

My Sleeping Beauty Husband by Lyanna Nichols

Chapter 256 - 260

Chapter 256 A Cold World

“Jack Davis!” It was him!

Ivan called out the name angrily. He thought it would benefit them that Jack went abroad and could not be contacted. Unexpectedly, Jack had colluded with Smith Group long ago and sold all their evidence to them.

D*mn it. D*mn it!

“Tansy Group has treated him so well, yet he betrayed us. He’s really ungrateful.”

David pushed his glasses and said coldly, “Smith Group must have given him a lot of benefits, so he betrayed us. But it’s not the time to talk about this. President Smith, Mr. Ivan. We have to return to the company as soon as possible and figure it out sooner.”

Clare and Ivan looked at each other and nodded.

“Yes. Tell all the employees not to panic and believe that news, and keep working.

Make

sure to stabilize the company.”

They were about to leave when suddenly the manager rushed over, “The police are coming.”

Clare froze. They didn’t expect the police to come so quickly!

Ivan panicked and held Clare’s arm tightly, “Dad, what should we do now!”

“Don’t worry!” Although Clare was feared, he had to stay calm. He patted Ivan on the shoulder and looked at David with a severe face.

“The police will take Ivan and me away. Please help us to sort things out.”

Clare had helped David, so he was sure David would not betray him.

Sure enough, David nodded solemnly, “President Smith, Mr. Ivan. Don’t worry. I will help you come back

As soon as he finished speaking, the policeman walked into the room, “Clare Smith, Ivan

Smith. Someone reported that Tansy Group had evaded 14 million dollars in taxes.

Come with us.”

Clare and Ivan did not refute and obediently followed the police into the police car.

It was a bustling area where many people were around. Someone took a picture of Ivan and Clare getting into the police car and posted it on the Internet.

The news of the tax evasion was confirmed with the police’s presence.

Tansy Group saw a dramatic fall in its reputation. Its stock price dropped a lot in just a few minutes. If they couldn’t survive this time, Tansy Group would be completely done.

David asked the people from the public relations department to return to the company to work overtime. They didn't dare to complain. It was true that they were loose about what had happened. They didn't work in publicity immediately. As a result, it worsened, and they couldn't compensate for the loss.

After the people from the public relations department left, David drove to Ivan's residence by himself.

The evidence of tax evasion was solid. Clare and Ivan could come out if the tax was paid up. Otherwise, they were likely to be sentenced.

Fortunately, Ivan had made preparations to transfer all the property to Hulda.

Otherwise,

all the property under his name would be seized.

When David arrived at Ivan's residence, the lights in the villa were still on. He was anxious and rushed in.

Hulda was sitting on the couch in the living room, drinking coffee. She stood up quickly when she saw David rushing in, "What's the matter? What happened?"

"Hul... Oh, no. Mrs. Smith!" David quickly changed the address and said, "Mr. Ivan was in big trouble. He was taken to the police station with President Smith. We need to pay more than 14 million dollars in taxes. Please take the money and follow me to get them out."

Hulda was stunned for a moment, then her face turned serious, and she held David back, "No!"

David looked at her coldly, "Mrs. Smith? What do you mean? Mr. Ivan transferred all his property to your name. Will you let him die and run away with the property?"

With a chill in his eyes, David thought, "Mr. Ivan misjudged her. She's as greedy and vain as before. She pretended to like Mr. Ivan!"

David sneered. "Did she think she could run away with the property if Mr. Ivan goes to jail?" thought he.

He and Ivan had been prepared for this. Even if Mr. Ivan was in jail, Hulda could not take away the property if she betrayed him. She would need David's signature to take out the property.

Otherwise,

everything would be in vain.

After hearing what David said, Hulda felt wronged and sad, "What are you talking about?

How could I betray

Ivan? Ivan did transfer his properties to my name, but I can't take out more than 14 million immediately!"

"What!" David was stunned. How could Tansy Group not have 14 million? Hulda must be lying.

"It's true!" Seeing he didn't believe her, Hulda felt even more aggrieved.

