me just because you are bad at catching?"

"Okay, Gale, I have to..."

Summer suddenly came over. "What are you guys up to? It's working hours, yet it's noisy here!"

Duphine's face changed.

Summer was higher in the ranks than her, and she was Gale's good friend!

She might be done for!

"Ms. Summer, I... I asked Gale to do something, but she didn't like it, so she fought back with me."

"Really? In the company, we still have to follow the rules. The system needs to be enforced. Gale, there is something wrong with your work attitude."

Duphine looked at this situation, a little confused. 'Hey? Why didn't Summer stand on Gale's side this time?'

Strange.

Immediately, Duphine regained her confidence. She hurriedly echoed, "That's right, She's a big deal in the jewelry department, looking down on people... Ms. Summer, one day, she will even look down on you!"

Gale coughed.

She knew Summer too well.

Every time Summer wanted to be cruel to a person, she would act in a pretentious manner first.

Then... she would retaliate!

"Absolutely not, Ms. Summer. Mr. Joe asked me to draw the design draft of the jewelry before this month and hand it over to the factory for production. I worked overtime every day, and I dare not neglect it," Gale replied. "Oh, then why would there be a conflict with Ms. Duphine?"

"She asked me to send the documents. Well, this is not my job at all."

Duphine immediately said, "...I am... I saw you staring at the computer in a daze. I thought you were free, so I just asked for a favor! Who knew you had such a big temper!" "Ms. Duphine, you are in charge of projects and don't understand design. I'm not in a daze. I'm looking for inspiration."

Duphine wanted to say something, but Summer said, "Okay, I know what happened."

After a few seconds, Summer said, "It's just a document. Stop fighting. It's not nice. Speaking of which... Ms. Duphine, your secretary is not doing his job." "Ah?"

"The company provides you with a secretary to run errands for you, yet you have to find someone to deliver the documents. You should punish him."

Summer said, "Deduct your secretary's bonus for one month. You will apologize to Gale, and Gale will apologize to you."

Duphine was stunned.

That was a slap to her face!

Why should she apologize first?

“Mr. Summer...”

Summer asked seriously, “Is there anything you would like to add? So many colleagues are watching. Hurry up.”

“...” Duphine can only suffer a dull loss.

“Right. You should apologize to Gale first, as you were wrong. Then, secondly, she threw the documents back at you, so she should apologize next.”

It seemed that Summer’s ‘fair’ reconciliation forced her into a corner.

Duphine reluctantly apologized, “I’m sorry, Gale, I shouldn’t let you run errands for me.”

Gale smiled. “It’s okay, don’t do it again next time. I will check if you’re holding the document before I let it go.” Summer pat Duphine on the shoulder. “Okay. Go and deliver the document, don’t delay your work.”

Duphine held back her anger and left. Gale and Summer looked at each other, and both secretly covered their mouths and smiled. When the two of them partnered up, they were unstoppable!

Chapter 168 In the living room, Susan was sitting on the sofa, scolding the servant, peeling the pomegranate. “You can’t even do this little thing right. Look at how you are peeling it?” “Ms. Susan, I will peel it again for you.” Forget it. It’s already late. Why isn’t Mr. Wood coming back?” Susan said impatiently. The housekeeper replied, “Mr. Wood has dinner tonight and will be back later.”

“Ah? Then I am supposed to eat alone?”

“Yes.”

“What about Gale!” Susan asked again, “She’s just a small employee. Why has she disappeared!”

“She is busy drawing design drafts.”

Susan became more and more irritable.

Ever since she made the abortion plan, she has been obsessed with implementing it quickly.

Everything was ready, and she only needed Gale to show up!

If Gale does not come back, the plan cannot start!

Finally, after nine o’clock, Gale came back. Susan suddenly regained her energy and sat upright on the sofa, waiting for Gale to come through the door, and give her a slap in the face!

However...

Gale was not seen at all.

“Where’s her? Didn’t she just come home!” Susan asked, “What are you all doing!” “She has returned to the servant’s room.”

It turned out that Gale did not step into the main villa at all and went back to her own residence.

She did not want to see Susan’s face. “Hehe, want to hide from me? No way!” Susan immediately walked to the servant’s room aggressively.

Just as Gale put down her bag, she heard Susan’s voice from outside.

“Gale, come out!” She frowned. What was the woman on about again? She simply ignored her.

However, Susan was like a shrew screaming on the streets and kept shouting. “What kind of a turtle are you? You don’t even dare to see my face? Gale, you worthless... If it weren’t for this place being not worthy of my status, I would have gone in and caught you!”

