

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1492

"I was." Siena nodded. "If you don't believe me, ask Mommy."

"Hmm, no need," Liam said, "I believe you because our Siena is always a great girl."

"Thank you, Daddy!" Siena got out of his hug. She turned around and waved at Ivy. "Mommy, you were missing Daddy a lot, right? Come over quickly and hug him."

Liam looked at Ivy, in the courtyard, and said with a smile, "Your Mommy is a little too happy. She can't move. Maybe, I'll go over and hug her instead."

Then, he headed over to Ivy before reaching his arms out and hugging her in his arms. He lowered his head and planted a kiss on her lips. "V, I missed you."

Ivy cleared her throat and reminded him, "There's a child around."

"Siena, go in and finish your homework."

"Okay, Daddy." Siena knowingly took her homework and entered the house.

Liam clutched Ivy's face and measured her up. "Did you miss me?"

"What do you think?" Ivy looked at him and asked in return.

that you would

ask?" Ivy

by her passion. Then, he replied to her kiss with a deeper kiss. However, no matter how deeply he kissed her, he felt house. Ivy hugged his neck, and her myself of missing you."

that he was really eager. He wanted to relieve himself of missing did not object to him. She let him press her onto the huge bed, taking off her clothes in the most even helped him tenderly. "You're taken the whole day of flight, aren't his head. "Even if I'm tired, smiled at him. "You

his eyebrow. "You've never tried it before, how do you for being so reckless like a child because the woman is you," Liam said seriously,

"It's useless too," She

"What's with you?"

already been ravished by you, but I'm

Landers, is this a can treat

"Then, I would like to confess too," Liam said.

"Didn't you just confess?"

"That doesn't count?"

"Then what counts?"

"This way!" Liam straightened his body and told her how he was going to confess to her with action.

It was until late at night when Ivy was hungry only then she remembered that they did not have any food.

She pushed the man on top of her in a delirious manner and said, "Liam, I'm hungry."

"Did you not have enough?" Liam snickered in her ear.

"My stomach is hungry." Ivy was rather speechless. "Aren't you hungry?"

"I'm not." With her in his arms, where did he have the mood to eat?

"Even if you're not hungry, Siena should be hungry," Ivy pushed him away once more and said, "calm down. I have to make food."

Liam reluctantly lowered his head and kissed her on the forehead. "Okay, but you have to promise that we'll continue at night." "Are you tired?"