David didn't think Hulda lied. He realized he had missed a critical problem. Before

Tansy

Group's accident, Ivan discovered Cynthia had cut off several Smith Group's projects and used all money on other projects. Therefore, they didn't even have seven million, not to mention 14 million.

David was dumbfounded. After reflecting on everything, he realized that Cynthia had started to deploy against Tansy Group and Ivan from the very beginning.

"What should we do? President Smith and Mr. Ivan were taken away by the police.

They can only get away if we pay all the taxes. Otherwise, they will be sentenced to at least ten years!"

David covered his face, not knowing how to get the money.

Something subtle flashed into Hulda's eyes, and she pretended to be anxious and sad and said, "We have no choice. I can only sell the houses Ivan transferred to my name. Maybe we can get 14 million, and..."

As she spoke, she took out a bag from a corner and showed it to David, "This is all the jewelry that Ivan gave me. I still have a few bags and some high-end clothes. You can sell them all for the emergency to get President Smith and Ivan out."

Seeing she was sincere and gave all she had without hesitation, David was moved and ashamed instantly, "Mrs. Smith. I'm really sorry that I misunderstood you."

"It's okay!" Hulda smiled gently, "I know you were too anxious. I was also panicked when I knew the police took Ivan and President Smith away."

She showed the bag in her hand, "Because I was too flustered and didn't know what to do, I packed everything in advance. Hope they'll be helpful."

David felt warm but still a little worried. He reminded again, "You'll have nothing if you sell them all. No houses and cars..."

"It's okay!" Hulda interrupted him directly, "It's just things, and it's nothing worth holding on to. I have lived in a dilapidated house and led an ordinary life for many years.

Besides, I do this for Ivan. As long as he and President Smith come back, and we can keep Tansy Group, I will get them back sooner or later. I believe in them."

David was relieved and nodded with satisfaction, "You've thought about it thoroughly. You are right. We can take them back as long as President Smith and Mr. Ivan are here."

After they finished speaking, they immediately held all jewelry, asked someone to pack all the valuable things in the house, and were about to sell them. Second-hand luxury goods couldn't be sold high unless they were very rare.

Ivan didn't trust Hulda before and didn't buy her any valuable things, so Hulda's things didn't even sell for four hundred thousand.

The houses under Hulda's name were also for sale. Because of the conflict between Ivan and Smith Group and the rush to sell them, there were more watchers, but no one bought them, even though they were sold at a reduced price.

David was anxious. When would they get 14 million dollars?

It hadn't bothered David when he dealt with hundreds of millions of money. But now he found it difficult to get 14 million.

He and Hulda went door-to-door to borrow money from acquaintances, but those who called Clare or Ivan “brother” rejected them.

They all knew Smith Group would bring down the Tansy Group, so they didn’t dare to help Ivan. Otherwise, Smith Group would give their family a hard time.

David collapsed. He didn’t expect those people would turn against Smith Group before Clare was convicted. It was a cold world.

Chapter 257 Pass Through

“I thought of someone!” Hulda squatted beside David, saying mysteriously, “He has received many benefits from Ivan and will save him.”

David’s eyes lit up, “Who’s he?”

Hulda said, “It’s Henry who took over Miller Group. And Ivan helped him a lot with that. He owes Ivan a lot and will do us a favor.”

When David heard it was Henry, he was happy for a few seconds but then got upset,

“But even if he is willing to help, he can’t take 14 million. After all, he is still in the initial stage, and many projects need money. He won’t give everything to help us.”

Hulda thought about it for a while, sent a message, and soon got a reply. She felt the phone vibrate, but she let out a cheer of surprise after a few minutes, as if she had just received it.

“Someone wanted to buy the houses for sale, but he will buy them alone and want a better price!”

David stopped smiling and frowned, “Better price?! Those houses are already the lowest price. We’ll lose if we make it lower.”

“We have no choice, and this is the moment. You’ve seen everyone else won’t help us, and we can only rely on ourselves. We’ll get almost two-thirds of the money if we sell those houses. If Henry helps us, we’ll collect all the money to pay the taxes.”

