

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1470

"It's not a waste if I'm spending on you," Liam said, "let's go home."

Ivy nodded and walked with him toward the elevator.

Back at the mansion, Ivy asked before the two got out of the car. "Liam, how's Miss Young doing these days?"

"Quite good." Liam was ready to get out of the car.

Ivy added, "why don't you go back? I can be here by myself."

"V, I want to stay here, and I hope you won't stop me. otherwise, I'll have no place to go."

"You're not going home?"

"I told you, I won't marry Miss Young."

"What about the baby she's carrying and Howard?"

Wait. Since Liam was already on the plane, it could never be a joke.

"Tell me the truth, why on earth are you here?" Ivy was stern.

Liam had no choice but to keep his tone serious. "V, you just left the hospital, and you want to go abroad by yourself...do you think I'll be relieved?"

"I know you'll definitely say that you can do it yourself and refuse me to accompany you. So, I had to board the plane by myself so that you can't do anything about it."

Indeed, it was too late for Ivy to chase Liam off the plane.

Ivy stared at Liam. "How did you know I was going abroad?"

Ivy did not tell anyone about her going abroad.

"I guessed it. Haven't you been asking about Mr. Crawford's investigation abroad? I figured you would go abroad to find the child in person, so I paid a little attention to your booking information."

Ivy replied, "How can you be so shameless?"

"In order to protect my woman, I can only be so shameless once."

Seeing that Ivy was still upset, Liam squeezed her cheeks. "Hey, I'm already here, so stop with the long face, okay?" "Liam, I'll be furious if there's a next time."
