

Skeletons 282

Chapter 282

The more Susan spoke, the more excited she got, "You even told me that you love her. What happened in the end? She's trampling over your love like this. She's not worthy of you, Mr. Wood. Gale, you're such a selfish..."

Before she could finish, Shawn shouted out angrily, "Shut up!"

His voice reverberated around the room, the sound slamming into their ears.

Susan immediately lost her voice, not even daring to breathe.

Shawn was incredibly furious as he stared at Gale. His gaze looked like he wanted to eat someone.

"Gale," He picked up the box of pills, "Who asked you to eat them?! You actually dared to take these pills behind my back! You've got some guts!"

He already told her many times that he wanted children.

He had asked her to prepare to get pregnant.

He had emphasized it over and over again, but what happened?

Gale still went ahead and bought those pills behind his back!

"If Susan hadn't found out in time... You would have already eaten those pills, right?!"

Just thinking about it made Shawn's heart hurt.

It was the first time he so intensely felt how it was to have his love being trampled over!

He had given so much, but it was only met with coldness from Gale!

"Speak!" Shawn shouted angrily, "Gale, have you gone mute?"

He wished that Gale could give a reasonable explanation.

Even if it was not real, even if it was a lie... He was willing to believe it as long as it was a reasonable excuse.

That was because the truth was too cruel compared to lies.

The truth was, she did not want his child at all!

It was not something Shawn wanted to hear!

"I..." Gale opened her mouth, "There's nothing I can say. It's exactly as you see."

The evidence was there, and she had no excuses.

"You don't want my child so badly?"

"I've already told you more than once that I don't want to conceive a child for you," Gale answered, "Last night, you forced me."

Those words viciously trampled on his love yet again.

The anger in his heart threatened to burn away his rationality!

"Gale!"

Shawn raised his hand up high. His wide palm constantly trembled.

Looking at the scene, Susan was elated.

Go on, Shawn, beat her to death!

Shawn and Gale had gone to bed without precautions, wanting a child. Yet, Gale had secretly bought those pills.

She really did not know how lucky she was.

Susan felt like her happy days were about to come.

She thought that Gale was going to win, but Gale had actually squandered the chance and angered Shawn.

Susan would seize the chance!

"Mr. Wood, from the start, the person who loves me the most has been me," Susan said, "That night, it was me. The one who loved you was me. The one who wants your child is me as well."

"Get out!"

"Mr. Wood..."

"Get lost!"

Susan shrunk back in fear, leaving the office reluctantly.

Ale was already used to Shawn acting so angrily, so she was quite calm.

She had even seen Shawn angrier than that before.

"I don't want your child, so I went to buy those pills," Gale decided to just be honest, "Shawn, we're enemies. You personally sent me to the operation theater and got rid of my child... How could I be willing to bear yours?!"