Hulda analyzed the situation and added, “President Smith and Ivan have been taken to the police station and are under strict surveillance. Our people couldn’t get any information, and we don’t know if they are suffering...”

David agreed immediately, “Okay, we sell!”

Hulda sneered. That was her intention.

Arriving at the agreed place, David saw the buyer. He was like an honest middle-aged man and had an average look. David hadn’t thought of such a person in Jadney City for long.

He smiled at David and Hulda and said, “My master is busy with work, and let me take care of the house affairs!”

The buyer didn't show up?! David doubted there was some conspiracy. Smith Group had tricked them many times, so he was suspicious of everyone.

Was he from Smith Group?

"David?" Hulda tugged at his sleeve and pulled him out of the memories, "What's wrong?"

"Sorry. Wait a minute!" David smiled at the middle-aged man and pulled Hulda to the side. He whispered to her seriously, "Do you know where he comes from? I think he's Smith Group's man!"

Hulda's heart skipped a beat, and she thought she got caught. But seeing David's emotionless face, she quickly restrained her mind, "I stayed with Alston for a while and haven't seen him. Have you seen him in the Smith family?"

David froze for a moment and replied, "No!"

David had been with Clare for a long time, often in and out of the Smith's house and Smith Group. But he had never seen him.

"Even you haven't seen him. So he couldn't come from Smith Group. Smith Group's men would come to insult us instead of sending a new man over."

David was relieved to hear that, "Maybe I overthought. Let's go over and sign!"

When David and Hulda came over, the middle-aged man still stood there with the same posture and a gentle smile. It could tell he was well-mannered and was a housekeeper from a big family.

As if he knew David's concerns, he smiled, "Have you considered it? If you haven't, I will come after you think it through. However, I have to accompany my master to go abroad this afternoon. I'm afraid we'll come back in three days."

Upon hearing this, David quickly said, "Okay. We'll sell!"

David went to go through the formalities. Hulda finished signing some contracts and gave them to David,

"Now you!"

David responded and took the pen. He carefully read the contracts before signing. The middle-aged man winked at Hulda quietly, and they smiled.

"By the way, David. This house..." The middle-aged man took the signed contracts and told David about the house's defects. David was afraid he would go back on his word, so he explained and signed.

Hulda took the opportunity to put a piece of paper on the unsigned contract, looked at David without reading it, and signed it directly.

After signing, Hulda was relieved and gave the middle-aged man a thumbs up.

Then the man stopped asking questions and left without hesitation after making the sale.

Looking at the 12 million on the account, David was joyful and said to Hulda, "We need another two million.

Let's go to Henry."

"Okay!"

It was morning then. The video of Clare and Ivan being taken into the police car had gone viral on the Internet. The public relations department of Tansy Group couldn't stop it at all.

The morning news also kept broadcasting it.

At the airport, Beau and Gigi went to get the boarding pass. Looking at Clare and Ivan who were being taken into the car on the news, Alston frowned, feeling sharp pains in his head.

It was a pity that Alston and Cynthia passed each other by one second

Chapter 258 Stay with Me

Hulda and David went to Henry's house. It was already dawn at this time, and they saw Henry coming out of the house, ready to drive to the company.

The two hurried forward and stopped in front of Henry's car.

When Henry saw two people rushing out of the front of the car, he stepped on the brakes quickly, and made a harsh "squeak".

"Are you crazy?" Henry was in shock. He stuck his head out of the car window, looked at the two of them, and cursed.

As Hulda and David looked at the car less than a palm away from them, their hearts were beating fast.

After a while, David rushed to Henry's car window and looked at him with a pleading face. "Mr. Ivan and President Smith have been taken away by the police. We need money to take them out."

When Henry thought of the news, his expression changed. He got out of the car and said to the two of them,

"Follow me into the house!"

Hulda frowned. Henry's attitude was different from what she thought. She thought that Henry would drive them away.

After entering the room, Henry sat across from the two of them. "Tansy Group doesn't even have 350 million now?"

