

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1458

Meredith then felt a pang of guilt for bringing this up. "I'm sorry, Miss Ivy. I hesitated for a long time before I decided to tell you this, I...I hope I'm not hurting you any further."

She did not dare to bring it up to Ivy back then because she did not want Ivy to be disappointed again.

Ivy lowered herself to the ground, wrapped her arms around herself, and started sobbing.

Meredith was startled and started apologizing frantically, "Miss Ivy, I was just saying that there's a possibility, please...please calm down."

Ivy cried for a while before lifting her head up to look at Meredith. "Meredith, thank you for giving me a reason to continue living."

Meredith suddenly got worried instead. "Miss Ivy, please don't take my words too seriously. I was just suggesting a possibility and you really shouldn't take it seriously."

"But I want to give it a try."

"If ...if the child is really gone, I hope this won't leave another scar on you."

"What does someone like me have anything to lose?"

Ivy had recovered her memories and Liam could not force himself on her as he wished anymore.

For some reason he suddenly felt nervous. "V, I've made myself clear that I won't get married to Yanne. I just want to spend the rest of my life by your side."

"But Liam, have you ever asked if I want to stay with you?" Looking at him, Ivy went on, "you knew it all along that I've never loved you."

Her words pierced through his heart like sharp blades.

Seeing how she was saying those words so earnestly, Liam shook her head in despair, "Why? V, how is it that you could love me so much when you lost your memories but as soon as you get your memories back... you don't even hesitate to say such hurtful things." "You said it yourself that it was when I lost my memories." Ivy smiled bitterly. "And I only have you by my side and of course, I'd see you as my man, and I'd love you and rely on you."

"But I've gotten back my memories now. How can I keep fooling myself?"

Liam was rendered speechless.

But he had already seen this coming, did he not?

He had been enjoying her love and her care whilst worrying that she would hate her for taking advantage of her as soon as she got back her memories.

Even though she did not resent him nor hate him, her words had managed to hurt him.

"V, can't you just try to love me and stay by my side?" "Liam, you can't just force feelings."