The decibel

was so loud that it hurt everyone’s ears. Gale went out. “Are you done?” “You dare scold me?”

Gale said, “What’s wrong with scolding you?

You are also a pregnant woman, so cursing like that is not good for your baby.”

“Haha, you finally showed up?”

Gale leaned against the door frame. “Why are you so aggrieved? Have you been in pain since you haven’t seen me for a day? I’m busier than you. I have work waiting for me.” Susan snorted. “Yeah, my life is good. You can’t be envious.”

“Okay, is there anything else you want to say? After we finish talking, I will wash up and sleep.”

Susan replied, “I didn’t come to quarrel with you. Gale, do you remember your father in prison who was splashed with boiling water?”

Gale’s expression slowly became solemn.

Of course, she remembers.

Her father, who has been in prison, is getting old, and he has to suffer the pain of being scalded by boiling water all over his body. His life was as good as death itself... The boiling water was poured on by Susan!

"I remember it." Susan smiled proudly. "Don't worry. Your father is fine now. After all, it's still useful to have some money. As for your mother, it's hard to say."

"Susan! You... what do you want to do!"

"I didn't do anything! I just... took the time to visit your mother." Gale gritted her teeth and rushed to Susan. "Who allowed you to go? You don't get to see her!"

Chapter 169 "I've already gone. What can you do to me? Do you still dare to touch me?"

Susan deliberately started to provoke her, arousing Gale's anger. Seeing Susan's disgusting face, Gale really wanted to slap her. However, she held back.

She could only grab Susan by the collar. "I warn you. My parents are my trigger. If you dare to touch them again... I swear, I will not let you go. You pay with blood!"

Gale's eyes were firm.

She rarely showed such a fierce expression, but she had because she was angry with Susan.

The last time her father was splashed with boiling water, she always blamed herself for not protecting her father.

Such a tragedy cannot be allowed to happen again...for a second time!

"Let me go." Susan had not expected Gale's reaction to be so intense, and she could not react for a while. "I didn't do anything to your mother."

"You can't be going to see her for no reason!"

Susan pulled her hand. "Let go of me first. I'm almost out of breath..."

Gale glared at her fiercely and withdrew her hand.

"You don't have the tenderness that a woman should have. Mr. Wood can't like you. You are fierce," Susan said.

"I don't want him to like me."

"Hmph, actually, you are better at seducing men than anyone else."

Susan straightened her collar, and seeing the direction of the development, as she imagined, she gradually became more relaxed.

"Actually, I just chatted with your mother a while ago." Susan laughed. "She cares about you very much. She asked about your situation and your feelings.... I just told her the truth." Gale's eyes widened, "What?"

“You heard right, I just told the truth. I didn’t add fuel to it, and I didn’t deliberately anger her. What kind of life do you live... Well I just told her as it is.”

Galer clenched his teeth.

She worked hard to hide from her mother so that her mother could take care of her body with peace of mind and not worry about affecting her recovery...

All were ruined by Susan!

No wonder her mother did not call her during this time, and there was no sign of trying to contact her. It turned out that she knew the truth.

The people in the world who love her the most are her parents.

Her mother knew she was living such a difficult life that she depended on others. She did not know how sad her mother was, how many nightmares she had to have, and how many tears she had shed for her.

“So, what do you have to blame me for?” Susan smiled. “Is it wrong to be honest?”

“Susan, you are really vicious!”

Gale clenched her hands tightly, clenching her fingernails into her flesh.

Gale stared at her. “Susan, you have been targeting me and framed me in various ways from the very beginning. When I was in the mental hospital, I never even interacted with you! I’ve only seen you a few times from a distance!”

“Want to know the reason?”

“Yes!”

Susan replied, “If you abort the child, I’ll tell you.” Gale asked in confusion, “Could it be the child’s father? Do you hold a grudge against him?”

“I won’t tell you unless you give up the child!”

Gale put her hand on her belly.

Everyone wanted the child dead.

Only she wanted it to live.

It was because she was its mother.

Susan walked toward her slowly, smiling sinisterly and viciously.” Gale, did you realize that all your misfortunes started after you conceived this child... It is a curse, a burden. If you give up, I promise you will be much happier than you are now!”

“Impossible!”

“Now I am pregnant with Mr. Wood’s child. What are you?”

Gale gritted her teeth. "Although I am down and at the lowest point in my life, I will not be like this forever!" She will slowly get better with her efforts.