David tightened his fingers. "We had it before, but we were tricked by Smith Group. Mr. Ivan spent all the cash on other projects, so now Tansy Group had no extra liquidity."

Henry nodded. No wonder they were in such a mess.

"Mr. Ivan has helped me a lot. I will lend you money."

David was joyful, and Hulda was taken aback for a moment, and then smiled.

"That's great."

David felt a little sad when he said these words. Many people had come to ask President

Smith and Mr. Ivan for help or borrow money before, and they all showed a very close relationship.

But when something happened to President Smith and Mr. Ivan, they all became busy, either on a business trip or discussing business. They went to see ten people, and nine of them didn't even want to meet them, and one was sure that President Smith and Mr. Ivan were unable to get out, and mocked David and Hulda wantonly.

Only Henry agreed to lend them money.

David clenched his fists tightly.

When President Smith and Mr. Smith came out, he would tell them these things and block these people forever.

Just as David was thinking about it, he saw some embarrassment on Henry's face.

"However, my company has just started and needs money. I can lend you 100 million at most."

"100 million?" David's eyes lit up. "It is enough. We raised some money before and the taxes were collected.

President Smith and Mr. Ivan will be released."

Henry breathed a sigh of relief. "Okay, you go back. When I withdraw the money, I will contact you."

Hulda didn't speak the whole time. Watching them talk about the time, a dark light flashed in her eyes.

She was a little surprised that Henry would lend money to Ivan. Henry and Ivan were using each other, and he looked down on Ivan. Apart from colluding in some vicious things, they usually had no friendship.

Henry could completely ignore Ivan.

In fact, Hulda wanted to tell Ivan that no one would lend them money when she went to the prison to visit him. Ivan would be pissed off and his relationship with Henry would be destroyed.

But Henry was willing to lend money. What should Hulda do?

David was in joy the whole time and didn't notice Hulda's emotions at all.

Hulda was about to go out but suddenly her hand was grabbed. She turned her head and saw Henry looking at her with a very frivolous look.

His gaze made her feel so embarrassed that she didn't know what to do.

She wanted to withdraw her hand in disgust, but Henry held it tightly and even rubbed the back of her hand with his fingers.

"I didn't expect you to be so loyal to Ivan."

Henry's voice was hoarse. "If I lend you the money to save Ivan, how will you repay me?"

Hulda's eyes turned cold. "When Ivan comes out, he will pay you back."

Henry lowered his head and smiled. "But I'm very interested in you now. Mr. Ivan hasn't come out yet, do you want to stay with me? You will have a good life with me."

"No need!" Hulda gritted her teeth and pulled her hand out with great strength. "I'm already married."

She glared at him and strode away.

Married?

Surprise flashed in Henry's eyes. Did Ivan marry Hulda?

But soon, he realized that Ivan had expected what would happen, so he transferred his property to Hulda in advance.

Fortunately, Hulda was loyal to Ivan, otherwise, Ivan would lose all his money. Henry thought of his wife and children who were still in Coast City, and his face darkened. If it wasn't for Cain, he wouldn't struggle in this strange city.

After taking over Miller Group, he thought that he would make a big splash, and sooner or later he would return to Coast City and take back everything. But he didn't expect it would be so difficult. It would be more convenient for him if Ivan came back.

David looked at her suspiciously. "Ms. Hulda, what's up?"

"I talked with Mr. George and thanked him for helping Ivan." Hulda smiled gently.

The suspicion in David's eyes dissipated, and he nodded. "Yes, we should thank him."

After Hulda heard this, a hint of sarcasm flashed in her eyes.

David was lost in his own thoughts, so he didn't see the sarcasm in Hulda's eyes. He drove Hulda to a simple apartment.

This apartment was rented by Hulda before, and after the house was sold, she could only live here.

"It's getting late. Go back to rest. When we get the money, we can take President Smith and Mr. Ivan out."

David looked at the simple and plain apartment, and a trace of guilt flashed in his eyes.

"When they come out, I will change rooms for you immediately. I'm sorry."

Hulda shook her head, and her voice was gentle. "It's okay. As long as they can come out early, I'm willing to live in a slum."

David was very moved by these words.

He was a man, and he knew how lucky it was for a man to have such a woman who supported him.

Mr. Ivan didn't treat Hulda very well in the past. If it wasn't for Tansy Group's accident, Hulda might have been a shameful lover for the rest of her life, and she would never be Ivan's wife.

Moreover, Mr. Ivan liked to abuse people and had a violent temperament. Hulda must have been beaten many times.

However, Hulda supported him and tolerated him. She shared his troubles with him, which was touching. What happened last night made David feel more moved.

"Ms. Hulda, don't worry. When they come out, you will have a better life."

Chapter 259 I Didn't Marry You

David drove away.

Hulda looked at his car, and her gentle smile suddenly disappeared, looking extremely indifferent.

A better life?

Would she have a better life if she followed Ivan? Now in the summer, she was still wearing a long-sleeved dress, not even daring to show an inch of her skin..

Except for her face, neck, and hands, there were all scars and wounds on her body.

She knew Ivan very well. Maybe he would be touched for a while, but he would soon get bored and reveal his true colors.

During this period of time, Ivan loved her very much, but there were still many women around him. Even if she shared weal and woe with him, she was just a canary in his cage.

She didn't want to live like this!

Back at the apartment, Hulda immediately called Cynthia.

Hearing Cynthia's calm voice, Hulda felt at ease. "David and I just went to Henry. He is willing to lend 100 million. We must stop him, otherwise, Ivan and Clare will be released tomorrow."

After hearing this, Cynthia's expression did not change. "Okay, there is still one day. We can change his mind."

Hulda frowned. "I can't figure out why Henry agreed. He and Ivan didn't have much friendship; they used each other. Since he took over Miller Group, for so long, he hasn't even entered Ivan's door. Henry probably wouldn't help Ivan when his company needs money."

Cynthia laughed after hearing this. It was obvious that Henry wanted something from Ivan.

The last time she talked with Cain on the phone, Cain had learned that Henry had taken over Miller Group, and wanted to make a comeback. Cain had asked people in Henry's company to make trouble.

Henry didn't find out about this, and he just thought it was because he was not familiar with Jadney City.

With internal and external troubles, Henry's company was doomed to fail, so he could only rely on the help of Tansy Group, and he had to help Ivan and Clare out of trouble.

Cynthia's eyes turned cold. Ivan might still have some of Henry's secrets in his hands, such as the matter of the human trafficking gang.

She explained this clearly to Hulda.

When Hulda thought that Henry was holding her hand today, she felt disgusted.

She sighed. "When will this disgusting person die?"

"Don't worry." Cynthia comforted her. "Go to rest. You must be very tired yesterday. I will go to meet Henry later, and I will make him change his mind."

Hulda frowned when she heard that Cynthia was going to meet Henry. "He is disgusting.

Take some people with you, and be on guard against him."

"Well, people in the Smith family are protecting me, so don't worry." After thinking for a while, Cynthia said, "In two days, when you want to have a showdown with David, I'll send two people to protect you."

Hulda didn't refuse. If David knew that he had been cheated, he would be furious, so it would be better to have two more people to protect her.

After hanging up the phone, Cynthia said to Lloyd, "I want to see Henry."

"Do you want to see him? The kidnapping was Henry's idea. It will be dangerous for you to go there." Lloyd frowned tightly.

Cynthia smiled. "Aren't you guarding outside? Don't worry, he doesn't dare to hurt me at this time.”

Lloyd nodded and went to contact Henry.

At noon, Cynthia was sitting in the box, while Lloyd and Bill were guarding the door. Not long after, a slender man came over. When he saw the two of them, he sneered.

“Mrs. Smith is very wary of me. She asked me out, and I should be the one who is on guard.”

His voice was contemptuous, and he didn’t take Cynthia seriously at all. Cynthia was the daughter of the Green family. One could inherit the George family as long as he married her, but Alston took the lead. In the past, Henry was kicked out of the Smith family by Alston, which made him lose face.

This was a disgrace in his life.

When Bill saw Henry, he was angry and was about to say something, but Lloyd stopped him. Lloyd adjusted his glasses and smiled slightly at Henry. “Mr. George. Mrs. Smith is waiting for you.”

Henry gave a cold snort and then entered the door.

The door of the box was slightly closed, and Bill looked at Lloyd with dissatisfaction. “He is disrespectful to Mrs. Smith. I want to beat him. Why did you stop me?”

Lloyd smiled. “Don’t worry, when Mrs. Smith handles this matter well, we will have a chance to teach him a lesson.”

In addition to direct lessons, they could beat him with sacks, as long as no one else knew that it was done by people from the Smith family.

Henry should be taught a lesson, but not now. Now he was still useful.

Henry entered the box and saw Cynthia.

To be honest, this was the first time he had seen Cynthia in real life. He had only seen her in photos or videos before and had never really met Cynthia face to face.

He looked Cynthia up and down carefully.

Lynn was famous for her beauty in Coast City back then. Cynthia was more beautiful than her mother and looked like Lorenz.

Cynthia’s face was small, and her skin was white and translucent. She had a straight nose, and her facial features were all exquisite.

Today, she deliberately wore a black suit, and she looked like a strong businesswoman.

Henry felt that her aura was somewhat similar to that of Alston, and it was completely different from the girl in the purple dress he saw in the photo before.

Cynthia was well-prepared before coming, so facing his frivolous eyes, her voice was indifferent.

Henry smiled with interest. “You are so beautiful, and I was stunned for a while. I’m sorry.”

Cynthia rolled her eyes. Henry was no match for Cain. He had no talent, and he was frivolous and disrespectful. If the George family was in his hands, the family would be ruined by him, and disappear from Coast City in a few years.

Her eyes were cold, but Henry didn’t seem to notice it. He sat next to her and looked at her with ambiguous eyes. “Do you know that the George family and the Green family had a marriage contract? If it wasn't for Alston, maybe you would marry me." Cynthia sneered. "It's a good thing I didn't marry you, otherwise I would be driven out of Coast City, and hide in Jadney City for the rest of my life." "What did you say?" Henry's complexion suddenly changed. Because he was kicked out of Coast City, he was no longer a gentleman. He only had unwillingness and hostility, and now when he heard this, his face became even more distorted. Cynthia glanced at him without panic. "It's just a joke. Didn't you joke with me first? I'm not angry, why are you angry?" Henry held back his anger and said coldly, "Why did you ask me to come here today? You just want to make fun of me?"

Chapter 260 An Idea

Cynthia didn't care about his cold face at all. She lowered her head and smiled. "I want to tell you not to lend money to David."

Henry didn't expect her to be so straightforward. He smiled and looked at her with his arms crossed. "I was able to take over Miller Group with the help of Ivan and Tansy Group. If I don't lend him money, I'm ungrateful. Do you want me to be an ungrateful person? I'm sorry."

Cynthia expected his answer, and she took out a check from her bag and pushed it in front of Henry.

Did she want to bribe him?

Seeing her actions, Henry frowned and smiled ironically. After seeing the number on the check, his face was instantly livid. "Are you insulting me? You want to buy me for 5 million dollars?"

Cynthia said, "I want you to break the contract, so I have to give you some compensation."

"Tansy Group is only worth 5 million in your heart?"

Holding the check in his hands, Henry sneered. He stuffed the check into the water glass. Within a few seconds, the check turned soft.

He sneered and looked at Cynthia coldly. "Do you think I have nothing after I leave Coast City?"

Cynthia shook her head. "I know that you are not short of this money, but Tansy Group is not worth one thousand in my heart."

"Well, I'm not begging you. I'm just telling you. Jadney City is not Coast City. As an outsider, your every decision is crucial. Please consider it carefully."

Hearing her words, Henry got angry. "Are you threatening me?"

He looked outside the door and saw Lloyd and Bill with anger in their eyes. "Do you think you can force me by bringing two people with you? I'm not afraid of you. I will never let you go."

As he spoke, he approached Cynthia and said sullenly, "Do you still remember the feeling of being kidnapped? Do you want to experience it again?"

When Cynthia thought of Lily who was kidnapped and died, and Alston who was missing, she got angry. She looked at Henry with red eyes. "Henry, I was kidnapped last time, and it was planned by you and Ivan, right? You and Ivan are not friends, but you are willing to lend money to Tansy Group. Does Ivan know your secrets?"

Henry's expression changed, and before he could speak, Cynthia continued.

"The evidence that you have contracted with him to collude with human traffickers is in his hands, right? You are afraid that he will betray you and put you in jail, but do you think that only he has the evidence?"

Cynthia sneered. "I have the evidence too."

Henry panicked, and his face turned pale. "Impossible. If you have evidence, I would have been arrested long ago."

"Of course, I want to send you to prison, but after all, you are from the George family, and your grandfather has a good relationship with the Green family. I will give you a chance. If you dare to harm me again, I won't let you go."

Henry frowned. He didn't know if what she said was true or not. His grandfather had a close relationship with the Green family.

When Cynthia saw that he was hesitant, she said, "Do you think that if you lend money to get Ivan and Clare out of prison, Tansy Group will be fine? They can help you gain a firm foothold in Jadney City?"

"Smith Group is the one standing at the top of Jadney City. Even if Tansy Group escaped this time, it can't hold on for a long time. Are you sure they can help you? You just took over Miller Group, and Miller Group is weaker than Tansy Group. You helped them this time, will they help you next time?"

As Cynthia said, she picked up the water on the table and took a sip.

Henry was angry. This was a threat.

"Cynthia, you threatened me. You're a woman, and you don't understand anything in business. What can you do? When Ivan comes out, we will join forces and bring down Smith Group."

He stood up from the sofa and looked down at Cynthia. "Now that Alston is missing, and Smith Group is supported only by you. I don't believe you can deal with it if the two of us work together." After he finished speaking, he strode towards the door.

Cynthia sneered and put the glass heavily on the table. "Mr. George."

Henry stopped and turned back with a cold face. "What's the matter?"

"I just want to tell you, if you dare to lend them money, you will be against me and Smith Group. I am just a woman, and I don't understand anything, but Smith Group, the Green, Gehry, Brooks, and the Williams family are behind me. Now Tansy Group is isolated and helpless, and George Group is newly founded in Jadney City. Do you think you can beat us?"

When Henry wanted to speak, Cynthia didn't give him the chance at all.

"Even if they won't help me, I have plenty of ways. I don't have anything, but I have plenty of money. I would put up a reward on the Internet and ask people to find your company's violations of law. Do you want to have a try?"

"You crazy woman!" Henry was so angry that his fingers kept trembling.

He wouldn't be afraid if she just mentioned the previous few families. After all, not all families would do everything to help her. All alliances could be disintegrated because of interests.

However, Henry couldn't guarantee that his company was clean. Everyone would make mistakes in his life, let alone a company. As long as they did bad things, they would be exposed.

Henry didn't expect Cynthia to come up with such an idea.

This idea was very effective. People on the Internet would find out the bad things they did.

Henry ruthlessly kicked over the stool at his feet, and it hit the coffee table with a loud sound of glass shattering.

Lloyd and Bill glanced into the box, and when they saw that Cynthia was not injured, they looked away again.

Seeing his action, Cynthia knew his choice. She said, "Don't be angry. Even if they get all the money and Ivan comes out, we will deal with him. It won't be long before Tansy Group encounters big trouble again. If he shows signs of recovery, I will suppress him. Tansy Group is doomed to fail, and he will never repay the money or help you."

After a long time, Henry finally gave in. He glared at Cynthia viciously. "D*mn it!"

He called David and told him that he couldn't lend them money because his company encountered an accident. When David was still in a daze, he hung up the phone.

He looked at Cynthia and said word by word.

"Mrs. Smith, are you satisfied?"
